PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus in the Garden.
JUNIOR TOPIC—In Gethsemane
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Courage in the Face of Danger.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Challenge of God's Will.

No man has ever faced such a crisis as Jesus met in the Garden of Gethsemane, for He was the Son of God incarnate in order to bear the sins of the world. No one can ever fully understand the agony of soul involved when God "made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (II Cor. 5:21). It is, therefore, true that we may never say that we have gone "through Gethsemane." But there is a very real sense in which our Lord's experience is shared by His disciples, in a lesser degree and as ordinary human beings.

Our lesson brings before us the closing scene of Thursday before the crucifixion. The day has been crowded with important events, among them the eating of the Passover, the revelation that there was a traitor among the twelve, the institution of the Lord's supper, the precious words of the upper room, the intercessory prayer in the garden.

I. Exceeding Sorrowful (vv. 32-36).

The text uses many words to convey the depth of His soul's agony, as though it were impossible to express it in the faulty medium of speech. So it is, for our Lord here experienced something far more serious than a dread of physical death. He was not a coward. He was not afraid to die. His soul was about to have put upon its spotless sinlessness the stain and dishonor of the world's sins. Little wonder that He was "sorrowful even unto death" (v. 34).

Since this was the road the Master trod, should not His servants tread it still?

II. Alone with God (vv. 37-41).

Jesus took with Him into the secluded place in the Garden the three who were closest to Him in the circle of disciples. He counted on their fellowship and sympathy in His hour of anguish. Merely to have them near Him, to know that they were there to watch and pray even though they could not share His holy burden, was to be a comfort to Him. We try to do as much for one another in hours of bereavement and disappointment, but how much greater was the opportunity of these three, and how ignominiously they failed. The spirit was willing (v. 38), but the flesh took the upper hand, and they slept! He was alone with His Father, when He prayed that if it were possible the hour might pass from Him, but in true and beautiful submission said, "not what I will, but what thou wilt."

The follower of Jesus will know this experience, too. While he will ever find it to be true that there is nothing more precious than the friends God gives him, he should prepare himself to expect the arm of flesh to fail him. There is no more bitter experience in human relationships than to count on those who should stand by, come what may, and to find that they have slept through our hour of soul-struggle.

III. Betrayed by a Kiss (vv. 42-46).

To betray the one who had done nothing but good, who had loved him and served him even in the washing of his feet, this would have been far more than one could have expected of even the sin-blackened heart of a Judas. But he fills the measure of his ignominy to overflowing by betraying his Lord with the sign of affection—a kiss.

We know full well that we may not stand on the same ground as our Lord even here, for, whereas He had done nothing to merit betrayal, we at our best are not able to stand forth without fault. Nevertheless, great is the hurt when we face the betrayals of life. It may be one whom we have befriended, who has been the object of our loving thought and care, and who in the hour when he thinks to gain himself some advantage or avenge some fancied wrong strikes us in the back, even as he smilingly professes to be a friend. Shall we be embittered in soul and give like for like? God forbid! Let us rather say as Jesus did to Judas, "Friend, wherefore art thou come?" (Matt. 26:50.)

If We Knew All

The righteous perisheth, and no man layeth it to heart: and merciful men are taken away, none considering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come. He shall enter into peace.—Isa. 57:1, 2.

GINNERS MEETINGS TO BE HELD IN JUNE

Auburn, June 6. — A series of one-day cotton ginners' meetings, designed to give Alabama ginners the latest information on methods developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture cotton ginning and fibre laboratories to increase returns to growers, will be held throughout the state during June, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

Good quality cotton is gaining in importance in Alabama and good ginning is essential to good quality, Mr. Davis stated in announcing the meetings.

"We are hopeful that every ginner in the state will attend one of these meetings, since it is our purpose to give them information that will be helpful to them and helpful to the farmers whom they serve", he said.

J. B. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer, will discuss practical problems involved in good ginning, while J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, will lead the discussion from the standpoint of the farmers. Vocational agricultural teachers, Farm Security representatives are expected to attend these important meetings, as are one or more representatives of the Alabama Ginners Association. Ginners can get all particulars on the scheduled meeting by contacting the county agents, Mr. Davis said.

Meetings scheduled during the month are: Mobile, June 9; Monroeville, June 10; Demopolis, June 11; Andalusia, June 13; Dothan, June 14; Clayton, June 15; Montgomery, June 16; Selma, June 17; Auburn, June 20; Talladega, June 21; Birmingham, June 22; Tuscaloosa, June 23; Gadsden, June 27; Huntsville, June 28; Sheffield, June 29; Decatur, June 30.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Asserting that there never has been a substitute for hard work, Benjamin Russell, industrialist of Alexander City and president of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, advocated more work and less talk in order to convert Alabama's possibilities into realities in an address delivered in several North Alabama towns last week. "Elbow grease is still the essential oil of industry", continued Mr. Russell, "and we need less block and more tackle in order to pull Alabama up from 47th place among the states in spendable money income".

"This state", he said, "ranks at the top in natural resources, 15th in population, 28th in area, but next to the bottom in income and buying power". He attributed the low income and buying power in Alabama to the fact that 42 per cent of the state's population derives its income from agriculture, with only 28 per cent divided among industry and business.

In comparing our state with Ohio, Mr. Russell pointed out that Ohio, a state of 40,740 square miles, has wealth estimated at $18,489,522,000 against estimated wealth in Alabama of $3,002,000,000. The value of Ohio's farm property being estimated at $2,236,902,000 against Alabama's farm property at only $611,301,000.

"Industry must come if we are to survive", said Mr. Russell. "We have reached our peak in agricultural production. We must learn to process the products of our farm, forest and mine before we can benefit the individual people of the community."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all the people of Sylacauga and Chilton County for the aid given us during the illness and death of our father, James R. Taylor. — E. F. Taylor, Prattville, Ala.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

On last Sunday, June 5, relatives and friends of Mrs. Zula Davis, little Doris Jean Davis, and Mrs. Mary F. Deason arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ratliff to celebrate their joint birthday; Mrs. Zula Davis was 58, Dors Jean was 5, and Mrs. Mary F. Deason was 75. Those enjoying this occasion were:

Mrs. Zula Davis and daughter, Mrs. Mary F. Deason, Mr. and Mrs. Harvie Davis and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ratliff and children, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Davis and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis and son, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Davis and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Davis, Misses Pearl and Lillie Mae Davis, Mrs. Lula Jowers, Mrs. B. D. Dennis and son, Mrs. Bettie Blalock, Mrs. Lula Ratliff and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hayes and children, Misses Pauline Hayes, Willie Pearl Roseberry, Wilda Layne Broadhead, and Jeanette Evans, Messrs. Arthur E. J. Roseberry, Marvin and Lofton Smith, Wilmer Headley, Guy Hand, J. P. Adams, Julian Hayes and J. B. Smith, Mrs. Daisy Crane and son, Miss Edith Mooney and B. F. Mooney.

At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was served in the yard. The day was enjoyed by everyone, and the honorees received many nice and useful gifts. Late in the afternoon everyone left, wishing them many more birthdays.

LIBERTY HILL

Several from here attended the services of Rev. C. C. Willcut at the Municipal Auditorium in Birmingham Sunday afternoon. Some of those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moore and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Edwards and Mr. Dewey Mims.

Master Roddie Lowery, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lowery, was real sick last week with something like malaria fever, but is better now.

Mr. Cleve Scarbough of Birmingham spent a few days last week with his son-in-law, Mr. Raymond Johnson and and son, Carroll.

Mr. Leonard Eubanks, who lives near Baker school, was taken seriously ill last Tuesday night, but is improving some now

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Littlejohn and Nina Fay, and Mr. Hershel Maddox and daughter, Audrey Jean, of Thorsby, attended the singing at Longview Sunday

Our Sunday school picnic last Wednesday afternoon was a great success. You missed a treat if you did not hear Rev. Cunningham imitate all kinds of birds and animals; also his talk on "Light" was enjoyed very much.

We are to have a combined Children's, Mother's, and Father's Day program the third Sunday in June. Miss Olene Mims has charge of this program. In the afternoon we will have singing, and would like to have all the good singers of the county to meet with us that afternoon. Everyone who wishes to, just bring you a lunch and spend the day at the house of God.

Watch next week's paper for announcement about our regular preaching services for this month.

Mr. A. M. Rollings and daughter, Nellie, moved to Thorsby last Monday.

HIGHLAND

Our singing society met last Sunday afternoon, with only a small number present. Several good singers were absent on account of sickness and deaths.

The opening song was sung by the chairman, Mr. Clint Billingsley, followed with prayer by Mr. T. W. Billingsley. Directors for hte afternoon were: Clint Billingsley, Fonzie Cae, Coy Lockhart, L. Z. Dickey, Miss Willie Merle Lockhart, and T. W. Billingsley. Pianist for the afternoon was Miss Gladys Wyatt.

We were glad to have the visitors from Shiloh, and invite them back again. Remember, we have our singings the first Sunday afternoon in each month, and invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at the home of J. N. McKee Saturday night, June 11th. The proceeds will go for the ben ft of Pleasant Grove church. The public is cordially invited to come.

Elect

ARTHUR HEUSTESS

Associate Public Service Commissioner

WHAT Alabama wants today is a progressive leadership in ALL DEPARTMENTS of state government. In no uncertain terms, the voters voiced that wish in the May primaries.

ARTHUR HEUSTESS, candidate for Associate Commissioner of Public Service, is young, active, vigorous, progressive. He commands the complete confidence of leaders of the new regime in state affairs. He will wholeheartedly support the new administration of Alabama's government. He will serve you, loyally and well.

Such a candidate with such a viewpoint can do far more than his opponent —an appointee of the Graves administration.

"Hon. Hugh White President of Alabama Public Service Commission, is actively supporting Heustess, so is Walter C. Givhan."—

She Knows Only Cats Can See Well In The Dark

"SHE also knows that persons with glass eyes can't even see in the daytime. She knows, too, and any optical specialist will tell you this is true, that even with the finest lenses for your eyes you cannot see well if you do not have enough light.

"She is one of my Company's home lighting specialists. When she comes to your door, invite her in. She has an interesting story to tell you about light and its relationship to your eyes and your comfort and your child's grades in school. You will appreciate having talked to her, because you will have learned that with electricity as cheap as it is in Alabama, there is no reason why you should endanger the two most precious organs of the body—the eyes—by trying to see in poor light."

VOTE FOR
W. C. HARRISON
Candidate for Public Service Commission, Place No. 2
HE IS QUALIFIED, CAPABLE AND DESERVING OF YOUR VOTE

Gov. Miller authorizts this Tribute to Harrison:

"I shall always remember with pleasure and appreciation your calm, cool judgment, your wise counsel, and unfailing friendship. It was a real pleasure to work out our problems together. You did great and lasting service for your State and County."

Donald Comer writes:

"I intend to vote for you because of your fine work as public service commissioner".

Comptroller Charles W. Lee states:

"Our records show that Clint Harrison has never drawn one cent of expense money while public service commissioner".

ONCE IN A BLUE MOON DO YOU GET AN OPPORTUNITY TO VOTE FOR SUCH A FINE PUBLIC SERVANT! HARRISON IS THAT MAN!

Harrison goes into the run-off with a commanding lead of 25,000 votes. He carried 52 counties over his opponent. It will cost the State of Alabama $40,000 to conduct this election.

Dr. Gowan Answers Questions About "Race Track"

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you allow me sufficient space in your newspaper this week to go a little further into the matter of which I wrote some weeks ago — that of the visions I had during my race for Representative. The Union-Banner queried me a little regarding my statements, and I wish to advise them they were right in their presumption that the big tractor company represented one of my opponents in my vision and that the hard-working road hands represented the other opponent.

When I saw that big tractor and road machinery company open its bank account for one of my opponents and become so interested in politics in our county, I felt I was lost. But, later I discovered why that tractor company was so interested. I discovered there is a certain local law requiring the advertising for bids on all purchases of supplies for the county amounting to $150 or more.

I also found that that law works to the best interest of the county as a whole, and as long as it is in effect the big tractor company has considerable difficulty in sticking its finger into our county treasury. That was the answer to the question as to why the tractor company got financially interested in the Representative race and wanted to place their man in office.

But, I firmly believe that my friend and former opponent-candidate, Mr. Walker, will disregard the kind feelings toward him of the tractor company and not strike that law from the books. I say this because I believe Mr. Walker will see that that advertising law is a protection to our treasury and will be an asset to our county for generations to come. Mr. Cox must have seen that when he passed that law.

I was mighty glad to find out why the tractor company came down to Chilton County and wanted to help run our affairs. They simply wanted to get rid of that law, but I don't believe Mr. Walker will make that mistake in the face of the voters of the county. Any way, since when did we have to have the help of a tractor company in our elections? I believe if a majority of the people were familiar with this they would resent it tremendously.

I see that the newspapers here have been saying something about possible fraud in absentee ballots in this county. I have heard quite a bit about this, and it wasn't so good, either. I am glad to find the people are waking up to what's going in their county in politics. I want to call on Mr. Walker when he gets down to Montgomery as our representative to lend every aid in correcting this situation in absentee ballots and make every effort to completely abolish the absentee law. Then we can be assured of electing those men whom we believe to be the most efficient.

Yours for a better understanding of what goes on in politics in Chilton County. Respectfully, — Dr. J. E. Gowan.

SOCIETY

HARDY-CHRISTIAN

A wedding of social prominence was solemnized at 5 o'clock in the afternoon of June 3, at the bride's home in Clanton when Miss Maralyn Hardy became the bride of Raymond Christian of Tuscaloosa, in a ceremony characterized by beauty and charming simplicicty. Only members of the immediate families and a few friends were present. The officiating minister was the Rev. B. F. Atkins of Northport. The vows were spoken before an improvised altar arranged before a window in the living room where tall floor baskets filled with blue Hortensiana were interspersed with 7-branched candelabra, burning white tapers against a background of ferns and smilax.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Marshall Hardy, pianist, and Mr. Marshall Hardy, soloist. Miss Alice Polk of Clanton attended as maid of honor, wearing a gown of blue mousseline de Soie. She carried an arm bouquet of shasta daisies. Margaret Davis of Rockford, a niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, and wore pink organza. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed garden flowers in pastel shades. The altar candles were lighted by Charles Christian of Norport, who served his brother as best man.

The bride was lovely in a dress fashioned of white marquisette with lace panels. Her veil of bridal illusion was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

As Maralyn Hardy, the bride was quite popular in Clanton and Birmingham. She attended the schools of Clanton and received her degree from Howard College, where she was May Queen in her senior year.

Mr. Christian also received his degree from Howard, and was widely known in the athletic field.

The bride and groom motored to Pensacola on their wedding trip, and will be at home June 7, at 702—17th Avenue, Tuscaloosa.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Davis and son, John, of Rockford, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hardy of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hardy of Birmingham, Miss Marie Christian and Mr. M. J. Christian of Northport.

W. C. HARRISON MAKES LAST STATEMENT TO STATE VOTERS

Montgomery, June 8. — I have never made any criticism of the gentleman who is running against me, nor will I now indulge in any mud-slinging contest.

Mr. White has, however, now injected himself into this campaign. He holds an elective position on the Commission. He should consider himself under obligation to the people for the office he holds. He has no right to attempt to dictate to the people whom they should elect to another office. His statement shows that he is against me because Mr. Lee and I prevented him from placing his wife on the state payroll so, as he says, he could pay off a mortgage on his home. If he elects his candidate, Mr. Heustess, to the Commission, he and Mr. Heustess will then be able to put his wife on the public payroll.

Mr. White says I am interested in politics. Is he not also? Some 16 years ago he received a political appointment in connection with the Public Service Commission, and has since drawn in salary, exclusive of expenses over $76,000. He is now drawing a $5,000 fee, in addition to his salary of $4,600 a year, from a rate organization to do the identical work it is his duty as a full time paid public servant to do, and as required by law. Mr. White says the Commission employees are demoralized. There are 21 employees in the Montgomery office; every one of them is supporting me. Only two of these employees were appointed on my nomination. There is no demoralization except in Mr. White's imagination.

It is not in the public interest for this important Commission to be dominated by one man. No attack is made on the honesty or quality of my work. This attack is motivated by personal resentment because I have, in the discharge of my duty, performed the unpleasant task of keeping Mr. White's wife off the people's payroll.

If one man is to become the dictator of this Commission, the other places held by Mr. Lee and myself should be abolished by the Legislature, and not merely filled by Mr. White's nominees to draw a salary for doing what he tells them to do. — W. C. Harrison.

CAUGHT FINE BASS

The big one does not always get away; this was demonstrated Wednesday morning by Mr. B. L. Venable, of Alabama Mills here. Mr. Venable was showing a large 18-pound Striped Bass, which he had caught early that mornng near Wetumpka.

Mr. Venable said that he had quite a tussle with the big fish, although it required only a short time to land him. It looked to be fully thirty inches long.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CHOOSING A CAMERA

Fast vacation-time action calls for a speedy shutter. Nobody wants to miss shots like this, or get pictures that are blurred and fuzzy because of movement.

IF YOU are planning to get a new camera for your vacation this year, let me suggest that you do not delay until the last moment, and then have to pick your instrument in a great rush.

A camera should be chosen with care and attention to every detail—picture size, lens, shutter, view finder, ease of opening and handling, finish and durability. Moreover, it should be obtained early enough for you to become thoroughly familiar with its workings, because on a vacation you will often want to use it in a hurry.

Compare and handle several cameras before you choose. Study lenses—maybe you will want an f.6.3, to make sure of well-timed snapshots on dull days, or an f.4.5, twice as fast, for speedy action shots in bad light—as well as better indoor snapshots. It is well to bear in mind, too, that a good fast anastigmat lens gives sharper pictures — which means better enlargements if your vacation yields top-notch scenics that you want to have framed.

Make sure that the shutter of the new camera has enough speed to take care of all your probable needs. It is bad when you have a chance for some good action snaps on the tennis court or beach and your camera shutter is too slow to get them. Remember, too, that if your hand is at all unsteady, a speedy shutter is a great help in getting sharp pictures.

You have a wide choice of camera styles and prices. You can get superspeed miniatures with f.2 and f.2.8 lenses; others with f.3.5 lenses; cameras taking larger pictures that have f.3.5, f.4.5, and f.6.3 lens. Naturally, the better the camera is—the more speed and versatility it has—the more it costs, but there is no need to spend in excess of your needs. Thousands of good pictures are made every day with moderately priced cameras, and they will serve for most snapshot purposes.

"Good News–" Gets Good News

MAKING their annual selections of the best in radio entertainment, the Women's National Radio Committee chose "Good News of 1938"—heard Thursday evenings over a coast-to-coast NBC network—as the "Best Variety Program" on the air.

Pictured above are several of the outstanding artists who have helped gain this distinction for Good News-" and these are but a few of the stars heard on the program. Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, Luise Rainer, Spencer Tracy, Myrna Loy, Freddie Bartholomew, Robert Taylor, Robert Mongomery, and nearly three-score more top-flight movie personalities have been in one or more of the "Good News-" airings so far.

In charge of music on the show is dynamic Meredith Willson with such vocalists as Connie Boswell, Judy Garland and Allan Jones. Willson's "chiffon jazz" arrangements of popular tunes as well as his novel but adept handling of the classics, have brought "Good News-" an envied reputation as a musical stronghold of the air.

Another essential of "variety" entertainment is comedy. Here "Good News-" goes even the average comedy program one better, boasting two front rank comedians in Fanny Brice, as the impish but lovable "Baby Snooks," and Frank Morgan, whose addled antics are a delight to listeners. A frequent guest is Una Merkel, whose prattling rocks the chairs from ocean to ocean.

To round out the program there is drama every Thursday, too, and "Good News-" draws upon a wealth of screen talent for its playlets—all the stars already mentioned and many others — Maureen O'Sullivan, Florence Rice, Rita Johnson. . . .

Altogether "Good News of 1938" provides a friendly and stimulating hour of entertainment every Thursday—one the whole family can listen to and enjoy together.

AUGUST 1-6 DATES FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn, May 16. — One of the most outstanding programs from the recreational and educational standpoint ever held is being worked out for hundreds of Alabama farmers and farm women who will gather at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 1 to 6, for the 1938 Farmers and Homemakers Week, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

As part of the educational and recreational program, Director Davis says that state and national agricultural leaders will be present to address the farm people. Community singing, so popular in the past, will be continued this year, as will the sections or classes in livestock, landscaping, poultry, forestry, and other phases of agriculture in which the farm people are interested.

The latest facts on farming and homemaking gathered through experiments of the Alabama Experiment Station will be given the farm men and women, the director states. In addition, tours will be conducted so that the group may see what is being done to improve Alabama crops and farm practices.

All persons attendiny Farmers and Homemakers Week will be housed in cottages of the state camp on the campus at Auburn. Assemblies for speakers and singing will be in the assembly hall of the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Heflin and Miss Mary Frances Duke went to Selma Monday night and attended the graduation exercises of a high school, where a relative of Mrs. Heflin graduated.

PAST AND PRESENT

If our ancestors of the horse and buggy days who headed west to make and maintain an empire, who ploughed their strength and courage into the plains, who sowed the seeds of great cities across the continent, who took catastrophe in their stride only to build bigger and better, who considered adversity not a threat to be afraid of but a challenge to be met — if those our ancestors could meet us moderns now, what would they think of our 1938? We have all that they lacked, we have what they hoped to create, a vast nation dotted with great cities and abundant farms and filled with the products of mechanical genius. We have what they had, depressions and droughts and sweeping fires; but we are better equipped to fight them and to compensate for their destruction.

Those ancestors of ours would call us lucky, would expect us to be happy and content and advancing toward a 20th century version of Utopia. But they would find a people restless, not with surging energy, but with dissatisfaction and bitterness; discontented, not with their own faults, but with those of others; demanding, not to do things themselves, but to have others do for them. They would find a powerful industrial economy stalled because its mainspring, its motive, is considered a crime. They would find a growing group looking, not for freedom, but security; not for opportunity, but largesse.—New Haven Journal-Courier.

LAWS AND MORE LAWS

Moses was presented with only ten commandments, and Woodrow Wilson delived fourteen points to the Versailles Peace Conference, but legislatures of 43 American states in regular sessions last year enacted 18,483 new laws. The record is a tribute to the ingenuity of the senators and representatives who from coast to coast have joyously assumed the burden of regulating other people's lives.

That only 1,245, or about seven per cent, of these bills were vetoed would suggest that some state executives were not so alert as they might be.

First prize goes to Minnesota, where, out of 3,037 proposals for the salvation of organized society, only 495 were enacted. Ohio's record could be worse. Of the 1,085 measures cast before the lawgivers at Columbus only 208 were approved.

Thomas Jefferson proclaimed that the government is best which governs least. He would be more than mildly surprised were he to observe this interesting and somewhat alarming development in the democracy he helped to found for the protection of the rights of man. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"The newly organized third party will attract all the fanatics, demagogues, bellyachers, political mountebanks, morons, screwballs, ne'er-do-wells, and crackpots in the country", declares an editor. If so, it will have a sweeping majority. — Washington Post.

When an investment proves successful, government steps in and helps itself to a liberal cut. When it is unsuccessful, the investor is not only required to shoulder the entire loss, but is regarded with suspicion by government as having probably conspired to bring about his own ill fortune. — Portland Oregonian.

Which is worse, sitting on an ant-hill out in the woods on a July day, or holding stocks in Wall Street on a margin?

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

The Communist party, the world over, is regarded by the unthinking as a working man's movement. Yet this is far from being true. None of the red leaders, Marx, Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky, were working men. Either they were intellectuals or members of the middle class, who stirred up class spirit and used the workers as their tools. The present system in communist Russia eloquently proves that communism does evrything but give freedom to the working classes.

Misunderstanding of communism seems true of fascism, and particularly true of its twin brother, naziism. It is commonly reported and accepted as a fact that Hitler and his party were given power in Germany as a last effort to save capitalism in Germany; that it originated with and is sponsored by the artistocracy and representatives of great wealth.

While it is true that naziism was fertilized in Germany by the fear of communism, it is not the fact that naziism is a capitalist movement designed to preserve the old order. Hitler was neither a capitalist nor an aristocrat. He was a house painter. Mussolini was a socialist and a manual worker.

Otto Tolischus, Berlin representative of the New York Times, one of the outstanding European correspondents of American newspapers, asserted recently in a feature story in his paper that naziism is not a movement of big business but of the masses. The severest critics of naziism in Germany, he pointed out, are not only liberal intellectuals, but business men, big and little.

What Mr. Tolischus says is, of course, true. Naziism is supported by German masses, else it could neither survive nor pile up its tremendous majorities even with official pressure. The same thing is true in Italy.

Neither naziism nor fascism, therefore, is the weapon of big business. Capitalism is an expression of individualism. Fascism and naziism regiment not only labor, religion, and free thought, but business and capital as well. The business man is not a free agent in Germany. He does what the government tells him to do and no more. Naziism is popular with large elements of society because it "takes care" of the boys, by furnishing government subsidized jobs and support at the expense of free capital and individual enterprise.

It is a mistake, therefore, to assume that fascism and naziism are merely the tools of big business in Germany and Italy. They represent an ultra nationalist movement which regiments the individual for the benefit of the state.

It is true that fascism is aided in its development by frightened capitalism. But the real promoter of fascism is communism. It is the red doctrine which gives fascism and naziism the excuse for existence. They appeal to patriotism by preaching nationalism as against an international dictatorship of the proletariat, and the spectre of approaching communism aids them in their objective.

The prize example of inconsistency in our own country is the politician who denounces fascism and yet adheres to a system which would regiment the individual in America and bring on the very evil which he denounces. For if we get fascism in America it will come from a mass movement just as it has come in Europe. The best way to serve it here is either to aid communism or to seek to regiment capital and labor and destroy or shackle free enterprise.

A NEW WPA RECORD — AND THEN WHAT

Despite five years of effort and the expenditure of 19 billions by the administration in efforts to prime the pump and increase employment to the point where real and permanent recovery will be had, Harry L. Hopkins, spender extraordinary and relief administrator without hindrance, now announces it is very likely the WPA load next winter will reach 3,100,000 persons on the rolls. That is more than double the 1,450,000 on the rolls seven months ago. It is more than the former peak of 3,035,852 of February, 1936. After all the expenditure, the relief chief is now warning that the situation is worse than ever before, and judging by his prediction for next winter, is expected to get steadily worse.

In estimating relief rolls, it must be understood that they only include those actually on the lists — the breadwinners. What does 3,100,000 relief workers mean? It means practically that many families; and it was not long ago that Mr. Hopkins asserted there were 21,000,000 persons in the United States depending upon emergency work or government largess for whatever living they have, with the number growing greater right along, if his pessimistic predictions are to be believed.

Preparing to pour $4,500,000,000 more into the pump, the nation surely must pause and wonder what will be, what can be, the outcome of a situation which rapidly approaches the point where one person in eevery four is being supported by the other three with their growing taxes and the government with its continued borrowing and increasing public debt? Inflation is already being tried in a mild way, the experiment is one that grows until the crash comes, and then what is there but bankruptcy, misery for all, with all values wiped out, life savings destroyed, insurance policies valueless, government bonds only so much wall paper?

The only alternative is to call a definite and immediate halt on expenditure; to give private industry a chance to re-employ people; to adopt a policy of rigid economy. But the administration can hardly be expected to take such a dose; for where is the hophead that doesn't think he needs another shot?—Enid (Okla.) News.

TAX THREAT

Every working man and every farmer in this country should recognize the threat to his welfare in increasing taxes.

They hurt the working man of the United States because they do two things, raise the prices they must pay for goods and absorb income of the companies for which they work which might otherwise go for more employment or better pay.

They harm the farmer because they increase the difference between the prices he pays for the goods he needs for his home and farm. He can buy less, his income is cut. — Syracuse Post-Standard.

President Roosevelt is said to have written his party's platform for the congressional election this fall. It is to be hoped that he replaced some of the props that Gov. La Follette's speech knocked out from under it.—Hartford Courant.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Jesus said, "Ye are the salt of the earth" Someone has said, "Many Christians act as if Jesus said, "Ye are the sugar of the earth". We have talked a great deal about Christian sweetness and, of course, Christians should be sweet, but Christians should be salt, too. Salt preserves. When corruption comes in contact with salt corruption raises a white flag of surrender and then dies. Corruption should never pass through Christians. When it does the salt has lost its savor. Salt does not only preserve. When it is put on a wound it hurts. The world doesn't like the pain that is necessary for its healing. That is the reason the world crucified Christ. That is the reason the world hates and opposes all true Christian reformers. The man who is wrong toward God is like an open wound. He knows he needs healing, but he had rather take chances on the wound curing itself by some kind of human process than to have the salt of divine healing applied to the wound.

Jesus used practical and often homely illustrations. He talked about salt, light, and a city set on a hill. There can be no possibility or mistaking his meaning. People are familiar with salt. They know a great deal about light, and many of them have seen cities on hill tops. Someone has said that light cannot be soiled. It is incorruptible and undefiled. A true Christian can live in a city with the driftwood of humanity of the earth and still stay pure. When Jesus was here and a wicked woman touched Him, they asked, "Does He know who is touching Him? She is a bad woman. You can't touch pitch and not be defiled". Jesus could. "Jesus was separate and undefiled". He was incorruptible. He can impart to His followers His life, His light. Christians can shine in dark places. One Christian may light up an alley. Another one shines in a dive. Another walks in kingly glory on a missionary journey into the slums of the underworld. Another sails the seas and carries His pure light into heathen and pagan darkness. Christians, "Ye are the light of the world. Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven."

The Supreme Court of Alabama, in a recent opinion, held that a ballot cast in a precinct or city ward other than the actual place of residence of the voter is an illegal ballot.

Game & Fish News

Morgan County Rodeo

The newest addition to the list of fishing contests in Alabama is the Morgan County Game Conservation Club's two-day fishing rodeo for the sportsmen of that county and the Tennessee Valley, slated for the two days of June 22-23. Elaborate plans have been made for the event, which is expected to attract hundreds of anglers from many sections. Merchants of Decatur, Hartselle and Falkville will offer valuable prizes for record fish in 17 different classifications, with special awards for women. The contest, open to all comers, will start at 1 a.m. on June 22 and close at noon on June 23. A top prize of $25 will head the list for the largest bass. Complete rules were published recently in the Morgan County papers.

5,250 Quail Eggs

A total of 5,250 eggs had been laid by 350 little Bob White hens at the state game farm in Autauga County through May 28, according to records of Supt. Alex McPhail. The first eggs of the current season were laid the middle of April. The largest collection of eggs was made on May 28, when 1,379 were taken from the nests and placed in the incubators. More than 1,200 quail chicks also have been hatched up to the time the books were closed for May. Here is the egg collection record: April 23 — 219 eggs; April 30 — 442; May 7 — 814; May 14 — 1,126; May 21 — 1,270; May 28 — 1,379. Approximately 500 chicks came out of the incubators on May 17-21, and about 800 more beginning May 30.

Boat Reservations

The "early bird catches the worm" proverb will apply to deep sea anglers planning to attend the 10th annual Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo in lower Mobile Bay this year, with reference to boat reservations. The rodeo association has a boat committee, headed by John I. Morrill, Box 908, Mobile, which obtains suitable fishing boats for contestants. Those who write early will have the pick of the best boats for an enjoyable vacation August 8, 9 and 10.

Terraces require considerable care and attention always, but especially during the first year, before the loose soil has had time to become thoroughly settled, cautions S. R. Doughty, soil conservation specialist of the Alabama Extension Service. Neglect this important duty and aggravated soil losses will result in the future, he says.

Cutworm damage to young cotton becomes more general and more serious as reports come in from Bullock, Chilton, Elmore, Autauga, Chambers, Lee, Macon, Russell, an dTallapoosa Counties that the worms are damaging thousands of acres of young cotton and some farmers have had to plow up and replant, states W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

There will be an ice cream supper at the home of J. N. McKee on Saturday night, June 11. The proceeds go for improvements to Pleasant Grove church. The public is invited to come and take part in a worthy cause.—Odis Scott, Albert Headley, V. C. McKee, committee.

CANE CREEK

The annual all day singing will be held here the fourth Sunday in June, the 26th. The new books will be used. Bring your new song books and lunch and spend the day helping us sing praises to God. Remember the time and come. We are expecting several quartets and good singers.

MAPLESVILLE ALLOWS ERRORS TO WIN FOR COLEANOR 10 TO 1

Errors played a great part in the defeat suffered by the Maplesville ball team Saturday afternoon when the Piper-Coleanor outfit defeated them 10 to 1. The first six Coleanor runs were gifts through misplays by Tommy Williams, Melton Wallace, Horace Wallace and Rogers. The other four Coleanor runs were earned, three in the seventh and one in the ninth.

Maplesville's lone run came in the ninth on an error and a single by Fred Tucker.

Holsomback and McDonald led the 11-hit Coleanor attack with a pair each, while all eight of Maplesville's hits were shared by as many men.

THE EFFECTS OF ALCOHOL ON THE HUMAN BODY

The Union-Banner is herewith printing its third installment of "The Effects of Alcohol on the Human Body", taken from an old public school Physiology and Hygiene. The purpose of these articles is purely to better acquaint the public of the physical effects of alcohol, or whiskey.

In connection with this series, however, we commend to you the articles which we are publishing elsewhere from a Chilton County Baptist minister and pastor, Rev. M. Lockhart. This preacher deals more with the moral effects of indulging in drink. We would especially ask you to read Rev. Lockhart's story this week, entitled "Liquor Kills". This article is certainly worth your time and attention. Read the rest of this article, then read "Liquor Kills", then pass this copy of The Union-Banner on to someone else who does not take it and ask them to read both these stories.

WHAT BECOMES OF ALCOHOL IN THE BODY? — When taken into the stomach, alcohol passes into the blood with great rapidity. The body has the power of rapidly disposing of it either by giving it off, or, more probably, by oxidizing it to carbonic acid and water, and thus destroying it. At any rate, little or no alcohol can be found in any part of the body or in its waste, no matter how much is taken. But its oxidation takes place in an irregular way which is injurious to the body.

CAUSE OF THIRST FOR ALCOHOL. — The property of taking away water from substances which it touches, accounts in part for the failure of alcoholic drinks to satisfy thirst. A dry state of the surface of the lining of the mouth gives rise to thirst. If this lining is deprived of water by alcoholic drink, the sense of thirst still remains, although the rest of the body is supplied with water. Moreover, this lining is somewhat injured by the alcohol of every drink, and to soothe the irritation another drink is needed. So the thirst goes on, growing stronger with every drink.

When he begins, no drunkard expects to drink more than a glass or two at a time, but his thirst always deceives him and the momentary relief which drink gives him is only a deceitful addition to his thirst.

MENTAL EFFECTS. — The fact that the habitual use of alcohol causes so much insanity is an indication of the disturbing effect that it has on the mental processes. Alcohol materially affects the rapidity and accuracy of thought. It makes one inaccurate, incapable of steady application, and tends to make the mind act more slowly. After the so-called stimulating effects of alcohol have passed away, there is always a marked reaction causing mental depression. This paves the way for irritability, which is next door to loss of self control. The use of alcohol, as will naturally be inferred from our discussion of habit, gradually tends to weaken a person's will.

ALCOHOL AS A STIMULANT. — Most authorities admit that for a very very brief period alcohol may act as a stimulant, and spur one to greater activity. Stimulus means "whip." However, after the burst of energy there is a rebound; the pendulum swings to the other extreme, and the is less than the usual capacity work. Does the healthy body such a whip?

THE ANSWER. — The use of hol in any form is wholly unnece for the use of the human bod health. Think of the joy of po ing a good body well built by th of good food and pure water, and knit and well proportioned by j ous and regular exercise. Stri treat your body so that it will be in clean, pure blood; possess n that are steady and honest in action, a brain as clear as a bell a mind that is quick and accur its operations. To accomplish these you need no other stimulan pure air, proper exercise, good and the invigorating sunshine. I use of alcohol, you run the r losing one or more of these pr qualities so essential to happy, lives. The use of alcohol in an tends to remove one from a of security to the border line ger. He may cross the line effort on his part, or even in his best effort, and become n slave than a master. When habit of using alcoholic drink ed, and the individual realize dition, he may battle royall ly, perseveringly, and despe the chances are against his success. It is safe to predict that usually drink will win the struggle, deplorable and unwelcome as such a fact is.

If there is no need of alcohol in any form for the healthy body, then why should anyone begin its use when there is so much risk and so much danger involved?

USA BIG LANDLORD

After Five Years Of HOLC, Government Owns 80,000 Homes

Washington, June 14. — After five years as a home mortgage lender, the government owns nearly 80,000 dwellings. About half of these were acquired through foreclosure in the last year.

The Home Owners Loan Corporation which jumped into the real estate business in 1933 to save homes threatened with foreclosure in the depression, is five years old today. It lent more than $3,000,000,000 to about 1,000,000 home owners from June, 1933, through June, 1936.

About 30,000 borrowers have repaid loans in full; about 750,000 are making "satisfactory" payments; 115,000 still are making payments "that cause us to have hope"; while about 33,000 have repayment records indicating a "doubtful outcome".

Liquor Kills!

Liquor kills! That's its nature, that's its record, that's its history. Don't forget it, don't overlook it, don't be deceived in it, don't be deceived about it, don't be deceived by it. Liquor kills!

Visit that home where liquor is indulged in. See that husband and father dying with heart trouble, or kidney trouble, or cancer, or disease of the liver, or a burnt-up stomach, or some other fatal disease caused by alcohol. See that son or daughter or that wife and mother dying, leaving dear children and friends and loved ones — a victim of liquor. See the burning fever as it scroches the cheeks, excites the heart, wrecks the brain, saps the vitality, and burns up the life. Liquor kills!

Go to the hospitals, visit the different wards, look into the faces of suffering, wretched, remorseful, dying men and women, boys and girls, who are victims of liquor.

The writer will visit the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton immediately after these lines are finished if we are not bumped off by some liquor soaked fiend. We are anxious to hear from the young man who attempted suicide a short distance from where these lines are being written Sunday, June 5. We have just had a conversation with a cousin of this young man, who went to see his relative, and he states that his cousin emphatically stated that liquor was to blame for the affair.

See that man or woman, boy or girl, or poor little helpless child yonder in the casket. Some drunken fiend took that precious life. It was done with a gun, or a knife, a club, by strangulation, or in some other way. Liquor caused it! Look at the weeping, mourning, heartbroken, sorrowful family gathered around the casket.

Come to Refuge, the home church of the writer of these lines, and let us point out to you the mound of a grave of a poor little innocent boy who was the victim of an automobile collision between this boy's father and one of his uncles (his mother's brother). Liquor was to blame! Liquor kills!

Go out on the highways of this great country. See those horrible wrecks! There are cars torn to smithereens. Look at the victims. See the road red with the life blood of husbands and wives, sons and daughters, sweethearts, friends and neighbors. Look at the crushed heads, and the very brains spattered over the roads where passing automobiles will soon crush them under their wheels. These are facts and not mere fancy. You know it, you realize it, you see it with your own eyes. Liquor caused it. Maybe you helped to do it. Perhaps you voted wet. You may be just as guilty as the man who made the liquor and the man who sold it, and the man who drank it.

Visit the prison cells of our country. Look at those inmates awaiting trial for crimes caused by liquor. Some have been engaged in bloody fights, some are thieves, some of them have committed the awful crime of murder. There you see someone raging wild — he has delirium tremens. Visit the state capital, where murderers are awaiting execution. Watch them pace their silent, lonely cells. A day is set apart when they will pay with their lives for the lives they have taken. It is pitiful, it is sad, it is enough to cause angels to weep. Liquor is to blame! Liquor kills!

Go to the insane asylum. Listen to the awful curses, moans and shrieks coming from the cells where alcoholic victims are confined. They are crazy, they are wild, they are raging, they are dangerous. Such language! Certainly it was born in the pits of hell! Liquor put those people there!

When will the consciences of men and women be awakened, and their very souls stirred to the depths by those dreadful facts and scenes? How much longer shall our country sleep, while alcohol does its deadly, damnable work? Liquor kills!

Quite a few have expressed their appreciation of our attitude toward the liquor business. If you wish to do so, drop us a line.—M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—President Getulio Vargas of Brazil was a far-western frontiersman in his youth, still wearing "bombachos," or gaucho trousers, for informal dress, and quite in character pumping a six-gun at the palace, and putting down a Graustarkian revolt.

Pres. Vargas Handy With Six-Shooter

A swarthy, stocky little man, quick on the draw, he has never been gun-shy, and impromptu shooting has been an occasional obligato in his rise to supreme power.

When he established his totalitarian state on November 10 of last year, there were those who said he was dealing in the dark of the moon with the green shirts —that here was where Germany and fascism got a toe-hold on this continent.

The green shirt revolt and its vigorous suppression by Sr. Vargas seems to be an answer to that, even if he had not previously made it clear that his authoritarian state was not of the European model.

Brazil has a complex racial makeup which provides no proscribed group or racial myth, the first requirement in fascist technique, and furthermore, when it comes to strong-arm government, all South American countries have plenty of home talent and indigenous skill.

Home Talent Expert at Strong Arm

Sr. Vargas recruited his political following as a liberal. He denounced monopoly and promised the overthrow of the "coffee plantation kings."

He seized power in 1930 by the overthrow of President Washington Luiz, with the aid of his lifetime friend, old General Aurelio Monteiri. Luiz had won the election against him, but Vargas raised a cry of fraud.

From the first he ruled partially by decree, now entirely, since the adoption of the constitution of November 10. His reorganization of the country followed established dictatorial practice in the formation of labor "syndicates," the fixing of maximum and minimum wages, and the denial of all rights of free press and free assemblage.

Denies All Rights of Free Speech

He is a famous orator, speaking a fluent and flowery Portuguese, using the radio a great deal in national appeals. He is credited with just about the shrewdest political intelligence in South America. In his prairie town, he attended a private college, later enrolled in a military college, but was diverted to the law.

His rise through minor offices to the national congress parallels the standard career chart of our congressional record biographies—district attorney, state legislature and all the rest of it.

* * *

THE make-believe war in which the eastern seaboard was defended against "black" expeditionary forces from overseas was the first large-scale work-out of our "flying fortresses" under a unified command. Major General Frank M. Andrews, running the show, is one of the few flying generals.

Air Forces Defend U. S. in Mock War

He gathered up the strands of the unified service when the GHQ air force, which he commands, moved into the huge air base at Langley field, March 1, 1935.

Called the "handsomest man in the service," he is quietly effective and the last man in the world to be called a swivel-chair officer. He warns the country against a shortage of fliers and urges civilian training. He was not an A. E. F. flier.

In 1934 he made the unusual jump from lieutenant-colonel to brigadier-general and was made a major-general in 1935. He was graduated from West Point in 1906 and was with the cavalry on the Mexican border, before he found his wings.

The Mayflower Party

The Mayflower brought 41 men and their families—102 in all. The Speedwell, which set out with the Mayflower, proved unseaworthy and turned back. The Mayflower was followed the next year by the Fortune of 55 tons, which arrived at Plymouth in November, 1621, with some 30 additional emigrants. In 1623 the Ann and the James of 140 and 44 tons, respectively, arrived with 60 more members for the colony. The passengers in these vessels completed the list of those who are usually called first-comers.

Mrs. Ethel Bishop and young son went to Birmingham last Wednesday afternoon.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

On Sunday, June 5, at about 10 a.m., a large crowd of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Baker to celebrate Mr. Baker's birthday anniversary.

A bountiful dinner was served at the noon hour. All returned home about 4 o'clock, wishing for him many more happy birthdays.

FERTILIZER INDUSTRY CONSIDERS PROBLEMS

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 8. — The 14th annual convention of The National Fertilizer Association ended here today after a series of sessions at which many problems of interest to farmers were considered.

Emil Truog, professor of soils of the University of Wisconsin, and president of the American Society of Agronomy, addressed the convention on "A Modern Conception of Soils, Fertilizer Action, and Plant Nutrition". "By means of chemical analysis", said Prof. Truog, it is now possible to determine the supply of available and unavailable nutrient elements in the soil. This enables the farmer to control conditions involved in plant nutrition, much as the manufacturer controls certain processes in his plant.

"Our present day conception" he continued, "of soils, fertilizer action, and plant nutrition is, in many respects, quite different from what it was at the beginning of the present century. Particularly in the last 25 years have many notable advances been made relative to the soil, interaction of soil minerals with fertilizer constituents, methods of fertilizer application, the role of minor elements, soil testing, and plant symptoms of nutrient deficiencies".

4-H CLUB GIRLS ASSISTED WITH WOMEN'S RALLY ON MAY 26

The 4-H Club girls assisted the women in making their rally day a complete success. The girls greeted the women at the door of the Chilton County High School. They assisted in the registration of the women who attended the rally, and served as ushers at the doors, and could be recognized by their sashes of grten and white. These are the colors of the 4-H Club. The girls assisted in preparing and serving the dinner, which was served cafeteria style. The speakers and guests were served banquet style by the club girls.

Surviving are four sons, and probably other children.

CHILTON CITIZEN HITS VOTE FRAUD

Hugh Thompson Thinks Something Should Be Done About Buying Of Votes In Chilton County

Editor Union-Banner:

I would like to secure enough space in your good paper to express some of my views, and views of others regarding the absentee ballots of this county. I want to say, also, that I deeply appreciate the stand taken by the newspapers on the absentee ballot frauds, and thank you for calling it to the attention of the people. I have heard much comment on this, and many compliments on the papers' stand.

I have had many good people to talk to me and condemn the practice of buying votes by the absentee method, and all agree that something should be done about it now. When it comes to one or two men using their money to buy the worthless absentee votes from a class of people who have no more thought or care of the welfare of the county than to sell their vote, then the honest people should take action and do whatever will serve the best interests.

I believe, and many who have talked with me believe, that the authorities should call a special session of the grand jury and investigate and indict whoever is connected with this absentee vote fraud which is so plain in this county.

I believe that anyone who would offer to buy a vote, or who would sell or offer to sell his vote should be punished in the most severe manner provided by law. And, I think it is a direct insult to honesty and a destruction to government for us to allow this fraudulent absentee buying to continue.

I believe it is a known fact that a large number of absentee votes have been bought for the June 14th primary election, and that these votes are for the opponent of Mr. T. L. McKee, and I would like to see the honest, law-abiding voters of this county go to the polls on next Tuesday and cast their vote for Mr. McKee, thereby condemning this practice of vote buying in our county.

Until this deplorable practice is stopped, the honest, conscientious voters have little voice in selecting their officials. So, let's vote June 14th for T. L. McKee for tax collector. Respectfully yours, — Hugh Thompson.

JIM L. SCROGGINS DIED FRIDAY, 3RD

Heart Attack Fatal After Five Hours; Was A Former Clanton Merchant

James L. Scroggins, age 53 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Jimmie Cox, at Thorsby, Friday night, June 3rd. The body was brought here and prepared by Martin. Burial was Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Chestnut Creek, Coopers, Rev. B. Lawrence officiating. Martin directed.

Pallbearers were: Jim Armstrong, Arthur Cox, Wilburn Ward, Harmon Broadhead, Bud Littlejohn, and J. A. Maddox. Flower girls were: Bobbie Jean Dunlap, Julia Cox, Patty Jean Broadhead, Blanche Jones, Annie Mae Daniels, and Evone Littlejohn.

Surviving are the wife, two daughters, one sister, Mrs. Jimmie Cox, and four brothers in Texas.

Mr. Scroggins operated a business at West End, Clanton, for a number of years, having retired from that a few years ago.

ALL DAY SINGING AT COLLINS CHAPEL 3rd SUNDAY IN JUNE

Happy Hitters Will Give Concert There Saturday Night, June 18th

The annual all day snging will be held at Collins Chapel on the third Sunday in June, the 19th. All singers have a cordial invitation to attend, bring dinner and new song books. The Happy Hitters, of Birmingham, and other good quartets and singers will be present.

The Happy Hitters will put on a concert at the schoolhouse on Saturday night before the singing, June 18th. Everybody is invited to attend.

REFUGE

There was no Sunday school at this place Sunday, as most of the members went to the homecoming at Liberty, in Autauga Cousty.

Rev. M. Lockhart filled his regular appointment Sunday night; his subject was "Jonah and the Whale".

The singing school here will begin July 25 and will be taught by Mr. O. L. Devaughn. Everyone remember the date and be ready to come and let's have a fine school.

Folks, don't forget our homecoming and family reunion next Sunday. Everybody is invited. We want as many singers and quartets as will come, as part of the day will be given to singing. Don't forget — be here at 10 o'clock. — Mrs. J. R. Connell.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

There could have been a great many more members of our church and Sunday school in attendance last Sunday. You who were not there missed a great deal by not hearing Buford Truett bring the message at the general assembly of the Sunday school.

How about making a decided effort to be at Sunday school next Sunday morning and to stay for the preaching service. Don't let your church down during the summer months, but do your "dead levelest" not only to keep it at the high point it has been, but also to build it to greater success and goodness.

We are counting on you members, all of you, to be in attendance next Sunday and to bring all the visitors you can.

THE NEW DEAL

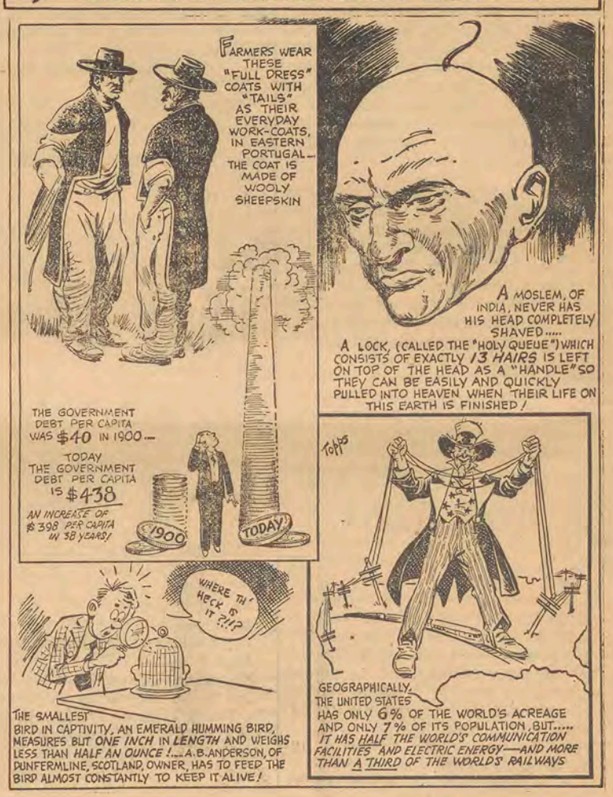
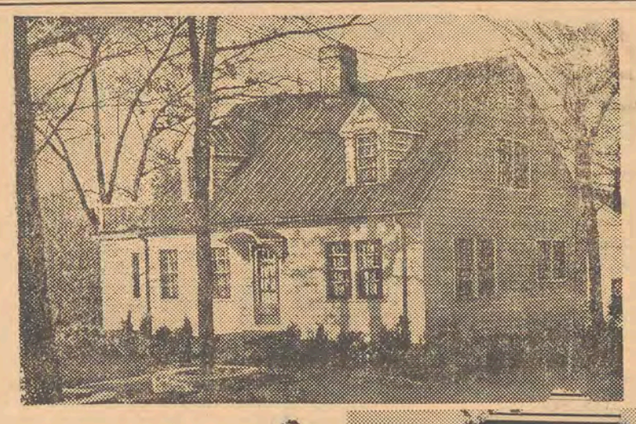
that the WPA would take no part in politics, and then in the same breath had endorsed a candidate for the Senate in a Democratic primary in Iowa, against another Democratic senator who had not been sufficiently servile to suit Hopkins and Roosevelt. Bailey also pointed out that Ickes gave aid to LaGuardia, the nondescript mayor of New York.



As a climax to a fiery session, Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, proposed an investigation of charges that the WPA had been used for political purposes, and announced that he would push the charge.



When charges of such grave import are made against the party in power by loyal members of that self-same party, we may be sure that there is something rotten a whole lot nearer home than Denmark. Such charges, by members of the opposition party, might be laid to a desire to make political capital and to hamper the victors of the moment. When Democrats of unquestioned regularity and integrity rise up to denounce the greed, arrogance, and double-dealing of their own party chiefs, it gives us all something to ponder over.

We should all be thankful that there are in the United States Senate men like King, Wheeler and Bailey, Democrats who are too honest and too self-respecting to joing the pillagers or take dictation from them. These men have stood about as much as they can, and are beginning to break loose. They know that they are on the White House black list, and that no means, fair or foul, will be spared to bring about their defeat when they stand for reelection; that in addition to foes without the party, they must be prepared for the stab in the back from their own party gangsters. Present indications are that these independent and self-respecting Democrats will at least go down swinging, and the future should hold some interesting developments as we watch the progress of the White House fight to exterminate all who have not bowed down to Roosevelt and worshipped him.

Fortunately, 1940 is only two years off, and we are hopeful that the country can somehow muddle through until then. In that year, we should be able to separate the sheep from the goats, the chiselers from the suckers, and write finis to this business of having even our local affairs directed and dictated from Washington.

Absentee Ballot Box In Democratic Run-Off Taken From Courthouse

Prominent Citizens Entered Counting Room, Handed Box And Supplies Out Window To Waiting Car; No Arrests Yet

The culmination of a bitter and lengthy fight over Democratic absentee ballots was reached Tuesday at noon when four or five prominent Democrats of the county took charge of the absentee box and supplies, handed them out the window at the courthouse, placed them in an automobile, and spirited them away to parts unknown. The managers had just finished making the poll list and were ready to begin counting the ballots. Two of the managers had left the room for lunch, the reports have it. There were 741 ballots in the box, officials report.

The whole affair was pulled in broad open daylight by unmasked men and unarmed so far as witnesses could see. Watchers at the box report that the principals in the abduction were: Dr. N. S. Johnson, Dr. J. E. Gowan, John T. Thompson, Tom R. Burdette, Jim Williams and several others. The car in which the ballots and supplies were placed was driven by Paul Johnson, step-son of John T. Thompson. It is not known in what direction the car went.

From all appearances, those men who arranged and carried out the plans of getting away with the absentee ballots, intended for it all to be done as publicly as possible. They must have considered it a matter of public service and public interest, inasmuch as no attempt was made to conceal their actions from anyone. After the job was finished, all of the men went about their regular duties, making themselves readily accessible to anyone who might wish to get in contact with them.

Charges upon charges of fraud and unfairness have been made regarding the voting and buying of absentee ballots for this run-off primary.

Serving as election officials at the Democratic absentee box were: Managers, Elwyn (Doodle) Gore, M. D. Foshee, and W. M. Polk; Clerks, Mrs. Mable Johnson, and Mrs. Beatrice Pratt; Returning Officer, Miss French Evans. Watchers at the box were: C. B. Cox and Guy Roberts. The only election officer present when the box was taken was W. M. Polk; the two watchers, however, were present. The other two managers and both clerks had gone for lunch at the time.

The news of what had happened reached Montgomery not long afterwards, and Governor Graves had sent to Clanton four extra highway patrolmen, in view of the excitement when the news that the box had been removed had gained circulation. Things soon quieted down, however, and there was no necessity for augmented police protection.

At the time we went to press Wednesday no trace had been found of the missing ballot box nor as to what happened to its contents. What effect the lost ballots will have on the Democratic run-off is not known, neither is it known as to if and when any of the perpetrators of the incident will be arrested.

City Has New Car

The City of Clanton has invested in a new car for its officers and general use. It is a Chevrolet, and the old car was traded in on it, the balance being paid in cash, according to Mayor Jones.

CURIOUS BEETLE DAMAGING SMALL COTTON AND CORN

Mr. Walter Kelley of Highland community had in Clanton Monday morning two curious insects which he said he captured in the act of cutting his small cotton and corn. The insects are about one inch long, and resemble a green grasshopper, except they are more plump. They burrow like a ground mole, and can travel at quite a speed just under the soft ground.

Mr. Kelley says these insects have almost ruined his corn and cotton. There have been reports similar to this from other parts of the county, where cotton had been cut off beneath the surface of the ground.

County agent J. W. Fant examined these beetles or bugs; he says they belong to the cricket family, and do some damage, but are nothing to be alarmed at. They are to be found on almost all farms, Mr. Fant says.

CAME HERE TO VOTE

Prof. and Mrs. L. C. Warr, of Eufaula, came to Clanton and cast their votes in person in the Democratic run-off Tuesday. The Warrs did not choose to vote absentee, but rather went to that extra trouble of coming up here in order to be sure that their votes went properly through the proper channels.

Eight Before Mayor On Monday Morning

Eight law violators appeared before Mayor C. Fenn Jones Monday to answer various charges. They were: One for possessing pistol without license, continued to July 1st; one for driving while intoxicated, continued to July 1st; one for public drunkenness, sentenced to work on the streets; four for public drunkenness, continued to June 18th; one negro for disorderly conduct, paid fine of $8.25.

MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR ADAMS STA.

J. T. Crane Believed Victim Of Foul Play; Officers Are Investigating Clues

The lifeless body of J. T. Crane, age about 20 years, was found in a sedge patch near the home of Arley Bone in the vicinity of Adams Station last Wednesday evening, June 8th, about 7 o'clock. The young man was said to have shown some faint signs of life when first found, but this report could not be definitely substantiated. His left eye was said to have been bruised, and there was reported to have been a bruise in his left side. The theory of poisoning has been advanced, and this is being investigated.

J. T. Crane was the son of a widow woman, Mrs. Daisy Crane, who lives on the place of Mr. Jimmie Walker. Young Crane was married to Mr. Jimmie Walker's daughter about a month ago, and an attempt is being made, it is said, to annul the marriage.

The young man was last seen about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, about one mile from where the body was found. Some of Mr. Arley Bone's people discovered the body near the home by the barking of their dog, it is said. Mr. Bone went immediately to Maplesville to notify a deputy sheriff. Officers are investigating the entire affair.

J. T. Crane lived with his mother, which is about four or five miles from the home of Arley Bone, where the body was found.

Funeral services for the young man were held at Antioch Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. M. Stillwell; Griffin of Prattville in charge. Surviving are the mother, Mrs. Daisy Crane; and two sisters — Mrs. Charlie Sansom, and Mrs. Grady Davis. The father, Clayton Crane, died in 1930.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

This week we again urge all members of our church and Sunday school and all those interested in our church and its growth to attend Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., preaching services at 11 a.m., and 7:30 p.m.

Remember, we need our church. We needs its every department. Does it not deserve our every effort and cooperation? Let's begin now to be more loyal to our church and lend our support in its every progression.

Members of our children's department — how about a picnic? Be at Sunday school next Sunday and let's plan it.

USA BIG LANDLORD

After Five Years Of HOLC, Government Owns 80,000 Homes

Washington, June 14. — After five years as a home mortgage lender, the government owns nearly 80,000 dwellings. About half of these were acquired through foreclosure in the last year.

The Home Owners Loan Corporation which jumped into the real estate business in 1933 to save homes threatened with foreclosure in the depression, is five years old today. It lent more than $3,000,000,000 to about 1,000,000 home owners from June, 1933, through June, 1936.

About 30,000 borrowers have repaid loans in full; about 750,000 are making "satisfactory" payments; 115,000 still are making payments "that cause us to have hope"; while about 33,000 have repayment records indicating a "doubtful outcome".

INSURANCE MAN PROMOTED

Mr. Stanley Davis, salesman for Liberty National Insurance Company, has received a substantial promotion in his line of work. He has beeen appointed assistant district manager for this district of the state. Mr. Davis has been selling for Liberty National in Clanton and vicinity for the past seven years, and during that time has won for himself a number of distinct honors, prizes, trips, Etc. Just last year he won a free trip to Biloxi, Miss.

Mr. Davis for the present will maintain headquarters in Clanton, but his work will carry him all over Chilton County, also to Deatsville, Wetumpka, Prattville, and a part of Montgomery.

The many friends of Mr. Davis will rejoice with him in his good fortune, and wish for him continued success in his business.

U. S. AGENT EYES MOBILE ABSENTEES

Mobile, June 8. — Possibility that the United States government may investigate the May 3 Democratic primary, in which a number of indictments have been returned by a Circuit Court grand jury arose here today.

First indication that the federal government would probe the election came today when L. F. Rittlemeyer, U. S. postal inspector, visited probate court for the purpose of obtaining lists of persons who applied for absentee ballots and of new voters who registered just prior to the primary.

Rittlemeyer refused to say whether the data was being obtained for the U. S. grand jury which convenes here June 20, but added: "We are just a little bit curious".

Fourteen persons have been docketed on indictments returned by the county grand jury in connection with vote registrations prior to the primary.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

AIR MAIL LETTER FROM MRS. EZELL

Following is an interesting letter received Tuesday morning from Mrs. S. J. Ezell, who is on the western tour with the group of Chilton teachers and others. The letter came by air mail, and was written at Grand Canyon National Park, Arizona, Saturday, June 11. The letter follows:

June 11, 1938.

Dear Mr. Wyatt:

This trip is wonderful. The whole 36 are having a great time. Mr. Little is some trip planner. I had not imagined anything so marvelous. We are all well and have had no car trouble or anything else to mar the trip.

I am thinking of our Unity-Chilton Institute which is to be held July 5, 6, and 7, and wishing to urge everyone to make the necessary plans, that our Institute may be the greatest ever held. Will you urge through the papers that each church plan to have means of transportation arranged for the people who want to go each day? If the Sunday school superintendents will begin now, arrangements can be made for many to go. I am hoping that each church will insist on its pastor attending each day.

I am urging the W. M. S. presidents to see to it that a full corps of teachers from her W. M. S. attend the class they will teach, so that when our Institute is over, these teachers will go out and teach schools of missions in those churches that are not represented well at the Institute.

I am so glad that we have secured wonderful speakers and teachers this year. Dr. Buchannon, the new pastor of Southside, will bring the inspirational address each day. Rev. Oscar Davis, Clanton's new pastor, will bring the devotionals. Rev. W. E. Craighead, missionary to Roumania, will teach the adults and tell us of that most interesting country. Miss Tanya Koroteme, a Russian exile, has one of the most interesting stories to tell that I have ever heard, as well as a lovely voice. Miss Leachman of Atlanta never fails to inspire us. In fact, this is not to tell you just what all to expect, but to urge you to begin to get ready now for the greatest Institute we have ever had.

Will be home the 28th of June. — Mrs. S. J. Ezell.

Center Hill Singing

Our annual singing will be held at Center Hill on the fourth Sunday in June. All singers and lovers of music are invited to come and bring their books and lunch and spend the day with us. — Mrs. B. O. Lowery, reporter.

CHINESE NEED HELP

Horrible suffering, possibly death, from wounds and starvation face China's millions of war refugees. They need your help. Won't you contribute to the Red Cross Chinese Relief Fund? Let your pennies save lives. Address the Chilton County chapter, American Red Cross Chinese Relief Fund, Clanton, Ala.

BILL GLASS DIED IN GREENVILLE, S. C.

News has reached here of the death of Bill Glass of Greenville, S. C., some few weeks ago. He was born and raised in West Chilton, just east of Randolph, a son of Sam G. and Sallie Hayes Glass. He is survived by three brothers, C. G. and Tom Glass of Jemison, and Jimmie, address not known; one sister, Mrs. Mary Smith, of Aliceville. Burial was in South Carolina.

A train crashed into his car and caused his death. He was a splendid young man, and, we presume, unmarried. — Z. J. Jones.

COOL AIR AT LE BESS BEAUTY SHOPPE

Mrs. Bessie Fiquette, owner and operator of Le Bess Beauty Shoppe, reports that customers may come to her place now with the assurance that they will keep cool while getting work done. A new cool-air circulator has been installed, which is just the thing for this hot, sultry weather.

Mrs. Fiquette is offering some specials this week; read her adv. elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner.

Local Men Attending Embalmers' Meeting

Samuel and Leroy Martin were in Selma Monday and Tuesday attending a session of the State Embalmers Association.

Mr. Samuel Martin was retained again this year as member of the Board of Directors, and Leroy Martin was named as a member of the nominating committee for the coming year.

DR. BOB JONES TO SPEAK IN MONTGOMERY SUNDAY P. M.

On Sunday afternoon, June 19, at 2:30 o'clock, Dr. Bob Jones will speak in the city auditorium in Montgomery at a great mass meeting, celebrating the Prayer Hour Program over WSFA radio station. The public is invited.— T. C. Casaday.

Miss Gertrude Eubanks is in Bessemer attending summer school. She is staying with her sister, Mrs. G. D. Ritchie.

REPUBLICANS HOLD STATE CONVENTION

National Chairman Will Be In Birmingham For Meet; GOP Head On Tour

For the first time in a number of years Alabama is to be honored with a visit from the chairman of the Republican National Committee, when Hon. John D. M. Hamilton will visit Birmingham and speak to the State Republican Convention in session in that city next Wednesday, June 22nd. Mr. Hamilton has a number of appearances planned in different parts of the country, and Birmingham, Alabama, is his first one.

The national notable will speak at Temple Theatre at 11 o'clock on the above date, a guest of the Birmingham Rotary Club, and sponsored by the Republican state organization.

Mr. Hamilton will be entertained at an informal banquet at the Tutwiler Hotel Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, at which function our own Judge J. O. Middleton will be toastmaster. It is expected that Chilton County will have a number of representatives at this banquet as well as the convention the following day.

Chilton County Republicans have been distinctly honored by our state organization in the above recognition of Judge Middleton. We will retaliate by numbers of us attending these functions in Birmingham next week.

W. M. DEVAUGHN WRITES

The editor of The Union-Banner received an interesting letter from Prof. W. M. Devaughn this week. Prof. Devaughn has been connected with the Showalter organization for some time.

His letter this week comes from Climax, Ga., where he is teaching music at present. He says he has about 50 very interested pupils; it is the first school of its kind ever taught in that town.

Mr. Devaughn plans to go to the coast over this week end on a fishing trip, and invited the editor to come down and go with him.

After two more weeks at Climax, Prof. Devaughn expects to come through Clanton for a short visit with relatives and friends, en route to Chattanooga, where he will begin a four-week normal school on June 27.

Cabbage Had 14 Heads

Mr. Will Thomas of Beat 16 brought in the cabbage Saturday which we wrote about last week. It has been determined that it has fourteen heads instead of eleven as was reported last week. It is being kept alive as best we can at The Union-Banner office; we want to see if it will not sprout out another head or two. The cabbage was raised in Mr. Gaston Miner's patch.

New Beauty Shoppe To Open Next Week

A new beauty shoppe will open up in Clanton about the middle of next week. It will be located in the new Hayes building, at the rear of Watts Hat Shoppe old stand — next door south of Murray-Bell Hardware Company. The shoppe will be operated by Mrs. Mildred Houton, daughter of Mr. T. J. Posey, the barber. It will be known as Mildred's Beauty Shoppe.

Mrs. Houton asks the ladies to watch for her opening and drop around to see her.

HARDY WON OVER McKEE BY 30 VOTES

Outcome In Doubt Until Final Box Returned; Hint Of Contest Circulated

The Democratic run-off in the county Tuesday resulted in the close vote of: J. R. Hardy 1,096, and T. L. McKee 1,066, contenders in a heated fight for Democratic nomination for tax collector. This was one of the most heated and closely contested elections in recent years in Chilton County.

For Public Service Commission Arthur Heustess received 940 votes against W. C. Harrison's 965. For State Senator Dr. J. A. Hines received 826 votes against Karl C. Harrison's 1,195.

All of the above figures are the totals cast in the various beats of the county, and do not include the absentee votes, the latter having been taken away efore the managers counted and tallied them.

There is a rumor that McKee has stated he will contest the election, although at this early hour no official notice had been given to that effect.

Sheriff's Force Made 13 Arrests During Week

During the past week there have been thirteen arrests made by Sheriff Hardy and his force, according to the jail register. They include: Public drunkenness, five white men; driving while intoxicated four white men; reckless driving, one white man; decoying child from home, one white man; abusive language, one colored man; bastardy, one white man.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOPPE HAS PUT ON NEW DRESS

The Modern Beauty Shoppe, Mrs. W. C. Robinson, proprietor, has recently put on a new and distinctly different appearance inside, due to new decorating, new paint, and the addition of new and more equipment.

The Modern really and truly lives up to its name, and in order to do this it is called upon to keep spic and span. Mrs. Robinson sees to it that this is done. The Modern is always really modern. It must be a pleasure for the ladies to go there to get all dolled up and looking pretty.

15,583 State Paroles In Last Three Years

A total of 15,483 temporary and permanent paroles were granted Alabama convicts from September 30, 1934, to September 30, 1937, records of the State Board of Administration have revealed.

Of the total, which includes both felons and those sentenced to serve less than one year, 8,981 convicts were granted permanent paroles, and 6,602 received temporary paroles.

WATCH MAN IN HOSPITAL

The friends of Mr. Lee Hughes will regret to learn that he is in Central Alabama hospital again for an operation. He will be away from his watch repair business for probably a couple of weeks. His friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Southernaires To Be At Jemison Friday, 24th

The Southernaires Quartet will give a concert at Jemison high school Friday night, June 24, at 8 o'clock, in behalf of Pleasant Grove church. Admission will be 15c and 25c. Everyone is invited to attend. — W. E. Childress.

Dr. Bradford Knapp Dies Of Heart Attack

Former API President Was Leader In School Agricultural Extension

Lubbock, Tex., June 11. — Dr. Bradford Knapp, 67, president of Texas Technological College, and outstanding in agricultural and education circles, died today of heart attack.

The educator had been in ill health for several months. He was the son of the late Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, known as the "father of extension work" in the United States.

Dr. Knapp became president of Texas Technological College in 1932, when he resigned the presidency of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, at Auburn, Ala., where he had been chief executive for four years.

He is survived by Mrs. Knapp and five children.

CHINESE REFUGEES STARVING

One of the greatest tragedies in human history is rapidly approaching a horrible climax in strife-torn China. Relief workers estimate that 60 millions of war refugees are huddled together in ruined towns and villages, or wandering over shell-pitted, unplanted fields in search of a few grains of rice to stave off starvation. Disease is rampant in this hungry, homeless horde, and death more agonizing than that of the bayonet faces the munless sympathetic nations hear their pleas for aid. The American Red Cross, with other Red Cross societies of the world, is seeking to give this assistance. Won't you help? Give to the Chilton County chapter's Chinese Relief Fund.

THE EFFECTS OF ALCOHOL ON THE HUMAN BODY

There appears this week the fourth and last of a series of articles taken from an old public school physiology and hygiene dealing with the effects of alcohol upon the human body. It will be noted in this article that there is a paragraph relative to the effects upon the heart. There has been one paragraph on this topic already, but we find this one very pertinent also.

We hope that this and the preceding articles on this subject have been read by the people of Chilton County and our subscribers and friends elsewhere. One only has to turn the pages of our daily papers to see both the moral and physical effects of alcohol; there is report after report of deaths from heart trouble, apoplexy and associated diseases. They are not all caused from the use of alcohol; some people die of these diseases who have never taken a drink, but we all admit that drinking does considerably disturb the heart and other vital organs of the body.

We have not argued the question of the legality of whiskey in these articles — rather, we have tried to enlighten our readers on what drinking will do for their bodies. Time only will tell whether or not the United States will continue legalized liquor. Some contend there is less drinking now than in prohibition days. We will say that there has never been a time in the history of civilization when so many boys and girls and women indulged in all forms of drinking as today. If the race survives both morally and physically many years as we are now going, then there will be no argument but that drinking is O. K. If our civilization crumbles, then there will be no argument but that drinking was a heavily contributing factor.

Again, we ask you to read the following paragraphs; when you have finished, pass this paper on to someone else to read. Teach your children of the bad effects of alcohol; the future of our civilization depends upon our children.

EFFECTS OF ALCOHOL. — Prevents fermentation and decay. — While alcohol is the product of fermentation, it has the power to prevent fermentation. The germs producing alcohol will not grow when alcohol is present in the proportion of 14 per cent. Germs of decay will grow in a much larger percentage of alcohol, but no germs will grow in a solution one-half alcohol. This fact is put to use in preserving specimens of animals and vegetables in museums, by placing them in spirits of alcohol. Since decay is dependent upon germs, the alcohol, by preventing their growth, prevents decay. It can also prevent the digestive ferments from acting upon food.

Extracts water from tissues. — Water and alcohol mix very readily. An uncorked bottle of alcohol takes up water from the air, and so becomes weakened. When alcohol is in contact with a wet substance, it appropriates some of its water, and the substance then shrivels and becomes firmer. Strong whiskey can produce the same result in the body to a limited extent.

Hardens tissues. — Alcohol also hardens many animal and vegetable substances by extracting their water and by coagulating their albumin. In museums this fact is put to use in hardening soft and delicate specimens of animals and vegetables, so they may be preserved and examined safely. It is not probable that this action occurs in the body, for nature pours out an abundance of water to dilute the irritating alcohol.

Within the body the effect of extracting water from the tissues and of hardennig albumin is to produce a smarting sensation which shows that the organs are being injured. There would be no limit to this action and death would soon take place if nature did not provide means for a partial protection against this substance. When any part of the body is harmed, nature pours an abundance of water over the injured spot, so as to dilute and wash away the irritating substance, just as she pours out tears to wash a speck of dirt away from the eye. Alcohol attracts water to itself, and thus its power to do harm is greatly lessened. But this protection is only partial. If only a small amount of strong drink is used steadily for some time, nature becomes exhausted in her efforts of defense. Thus, while some exceptionally strong men seem able to use a large amount of strong drink with little harm, most men are greatly harmed by the smallest of amounts.

EFFECTS OF ALCOHOL UPON THE HEART. — The first effect of alcohol is to increase the force and frequency of the heart beats. This sends more blood through all the body, and there is a feeling of greater strength, which is called stimulation. Men take strong drink for this effect. This feeling comes on within a few minutes after drinking, and passes off in the course of an hour. Then the drinker feels a desire for more alcohol and so forms a habit of its use. While a little alcohol may make a man feel better, yet the strength and endurance of his heart is really diminished. Alcohol is like a whip which makes the heart beat harder for a time, but leaves it less able to do its work in the future. Its blow is pleasant at the time it is given, but it is all the more harmful because it is enjoyed.

EFFECT OF CONTINUOUS DRINKING. — The derangement of digestion and assimilation resulting from long continued drinking impairs the nutrition of the whole body, including the heart. Drinkers confound the absence of fatigue with strength itself.

SHOULTS

Well, folks, the Florida boys have just arrived to help me fish. They don't like such little fish as we have here. They will soon get enough of it and will go back to Florida where they can get some fish. Any way, they like old Alabama. Can't tell just how long they will stay. I guess I had better spruce around and go back with them. I sure do like Florida. Down there I can catch fish and throw the little ones back. If it wasn't for my little watermelon patch, I would go right away. — Uncle Remus.

W. M. S. MEETS

Circle No. 2 of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. R. J. Jones.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. O. D. Deloach reading Mark 10:1-12, and John 4:7-30.

Mrs. M. A. Gore gave a reading, "Building the Kingdom of God in Japan".

After the business session, the hostess served delicious refreshments to the 12 present: Mesdames G. T. Evans, O. M. Carter, M. A. Gore, L. H. Reynolds, J. R. Broadhead, B. L. Jones, G. T. Wilbanks, M. L. White, O. D. Deloach, C. A. Sherrod, R. J. Jones. and a visitor, Mrs. S. A. Jones.

HOME MAKERS CLASS TO MEET

The Home Makers class of the Clanton Baptist S. S. will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday afternoon at 3:30 at the home of Mrs. Earle Thomas. The co-hostesses are Gertrude Calloway, Grace Golden, Doris Popwell, and Inez Smith.

The program committee is Martha Billingsley, Verna Bean, Grace Littlejohn, and Mattie Calloway. All members are especially requested to be present.

MARY A. BLACKMON

Mrs. Mary A. Blackmon, age 79, died Wednesday, June 8, at her home above Thorsby. Funeral services were held at Maynard's Chapel Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery and Elder J. T. Daniel. Spigener was in charge. Burial was in Pine Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Blackmon was the mother of O. C. Blackmon.

A card from Mr. J. E. Easterling, written at Panama City, Fla., on Monday, says: "Having a fine time fishing. Send me a copy of Union-Banner". Accompanying Mr. Easterling on the vacation trip is his wife, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Parrish.

Census figures show that there were 1,942 blind deaf mutes in the United States in 1935, and only 169 in 1920.

Lesson for June 26

SHARING SERVICE WITH THE LIVING CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Mark 16:1-8, 14-16, 19, 20.
GOLDEN TEXT—And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them. Mark 16:20.
PRIMARY TOPIC—At Work With Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Our Living Lord.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making a New World With Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Making a New World With Christ.

Easter again? No, the calendar does not say so, nor have we forgotten that we observed Easter ten weeks ago, but quite properly we study the resurrection story again today. Not only does it come in the sequence of our lessons as our final study in the Gospel of Mark, but the fact is that every Sunday is a reminder of Easter. The reason why we worship on the first day of the week is that it is the resurrection day. What life it would put into our Sunday worship if the glory of the risen Lord would shine forth (as it should) each Lord's Day in all of our service and worship.

It is difficult to think or write about the living Christ without using superlatives. Our lesson for today brings before us the most important truth that the world has ever heard—"He is risen"; it speaks of the worst thing in the world—"unbelief"; and it presents the world's greatest commission—"Go . . . and preach."

I. The Transcendent Truth (vv. 1-8).

"Ye seek Jesus, the Nazarene, who hath been crucified; He is risen, He is not here" (v. 6).

The world anxiously awaits news, and, hoping almost against hope, it longs for good news. This is the good news—the Gospel—the all-important tidings that the Son of God who had taken upon Himself not only the form of man, but the sins of mankind as well, who had tasted the bitter death of Calvary's cross, could not be holden of death, but breaking its bands asunder had risen from the dead.

This truth becomes the chief burden of the messages of the disciples as they soon went everywhere proclaiming the Gospel. See the sermons recorded in the Book of Acts (2:24, 32; 3:14, 15; 4:10, 23; 10:40; 13:30). It was such preaching that was at the foundation of the Christian church. It may be that we should emphasize it more.

II. The Impassable Barrier (v. 14).

"He upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not." Many are the sins that men commit, but at the root of them all we find the heart of all sin—unbelief.

The tragic consequence of unbelief is that it shuts the door, throws up a barrier to God's blessing that is virtually impassable until God himself gives grace to believe. The astonishing thing is that the hardness of heart and lack of faith here were on the part of those who had been the disciples of Jesus, to whom He had made known the fact that He was to die and to arise on the third day, and to whom there had now come the word of eye-witnesses that they had seen the Lord.

While we marvel at their short-sighted unbelief, shall we not ask ourselves what hindrances we have placed in God's way in our own lives?

III. The Supreme Commission (vv. 15, 16, 19, 20).

"Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation" (v. 15). "And they went . . . and preached, the Lord working with them and confirming the word" (v. 20).

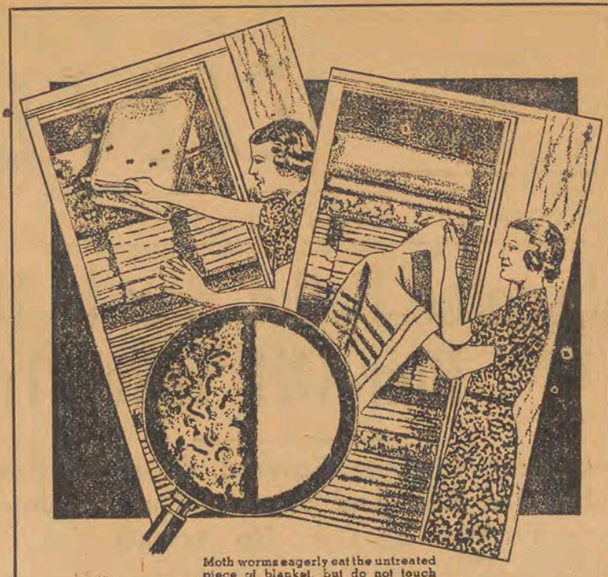
The great commission of Christ is still the "marching orders of the church," but how slowly we have marched. The writer of these notes was recently startled by statistics revealing anew the fact that "Christian" America is rapidly returning to the status of a mission field. It is said that last year 60,000 churches in America had no converts, and 9,000 churches were closed during the year. There are 10,000 villages reported to be without church services, and 30,000 communities without a resident pastor.

The command of Christ is that we should go to these pagan communities in our own land with the gospel, and surely it is our double shame that there are still lands where Christ has never been preached, yes, tribes that do not even have a word in their language for the blessed name—Jesus!

If we will go He will indeed work with us (v. 20) and accompany the message and ministry with divine authority and power. Who will go?

Select Good Company

When a man lingers in the neighborhood of sinners he may expect to be tempted. Our company has not a little to do with our conduct.



Try Again

The diligent searcher after truth will not be deterred by many disappointments. His hope may fail, but he will try again.

Key to Success

There is only one key to success, and that is perseverance.

4-H CANNING CONTEST ENTERS TENTH YEAR; OFFERS AWARD

The National 4-H Canning Contest conducted under supervision of the Agricultural Extension Service of the various states celebrates its 10th anniversary this year by supplementing t heusual awards with a 25-quart pressure retort to each alternate state winner.

Over 225,000 girls and about 1,000 boys are estimated to be enrolled this season in canning activities, which are expected to produce for home consumption and exhibition 8,000,000 jars. Many of these clubsters also carry garden and fruit growing projects, which have roundly 220,000 enrolled, and yield 1,000,000 bushels of produce for canning and sale.

All regularly enrolled canning clubsters in the state are eligible to enter the contest, which requires only that they fill out a form provided by their leaders on the amount canned, exhibits, contests and related activities.

RECRUITING OPENED FOR ARMY

Major General George Van Horn Mosely, commanding the Fourth Corps Area, this week announced the resumption of unrestricted recruiting for the regular army. Approximately 1,500 young me nresiding in the eight Southeastern states will be given an opportunity to enlist, during the month of June, for assignments in the Hawaiian and Panama Canal departments and for stations located in the Southern states.

Young unmarried men, citizens of the United States, between 18 and 35 years of age, with no dependents, who believe themselves physically qualified and are interested in an army enlistment, should apply to the nearest regular army post or recruiting station, or address a letter to the Commanding General, Fourth Corps Area, Post Office Building, Atlanta, Ga., requesting information.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that on May 1 the milk production was the highest for this time in 14 years, and that there were more young chickens on farms at this time than in any year since 1930.

John E. Ivey, extension poultry specialist, says that poultry men should produce only infertile eggs from May to October, since fertile eggs will become stale and unsuitable for eating purposes at least three times quicker than infertile ones during hot weather.

Despite the fact that some of the cotton mills were closed there were 1,548,674 spindles in operation in Alabama during the month of April.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

We met at the home of W. M. Headley to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. S. E. Headley, 74, Sunday, June 12. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Headley and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edwards and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Jones and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Headley and baby, Joe Headley, J. M. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Williams and children.

All enjoyed a hearty dinner and wished her many more happy birthdays. — Mrs. Sam B. Williams.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On Sunday, June 5, the children, grandchildren, and a number of relatives and friends of Mr. T. J. DeRamus gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ledbetter of Pool's Cross Roads to celebrate his 88th birthday anniversary. All of the children were present except two sons, C. P. DeRamus of Culna Manor, Md., and J. L. DeRamus of Selma.

Those enjoying this happy occasion were: T. J. DeRamus, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ledbetter and family of Clanton Route 3, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. DeRamus and family of Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McLean and family of Maplesville, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. DeRamus and son of Selma, Mrs. J. P. Williams and family of Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. DeRamus and family of Vida, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. DeRamus, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLean, Miss Bannie McLean of Plantersville, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. DeRamus and son, Miss Ethel Deramus of Selma, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. DeRamus, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. DeRamus and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Moore and baby of Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williams of Maplesville, Davis McLean of Stanton, Ray McLean of Montgomery, Mrs. Amanda Browning of Plantersville, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Colee and family of Jones, Mrs. Moses Ledbetter of Clanton Route 3.

The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Davis and family of Tuscaloosa, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Snider and daughter of Clanton Route 6, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chestain and family, Mrs. Mary Culp and family, Misses Catherine and Wilda Mitchel, I. D. Wilson, John Foshee, Miss Bertha Roper of Maplesville, Mrs. Mattie Hall, Miss Lena Caver, J. D. Willis and John Will Herrod of Plantersville, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watkins, W. E. Jones, Percy Pool and sons, John Lewis DeRamus, A. L. Willis, Misses Norma Jones and Cornelia Vinson of Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. S. McDonald of Vida, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Downs and son of Boylston.

We were sorry that a number of the grandchildren were absent. We missed them and they missed an enjoyable time.

A picnic lunch, spread out in the grove near the house, was enjoyed by all. Music was enjoyed throughout the day, rendered by I. M. DeRamus, Ralph Watkins, D. M. Downs, Robert and Lowell Pool.

At a late hour everyone departed for their homes, having spent a most enjoyable day, wishing granddad lots more happy birthdays and hoping to meet again.

It is noted from the report of the State Board of Administration that there are more state convicts serving for 10 years than any other term. The next highest is for a term of 20 years, and the next highest 15 years. There were 543 prisoners on September 30, 1937.

He Never Bites A Dog....

(But Dogs Are Not Always So Considerate)

"SOME dogs are like some people. The more friendly you are with them and the more you try to please them, the more likely they are to bite you. At least, that's what our meter readers tell me. Of course, such persons are the exceptions.

"The Fido in this picture is not one of the surly kind and his master is just as pleased as he when the meter reader comes around, because he knows that he will get a bill surprisingly low for the amount of electricity he uses.

"I have never heard of one of my Company's meter readers biting a dog, even if the dog were vicious. While a customer who doesn't appreciate just how cheap electricity really is in Alabama, may growl occasionally, the meter reader doesn't growl back; he just smiles and says, 'Well, friend, if you would just use more of it, you would learn how cheap it really is'.

"The next time he comes around to your house, let him tell you more about it."

ALABAMA LARGEST BEE SHIPPING STATE IN THE UNION

Commissioner of Agriculture, R. J. Goode, this week issued the following statement regarding the bee industry in Alabama:

"This industry is fast becoming one of economic importance to the state and the farmers, as last year it brought in an income to the beekeepers of $200,000. Bees and queens are shipped to all parts of the United States and Canada. Each shipment of bees must have a state health certificate signed by the Commissioner of Agriculture and the State Apiary Inspector. The spring months is the busiest season for this industry. Each year this department inspects through its apiary division between 30,000 and 40,000 colonies which are used for commercial purposes. There are approximately 140,000 colonies in the state, and a large majority of these are bringing in a profit to the owners.

"It has been due largely to the efficient work of the inspectors in the Department of Agriculture, and the cooperation of the producers that this state has become the largest bee shipping state in the Union. Most of the bees are sold to the northern states and Canada, and due to these bees being rigidly inspected and disease free, there is a strong demand for Alabama bees.

In addition to the income derived from the sale of bees to other states, there is produced annually in Alabama 1,400,000 pounds of honey. There is still a field for expansion in this line as figures show that last year between 12 and 15 carloads of honey were shipped into the city of Birmingham alone.

"As proof of the enviable place place which the beekeepers of this state hold, and the Apiary Division of the Department of Agriculture, each year many visitors come to the state for the purpose of observing and securing information about this program. Only recently the Agricultural College of India sent a representative here to observe this business in package shipment. We also had visitors from the Agricultural College of England, as well as from many northern states, and Canada."

Mr. Goode urges the farmers to consider this as another plank in their program of farm diversification.

REGISTRARS MEET ON MONDAY, JULY 4

Body Must Convene On Legal Holiday, Says Ruling Of Attorney General

Answering an inquiry from Secretary of State Howell Turner, the office of Attorney General Albert A. Carmichael held last week that county boards of registrars must, under general statute, meet each year on the first Monday in July and remain in session for five days, regardless of the fact that the first Monday in July of any particular year may be a legal holiday, as it is this year, falling on July 4, "Independence Day".

It has heretofore been ruled, it is cited, that it is optional with officials as to whether or not they observe legal holidays, other than Sunday, which they must observe, and that, therefore, a legal act can be performed on a legal holiday.

Meetings of Boards of Registrars, it is stated in the opinion rendered the Secretary of State, should be held each year, for five days, beginning on the first Monday in July, "notwithstanding the fact that the first Monday of July of a particular year may come on the Fourth of July, which is a legal holiday".

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

CZECHOSLOVAKIA and all that may hang on its destiny is just an added starter in the up-and-coming cosmos of A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company.

Robertson Has Remedy for Gloom

It is the always assured and hopeful Mr. Robertson who announces his company will spend $12,000,000 on additions and betterments this year, and, from where Mr. Robertson sits, that's just a couple of white chips compared to spendings to come.

Mr. Robertson is the H. G. Wells of industry. His "shape of things to come," which he has been outlining for the last year or two, includes the following specifications:

Migratory humans, shifting north and south like the birds.

"Just whether the children will be born in the North or the South," he said, "is not quite clear to me, but I expect we will follow the policy of the birds and have the children in the North."

Windowless houses, pasteurized air, and artificial sunlight.

One-man planes, with folding wings, kept in the hall rack, with the umbrellas.

Pocket radios for two-way talk with anybody, anywhere.

Noiseless cities with double-deck streets.

Flat houses, with a push-button crane which will park the the auto on the roof.

He was a farm and village boy at Panama, New York, chore boy and rustler in his youth and hence not through grammar school until he was seventeen. Then he studied law in a country office, entered practice, got corporations for clients and then began owning and operating them.

At forty-six he was president of the Philadelphia company and now heads a $200,000,000 company. He pays liberal wage bonuses and urges friendly, co-operative relationship between capital and labor.

* * *

IT WAS only a year ago that Robert R. Young, thirty-nine-year-old Texan, quite unknown to Wall Street, rode herd on the straying Van Sweringen system and corralled it. It was all bewilderingly complicated, but, finally sifted down, it appeared that Mr. Young had picked up a $3,000,000,000 rail "empire" with an original investment of $225,000.

Young Texan Rode Herd on Rail System

He is a quiet, inconspicuous, unassuming man, and now the feature writers are just getting around to calling him a "Titan."

He won a rock-and-sock proxy battle for the control of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. Within the last few years, he has infiltrated gently into high finance, which is just now becoming acutely conscious of his presence.

His family was in and around Canadian, Texas, before the battle of the Alamo. They started the First National Bank of Canadian, which is now in the hands of the fourth generation.

At Culver Military academy, Robert R. Young was graduated at the head of his class, its youngest graduate, and later he attended the University of Virginia. With the Du Ponts in 1916, he got his preliminary work-out in finance and joined General Motors in 1922.

Career at Culver Was Prophetic

In 1932, he founded his own Wall Street firm, with Frank F. Kolbe, his later associate in the Van Sweringen putsch.

Mrs. Young is the former Anita Ten Eyck O'Keefe, of Williamsburg, Va., sister of Georgia O'Keefe, the painter. In 1935, they leased Beechwood, the Astor estate, in Newport.

Mr. Young, a Democrat, like his father, paid $15,000 for a consignment of those famous Democratic convention books, which congressmen, badgering him at a senate hearing, insisted wasn't nearly so much of a bargain as the Van Sweringen deal. "You are a bigger sucker than I thought you were," said Senator Wheeler.

Languages of Nations

Switzerland is not the only nation having more than one official language. Palestine has three recognized tongues, English, Hebrew and Arabic. Actually more than one language is spoke in every country in Europe but one. Portugal is the only nation having a single language. In Asia, India has 220 distinct vernacular languages. But even with four languages Switzerland is not finished, says the Washington Post. There is still one more obscure dialect called Ladin, spoken by a small group of people.

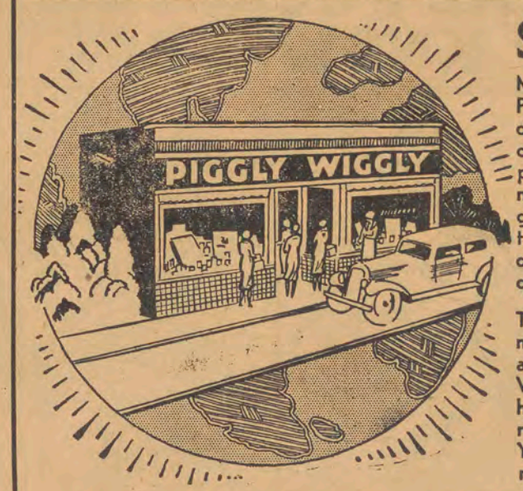
GINNERS MEETINGS TO BE HELD IN JUNE

Auburn, June 6. — A series of one-day cotton ginners' meetings, designed to give Alabama ginners the latest information on methods developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture cotton ginning and fibre laboratories to increase returns to growers, will be held throughout the state during June, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.



Good quality cotton is gaining in importance in Alabama and good ginning is essential to good quality, Mr. Davis stated in announcing the meetings.

"We are hopeful that every ginner in the state will attend one of these meetings, since it is our purpose to give them information that will be helpful to them and helpful to the farmers whom they serve", he said.

J. B. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer, will discuss practical problems involved in good ginning, while J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, will lead the discussion from the standpoint of the farmers. Vocational agricultural teachers, Farm Security representatives are expected to attend these important meetings, as are one or more representatives of the Alabama Ginners Association. Ginners can get all particulars on the scheduled meeting by contacting the county agents, Mr. Davis said.

Meetings scheduled during the month are: Mobile, June 9; Monroeville, June 10; Demopolis, June 11; Andalusia, June 13; Dothan, June 14; Clayton, June 15; Montgomery, June 16; Selma, June 17; Auburn, June 20; Talladega, June 21; Birmingham, June 22; Tuscaloosa, June 23; Gadsden, June 27; Huntsville, June 28; Sheffield, June 29; Decatur, June 30.

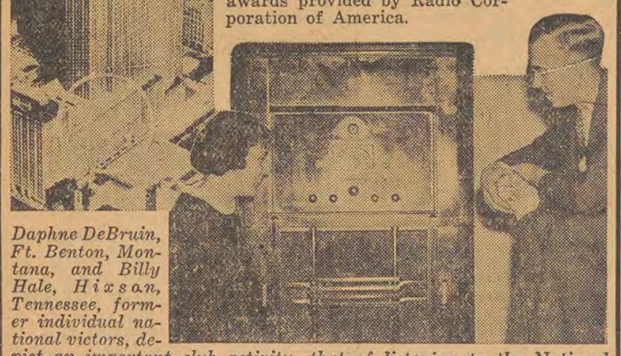
TO SCORE 4-H CLUBS ON SOCIAL WORK



COMMUNITY welfare work of over 75,000 4-H Clubs and Leaders in the nation directed by the Extension Services of the Agricultural Colleges and U. S. Department of Agriculture is again receiving incentives in the National Program on Social Progress.

This group and their leader, Mrs. W. L. Jones, near Topeka, Kansas, received trips to Chicago last year awarded their Club as National victor.

THE 34 members gave nine varied public demonstrations, sang Christmas carols to shut-ins, bought clothing for needy school children, fed poor families, organized six vocal and instrumental groups and held seven public educational discussions.

A trip to Radio City, New York (left) for the local leader and two members of the national winning club, trips to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago for the leader and three members of the four sectional winning clubs, $100 RCA Victor radios for state winners and county prizes are this year's awards provided by Radio Corporation of America.

Daphne DeBruin, Ft. Benton, Montana, and Billy Hale, Hixson, Tennessee, former individual national victors, depict an important club activity—that of listening to the National 4-H Club radio broadcast the first Saturday of each month conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with the aid of State Agricultural Colleges, the United States Marine Band and the National Broadcasting Company.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy has been an effective social and political ally of both her father, former mayor of Boston, and her husband, ambassador to the Court of St. James. But the news that, in accordance with her husband's decision, she presented only seven American women at court is one of her rare appearances in the headlines.

Mrs. Kennedy Aids Father and Husband

The 11 engaging Kennedys have been viewed more or less en bloc in the news and Mrs. Kennedy has never been in a very sharp lens focus.

She was one of the prettiest of Boston debutantes, 30 years ago, a rollicking girl with black hair and eyes of Irish blue. Back home from her convent training, she taught her father "Sweet Adeline."

He was John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald, and in his campaigns he sang his way to memorable political fame—riding like a surfboard the long, lingering "swipes" of the song taught him by his daughter—"the flower of his heart."

Joseph P. Kennedy, her childhood playmate, was twenty-five years old when they were married in 1914. He borrowed $2,000 for a down payment on a $6,500 house. Their fortunes grew as their family, with Mr. Kennedy president of a bank, in a year or two after their marriage.

Fortune and Family Grew Up Together

Mrs. Kennedy once told a Boston drygoods clerk that she bought 200 suits and dresses a year. It takes a heap of shopping to make a home, like the Kennedys', and she became known among her friends as a paragon of household efficiency comparable to the one in Solomon's off-hand apostrophe to such skills and virtues.

Now she is mistress of the "castle" which was once J. Pierpont Morgan's home; also of a beautiful mansion in Bronxville, N. Y., a huge summer estate at Hyannisport, Cape Cod, and a villa at Palm Beach, built by one of the Wanamakers.

She is slender and girlish, comely and vivacious, weighs 115 pounds and takes size 14 in dresses. Vionnet makes her gowns and she is envied by other women for her magnificent jewels—notable among them being a ruby and diamond bracelet which, it is said, is matched only by the one the Aga Khan gave his princess.

Has Diamond a Potentate Might Envy

But she never lets the children run to unseemly display, holding them to restraint in regime and dress. Even without all these adventitious fixings, say her friends, she would be an admirable ambassador's wife, with her own quite adequate equipment of tact, charm and intelligence.

MAN and boy, this journeyman has helped process a lot of explorers' and adventurers' copy through the news mill. If it was ghost-written, it had only slick and synthetic excitement, like Ersatz pastry, and if it wasn't it was usually dull. Happily in contrast are the doubtlessly authentic and personally written yarns of W. H. Tilman, leader of the British Mount Everest expedition, now getting under way.

These stories from the Tibetan base camp have a professional ease and fluency, along with a ring of integrity which gives assurance that Mr. Tilman is really writing them. There is no ghost on the job here.

Yarns From Mt. Everest Ring True

Mr. Tilman is thirty-nine years old, a keen-faced, hard-muscled Britisher of medium stature, who has been exploring ever since he left college.

He has climbed mountains in the Alps and in Africa, including Mounts Kenya, Kilimanjaro and Ruvenzori. This is his fifth expedition to the Himalayas. The entrants in this high hurdle event are not youngsters. N. E. Odell is forty-seven, F. S. Smythre is thirty-seven and the others are all over thirty.

Bull Terrier, White Dog

When bull baiting was abolished by law in England, sporting men developed the bull terrier for dog fighting and badger baiting. About 1875, dalmatian and pointer blood were introduced in the strain, making them look less like bulldogs. The bull terrier is always white, has a long tapering head, wide, deep chest, stiff, glossy hair and tapering tail. He is gentle and good natured, but fears nothing and is a good watch dog.

AUGUST 1-6 DATES FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn, May 16. — One of the most outstanding programs from the recreational and educational standpoint ever held is being worked out for hundreds of Alabama farmers and farm women who will gather at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 1 to 6, for the 1938 Farmers and Homemakers Week, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

As part of the educational and recreational program, Director Davis says that state and national agricultural leaders will be present to address the farm people. Community singing, so popular in the past, will be continued this year, as will the sections or classes in livestock, landscaping, poultry, forestry, and other phases of agriculture in which the farm people are interested.

The latest facts on farming and homemaking gathered through experiments of the Alabama Experiment Station will be given the farm men and women, the director states. In addition, tours will be conducted so that the group may see what is being done to improve Alabama crops and farm practices.

All persons attendiny Farmers and Homemakers Week will be housed in cottages of the state camp on the campus at Auburn. Assemblies for speakers and singing will be in the assembly hall of the camp.

CHINESE NEEDS GREAT

Men, women and children — 60 million of them — equal to half the population of the United States — face starvation in China's war-torn battle areas. Without food, shelter, or much needed medical attention, hundreds of thousands of these helpless noncombatants are doomed to death unless a humane world relieves their plight. Help these suffering fellow beings. Contribute to the Red Cross Chinese Relief Fund.

CHINESE REFUGEE ARMY GROWS

China's helpless war refugee population is growing at the incredible rate of 500,000 per day, according to American observers in that country. Facilities for handling this vast throng have long since broken down, and the millions of civilians who roam the shell-torn land are falling prey to typhoid, beri-beri, and pneumonia, all brought on by starvation. Your contribution, regardless of size, will relieve, possibly save the life of a mother, a father, or a child. Send it at once to the Chilton County chapter American Red Cross, marked for the Chinese Relief Fund.

A Columbia professor estimates that since the time of Adam and Eve the human race has spoken ten million words. Shucks, there must be more than that in the Congressional Record.

"YOU CAN'T BEAT $4,000,000,000"

With Harry L. Hopkins himself interfering in the primaries — as he now has done in Iowa — what becomes of his recent public warnings to WPA officials that they must not engage in political activity and of his assurances to relief workers that they will be protected in their right to vote as they please? By his own act in urging the nomination of one candidate over another for the United States Senate, Mr. Hopkins has not only revealed that his earlier statements were mere pious mouthings, but has given to every local administrator the signal to put on the pressure on behalf of rubber stamp New Dealers running for office.

While the Roosevelt record with respect to platform pledges is not of a nature to encourage the nation to believe that administration practice will often square with administration preaching, there was some ground for hope that this year at least an effort would be made to avoid open bribery of the voters with the people's money. Mr. Hopkins had suggested as much and the president's spokesmen, in urging passage of the spending-lending bill, promised strict impartiality in the distribution of funds. How idle it was to put any faith in their promises is now revealed by developments in Kentucky and Iowa as it already had been revealed in the campaign to insure the renomination of Senator Pepper of Florida.

Clearly there is another era of vote-buying on the way. The head of the WPA tells the electorate what to do in Iowa. Vast relief projects are being undertaken in Kentucky where Senator Barkley must be returned to office at no matter what cost to the taxpayers. Other administration pets will be similarly helped when the time comes. We are about to discover once again how right Mr. Garner was when he said that "you can't beat $4,000,000,000. — Boston Transcript.

AS TEXAS SEES IT

As reported in the Texas Weekly it is quite evident that one of the banner Democratic states in the Union is far from being pleased with the New Deal attachment to the party, as the party is in such notable control at Washington, with Texas directing legislation.

Last week, at the meeting of the Texas Bankers' Association, its president, F. M. Law, remarked that unless the feud between the government and business can be settled and teamwork brought about, he saw no hope of ending the depression. He insisted that "the fears which are sickening business and industrial life are not simply a state of the mind".

Mr. Law went on to say that "assurance should be given that there will be no additional reform legislation or further government interference until the patient gets stronger'". It will be noted by this expression thatt opinions as to causes are about the same the nation over. When Texas speaks out what is said cannot be charged to opposition "party politics".

Incidentally it may be mentioned that the whole country would be pleased if those Texans in congress would apply the brakes a little more than they do and insist on old fashioned procedure, rather than the New Deal brand thrust upon them all without party authority. — Middletown (onn.) Press.

In some ways the war in Spain is like a baseball game. Every few days they seem to postpone it on account of rain.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

While it is a well established policy, born of years of bitter experience, that the proper thing for Uncle Sam to do is to keep out of European quarrels, there is still considerable agitation from time to time by stump speakers, soap-box orators, and lecturers in the United States over the problems and difficulties fo the nations across the two broad cceans which separate us fro the older continents. It seems to be an inherent tendency of a great many Americans to want to mix in the quarrels of other peoples. verbally at least. All of this would form a perfectly harmless pastime were it not for the danger that sooner or later too much kibitzing in the affairs of other nations might really involve our own country.

In this respect, Sumner Welles, under secretary of the United States, issued a timely warning the other day, during an address before the Presbyterian Social Union of Maryland, when he said:

"The cause of world peace, and the fundamental objective in our foreign policy, of keeping our own country at peace, are not furthered by our particiation in international polemics and recriminations over internal policies of other nations regarding which we have no rightful concern.

"In these troubled times, the world is surcharged with the clash of conflicting doctrines, with bitter recriminations of the exponents of divergent dogmas, and with propaganda conducted by the spokesmen of certain ideolcgies among the adherents of other beliefs.

"It is known to us all that the New World and especially the United States, has been subjected to much sound and fury of this nature.

"When alien influences seek to undermine our own institutions, we become definitely concerned. The government is fully prepared to deal with this possibility in accordance with the provisions of our laws.

"What we must avoid as a people is confusion between what is an attack on our own institutions and the purely internal policy of a foreign government".

Here is some sound advice. Most of us Americans believe in democratic government. That is our right, and we think we are right in so believing. We do not agree with such foreign doctrines as communism, fascism and naziism, and we have a right to disagree with them. But the form which other countries adopt as their government ideal is none of our business. That is their own province.

When these foreign ideologies seek to implant themselves on our soil we have a right to resist. But this does not give us the right to lecture other nations and insist that they adopt the form of government we want them to have. Let us keep strictly to the job of keeping the United States a democratic nation. We can best do that by minding our own business and not attempting to interfere with or scold the countries across the sea.

We will be a lot better off, while we are throwing up our caps and cheering for democracy, to see to it that communism and fascism, in some form or another, are not getting a toehold in the United States. And this can come about through legislators as well as agitators.

IT WILL FAIL AGAIN

Pump priming is repugnant to Senator Glass because "it makes a pawn shop out of the treasury". Senator King declared that "the president did not pull a rabbit out of the hat this time; it's a wolf!" The Institute of Public Opinion finds that 73 per cent of the American people have a deep seated prejudice against further spending. They believe that it will merely postpone recovery and increase taxes. Vice President Garner vigorously opposes pump priming that con only add to business fear.

Back in 1934 the president applied the simple test: "Are you better off than you were last year?" Despite all the bonuses and relief funds and work projects totaling billions in the last five years, despite the extraordinary powers possessed by the president to effect recovery, more than 64 per cent of the Americas people, according to the Gallup poll, are either worse off or no better off than they were last year. Yet the only remedy Mr. Roosevelt can think of is pump priming — more accurate, prmiary priming. It has always failed. It will fail again. — Springfield Union.

TERRIBLE POSSIBILITIES

Senator Minton, or whatever his name may be, proposes that newspapers be permitted to print only the truth. Wonder if the august senator realizes what that means. Think of the short obituaries that would be written if one printed only the truth and left out all of the truth regarding the deceased which would not look so good in print. Think of the wedding write-ups where insteadof saying "the charming and beautiful bride and the enterprising groom", one might have to print the truth and say, "the dish-faced bride and the shiftless groom, after a few highballs of sheep dip and creosote, slipped away and got hitched before either sobered up". No, we believe the august senator had best forget the idea, lest someone might take the fool notion to print only the truth about the senator, himself. — Greenleaf, (Kan.) Sentinel.

A proposal that the United States buy Lower California from Mexico, who could take the expropriated oil wells as part payment, has been put under way in the United States. There are only 62,000 inhabitants of this long neck of land, it is said. Business is so bad that most of them are demanding government relief. Well, if Uncle Sam acquires the country, with that $4,500,000,000 coming up they won't have much trouble getting the relief.

Sometimes a printer's error is startlingly appropriate. Here is one in the date line of a dispatch from the national capital. "Kashington", heads the city's name, most fitting for the place that dumps the people's cash out of their pockets and spatters it out according to administration whim. "Kashington", where the motto is, "Ah, take the cash and let the nation's credit go, nor heed the rumble of a distant drum." — San Francisco Chronicle.

If this country ultimately is drawn into another European war, we hope it will be one to make the world safe for Republicans.—Exchange.

The way those Pennsylvania Democratic factions are smearing one another gives rise to the suspicion that Charlie Michaelson must be in on it some way.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Willis returned Sunday from their delightful wedding tour.

Howard L. Foshee, former acting assistant principal of Thorsby Institute, is engaged with Prof. J. J. Pickens in teaching a summer school in Clanton.

Hugh Foshee, Tom Woods, Victor Heard, and young Mr. Burton Higgins spent last week on Coosa River camping out.

Mrs. Elbert Littlejohn was operated on last Monday in Selma.

The two Baptist associations are planning on building a high school somewhere in the county.

John Patton of Jemison was in Clanton Wednesday.

Married this week — Green Sims and Miss Mary E. Smitherman, D. L. Gilmore and Mrs. Annie McCullough, Gus Shaw and Mrs. Lou Morris.

ROBBING PETER—PAYING PAUL

Eleven-year-old Jerome Agosta of the Boys' Club of New York got first prize for his answer to the query: "Who is your favorite hero of adventure, and why?" He wrote: "My favorite hero is Robin Hood, because he robbed the rich and gave to the poor just like President Roosevelt".

We don't begrudge Jerome his first prize, but somehow we feel that it should have gone to Nunzio Vischiotta, aged 16, who also named Robin Hood as his favorite hero, and explained that he "robbed from the rich and gave to the poor; now they rob the rich and poor both alike". — Springfield Union.

WHY?

If pump priming is the answer to our economic dilemma, why are we in a depression after five years of pump priming which has increased the national debt some $18,000,000,000.00?

If the president is correct in saying that government expenditures go down as citizen income rises, why are government expenditures now at their highest point in five years, while the national income increased from $40,000,000 in 1932 to $68,000,000,000 in 1937, when treasury revenues were near an all time peak? —Springfield Union.

President Roosevelt has recommended the spending of $142,000,000 in Washington to build new offices for the government employees. Evidently he thinks that bureaucracy is a permanent institution, and it looks as though he is right about it.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven". Jesus said that. It is so easy to read His wonderful words and think lightly about them. Let us think of the best man we know — some man of high morals, of culture, of refinement, of methodical habits of religion, of someone who before the law of God is blameless, but someone who has never been born again. Jesus says we must be better than that man or we will never enter into the kingdom of heaven. There is only one way to be better than such a man, and that is to become a Christian, to be born again, to be genuinely converted. It is so preposterous to talk to men about living right until they are right. There are heights that unregenerated men cannot reach. There is goodness unregenerated man cannot have. Righteousness must be imparted by Jesus Christ our God. Men talk about the sermon on the mount. How silly most of them talk. They use high sounding words about the ethics of Jesus and the application of His principles to human life. How little many men realize that to live the sermon on the mount and to apply the ethics of Jesus to human society it is necessary to be born again. Jesus never tells a sinner to do good. He offers to make a sinner good. He tells saints to be good and to do good. If Jesus is simply an example for human beings to copy, then He is not a Savior. He is our despair.

For the last few years in colleges and young people's religious meetings cards have been passed saying, "In the event of war I refuse to fight except in defense of my country when it is invaded". These young people are taught to believe that it is unChristian to fight except in defense of their country. They take the statement that Jesus made to an individual who is supposed to be a Christian, and apply the statement to nations who are unconverted. Jesus said, "If a man smite you on one cheek, turn the other". If we are going to take His words literally, let us remember that the only fighting Jesus told us not to do is to fight in defense of self. He never told us not to fight to defend the life of a little child or to protect the weak. He said, "Don't defend yourself. I will take care of you. You be true to me. I will fight for you". "The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him". Personally, I do not believe that this nation should fight any foreign wars on foreign soil. However, I do resent the modernists misquoting and misrepresenting Jesus Christ. I defy any modernist to find one word that Jesus ever uttered that says a Christian is not to fight to protect the weak. If I saw a man beating unmercifully a little child and it was necessary to fight to protect the child, I would do it, and while doing it I believe I would be doing the will of God. It is my opinion that if I trust Jesus Christ as I should and that if I am surrendered to Him fully and unconditionally, I can afford to do what He said, at least figuratively, "If a man smite you on one cheek, turn the other", and I can do it with the assurance that He will fight for me.

Rodeo Folders Out

Attractive illustrated folders giving full information about the 10th annual Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo to be reld in lower Mobile Bay August 8, 9 and 10 have come off the press and are being distributed to interested persons. A map of the bay area, pictures of fish, boats and people, names of all committees, costs of attending the rodeo, and other information are features of the folder, which may be obtained by writing Sam Lackland, Rodeo Secretary, P. O. Box 908, Mobile, Ala., of the State Conservation Department at Montgomery. Last year 575 deep sea anglers attended the rodeo.

Rod and Reel Anglers

There are 15,687 rod and reel or artificial bait fishermen in Alabama so far this year, according to license records for the first eight months of the current fiscal year. That many resident fishing licenses were procured from October 1, 1937, through May, 1938. Jefferson County led the list with 3,807 licenses, the largest number in any single county. Others followed in this order: Morgan, 1,463; Mobile, 1,282; Lauderdale, 1,027; Montgomery, 898; Baldwin, 884; and Colbert, 550. The license is required of persons over 16 years of age using rod and reel, or artificial bait, lure or fly.

Sportsmen Are Busy

The Walker County conservation organization last year planted wild rice, duck corn, and three other kinds of grain along the Warrior River as food for ducks. A few days ago a member brought to Jasper some of the full grown plants that had produced grain.

Morgan County's first fresh water fishing rodeo is scheduled June 22 and 23, with many valuable prizes offered for record fish.

Jefferson County sportsmen will have a big day Wednesday, June 15, when the new fish hatchery is dedicated nad the annual barbecue held.

Montgomery sportsment had a casting tournament and barbecue at a local resort June 8. Ken Beegle, nationally known marksman, showed many fancy tricks with the pistol, rifle and shotgun.

FLORENCE TEACHERS COLLEGE

In the large enrollment for the summer quarter at Florence State Teachers College, upper class men predominate. There are two registrants from Chilton County: Robert B. Johnson of Jemison, and Elmore Sheppard of Verbena.

The are 26 other Alabama counties and four additional states represented, as follows: Baldwin, Blount, Butler, Clarke, Dallas, Colbert, Cullman, Elmore, Fayette, Franklin, Houston, Jackson, Jefferson, Lamar, Lauderdale, Lawrence, Limestone, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Morgan, Mobile, Montgomery, Talladega, Walker, Wilcox, Winston; Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Georgia.

The summer curriculum conference to be held this week, opening Monday, is designed to be one of the most helpful to supervisors, principals and class room teachers ever held in Alabama, according to Dr. J. A. Keller, Florence president, and will draw a record attendance from over the state.

The principals and class room teachers who have enrolled for the summer will be permitted to join the large number of school officials in attendance upon every conference throughout the week to hear experts discuss the new curriculum program, following the general theme of "Selection and Organization of Teaching Material".

CANE CREEK

The annual all day singing will be held here the fourth Sunday in June, the 26th. The new books will be used. Bring your new song books and lunch and spend the day helping us sing praises to God. Remember the time and come. We are expecting several quartets and good singers.

The United States is now exporting over 300 times as much corn, and over 8,000 times as much wheat as it is importing, according to figures just received from Washington by A. W. Jones, administrative officer of the AAA in Alabama.

Members of the home demonstration clubs and other home makers interested in joining in the state-wide mattress making campaign are advised by Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent, and Nell Pickens, extension home management specialist, to contact their home agents so that plans can be made for giving instruction.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and relatives for their help and sympathy shown us in our sorrow in the sudden death of our husband, father and brother. We thank the quartet and Mrs. Lowery for their sweet singing, the preacher for his comforting words, flower girls, pallbearers, and undertaker, we thank you all. We thank those who brought such beautiful flowers, and anyone who did or said anything. We will never forget you; such sympathy and deeds does help so very much in sorrow like this. And with broken and bleeding hearts we ask God's richest blessings upon each of you, and grant unto us the opportunity to return in some way the favors to you, and the love and help you gave, when sorrow comes your way. This is our prayer. — Mrs. Scroggins and daughters, and sister, Mrs. Grace Cox.

CENTER HILL

Mr. J. W. Collum, Jr., who has been ill of infantile paralysis, is able to be up, and spent several days last week in Jemison with his aunt, Mrs. V. O. Lenoir.

Mr. V. Miller spent the week end at home with his family. He is working in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cobb entertained a number of their friends with a weiner roast Saturday night.

Mrs. Alton Cobb is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Miller, in Pleasant Grove community.

The baseball team played Union Grove Saturday, and won 7 to 4.

Next Friday, June 17, is the time set to clean off our cemetery. Everyone interested is urged to come early an dhelp us.

Remember our annual singing the fourth Sunday.

MAPLESVILLE 4-H CLUB BOYS

The Maplesville Sr. 4-H Club boys held their regular meeting, at which time the following subjects were discussed: cotton and corn crops, livestock, poultry, and fertilizer for cotton. Record books were filled in and corrected. The boys discussed buying 4-H embles to wear on their coats.

Mr. B. N. Ivey. 4-H Club agent, was in charge of the meeting. — Glenn Latham, reporter.

REFUGE

The homecoming and family reunion held here Sunday was an enjoyable occasion. Services began promptly at 10 o'clock. We sang about an hour, and our pastor brought a message, using as a text, "He went a little farther and fell on His face".

There was given a scant history of the family of Mr. H. H. Mims, in whose honor the reunion was held. The history was prepared and given by Mr. Bruce Mims, as follows:

As far as we have been able to ascertain, the first Mims came to this county 160 years ago from South Carolina. This county was then known as Shelby County, later was called Baker County, and finally given its present name, Chilton. Mr. Mims, our father, was married in 1883 at the age of 19 to Miss Rebecca Ann Minor, our mother. To this union were born 16 children, 12 living now; 51 grandchildren, 47 living now; 38 great-grandchildren, 32 living now; total 105, 91 living. This leaves 14 who have crossed death's chilly tide.

The pastor, Rev. Lockhart, called attention to the fact that the governor of Alabama had just recently proclaimed a Father's Day to be observed on the third Sunday in June, for which we are justly proud. He further stated that since this meeting had already been announced when Father's Day was proclaimed, we will celebrate this day in part in behalf of our father-in-law, Mr. H. H. Mims, in whose honor this family reunion is held.

More dinner was spread here Sunday than ever before in the history of the church.

The afternoon was spent in singing and preaching. The Rev. Enfinger, pastor of Walnut Creek church, brought a soul-stirring message immediately following the noon hour.

Those directing during the day were: M. Lockhart, J. R. Connell, S. L. Baker, W. O. Wyatt, Hersiree Easterling, Delene Minor, Ethel Easterling, Dewey Hughes, Archie Devaughn, M. W. Easterling, J. B. Crew, O. L. Devaughn, Paul Hughes. The Cooper Quartet, Alabama Four, and a quartet arranged by O. L. Devoughn, sang several numbers; Misses Delene Minor and Louise Mims sang a duet.

We have changed the date of beginning our singing school at this place. The school will begin Monday, June 27, and run 18 days, taught by Profs. O. L. Devaughn and Marion W. Easterling. Prof. Devaughn will have charge, and it is expected that Mr. Easterling will teach piano, so you can get anything in the music line that you desire at this school. Study hours will be from 7:30 a.m. to 12, and will cost about 10 cents per day. We invite the neighboring communities who will not have a school of their own to join with us and help us make this the best school ever held in this community. Prof. Devaughn's outstanding rule is "work and do right". If you have any preparation to make in order to attend this school, begin now, so that you may be able to get every day, and make the most of this opportunity.

Regular services will be held here next Sunday and Sunday night. The Burkhalter Quartet will be here Sunday night. Come! You will enjoy your trip.

Liquor's Gloomy Story

Liquor, in its long reign upon the earth, has never helped the man consuming it to place a single dollar in the bank. It has never been worth a dime to him upon going to the grocery store for flour, coffee, meat, milk, or butter for his family and himself. It has never helped him to place a single cent's worth of coal or wood or gas in his house to keep the home fires burning.

It has never helped him to get a job, although it is on record as having lost him many jobs.

Two small groups profit by liquor — the tax evading millionaires and those who manufacture and distribute it. Yes, it means prosperity for them! But it also means a living hell for its countless victims.

Last year, according to the National Safety Council, 39,700 persons lost their lives on the highways — an all time record; and conservative estimates place the number of those killed in accidents involving drink at approximately 10,000. Traffic fatalities closely parallel alcohol consumption. The National Safety Council published an article by Dr. H. A. Heise covering 119 consecutive highway accidents, revealing that about 60 per cent of the accidents, and 75 per cent of the injured or killed were in alcohol "accidents". Liquor is a factor, not only in highway accidents, but also in many thousands of mishaps in homes, resulting from falls, fights, fires, etc.

Despite nation-wide safety campaigns in which all civic organizations are participating, more than 15,000 children were fatally injured in accidents last year, and more than 5,000 of these were crushed to death in automobiles.

According to the latest government figures, the school enrollment for the first time in American history has not only reached a standstill, but in startling contrast to the steady gains in enrollment yearly from 1920 to 1930, under national prohibition, the past two years have seen an actual drop in enrollment and average attendance in our public schools. Whereas from 1920 to 1930 school enrollment averaged an increase of 409,969 per year, for the four years 1932 to 1936 there was a total increase in school enrollment of but 91,657, there being a slight spurt forward in 1934, but an actual decrease of 77,095 in the total enrollment from 1934 to 1936, and a decline of average school attendance of 159,423 for the second and third years of the period of the re-legalized liquor traffic.

No one would charge that this downward trend is due solely to any one factor, but taking of more than 13 billion dollars by the liquor traffic out of the pockets of the American people in retail sales of alcoholic beverages during the past 60 months has unquestionably reduced many homes to penury and blighted the lives of thousands of children. — M. Lockhart.

IMPROVED GIN METHODS INCREASE FARMER INCOME

Auburn, June 13. — Drying seed cotton by the use of driers in the gins has enhanced the bale value of cotton from 70 cents fro short staple to $2.50 for long staple cotton, Charles A. Bennet, Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, told members of the Alabama Ginners Association recently.

Mr. Bennet reviewed the work of the U. S. Cotton Ginning Laboratory at Stoneville, Miss., and stated that great progress has been made in drying seed cotton to improve ginning and the quality of lint and in improvement of piping, fans, and saws in gins. Already 550 o fthe 12,700 gins have added driers to their equipment. Alabama ginners are holding one-day meetings all over the state during June to discuss these new ginning developments.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARMERS RETIRE EROSIBLE LAND TO HAY AND PASTURE

Auburn, June 13. — Cooperating farmers on 2,400 farms in erosion control areas in Alabama are shifting more than 31,000 acres of their most erosible land to permanent hay, pasture and woodland, a report compiled by the Soil Conservation Service shows.

While the bulk of this acreage was previously classed as cultivated land, the net reduction in cultivated crops amounts to only 33,000 acres. This is owing to the fact that other land on these farms that can safely be cultivated is being brought into crop production and is taking the place of a part of the erosible crop land which is being converted to other uses.

The average cooperating farmer had approximately 96 acres of cultivated land to begin with. Under the erosion control program he is reducing his crop land a net amount of 14 acres, and, with other land retired to these uses, is increasing his permanent hay by five acres, pasture by two acres, and woodland by 10 acres.

With steep and severely eroded land retired from crop production, and with good rotations and other sound conservation farming practices established, increased yields per acre and a better balanced farm program will result, according to state soil conservation officials.

Clanton Needs More Dairies

A pressing need for one or more small dairies equipped to produce Grade A raw milk for Clanton was pointed out this week by local health officials in a weekly bulletin from the county health department. A recent survey, it was revealed, showed the daily sale of milk within the city limits to be sufficiently large to justify throwing safegurads around milk production to protect the public health; 432 families buy milk for home consumption. With an average of five in each family, this gives 2,160 persons directly affected by the sale of milk. As this is approximately one-half of the population of Clanton, it is readily seen that a safe milk supply is imperative.

"Milk, stated Dr. Sturkie, county health officer, "is an excellent medium for the growth of harmful disease germs, and more often than we suspect is the vehicle for the transmission of disease. This is more particularly true of the dairy serving many persons than the one- or two-cow producer. One typhoid carrier among the handlers in such a dairy can be responsible for an epidemic. It is not enough that a dairyman simply have the reputation of being clean.

"To have Grade A milk in Clanton", he continued, "it is not necessary that an ordinance be adopted which would restrain the man with one or two cows from selling milk. Any dairyman on a purely voluntary basis can, if, he wishes, bring his equipment and method of handling up to the standards required by the health department and be permitted to sell his product at Grade A. Regular inspection of the dairy and periodic bacterialogical examinations and temperature readings would be made by an inspector from the department. Under the situation existing now, steam sterilization of bottles, pails, etc., and satisfactory cooling of milk to a temperature below 50 degrees F., both extremely important in making milk safe, are not being carried out. At least one local dairy could at not a great outlay of money add this equipment and be able to produce Grade A milk. There should be plenty of intelligent consumers in Clanton, aware of the value of these precautions, to provide a market for a product which would be safe from a health standpoint."

HOME CANNING BULLETIN IS AVAILABLE TO WOMEN

Auburn, June 13. — Alabama women can serve their families a better balanced meal with a more varied diet throughout the year by adopting a canning program, says Miss Lavada Curtis, food preservation specialist of the Alabama Extension Service.

To aid women in an intelligent program of preserving food for the non-growing season, Miss Curtis has recently finished a bulletin which answers many questions confronting the home canne rand provides infromation on budgets, jelly making, vegetable canning, pickling, fruit juices, preserves, numerous recipes, and a host of other subjects with which the home canner comes in contact. It is entitled "Food Preservation".

This bulletin was prepared especially for the home canner and copies can be obtained from the county home demonstratio nagent or by writing to the Alabama Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM BOY IS ALABAMA CHAMPION IN POSTER CONTEST

Mr. John Holcombe of Birmingham has just won the title of state champion for Alabama in the Third National Meat Poster Contest for high school studnets, according to an announcement by a committee of prominent artists meeting in Chicago.

As a reward for this accomplishment, Mr. Holcombe, who is a high school senior, will receive a cash prize from the National Live Stock and Meat Board, sponsor of the contest. A total of 13,774 students from 866 high schools of 48 states participated in this national event.

Mr. Holcombe's winning poster stressed the importance of meat from the standpoint of its food value. According to the judging committee, it was very well executed, and carries out the rules of effective design and color.

IN MEMORY

On Friday evening, June 3, the death angel visited the home of Mrs. Grace Cox and wafted to the home above her loving brother, J. L. Scroggins.

He is gone, but not forgotten. Our hearts are sad, for we all loved him and will miss him so much. He was a devoted husband, and a pal to his children. He was kind to everyone. He left a vacant place which cannot be folled, but we hope to meet him where we'll never have heartaches and sorrows. — Mrs. Luther Williams.

WEATHER FAVORS WEEVILS RUFFIN WARNS GROWERS

Auburn, June 13. — Because of unfavorable weather conditions — too much rainfall in April — the cotton crop generally this year is later than usual. As a rule late cotton crops are likely to be seriously injured by boll weevils and leaf worms, says W. A. Ruffin, entomologist of the Alabama Extension Service.

The U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine reports boll weevil conditions as "spotted" over the country this year. Large numbers of boll weevils went into hibernation in Alabama last fall, and as the winter was comparatively mild, there are plenty of weevils to produce a heavy infestation by midsummer if conditions remain favorable for their increase.

There are three general methods of applying poison to cotton plants in the pre-square stage, says Ruffin. Some growers prefer to mop the small plants with a mixture of 1 pound of calcium arsenate, 1 gallon of water, and 1 gallon of molasses. Others prefer to dust the plants with calcium arsenate, or to apply a liquid mixture with a spray pump. All are effective.

Dusting the cotton with calcium arsenate dust at the rate of 5 pounds per acre, and repeating the applications at 5-day intervals until the weevils are checked, is the method generally used after the cotton has reached the squaring stage. On light sandy soils, where there is danger of soil injury from heavy dosages of calcium arsenate, a mixture of equal parts of lime and calcium arsenate is recommended.

Where both the weevil and the flea hopper must be controlled, Mr. Ruffin recommends a dusting mixture of 1 part of calcium and 2 parts of sulphur.

APRIL ACCIDENTS IN CHILTON COUNTY

Montgomery, June 13.—Three deaths from motor vehicle accidents and four from all other accidents occurred in Chilton County during the month of April, according to the monthly report of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health.

This report shows that 35 persons in the state as a whole lost their lives during the month in motor vehicle accidents and 140 were killed in other accidents. Motor vehicle accident deaths exceeded homicides gy 10 and deaths exceeded homicides by 10, and two to one.

IN MEMORY

In the passing away of Mr. J. T. Crane Wednesday, June 8, there is sorrow in our hearts. He was just in the bloom of life — 19 years of age. He left a vacancy which no one can foll, as he was the only husband, son, and brother in the family. All who knew him loved him, for he was a friend to everyone he met. Though his going brings untold grief, we have only to look to the Savior for consolation in our hour of need; "the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away". We should take our burden to the Lord in prayer. — R. A. Smith.

Gray-Wingard

A wedding of much beauty was solemnized on Tuesday evening, June 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fant when Miss Vivian Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Gray, became the bride of Mr. Chester Wingard.

The living room was lovely with floor baskets of sweet peas, interspersed with lighted tapers in crystal candelabra, forming an improvised altar.

The bride was never more lovely than she was in the charming costume she chose for her wedding. It was developed of navy alpaca, with accent touches of ashes-of-roses and periwinkle blue. Her corsage was a single white gardenia. Navy accessories completed the costume.

The bride entered with her father, and was met at the altar by the groom.

The Rev. Oscar Davis, pastor of the Baptist church, pronounced the marriage vows, using the impressive ring ceremony.

Immediately after the wedding the guests were invited to the dining room where a tiered cake, centered with sweetpeas, was cut by the bride and served, together with punch, to the following: Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Gray, Miss Mary Lee Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray, Mr. D. A. Wingrad, the Rev. Oscar Davis and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Odel Headley, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Varnell, Mr. B. N. Ivey, Mr. Barney Isbell and Mr. Francis Lenard of Columbiana, the bride and groom, Miss Billie Ruth Fant, John Alfred Fant, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fant.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wingard left for a short wedding trip to points in South Alabama, Florida and Louisiana.

The young couple are well known and popular throughout the county, both having been connected with the office of the county agricultural agent for several years.

Upon their return they will be at home in their charming brick bungalow on the Maplesville highway.

The many friends of this popular young couple wish for them a long, prosperous and happy life.

PITTS FOR REPEAL ABSENTEE BALLOT

Much has been said through the columns of The Union-Banner and the Chilton County News of late regarding the absentee ballot law and the apparent practices of fraud connected therewith, which have been prevalent over the state, and particularly in this county, for the past few years. The number of absentee votes has increased yearly, and I am reliably informed that something over 1,000 voters made application through the probate office of Chilton County to vote the absentee ballot in this week's primary election. By doing this, by virtue of the Code Section 682, the voter "shall swear before an officer authorized to administer oaths that he will be absent from the county of his residence in the performance of his regular duties" on the day of election.

Is there a citizen of this county, regardless of party affiliation, who for one second believes that there were more than 1,000 who could rightfully take this oath, as provided by law, and were absent from the county? If what we hear on the streets regarding the abuse of the absentee ballot law, together with what we see in the papers over the state and county since May 3, 1938, is true, our elections are becoming a farce through the absentee ballot law.

I believe that all of the best citizenship of this county and state should use their influence to repeal this absentee ballot law. Should the voters of Chilton County see fit to elect me as their Representative in the fall election, I desire, and will use my every effort to abolish and repeal this law now on the statute books of our state. I will also support a law that will protect the secrecy of the ballot in our state.

Public sentiment creates and repeals laws, and I am confident that the great majority of the voters of Chilton County desire this absentee ballot law repealed. — Percy M. Pitts.

Time To Vaccinate Dogs, Says Parrish

According to the dog law of Alabama it is about time to vaccinate all the dogs of Chilton County. We have not had much if any rabies in Chilton County during the past year, while in years before it has been bad, children and grown-ups having to take the rabies treatment; in my own practice I had to give the rabies treatment to quite a few cows and horses, and lots of dogs, while during the last year I have not treated any.

I think the people of the county have cooperated very nicely as a whole. I am trusting that the few who did not will realize their mistake and make it 100 per cent in the county this year.

All dog owners who will not be able to meet me on appointment are asked to bring their dogs to my home before we begin the regular tour and have them treated for 50 cents. If you do not take advantage of this, I will be glad to do it for you at any time, but the regular price of $1.00 will be charged.

Watch the papers for appointment in your community. We will be in Clanton, at McCain's stable, July 1, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The regular 50 cent cash fee will be charged, and all dogs from 3 months up are eligible.

COOPER BAPTIST CHURCH

Clamps Beat Mignon Sunday, Score 9 To 4

Whitaker, Former Team-Mate, Driven Out In Fifth; Teague Whiffed 8, And Led Locals In Hitting

The Clamps clamped down on Lefty Whitaker in the fifth inning Sunday, and drove him from the mound, after Lefty had held them comparatively helpless during the first four innings. Heavy hitting was not the cause of his downfall, but he had shown signs all along of a speck of wildness, and with the Clamps waiting Lefty out, watching them over closely, he lost all trace of the plate.

Mignon scored in the first inning when McCarty went safe on Littlejohn's error, stole second, and counted on Earl Persons' long single to center.

Two more came in the fourth on two singles and a triple. The fourth and final Mignon run came in the fifth, when Taylor walked, and successive singles brought him in.

The Clamps got a run in the second when Baker tripled and Teague singled. But it was in the home half of the fifth when the powder keg blew up. Jones walked to start, Clements singled, and Littlejohn went safe when Downs couldn't find the handle on his grounder, filling the bases with nobody down. Williamson worked Whit for a pass, and Jones walked in. Baker watched three balls sail by with no strikes, and Manager Creel gave Whit the hook, Rushing taking up. He got one strike over and then finished walking Baker, Clements strolling in. Tiffin walked, and Littlejohn walked in with the tying run, 4 and 4; still the bases were loaded with nobody down. Smith flied to left and Williamson scored after the catch. Sims lifted a looper back of second base just out of everyone's reach, it took a bad hop over the right fielder's head and went for a triple; on the relay to third to catch Sims, Downs hit Sims, the ball caromed to the fence, Sims scoring. Teague followed with his second hit, a double, but died there.

One more Clamp run was added in the sixth when Littlejohn singled, took second on a wild pitch, and came in on Williamson's single.

Teague gave up six hits, all of which were singles except Earl Persons' triple; Earl and Jim Persons led the attack for the visitors with a pair each. Teague led the locals with two singles and a double, while Sims had a single and triple; Baker had a triple.

Teague whiffed eight of the Millers and gave up two bases on balls. Whitaker walked six during his stay on the hill, but gave up only four hits. Rushing walked three and gave up five hits for the rest of the game.

The Millers had two errors to their credit, Downs making both of them. Littlejohn, Baker and Smith chimed in with one boot each. Mignon left six runners stranded on the bases, the Clamps leaving nine. The earned runs were: Mignon 2, Clamps 3.

FUNERAL HELD AT ANTIOCH FOR J. T. CRANE

The death angel visited this community Wednesday night of last week, and took away J. T. Crane. This was a shock to his people and friends, but we all know that "the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away", and knows best.

Funeral services were conducted by Revs. A. E. Trice and R. M. Stillwell. Interment was in the Antioch cemetery Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Griffin in charge.

J. T. has been known and well thought of in Antioch and Sardis communities for a long time; he will be missed greatly.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elsie Mae Crane; mother, Mrs. Daisy Crane; two sisters — Mrs. Charlie Sansom, and Mrs. Grady Davis; besides a host of other relatives and friends.

Pallbearers were: Otha Ratliff, Arland Deason, T. J. Landers, Vester, Leon, and Raymond Hayes. — Gladys Sansom.

NEW HOSIERY MILL FOR DOTHAN

The State Chamber of Commerce points to the location of the new hosiery mill in Dothan as the general type of industry needed and to be sought for a number of Alabama towns. The State Chamber congratulates Dothan and is happy to have had some part in the establishment of this plant.

This new industry for Dothan with a payroll running between $200,000 and $300,000 a year while in full operation was assured on June 6 with the signing of a contract between the Dothan Industrial Corporation and the Dothan Silk Hosiery Co., Inc., an Alabama subsidiary of a nationally known hosiery manufacturing concern.

Construction of an air conditioned glass brick factory on East Main Street will start within 30 days. The factory will be the most modern industrial plant in the state, with 20,000 to 25,000 feet of floor space and designed for future expansion to twice the original capacity.

The plant will cost $70,000, of which $50,000 will be a loan through the Industrial Corporation, a subsidiary of the Dothan Chamber of Commerce. The loan has been subscribed by Dothan firms, business and professional men, with payment guaranteed by the parent company. The parent concern will pay the remaining $20,000 on construction cost.

The site for the building, costing $5,500, has already been purchased through contributions from business and professional men, and will be donated to the hosiery concern.

Wednesday Was Great Day For Republicans Of Alabama

National Chairman Visited State For The First Time In History of Alabama Politics

John D. M. Hamilton Spoke To Record Crowds Tuesday Night and Wednesday

Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, June 21 and 22, were grand and glorious days for the Republican party of Alabama. The greatest contributing factor was the visit to Birmingham of the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Hon. John D. M. Hamilton—the first time in the history of Alabama politics when a Republican national chairman invaded the deep Democratic South and propounded the doctrine of the Republican party right in the middle of the Democratic stronghold of the nation.

Mr. Hamilton's visit to Birmingham was on the occasion of the convening of the Republican state convention; he was entertained at a banquet at Tutwiler Hotel Tuesday night, where he made a speech. Mr. Hamilton also spoke to the state convention Wednesday at Temple Theatre, his appearance having been sponsored by the Birmingham Rotary Club in conjunction with the state Republican organization.

On Tuesday Mr. Hamilton conferred with nearly a hundred of the leading industrialists of the Birmingham district, in a specially arranged meeting at Tutwiler Hotel. The industrial men of the Birmingham district responded very graciously to the opportunity of conferring with Mr. Hamilton and of discussing with him the industrial and economic problems of the nation.

Mr. Hamilton's speech Wednesday was on the subject of: "What The New Deal Has Done To The South". In his discourse Mr. Hamilton pointed out that the predictions made by the Republicans in 1936 as to the future but inevitable handicaps under the New Deal could now be pointed to not as predictions of the future, but as facts of the present and immediate past. Mr. Hamilton stated that he was now maing a desperate fight to save democracy for America the same as he was told he was fighting to save democracy in the World War over 20 years ago. "Party lines and geographical divisions are no longer a factor in the fight, but Democrats in Maine and Republicans in Alabama must join in the parade to save America".

Full State Ticket Out

A complete state ticket was to be selected by a committee at the convention Wednesday. The name of Sam Adams, of Mobile, was mentioned by Republican leaders as possible gubernatorial nominee.

Dr. J. C. Swann, of Wedowee, state chairman, presided at the convention. Hon. C. O. Vardaman, state chairman of the Young Republican organization had charge of arrangements for the two-day program, all of which went off in a most satisfactory and harmonious manner.

Among those who attended the banquet in honor of Hon. John D. M. Hamilton, Republican National Chairman, at the Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham Tuesday night were: H. A. Harris, Percy M. Pitts, J. Dewey Rockett, W. T. Bean, J. N. Dennis, Akins I. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wyatt, Sam Pate, W. H. Gillespie, Rascoe Maddox. Judge J. O. Middleton was toastmaster for the banquet at which Mr. Hamilton was the speaker.

There were over 400 Republican men and women present from nearly every county in the state.

Practically all of these named, together with a number of others from the county attended the convention and speaking at the Temple Theatre, Birmingham, Wednesday at 11 o'clock. Mr. Hamilton addressed this meeting with a very rousing speech on "What the New Deal Has Done To the South."

G. T. Wilbanks Hit By Auto

While crossing the street near the Presbyterian church last Saturday Mr. G. T. Wilbanks was hit and knocked down by a passing automobile driven by Mrs. Nell Klinner. The aged man was carried to Central Alabama Hospital, where attendants say he is suffering from injuries about the head. He is said to be in a rather critical condition.

Kiwanis To Hold Special Meeting

Donald Comer Is To Speak; Citizens Invited To Attend

The guest speaker for Clanton Kiwanis Club tonight, Thursday, June 23rd, at 7:30 o'clock, will be Hon. Donald Comer, of Birmingham. The subject will have to do with Citizenship and Service. The program will be in charge of Dr. V. J. Gragg, chairman of the public affairs committee. Citizens of the city are urged to attend and hear Mr. Comer; those expecting to attend are asked to get in touch with J. Mell Martin.

Special Meeting Next Monday Night At Mitchell Dam

The Kiwanis meeting next week will be held Monday night, June 27th, at the club house at Mitchell Dam; the hour for that meeting is 8 o'clock, and will be All Kiwanis Night. The program will be in charge of Dr. C. O. Lawrence, chairman of the Inter-Club Relations Committee. The club will be guests of Mr. John Hollis, and a most enjoyable occasion is anticipated.

Report Of Tests Made In Case Of J. T. Crane

The following is a letter received by the Circuit Solicitor from the state toxicologist, after he had made various analyses regarding the J. T. Crane case:

"Hon. Winston Huddleston,
"Solicitor,
"Wetumpka, Ala.
"Dear Mr. Huddleston:

"On June 9, 1938, Mr. W. G. Deason, Clanton, Alabama, came to this office with three other citizens of that county, and submitted to us for laboratory examination a human stomach and two ounces of blood, said to have been taken from the body of John Tyre Crane, who died in Chilton County on June 8, 1938, under mysterious circumstances.

"The specimen of blood was taken before embalming, the stomach was taken after embalming, and practically all of the contents had been lost. The residue was contaminated with embalming fluids and coloring agents.

"I made separate analyses of these two specimens. The blood analysis showed relatively large quantities of ethyl alcohol (.47 per cent). I was unable to recover an appreciable quantity of any poison or powerful drug from the stomach specimen.

"It is my opinion that a human subject whose blood contains .47 per cent alcohol is suffering acute alcoholic intoxication, and his life is seriously endangered thereby. There are cases on record where subjects have died from the effects of alcohol and analyses of their blood showed no more alcohol than in this case.

"Our findings in such cases would be more conclusive and complete, if we had the opportunity of examining the dead body promptly after death and before embalming, and were allowed to secure the complete viscera for laboratory examination, and in the light of all available history prior to the death in question.

"Hoping this information is of value to you, I am

"Yours very truly,
"H. W. NIXON,
"State Toxicologist".

First Cotton Bloom Brought In June 17

The first cotton bloom of the season from Chilton County was brought to The Union-Banner office last Friday morning, June 17th, by Mr. Vatchel Lindsey. The bloom came from the fram of Mr. Emmett Popwell, two miles north of Clanton. Mr. Lindsey reported that they had plenty of blooms; he brought in a red one and a white one.

The second bloom was brought in Saturday by Mr. W. L. Henderson of Clanton Route 6.

The third one was brought in by Mr. Howard Reynolds of Dry Valley Monday morning; it came from the farm of Mr. E. J. Reynolds, who lives near the county line up toward Montevallo.

The first bloom last year came in from the farm of C. H. Adams, Verbena Route 2, on June 18th.

THOMPSON-JOHNSON WEDDING

On last Saturday night, June 18th, in Birmingham, Miss Sallie Thompson, of Thorsby, was joined in marriage to Mr. Robert Johnson, also of Thorsby. The Rev. Mitchell officiated.

Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of Mrs. Dudley Thompson, and Mr. Johnson is the son of Mrs. Eulala Johnson Towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home at Spring Lake, near Montgomery.

SINGING AT ROCKFORD

The Coosa County Singing Convention will convene in Rockford at the courthouse all day next Sunday, June 26th. The singers of Chilton County are invited to attend.

TENT MEETING

There will be gospel service at Jemison, Ala., beginning June 23rd, at 7:30 o'clock. Everybody is invited.—Aaron Parker.

Dennis Bridge To Be Rebuilt By The City

Many people south of Clanton have been interested in the bridge near Dennis's gin being rebuilt. Well, Mayor C. Fenn Jones announces that he has induced the WPA to assist the city in putting this bridge back in passable shape. Work on it will begin about the first of July, the mayor announces.

This bridge was undermined during the flood of early April.

SOUTHERNAIRES TO BE AT JEMISON FRIDAY, JUNE 24th

The Southernaires Quartet will give a concert at Jemison high school Friday night, June 24, at 8 o'clock, in behalf of Pleasant Grove church. Admission will be 15c and 25c. Everyone is invited to attend. — W. E. Childress.

Singing At Cooper Sunday, July 24th

There will be an all day singing at Chestnut Creek church, Coopers, the fourth Sunday in July, the 24th. All are invited to come, bring dinner and song books—new ones of all kinds. The Southernaires will be there.

STUNG AGAIN!

This is really and truly the day in which folks in various and sundry ways get "stung". Politically the aspirants are getting stung coming and going. We doubt that T. L. McKee has been completely immune from the "sting" of the political bee—or maybe hornet; Mr. John Hardy has very likely felt a twinging sensation somewhere on his political anatomy during the past few days.

But Dack Little has had a different kind of stinging experience. He was picking blackberries the other day, and accidentally picked a wasp nest. You can guess the rest. "Stung again!"

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Now is the time for all good men—and women and boys and girls—to come to the aid of their churches. The officials of your church are struggling for its growth in faith, in works, in membership, in attendance. They need the interest and help of each person. We can help them by thinking, praying, speaking. We are happy to have had the number in attendance last Sunday and just wish each of the absent ones could have been present to hear our pastor's message at general assembly. May each of those who heard it strive to be more loyal to our church in its every endeavor and to do more for its good.

We wish to express our good wishes to all the absent ones, and especially to all who have been kept away from church because of illness or illness in the family. We hope and pray for the early recovery of the sick ones and for the return of each member to our church services along with the faithful who have been able to continue to attend regularly.

NEW BARBER AT SERVICE SHOP

Messrs. Newt Gray and Jesse Jones announce that a new barber is now connected with their shop, the Service Barber Shop. He is Mr. C. D. Messer, formerly of Verbena, but more recently from Sylacauga. Mr. Messer has had some ten years experience as a barber and knows the trade from A to Z. He barbered in Verbena for some time before going to Sylacauga.

Mr. Messer will be glad to have his old friends and customers come to see him, as well as to get acquainted with many new ones.

The Absentee Ballot And The Missing Box

The Union-Banner is not directly interested in the affairs of the Democratic party any more than to the extent that any political party's affairs are of contingent interest to the general public. Such affairs of any political party, we must admit, are of indirect interest to all citizens if all political leanings. It is from this point of view that The Union-Banner, a Republican newspaper, attempts to discuss a matter that is purely the business of the Democratic party of Chilton County—the absentee ballot racket and the missing absentee box in last week's run-off primary.

To say there has been wrong-doing somewhere is evident; and to place the blame on any particular person, we will not attempt to do such a thing. The blame, we believe, is much more on the law which permits wrong-doing than it is on any particular citizen or group of citizens performing such mal-practice.

There is a rule which says: "Two wrongs never make a right". There is another rule which says: "There are exceptions to all rules." Can it be that one or both of these rules apply to the whole affair mentioned above? The absentee ballot law was never abused in Chilton County until the general election of 1934, although it had been on the books for some years. The politicians of the county have gotten "smart" in the last few elections and primaries, and have "used" the absentee fraud privileges. Have the Democratic politicians of Chilton County developed for themselves a "Frankenstein" which has grown to be a monster that will destroy those who created the thing? Is the whole thing so rotten that such a destination for it and its perpetrators is justifiable?

Some people criticize those citizens who went in and took the ballot box, and even think these men should be punished the same as if they had held up a bank, and robbed it. The Union-Banner says in this regard that we have always contended for respect of our laws and have never believed in unauthorized people taking the law in their hands. We still contend for this principle. At the same time, since we all know the men who took the absentee ballot box, we ask you: Are they men who have criminal records or who customarily take the law in their own hands and ignore those in authority; or can it be that this particular occurrence is one of those exceptions to the general rule? They certainly did not try to conceal anything from anybody, and we believe they have made and are making themselves accessible to any men or any party of men who may want to confer with them regarding their actions. They are not going to run away from the music. And if there was crookedness in that ballot box, could it have been apprehended in any other way? Was there any other way to keep the whole lot from counting as bona fide ballots?

On the other hand, let us assume that there was corruption in the voting of the absentee ballots, that there were votes bought and sold, and votes changed after they were originally cast. Now, if such things were done, most anyone who has observed things at all could put their fingers on every man who manipulated the affairs. Let us ask you—Are these men hardened criminals, who ignore all laws, who rob banks, who swindle people or murder folks? No. They are, from general principles, good, substantial citizens who believe in law and order, just as are those who took the absentee box.

But they all want their men elected, which is only natural, and the construction of the absentee law is such that corruption is invited and permissible. The temptation to help their men is so great that all will-power is overcome. People are finite beings; their self control is limited. Laws are supposed to keep people straight, and a law so framed as to present temptation is a dangerous law. It invites violation not only of itself but of all other laws.

Of course, we do not argue that these fellows are all just innocent little tots who do not know right from wrong. They all know better, and ought by all means to play the game straight. The sentiment, or idea, has gained much momentum lately that anything is fair in an election and that almost anything can be gotten away with. The enforcement of the law is too lax and the law itself is too slack. And can it be that those who are inclined to pull crooked stunts in elections are shielded by some people who are versed in the law and who give advice as to how best this trick and that should be worked? Something ought to be done about it; the question is: What ought to be done and how best to go about it?

Seriously, such abuse of the franchise as we have been having here in Chilton County for the past few years ought to be stopped. This matter of buying and selling votes is serious and strikes right at the heart of the existence of good government. It si not something to wink at, but a thing that the proper law should be applied to. If it sends some "good" man to the penitentiary, then let it pop. Our system of government is worth more than any one man or set of men, and upon the sanctity of the ballot box rests the destiny of our civilization. That must be preserved at any cost; the citizens of Chilton County demand its preservation, and they are going to see that such demand is recognized in one way or another.

ELEVEN ARRESTS BY SHERIFF AND FORCE

The following number of people, 11 in all, have been arrested by Sheriff Hardy and deputies during the past week:

Attempt to murder, one colored.
Public drunkenness, five whites.
Violating prohibition law and driving while intoxicated, one white.
Violating prohibition law, one colored.
Driving motor vehicle while intoxicated, one white.
Reckless driving, two whites.

SPECIAL EVENING SERVICE CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

REV. HERBERT H. AMSTER

The Rev. Herbert H. Amster, Christian Jew of Vienna, Austria, and now representative of the American Board of Missions to the Jews, will speak at the Clanton Baptist church on Sunday, June 26, at 7:45 p.m. Mr. Amster was born of Viennese Jewish parents, being reared in his youth in the Roman Catholic church, but after coming to the United States was converted and took training for the Gospel ministry. He is a member of the Tabernacle Baptist church of Atlanta, that city being his headquarters. His efforts are concerned with the stemming of the tide of mounting Jew hatred and the promotion of a better understanding of the Jewish people on the part of the Gentiles. His message on Sunday evening will be on the Bible teaching concerning the Jews. The public is cordially invited. — Rev. Oscar A. Davis, pastor Clanton Baptist church.

Rain Washed Hoe 150 Yards Monday Night

A rare report came to The Union-Banner Tuesday. Mr. Pete Baker said that the rain which fell at his place three miles east of here washed a handled hoe 150 yards from where he left it sticking in the ground Monday afternoon, when terraces broke over. The hoe went over five terraces, over one bridge, and lodged against a pasture fence.

Mr. Baker said these terraces held the heavy rains two months ago, but this time a gulley was washed in his field over two feet deep. He is working land for Sheb Ellison.

Investigation Needed

All Alabama Democrats, all persons who believe in fair play and a strict adherence to the rules, should call for an investigation of the kidnaped Chilton County absentee ballot box which was taken from election officials the day of the run-off primary election.

Apparently Chilton County people are takng the missing ballot box in excellent humor. And the case is not without its comical aspects. But for the protection of future Alabama elections the State Democratic Executive Committee should take a hand in the Chilton County incident. There should be an investigation.

This newspaper has no inclination to take sides in a local election for Chilton County. But it does ask that Alabama primary elections conform to the letter and spirit of the law and insist that no group has the right to flout election regulations, that all votes should be counted, and that if there is suspicion of fraud the matter should be properly investigated.

This is not the Alabama of reconstruction days. There are adequate means to contest elections. There are adequate means to question the legality of ballots.

The absentee ballot box in many Alabama elections has been the center of charges of fraud. There are some who go so far as to question the wisdom of the absentee ballot. But that is the matter for law, not for a vigilante committee.

What happened in Chilton County, if it goes unchallenged, might happen in any city, county or state election at some future time. Such tactics might lead to bloodshed, to reigns of terror.

It is to be hoped that the proper officials will see the case in its serious light and call for a prompt and thorough investigation.—Age-Herald.

MAN FOUND DEAD ON R. R. NEAR HERE

Paul Simmons Said To Have Been Killed By Train Saturday Night

The body of Paul Simmons, age 64, was found on the railroad tracks, two miles south of Clanton early Sunday morning. It was thought to have been killed by a southbound train about midnight Saturday night. The man was seen in Clanton late Saturday night.

The body was brought here and prepared by Martin; burial was at Maple Springs Sunday afternoon, services conducted by Elder Davis and Rev. Lockhart.

Paul Simmons was unmarried; he lived with his sister and her husband, Mrs. and Mr. Jim Driver of Maple Springs community.

TABER TEARS HIS HAIR AT DREADFUL SPENDING

Washington, June 17. — Representative Taber, of New York, ranking minority leader of the House appropriations committee, predicted today that continuance of the Roosevelt spending program would lead to a "total financial collapse".

Asserting that appropriations of the recent sessions of congress reached $13,371,001,048, the largest in peacetime history, Taber said in a statement:

"Pump priming on a colossal scale in the last five years has completely demoralized the economic set-up of America.

"It has destroyed the social security of our people. It has destroyed their jobs forever, and now we have been forced by the administration into another pump priming proposition designed to prevent industrial recovery and to completely destroy private business and private ownership of our farms and to completely regiment and enslave our people".

Caught Whopper Cat With Rod And Reel

The largest cat fish to be caught in years was landed by Rube Wyatt and Jelly Bean Monday night just below Jordan Dam. They caught it with a rod and reel, and the next morning it weighed 52 pounds. It very likely weighed near 60 pounds when it was first caught; it was a yellow cat.

These two fishermen caught a lot of smaller ones of different varieties.

THE BELLS ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Bell and children left last Sunday for a vacation trip of a week or so in Florida. They went via Atlanta, thence down the Atlantic coast as far as Key West; they intend returning up the Gulf Coast by way of Tampa and St. Petersburg. It may be a week yet before they return.

Ju-Jutsu Reducing Exercise

With Judo the Weaker Sex Is Not So Weak

JUDO, the fast-moving version of the ju-jutsu of feudal Japan developed by Dr. Jigoro Kano, sponsor of the 1940 Tokyo Olympics, is now well on the way to top position as the favorite reducing and protective gymnasium sport of American women. Derived from the defensive tactics of the Samurai, Nipponese feudal knights, the sport combines all the elements essential in the development of gracefulness and balance.

Giving the "weaker sex" the strength of heavyweight wrestlers, the defensive technique of judo, which invariably cuts the weight of any devoted practitioner, is being acquired throughout the country by business women and society figures. In the Hollywood belt, the wealthy suburbs of New Jersey and Long Island and among the Park Avenue penthouses of Gotham and from coast to coast, the Japanese mode of deft defense is mounting in favor.

Originating in Japan in the earliest feudal times, ju-jutsu did not become an elaborate form of exercise until the Tokugawa Period, (1615-1867). Fifty years ago, Dr. Kano, now an agile 80-year-old educator, took it upon himself to improve the system, currently Judo, and developed it into the national exercise of the insular nation.

Judo, which employs hitting, throwing, holding, tripping and twisting, with balance the predominant factor, gives the advantage to the smaller person, provided, of course, he or she is familiar with the techniques. Faced with the expected or an unexpected assailant, the judo user does not attempt to match strength but yields to the power and drive of the opponent, throwing him through his own force.

Second: "Go in and finish him this time".

Fighter: "I can't see him".

Second: "Then hit him from memory".

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

CZECHOSLOVAKIA and all that may hang on its destiny is just an added starter in the up-and-coming cosmos of A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company.

Robertson Has Remedy for Gloom

It is the always assured and hopeful Mr. Robertson who announces his company will spend $12,000,000 on additions and betterments this year, and, from where Mr. Robertson sits, that's just a couple of white chips compared to spendings to come.

Mr. Robertson is the H. G. Wells of industry. His "shape of things to come," which he has been outlining for the last year or two, includes the following specifications:

Migratory humans, shifting north and south like the birds. "Just whether the children will be born in the North or the South," he said, "is not quite clear to me, but I expect we will follow the policy of the birds and have the children in the North."

Windowless houses, pasteurized air, and artificial sunlight.

One-man planes, with folding wings, kept in the hall rack, with the umbrellas.

Pocket radios for two-way talk with anybody, anywhere.

Noiseless cities with double-deck streets.

Flat houses, with a push-button crane which will park the the auto on the roof.

He was a farm and village boy at Panama, New York, chore boy and rustler in his youth and hence not through grammar school until he was seventeen. Then he studied law in a country office, entered practice, got corporations for clients and then began owning and operating them.

At forty-six he was president of the Philadelphia company and now heads a $200,000,000 company. He pays liberal wage bonuses and urges friendly, co-operative relationship between capital and labor.

IT WAS only a year ago that Robert R. Young, thirty-nine-year-old Texan, quite unknown to Wall Street, rode herd on the straying Van Sweringen system and corralled it. It was all bewilderingly complicated, but, finally sifted down, it appeared that Mr. Young had picked up a $3,000,000,000 rail "empire" with an original investment of $225,000.

Young Texan Rode Herd on Rail System

He is a quiet, inconspicuous, unassuming man, and now the feature writers are just getting around to calling him a "Titan."

He won a rock-and-sock proxy battle for the control of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. Within the last few years, he has infiltrated gently into high finance, which is just now becoming acutely conscious of his presence.

His family was in and around Canadian, Texas, before the battle of the Alamo. They started the First National Bank of Canadian, which is now in the hands of the fourth generation.

At Culver Military academy, Robert R. Young was graduated at the head of his class, its youngest graduate, and later he attended the University of Virginia. With the Du Ponts in 1916, he got his preliminary work-out in finance and joined General Motors in 1922.

Career at Culver Was Prophetic

In 1932, he founded his own Wall Street firm, with Frank F. Kolbe, his later associate in the Van Sweringen putsch.

Mrs. Young is the former Anita Ten Eyck O'Keefe, of Williamsburg, Va., sister of Georgia O'Keefe, the painter. In 1935, they leased Beechwood, the Astor estate, in Newport.

Mr. Young, a Democrat, like his father, paid $15,000 for a consignment of those famous Democratic convention books, which congressmen, badgering him at a senate hearing, insisted wasn't nearly so much of a bargain as the Van Sweringen deal. "You are a bigger sucker than I thought you were," said Senator Wheeler.

Languages of Nations

Switzerland is not the only nation having more than one official language. Palestine has three recognized tongues, English, Hebrew and Arabic. Actually more than one language is spoke in every country in Europe but one. Portugal is the only nation having a single language. In Asia, India has 220 distinct vernacular languages. But even with four languages Switzerland is not finished, says the Washington Post. There is still one more obscure dialect called Ladin, spoken by a small group of people.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

RUFFIN TELLS HOW TO STOP INSECT DAMAGE

Auburn, Ala.—Growing conditions for vegetables are usually ideal during this season of the year, and were it not for insects everyone conld have a good garden, states W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist and horticulturist, in speaking of insect damage to Alabama vegetable gardens.

The first step in preventing insect damage is clean culture, says the extension specialist. Keep the garden free of grass, weeds and all old vegetable stalks as a means of reducing insect infestation, Mr. Ruffin advises. One practice which is most important in preventing damage to future crops by insects and diseases is that of pulling up and destroying old plants just as soon as any crop of vegetables has passed the edible stage, he states.

Contrary to common belief, it is not a good practice to save seed from the turnip crop, says Mr. Ruffin. Turnip plants have to be left in the garden a long time after their period of productivity and during this time large numbers of insects develop on them. Aphis, Harlequin cabbage turnips often damage or destroy colbugs, and other pests that develop on lards and other fall crops of cabbage.

"After taking every precaution known to keep insects out of the garden. a wise gardener will prepare to control any insects that show up by having a dust or spray gun and a fresh supply of insecticides ready," he continues.

For complete information on garden insects, their control and prevention, Mr. Ruffin advises gardeners to write their county agricultural agent.

OUTSTANDING SPEAKERS ARE INVITED TO FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn, Ala.—Plans are well underway for the annual Farmers Week feeting in Auburn, August 1-5, announces P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service.

This year the program will include more actual participation and an increased number of recreational or entertainment events, states Director Davis. Each morning from 8 to 10 o'clock farmers' forum and discussions will be held. From 10 to 12 general sessions, featured by addresses from prominent farm speakers, will be on the schedule.

Field trips and recreation will occupy the afternoons while each evening the five-day meeting music and other entertainment will be given. One outstanding speaker will be heard each evening.

"We believe that in attendance, in interest, and in value this Farmers Week will be better than any conducted previously at Auburn," states Director Davis.

4-H LEADERSHIP CAMP WILL BE HELD JUNE 28

Auburn, Ala.—With the program arranged and everything in readiness, the first Boys and Girls 4-H Leadership Camp ever held in Alabama has been planned for June 28 to July 2, here.

Beginning Tuesday, June 28, a complete program of recreational and educational activities will take place during the camp period. Theme of ths year's camp is "Youth and Community Life." In line with this theme will be a number of talks relating to 4-H club worb and the community.

Club members will take an active part in the program this year, many of them givng talks and demonstrations. In addition, demonstrations by extension service specialists and others will be part of the program. Several contests will be held during the camp.

COTTON LAND CAN BE RETIRED BEFORE THE BOLLS ARE FORMED

Auburn, Ala.—Those Alabama farmers who have over-planted cotton and are above the acreage allotments can retire the land to corn or some other crop if the change is made before the cotton reaches the bolling stage and still receive payments for full participation in the 1938 farm program, A. W. Jones, Alabama administrative officer in charge of AAA, announces.

I. W. Duggan, director, Southern Region, Triple A, stated in a telegram to Mr. Jones that "land on which cotton reaches the stage of growth at which bolls are first formed is considered as being planted to cotton." However, if the land is retired from cotton production to another crop before the bolling stage, those farmers who have over-planted will not be forced to encounter difficulties in marketing their crop.

In answer to an inquiry concerning effect in this connection of the damage caused in several sections by hail and insect infestation. Director Duggan stated that "for purposes of 80 per cent provision only, land seeded to cotton which is seriously damaged or destroyed by hail or insects before bolls are formed will be considered as being planted to cotton." Practical effect of this ruling is to insure full payment to the farmer even though his crop might be destroyed by insects, pests and hail damage.

No payment with respect to cotton will be made unless land on the farm is considered as being planted to cotton, except where failure to plant was due to flood or drought, Duggan advised.

Others' Opinion Of The Absentee Ballot Racket

Several of the daily papers have had a say regarding the recent absentee ballot apparent fraud and the "kidnapping" of the box. Upon this, the most vital political piece of news in rceent years, The Birmingham Post says editorially:

"We appreciate the local peculiarities of politics though we may not understand them, but we hope the people of Chilton County will show interest enough in good government to demand a full investigation of the election day ballot box theft at Clanton and the motives behind it.

"It has been reported that the stolen box contained a number of illegal ballots. Whether that is true, only those who placed the ballots in the box and those who siezed it and spirited it away will ever know. But even if it were true, two wrongs can never make a right. The fact remains that enough ballots were in the missing box to change the complexion of the whole election.

"In view of this fact, the Democratic committee owes it not only to the people of Chilton County but to Alabama at large to nullify the election unless a legal absentee vote can be taken.

Who shall be the officials of Chilton County may be a trivial matter locally but the theft of a ballot box is not trivial to those citizens who believe in democratic government."

Then in a lengthy editorial, among other things, The Alabama Journal, Montgomery, had the following to say. The Journal is the only daily paper to say much about absentee fraud heretofore; it has been condemning the practice of the law permitting it for several years:

"Absentee ballots in Alabama usually reek with scandal or the possibility of it, and Alabama must do something to remove this constant temptation to election irregularity. In Chilton County last Tuesday a high-handed and illegal act was perpetrated in the name of protecting the sacredness of the ballot. A group of the city's most prominent citizens entered the voting place when most of the election officers were out for lunch, seized the box containing the county's absentee ballots and passed it through a window to a waiting automobile. They carried the box away, no one knows where.

"This confiscated ballot box contained 741 absentee ballots and the total vote of the county Tuesday was less than 2,000. This in itself presents a scandalous situation. In no county of Alabama can there be honestly 25 per cent as many absentee ballots as are honestly cast in person at the polls. The races in Chilton were close. Without these absentee ballots, a tax collector was chosen with a margin of 32 votes. In the statewide race for public service commission Harrison received 947 and Heustess 952. The absentee ballots could have been decisive factors.

"One of the most amazing developments of this situation is the statement by State Chairman McQueen of Tuscaloosa that he does not know how to proceed in such an unprecedented situation. If the Democratic executive committee chairman does not know how to proceed to protect the party's election machinery then we are sadly in need of a new state committee chairman. This Chilton County action is an affront to the whole state committee under whose supervision the primary election is held. If there was fraud in the box the state committee is the authority to determine that fact, and guard against its repetition. Certainly the state committee cannot permit itself to be made ridiculous by a few indignant citizens who decide to take the law into their own hands. One law violation does not justify a retaliatory violation. This situation seems to call for political courage in such places where such courage has not yet manifested itself."

The Birmingham News has never taken much hand in the discussion of absentee voting in Alabama, but since the affair here, The News has come out of its shell and makes plain how it feels about the matter. A few paragraphs from its lengthy editorial are reprinted below:

"The affair of the seized ballot box brings up once more the question of absentee ballot abuses in Alabama. For its part, The News, while viewing the seizure of the box as a very serious matter, is less disturbed by that incident than by the fact that the box is reported to have contained 741 absentee ballots, or more than one-fourth of all the ballots cast in Chilton County last Tuesday.

"The seizure of the ballot box was a high-handed and an illegal action, of course, and cannot be defended on any ground. If anyone had reason to believe that all was not right in the absentee ballot box—as obviously some persons did believe—proper recourse could have been taken under the law. An election contest or an investigation into the absentee ballots could have been demanded. It did not help matters any to make off with the ballot box.

"The startling size of the absentee vote, however, clearly had something to do with the seizure of the box. A county the size of Chilton, which cast less than 3,000 votes Tuesday, including absentees, should have no such absentee vote as the total of 741. Ordinarily a county of that size would have only a small fraction of that number of absentee voters.

"It is plain that there were abuses in absentee voting in the Chilton election. And, because there have been so many other instances of absentee ballot abuses in Alabama in recent years, this case is one to cause concern all over the state.

"Things have reached the point where there is a strong demand for outright repeal of the absentee ballot law. Several newspapers over the state, aroused over the seriees of absentee ballot abuses, have called for the elimination of absentee voting. If The News remembers correctly, some grand jury reports have suggested the repeal of the absentee ballot law.

"The next legislature ought to go into the absentee ballot question and see what can be done to strengthen the safeguards of this law. Surely it is possible to make absentee voting honest. It must be done, or else Alabamians will likely find that this political convenience will be taken away from them. The state will not stand for much more absentee ballot abuse."

The Selma Times-Journal says:

"Alabama Democrats, who are far from satisfied with the manner in which elections have been conducted at many points in the state of late, were nevertheless startled by news reports of seizure of an absentee ballot box at Clanton in the recent run-off primary.

"According to reports, the seizure followed repeated charges of absentee vote buying and other practices contrary to ethiccal election practices. The fact that the stolen box contained some 741 votes, which is reported to be 25 per cent of the entire voting strength of the county, makes it seem evident that something out of line was going on in Chilton and that there was much provocation for action to protest the situation.

"Reports from Clanton indicate that the box was taken by five or six prominent citizens of the town, and although they made no effort to hide their identities, there seems to be little public sentiment for action against them.

"Although the election coup may have been conceived by those involved as effort to call attention of the state to the need of correcting the absentee ballot situation, which is considered by many to be an open invitation to fraud and corruption, such drastic action cannot be condoned, because it is itself an open invitation to similar practices by persons not motivated by unselfish motives.

"The incident should prove, however, that there is need for corrective measures to eliminate grevious election abuses."

GOODE REITERATES PRECAUTION AGAINST ALLOWING BEETLE TO MIGRATE

According to Commissioner of Agriculture, R. J. (Bob) Goode, the white fringed beetle grubs are now in the stage of transforming into adult beetles.

Mr. Goode further stated, "we are anticipating the area infested in Alabama and Florida to be alive with this pest by July 1st.

Due to the efforts on the part of the Plant Industry Division of the State Department of Agriculture, with George Harris in charge, working in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Entomology, we feel that the beetle will find it considerably more difficult to survive the eradication measures which are being employed this year.

Every known method of control that has been developed and proven to be effective is being used in the fight to control this pest. Chief among these methods of control where fallowed cultivation is not practical are; the use of hot lowgrade oil supplied under pressure, and spraying with pyroligneous acid all vegetation in infested fields to eliminate food supply. Where the latter method is used, the beetle will be unable to produce any eggs and will soon die from lack of food.

We feel it advisable to urge that all persons not engaged in the actual work of aiding in eradicating this pest refrain from visiting the infested area. These beetles are most likely to cling to your car or clothing and thereby spread to a new location. This can be easily prevented by staying away from the infested area and your cooperation in preventing the spread of this beetle is earnestly requested."

REGISTRARS MEET ON MONDAY, JULY 4

Body Must Convene On Legal Holiday, Says Ruling Of Attorney General

Answering an inquiry from Secretary of State Howell Turner, the office of Attorney General Albert A. Carmichael held last week that county boards of registrars must, under general statute, meet each year on the first Monday in July and remain in session for five days, regardless of the fact that the first Monday in July of any particular year may be a legal holiday, as it is this year, falling on July 4, "Independence Day".

It has heretofore been ruled, it is cited, that it is optional with officials as to whether or not they observe legal holidays, other than Sunday, which they must observe, and that, therefore, a legal act can be performed on a legal holiday.

Meetings of Boards of Registrars, it is stated in the opinion rendered the Secretary of State, should be held each year, for five days, beginning on the first Monday in July, "notwithstanding the fact that the first Monday of July of a particular year may come on the Fourth of July, which is a legal holiday".

Judge: "What brought you here?"
Accused: "Two policemen".
Judge: "I don't mean that—drunk, I presume."
Accused: "Both of them."

Tommy: "Is it really lucky to have a black cat follow you?"
Mr. Smith: "Well, it all depends on whether you are a man or a mouse."

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—France is beginning to think she has another Clemenceau in Premier Daladier, and she still has Marshal Philippe Petain, one of the few survivors of the great generals of the World war. Two or three years ago, General Petain was counseling peace and conciliation with Germany. Now he warns the French people of their "serious situation in Europe," and urges them to consider realities.

How Petain Keeps Fit at 82

It is quite possible that rope-skipping is mainly accountable for General Petain being alive, trim, fit and active at eighty-two. He is an inveterate rope-skipper, ejected from his apartment in 1914, because he jarred the plaster from the walls. This writer's record as to that goes only to 1934, but, in that year, he was still skipping diligently. Joffre, Foch and Maginot, among the French, Von Mackensen, Ludendorff and Hindenburg among the Germans — non-skippers all—have passed, but Marshal Petain lives on, venerated by his countrymen.

It was he who said, "They shall not pass"—on February 5, 1916, to be exact. He was the savior of Verdun, and, in this connection, a deft historian might discover that rope-skipping saved France. The general spent a solid week in an Automitralleuse without sleep, and the London Daily News commented at the time that no man who was not in perfect physical condition could have survived such ordeals. It was suggested that his energy and endurance had turned the tide of war.

He was born Henri Philippe Benoni Omer Joseph Petain, the son of a baker in Couchy a la Tour.

Man Mountain Dean, the wrestler running for the legislature in Georgia, is after only one seat, but he will need three or four if he is elected. In retirement on his farm, near Norcross, he still weighs 317 pounds. It is a unique contest for him, with no chance for his running broad-jump attack, in which he hurtles his body against his opponent.

Dean Girds for Ballot Bout

His career seems to have been mostly his wife's idea. Born Frank Leavitt, in New York, known as the "Hell's Kitchen Hillbilly," he did a hitch in the army and thereafter engaged in some desultory wrestling and mauling as a Soldier Leavitt. Nothing much came of it, and he began placidly taking on weight as traffic cop in Miami, Fla. Doris Dean married him and began prodding his lagging ambition.

He started grappling again, in Boston in 1933, with fame still eluding his half-nelson, when a German promoter took him on a tour of the Rhineland. This was more successful, and brought him to the attention of Alexandre Korda, who needed a double for Charles Laughton as Henry VIII in the wrestling scene. Thus came the famous whiskers, an important detail of his wife's clever showmanship in the build-up of the Mar Mountain. It was she who persuaded him to take the name Dean and who managed the histrionics which made him a fabulous creature. He was born in West Forty-third street in 1891, weighing 16½ pounds.

GEORGE E. Q. JOHNSON, the slight, self-effacing, bespectacled man who sent Al Capone to Alcatraz, is devoting his life to social betterment. He wants to make cities less fertile soil for crime, and to that end, would flush city and country children back and forth, interchangeably, to the benefit of each, he believes, and the nurture of good behavior.

He Sent Capone to Alcatraz

It was as United States attorney that he deftly enmeshed Capone in a silken spider-web of evidence, laboriously gathered and spun. The next year, Herbert Hoover made him a federal judge, but he stayed on the bench only a year and then went back to his law practice.

He broke the gangs in Chicago His story of how he snared Capone, told before the senate judiciary committee, with its tales of trapdoors and secret panels, was Grade A melodrama, but he didn't make it sound that way. He is a modest man, with no instincts of showmenship.

TRENCH SILO AIDING SMALL DAIRY FARMER

Auburn, Ala.—The trench silo has solved for many farm renters and farm owners having less than 10 or 15 cows the problem of providing low-cost storage space for feeds, states F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service.

Silos have long been regarded as indispensable to profitable dairy farming, but until recently use of a silo has been out of the question for small farm operators. However, quickness and low cost with which the trench silo can be built has surmounted this obstacle, says Mr. Burns.

The trench silo, says Mr. Burns, is usually not more than eight nor less than five feet deep. Dept will depend upon the drainage and the difficulty in drainage. It is not desirable to make the trench deep for capacity, since capacity can be obtained by making the trench wider or by adding length.

"When in doubt as to whether to dig a wide or narrow trench make it narrow," advises Mr. Burns. "A trench that is too wide means spoiled silage if the herd is small. In deciding how wide to make a trench, remember that one cow will eat about a cubic foot of silage a day and that two inches should be taken off daily to prevent spoilage. When the depth and width of a trench are made to suit the soil condition, the length is depended on for capacity. There is no danger of getting a trench silo too long. At least six feet of length is needed for every month silage is to be fed.

"The trench should be so filled with silage that the middle is two or three feet higher than the edge. Then straw or hay should be run through the cutter and blown over the silage to the depth of about a foot. This covering should then be wet down thoroughly and the whole covered with at least six inches of dirt."

The silo should be located on well-drained ground, Mr. Burns stresses. By digging back into a hillside and providing a little slope to the bottom, good drainage can be provided.

But, alas, now the ground covers him.

It was a dark and stormy night and the weary husband had just returned home.

"I've been to every shop in town and they can't match that bit of ribbon for you anywhere, dear," he said to his wife.

"Splendid!" she cried. "I just wanted to make sure that it really was unique."

"How often are we sadly mistaken in judging by appearances".

"Yes, I never judge a man by the clothes he wears, for many a pair of patched trousers covers a warm heart."

THORSBY SECTION

MRS. TOM LESSLEY, Manager

Plans are practically complete for the annual Daily Vacation Bible School conducted under the auspices of the Thorsby Congregational and Baptist churches. At a meeting of workers at the Baptist church on Wednesday night the final details were arranged. It has been decided to hold the school for one week, beginning on Monday, June 27. The children's session, which will be held at the Congregational church, will run from 8 until 11 o'clock each morning. The young people's and adults' sessions will be held at the Baptist church in the evening. At the latter it is hoped to have a course in teacher training and at least one Mission Study class. All children and adults of the community are invited.

The monthly business and social meeting of the Truth Seekers class was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nelson on Friday evening, June 17. After the business session, a social hour, with delicious refreshments, was enjoyed. Members of the class who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Belter, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Blickenderfer, Mr. and Mrs. W. Adelbert Redfield, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive, Mr. H. R. Maddox, Mrs. Althea Brown, and Mr. Jack Peterson.

An ice cream supper will be held under the auspices of the Truth Seekers class on the lawn of Thorsby Institute Thursday evening, June 33, at 6:30 o'clock. Ice cream, cake, and cold drinks will be on sale. Tickets may be secured from members of the class.

On Sunday morning, June 18, Rev. W. Adelbert Redfield began a series of sermons on "The Emancipation Program of Jesus", by preaching on "Economic Emancipation". The topic for next Sunday morning will be "Mental Emancipation".

There will be regular services at the Baptist church next Sunday. The subject at the morning worship hour will be "The More Excellent Way". Mr. J. Mack Stabler of Greenville will bring a male quartet and two violinists and put on a musical program at this service. Everyone is cordially invited.

The Ladies Aid social will be held on Thursday afterncon of this week in the home of Mrs. Powers. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

Plans are being made for a very interesting Fourth of July celebration in Thorsby. Everyone bear this in mind and plan to be here and enjoy this celebration.

Mrs. Carl Langville of Birmingham, sister of the Misses Nell and Anna Werness, is in a Birmingham hospital having revently undergone a major operation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hosey spent Sunday in Clanton with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Nichols.

The Thorsby Home Demonstration Club met last Wednesday afternoon, June 15, with Mrs. C. S. Howard. Devotional was given by Mrs. J. H. Goddard, president. Roll call and reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. Tom Lessley. There were 15 members and five visitors present. The club was delighted to have with htem Miss Mattie Jo Barber, who has been assisting in Home Demonstration work in Lee County, and who will carry on the work here during the summer while Miss Grace is away for study. A demonstration was given on the brining of cucumbers. Various pickling recipes were discussed. An explanation was given on making sauerkraut from cabbage, and also on keeping other vegetables such as green tomatoes, beets, string beans, pears, etc., to be used at later periods during the year when desired. Many helpful suggestions and new ideas were given on the preservation of all kinds of fruits and vegetables. A food preservation budget was given each member. The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Tom Lessley for the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell had as their Sunday dinner guests Miss Nolen Meroney of Clanton, Miss Agnes Leary, and Mrs. N. Laurell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Waites and Mrs. Earl Henley spent last Wednseday in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Happy Conway of Birmingham visited with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. Davis of Stanton spent last week end with her sister, Mrs. G. L. McNeel, and Dr. McNeel.

Miss Arlis Hodgens of Pleasant Grove spent Monday with Mrs. W. E. Miskelley.

Mr. Mance Robinson, who has been confined to bed for some time, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pate and son, Calvin, Mrs. Kendall Franklin, and Miss Estelle Benson made a trip to Birmingham last Wednesday.

Mrs. S. A. Thorson of Chicago is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. J. M. Bosworth and family.

Our revival has been postponed from the fourth Sunday in July until the second Sunday in August. All remember this and be prepared to attend.

SUMMER SEES AMERICA'S "HOMES ON WHEELS" ONCE MORE TAKE TO THE OPEN HIGHWAYS

All the Comforts of Home-Sweet-Home In New Mineral Wool Insulated Trailers

AMERICA'S "Homes on Wheels" are once more whizzing along the highway trails. From Maine to Mexico, from the Pacific northwest to the warm, Gulf-stream-bathed shores of Florida, the perambulating residences are carrying thousands of happy vacationists to new scenes, new diversions.

This year science has again contributed to the comfort of trailer life. In addition to mechanical refrigerators, automatic ranges and electric lights and radios, your modern trailer is insulated against the burning summer sun with mineral wool. Placed full-thick in the roof and sidewalls of the vehicle, mineral wool blankets the trailer with an overcoat containing millions of tiny dead-air cells which repels old Sol's fierce rays and keeps the interior from ten to fifteen degrees cooler than the outside air.

This permanent, fire proof and insect proof material is one of the leading products for home insulation against summer heat and winter cold. Now it brings new luxury to America's popular summertime homes.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy has been an effective social and political ally of both her father, former mayor of Boston, and her husband, ambassador to the Court of St. James. But the news that, in accordance with her husband's decision, she presented only seven American women at court is one of her rare appearances in the headlines.

Mrs. Kennedy Aids Father and Husband

The 11 engaging Kennedys have been viewed more or less en bloc in the news and Mrs. Kennedy has never been in a very sharp lens focus.

She was one of the prettiest of Boston debutantes, 30 years ago, a rollicking girl with black hair and eyes of Irish blue. Back home from her convent training, she taught her father "Sweet Adeline."

He was John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald, and in his campaigns he sang his way to memorable political fame—riding like a surfboard the long, lingering "swipes" of the song taught him by his daughter—"the flower of his heart."

Fortune and Family Grew Up Together

Joseph P. Kennedy, her childhood playmate, was twenty-five years old when they were married in 1914. He borrowed $2,000 for a down payment on a $6,500 house. Their fortunes grew as their family, with Mr. Kennedy president of a bank, in a year or two after their marriage.

Mrs. Kennedy once told a Boston drygoods clerk that she bought 200 suits and dresses a year. It takes a heap of shopping to make a home, like the Kennedys', and she became known among her friends as a paragon of household efficiency comparable to the one in Solomon's offhand apostrophe to such skills and virtues.

Now she is mistress of the "castle" which was once J. Pierpont Morgan's home; also of a beautiful mansion in Bronxville, N. Y., a huge summer estate at Hyannisport, Cape Cod, and a villa at Palm Beach, built by one of the Wanamakers.

Has Diamond a Potentate Might Envy

She is slender and girlish, comely and vivacious, weighs 115 pounds and takes size 14 in dresses. Vionnet makes her gowns and she is envied by other women for her magnificent jewels—notable among them being a ruby and diamond bracelet which, it is said, is matched only by the one the Aga Khan gave his princess.

But she never lets the children run to unseemly display, holding them to restraint in regime and dress. Even without all these adventitious fixings, say her friends, she would be an admirable ambassador's wife, with her own quite adequate equipment of tact, charm and intelligence.

MAN and boy, this journeyman has helped process a lot of explorers' and adventurers' copy through the news mill. If it was ghost-written, it had only slick and synthetic excitement, like Ersatz pastry, and if it wasn't it was usually dull. Happily in contrast are the doubtlessly authentic and personally written yarns of W. H. Tilman, leader of the British Mount Everest expedition, now getting under way.

Yarns From Mt. Everest Ring True

These stories from the Tibetan base camp have a professional ease and fluency, along with a ring of integrity which gives assurance that Mr. Tilman is really writing them. There is no ghost on the job here.

Mr. Tilman is thirty-nine years old, a keen-faced, hard-muscled Britisher of medium stature, who has been exploring ever since he left college.

He has climbed mountains in the Alps and in Africa, including Mounts Kenya, Kilimanjaro and Ruvenzori. This is his fifth expedition to the Himalayas. The entrants in this high hurdle event are not youngsters. N. E. Odell is forty-seven, F. S. Smythre is thirty-seven and the others are all over thirty.

Bull Terrier, White Dog

When bull baiting was abolished by law in England, sporting men developed the bull terrier for dog fighting and badger baiting. About 1875, dalmatian and pointer blood were introduced in the strain, making them look less like bulldogs. The bull terrier is always white, has a long tapering head, wide, deep chest, stiff, glossy hair and tapering tail. He is gentle and good natured, but fears nothing and is a good watch dog.

Sunday school and preaching were well attended at this place Sunday.

We had several visitors at the service Sunday night, and wish to invite them and others to come again.

The singing school will begin here next Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock. It will be taught by Messrs. O. L. Devaughn and Marion W. Easterling, with Mr. Devaughn in charge of class work and Mr. Easterling in charge of music. Everyone who wishes to attend remember the time and be present.—Mrs. J. R. Connell.

John Will, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pitts, was carried to West End Baptist Hospital, Birmingham, early this week. Friends of the family wish for the young fellow a speedy recovery.

A card from Messrs. Thomas Sanford and Billy Popwell, written in New Orleans Sunday night says they are headed for California and are having a fine time. They send greetings to friends until their return twelve years hence.

Gent: "I was frightfully embarrassed when I dropped my fork at the banquet."

Lady: "Why, everybody drops a fork now and then."

Gent: "Yes, but everybody doesn't drop one out of his coat sleeve."

U. S. MARINES TO BE SIGNED

Of the 1,000 vacancies recently created in the U. S. Marine Corps by congress, 150 have been assigned to the District Recruiting Headquarters at Macon, Ga., which comprises the states of Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee, Major J. M. Tildsley, officer in charge, announces.

monthly installments from July to Sepmonthly instalments from July to September. This is to avoid overcrowding accommodations at the training base at Parris Island, S. C., where Marines receive their first training.

Applicants must be between 18 and 28 years old, 64 to 74 inches tall, single, without dependents, have at least an 8th grade eucation, be of good moral character, and must pass the usual rigid physical examination.

Waiter: "Would you mind settling your bill, sir? We're closing now."

Patron: "But I haven't been served yet".

Waiter: "Well, in that case there'll only be the cover charge".

Friends of Mrs. Mattie Fox will regret to learn that she has been confined to her bed for several days. She is improving some, however.

"And has she made him a good wife?"

"I don't know about that, but she's sure making him a good husband".

Clamps Win Two During Week

Beat Acme Lunch Shop of Bessemer 10 To 2; Bemiston 6 To 1

The Clamps won two good ball games during the past week.

On Wednesday, June 15, they took the Acme Lunch team of Bessemer in tow, 10 to 2. The hits were evenly divided, nine each, as were the errors, three each. Lint, Acme hurler, walked five and hit one, while Golson gave up only two bases on balls. Lint struck out two and Golson five. For the visitors Espey and Lint led with two hits each, while Williamson, Tiffin and Smith shared batting honors for the locals with a pair each.

On Sunday at Lay Dam the visiting Bemiston team was trimmed by a count of 6 to 2, behind the 5-hit pitching of Teaugue. Teague struck out seven in this game, while giving up three bases on balls. Fite gave up nine hits, walked three, and struck out two. No Bemiston batter got more than one hit, while Jones, Tiffin and Teague led the locals with a pair each.

A youthful rector, calling on his parishioners, arrived at a home in which there was a new bbay. The proud mother exhibited the infant, and the rector was lavish in his praise of its beauty.

"How old is it?" he asked.

"Just two months old today", was the reply.

"How interesting. Is it your youngest?"

Clanton Lost Pair Of Pliers Sid & Wife

The Union-Banner has received the following interesting letter from Mr. and Mrs. M. S. (Sid) Plier, who have gone to Mason City, Wash., to live. The following story of their trip is most interesting:

On the morning of June 8 we got cranked up and headed for the Pacific Northwest. Traveled north through Tennessee, Kentucky, and Indiana, then west through Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, and Colorado. Stopped for a brief but very pleasant visit with J. J. Pickens and family at Denver. Then moved on north to Buffalo, Wyo., then west across Big Horn Mountain (elevation 10,000 feet), down Shell Canyon, and over to Cody, to Shoshone dam (350 feet high), down Shoshone Canyon to the east entrance of Yellowstone National Park.

Here things began to happen too fast to mention, but here are a few: We soon saw a lake frozen over, and plenty of snow 10 feet deep. Right here let me say that I have traveled 40 states and five nations, including Switzerland, and nowhere is the scenery of Yellowstone to be excelled, not even in the Swiss Alps.

I will tell a little on the wife here. We met a brown bear in the road and had to stop, so he quickly got on the running board and put his feet against the door glass. And did that wife let out a squall? I drove on, and Mr. Bear fell off. At a distance she got out and the bear made for her, but she managed to take his picture and get back in. Needless to say, Sid had the motor running and the gears in mesh.

Explaining the geysers would take too much space. We saw Old Faithful play two times; it gushes at intervals of an hour and five minutes, throwing a column of hot water 150 feet high.

Well, out at West Gate (111 miles from East Gate), down Gallatin Canyon (90 miles down hill), to Bozeman, Mont., then west through Coeur d' Alene, Idaho, Spokane, and to Coulee Dam (known here as the 8th wonder of the world). It is now taking shape for its ultimate height of 550 feet, the largest piece of concrete masonry in the world.

Well, I could write an entire volume but don't want to annoy you with it. Hope these few lines will interest the readers.—The pair of Pliers, Sid and wife, Mason City, Wash.

Wife (at pearly gates): "I have come to join my husband."

St. Peter: "What was your husband's name?"

"Joseph Smith."

"I'm afraid that will not be sufficient for us to identify him by. Is there any other means by which I can identify him?"

"Well, before he died he told me that if I ever kissed another man he would turn over in his grave".

"Oh! I know the chap. Up here we call him Whirling Joe."

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—France is beginning to think she has another Clemenceau in Premier Daladier, and she still has Marshal Philippe Petain, one of the few survivors of the great generals of the World war. Two or three years ago, General Petain was counseling peace and conciliation with Germany. Now he warns the French people of their "serious situation in Europe," and urges them to consider realities.

How Petain Keeps Fit at 82

It is quite possible that rope-skipping is mainly accountable for General Petain being alive, trim, fit and active at eighty-two. He is an inveterate rope-skipper, ejected from his apartment in 1914, because he jarred the plaster from the walls. This writer's record as to that goes only to 1934, but, in that year, he was still skipping diligently. Joffre, Foch and Maginot among the French, Von Mackensen Ludendorff and Hindenburg among the Germans — non-skippers all—have passed, but Marshal Petain lives on, venerated by his countrymen.

It was he who said, "They shall not pass"—on February 5, 1916, to be exact. He was the savior of Verdun, and, in this connection, a deft historian might discover that rope-skipping saved France. The general spent a solid week in an Automitralleuse without sleep, and the London Daily News commented at the time that no man who was not in perfect physical condition could have survived such ordeals. It was suggested that his energy and endurance had turned the tide of war.

He was born Henri Philippe Benoni Omer Joseph Petain, the son of a baker in Couchy a la Tour.

Man Mountain Dean, the wrestler running for the legislature in Georgia, is after only one seat, but he will need three or four if he is elected. In retirement on his farm, near Norcross, he still weighs 317 pounds. It is a unique contest for him, with no chance for his running broad-jump attack, in which he hurtles his body against his opponent.

Dean Girds for Ballot Bout

His career seems to have been mostly his wife's idea. Born Frank Leavitt, in New York, known as the "Hell's Kitchen Hillbilly," he did a hitch in the army and thereafter engaged in some desultory wrestling and mauling as a Soldier Leavitt. Nothing much came of it, and he began placidly taking on weight as traffic cop in Miami, Fla. Doris Dean married him and began prodding his lagging ambition.

He started grappling again, in Boston in 1933, with fame still eluding his half-nelson, when a German promoter took him on a tour of the Rhineland. This was more successful, and brought him to the attention of Alexandre Korda, who needed a double for Charles Laughton as Henry VIII in the wrestling scene. Thus came the famous whiskers, an important detail of his wife's clever showmanship in the build-up of the Mar Mountain. It was she who persuaded him to take the name Dean and who managed the histrionics which made him a fabulous creature. He was born in West Forty-third street in 1891, weighing 16½ pounds.

GEORGE E. Q. JOHNSON, the slight, self-effacing, bespectacled man who sent Al Capone to Alcatraz, is devoting his life to social betterment. He wants to make cities less fertile soil for crime, and to that end, would flush city and country children back and forth, interchangeably, to the benefit of each, he believes, and the nurture of good behavior.

He Sent Capone to Alcatraz

It was as United States attorney that he deftly enmeshed Capone in a silken spider-web of evidence, laboriously gathered and spun. The next year, Herbert Hoover made him a federal judge, but he stayed on the bench only a year and then went back to his law practice.

He broke the gangs in Chicago His story of how he snared Capone, told before the senate judiciary committee, with its tales of trapdoors and secret panels, was Grade A melodrama, but he didn't make it sound that way. He is a modest man, with no instincts of showmenship.

Makes 6,075 Pounds of Lint Cotton on 5 Acres

High Yield Wins $750. Cash Prize

Wallace L. Martin, of Gray Court, South Carolina, has just been announced winner of the state-wide 5-Acre Cotton Contest conducted last season by the State Extension Service. With an official yield of 6,075 pounds of lint cotton on five acres, Martin not only netted a fine profit on his crop, but in addition, won a $750.00 cash prize presented by the Cotton Manufacturers Association of South Carolina.

Interviewed shortly after the presentation ceremonies, Mr. Martin told how he made this unusually high yield. The cotton was planted in 32-inch rows, and spaced 8 inches in the drill, with two to four stalks per hill.

In addition to Mr. Martin's regular fertilizer treatment, which included 900 pounds of a high nitrogen mixed fertilizer under the cotton, he used Arcadian nitrate of soda as a side-dresser. He planted W. W. Wannamaker's Wonder Wilt Strain 7 variety, and ascribes his success not only to good seed and plenty of good fertilizer, but to continuous cultivation and care.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SHOOT 'EM IN SERIES

"Wonder could I chew my way out of here? . . .

. "Mmmm—it's a funny taste . . .

ANYBODY can take a single snapshot—a landscape here, an informal portrait there. But have you ever tried taking a series, to tell a complete story of an incident, or to picture a person more effectively?

Summer activities offer all sorts of chances for series pictures. Wherever there is fun—on a party, a picnic, a motor trip, an afternoon at the swimming pool or beach—you find amusing occurrences which are best pictured thus. One picture tells part of the story. Several pictures "follow through" and tell all of it.

The incidents don't have to be unusual. Good "fun" series can be made out of the cutting of a watermelon, a small boy blowing up a balloon until it bursts. Try picturing a child's tea party in this fashion—the small girl playing hostess to her dolls and pets. Also, try "expression" snaps of the baby in his outdoor crib.

Sports series are good. For instance, a man catching a fish. Show him baiting, casting, playing the fish, landing it, dropping it into the creel or threading it on the string. Later on, snap a picture to complete the series—the fish on the table at home, or the fisherman back at his office, describing his catch.

The series-picture idea can be applied in a thousand variations. Series pictures have extra "punch," because each picture supports and reinforces the next. A series of five good expression shots of the baby—laughing, crying, "crowing," questioning, shouting, and so on—is better than five unrelated shots.

One picture may be just a paragraph, but a series is a complete short story. Try such picture stories this summer. Nature stories are good, if you have a focusing camera, or a portrait attachment for your box camera. For example, picture a squirrel accepting a nut,—taking enough pictures to tell the complete story.

Don't miss series pictures this season. They're immense camera fun!

SYMPATHIES TO T. L. McKEE

The Republicans have been accused of crying over recent maneuvers of the Democrats. We expect some Republicans in Chilton have shedded crocodile tears over the stolen absentee ballot box in the Democratic run-off. But, no kidding, The Union-Banner's sympathy really goes out to Mr. Tom L. McKee, who was defeated by only 32 votes in last Tuesday's run-off.

Tom McKee is a good fellow and a distinct credit to a lot of politicians within a stone's throw of us, and it is regrettable for him to be a victim of such practices as were said to have beeen played last Tuesday even outside of the confiscated absentee box. We do not doubt in the least that of the legally cast ballots Tom McKee received a decisive majority.

But then we are just as certain of something else. Tom McKee would never have been tax collector if he had depended solely on legal ballots in the 1934 fall election. Now, that is something else, isn't it?

ARE WE GOVERNED TOO MUCH?

The other day a square jawed old farmer came in with a complaint. He said: "I have lived a long time in Kansas and never before have I seen so many inspectors running about investigating so many different kinds of things and butting into everybody's business as are infesting the country now."

There is reason in the old man's complaint. One of the greatest curses of the world is too much and too expensive government. As has always been the case the constant tendency of those in control of government is to multiply their authority and powers.

Jefferson was right, if he said what he was accredited with saying: "That government is best which governs least".

The primary and almost the sole legitimate function of government is to maintain order, to see that every citizen, who behaves himself, is protected in his rights of person and property. That means that the weak shall not be abused by the strong; and, so far as is humanly possible, the shrewd and unscrupulous shall not despoil the simple minded and the ignorant. In short, the government is, or ought to be, a supreme policeman acting with perfect impartiality, strong and incorruptable. Protected by this all pervading and altogether just and impartial police power, the citizen should have the opportunity to work out his own destiny. That kind of an ideal government, so far as we can learn from history, has never existed and perhaps never will, but certainly it is an ideal to be wished for.

In the United States the average producer is carrying on his back one-eighth of an office holder who is in some form or another directing his movements. In other words, abstracting his salary from the pockets of this human beast of burden on whose back he is riding.—Greenleaf (Kan.) Sentinel.

Henry Wallace, for some reason or other, reminds Ye Ed of the old maid who was adept in telling the mothers of large families just how to raise their children. Henry, if you will recall, could not make a success of farming in Iowa, so they gave him a job telling all other farmers how to succeed. — Greenleaf (Kan.) Sentinel.

It used to be that a young man wouldn't think of getting married unless he had a job. But times have changed. Nowadays if you have no job, you get married so you can get on relief. — Rooks County (Kan.) Record.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

In these dark days of 1938 when the depression has reached a new low point, when relief necessities are growing greater, business is stagnant, and grave doubts are expressed even as to the temporary efficacy of another pump priming program, when congress is torn by dissension and political strife seems to be increasing on every front, a great many people are asking again: What is the matter with America? Have we become another people? In the early days of the republic hardy pioneers crossed the plains, cleared the forests, cultivated the land, and made possible the building of thousands of busy cities and prosperous villages. They dreamed of the great empire which we now have. We suffer from drought, want and depression. But so did they, and they had not, as a cornerstone, the material wealth which now surrounds us, unused and undistributed. Yet they founded a great nation, left us a heritage which we should now enjoy in abundance. Then what has happened?

The president once said that the one thing we had to fear was fear. Well, fear is still abroad in the land and it should be dispelled. But to banish fear and restore certainty we must have leadership, not the visionary kind, but that which can be furnished only by men of sound and established principle—builders, not theorists, men firmly grounded in traditional American doctrine rather than Oriental political mysticism. We need break the ice jam rather than prime the pump.

Arthur H. Day, Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, able jurist and leading candidate for the United States Senate from the Buckeye State, hit the nail squarely on the head the other night when he deplored our lack of sound leadership and knowledge of the economic forces which are now driving us on. On this particular point Judge Day said:

"All we need is to reverse our course. We need a sound philosophy of government—a philosophy which will release the lifeblood of industry. We must take the leg irons off business. We must unshackle capital. We must put it to work in the creation of jobs. Social security and jobs for our citizens can only be restored through the creation of new wealth—annual wealth. We have all the essentials for creating new annual wealth—a constant stream of it sufficient to supply all of the wants of our people and we will speedily do it if business is given the signal to go ahead.

"It therefore becomes necessary to establish new policies—policies which will recognize the necessity for capital in the creation of wealth — policies that will recognize the partnership of labor and capital — policies which will give our people a sense of security and freedom to achieve".

In seeking to advance his own campaign, Judge Day naturally points out that the way to a quick, healthful change is in the election of able United States Senators and Representatives. In this surmise he is entirely correct. To abolish fear we must have sound policies, directed by sound statesmen with the skill, the sense, and the knowledge to put them into effect. Star gazing and wool gathering will not do the trick. What we want is less Old World theorizing and more sound American practice. If we are to have a change which will abolish fear and start the wheels of prosperity revolving we must begin by electing a national Senate and House whose members will insist on charting such a course. Here is something the peole must do for themselves. Judge Day has put his finger exactly upon the trouble spots—lack of practical policy and scarcity of the right kind of leadership to put such policy into practice. We may say without sense of partisanship or factionalism, that by his sound and sensible diagnosis he proves himself one of the kind of leaders that are needed at Washington.

PRESSURE FOR FAVORITE

In Kentucky, the charges currently being made about the rigging of the entire state WPA organization in behalf of the administration's Senate leader Barkley and against Governor Chandler tie right in with the action of WPA head Hopkins himself. Also tying in is the recent intervention in the Florida primaries, in Pennsylvania, in Oregon, in Iowa, and in the process in Georgia and other states, by members of the official administration right down the line from the president himself. Hundreds of millions of dollars appropriated purportedly for non-political relief are in a position to be turned, directly or by strong inference straight from the top of the dispensing organization, in the support of "yes men" legislators and in opposition to the "less-than-100-per-cent" legislators.

The "democratic form of government" which the administration talks about so much is in a precarious state in any event under bankrupting waste. But when even state nominations, to say nothing of elections in the sovereign states, are to be drawn openly under the influence of so-called relief fund administrations, then the relief fund is better described as a slush fund and true democracy approaching a fiction. — New Haven Register.

If you invest your money in securities or land the socialists or the tax collector will probably get it away from you. The safest thing to do is to spend your coin by investing it in pleasant memories. These, the New Dealers can't take away from you. But be careful and don't lose your mind.

General Johnson reveals that after the so-called "horse and buggy" conference at Washington some years ago, President Roosevelt had told him: "Business has bucked me, and when industry wants to play with me again, it will be on its hands and knees." — Boston Transcript.

Thomas Jefferson's picture will appear on the new nickel. When you see it remember that he said, "I place economy among the first and most important of republican virtues, and public debt as the greatest of the dangers to be feared".—Exchange.

How they tell spring has come: In Ontario—the blossoms are out. In Europe—the ground will bear heavy artillery. — Hamilton (Ont.) Spectator. Note: And in the United States the PWA boys are padding the ends of their shovel handles.

The president is quoted as saying that the reason for the recession is that business "got the ball and ran away with it". Our opinion is that the New Dealers pumped too much air into the ball and it blew up.

Why not let them stay at home and mail their checks to them?

University News

University, Ala., June 20.—One of the most successful and certainly the best attended summer institutes of the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers came to a close Friday at the University of Alabama with the awarding of certificates of attendance to 115 women who attended at least fifteen hours of lectures during the four day institute. Two women, Mrs. N. E. Curran, Birmingham, and Mrs. George V. Truss of Jefferson county, were graduated with distinction having attended 38 hours of lectures in the four-day period.

Registration figures for the institute show that 357 women were registered, making a total regular attendance of at least 400 daily. This year's attendance passed that of 1937 by 200, it was announced.

Thirty-nine counties of the state were represented, 115 coming from Jefferson, 89 from Tuscaloosa, 24 from Montgomery, 11 from Baldwin, and 10 from Walker.

Terming social security as practical plan and not a wild dream, Dr. Edwin E. Witte, professor of economics in the University of Wisconsin and executive director of President Roosevelt's committee on economic security (1934-35), declared that other countries have made a success of social security and that the United States can do as well and better. Dr. Witte's address opened the annual Institute of State and Local Affairs and the meeting of the Alabama Women's joint legislative council's summer meeting at the University of Alabama Friday evening.

Dr. Witte declared that defects now existing in the social security laws of this country are minor and can and will be remedied by the American people. The fundamentals, he asserted, are sound and practical in all essential respects.

Dr. Willis Sutton, in speaking to the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers Summer's Institute, meeting at the University during the week ending June 18, charged that we Americans save lost sight of what eduation is for, in our absorption in "watching its wheels go around."

Superintendent of Atlanta schools and past president of the National Education Association, Dr. Sutton also called for a tie-up of home, school, church and business in providing for the child a program of education running 24 hours a day, and 365 days a year.

The public school system of Alabama needs a searching analysis of and a critical valuation of its program, Dr. A. H. Collins, state superintendent of education of Alabama, declared in an address before a joint luncheon of the State Education Conference and the Institute of Parents and Teachers at the University of Alabama during the week ending June 18.

The state educational head declared that a lot of the patterns of our educational system today are outworn and out of date. He charged that a look at the elementary, secondary and higher education of today reminds us somewhat of days of feudalism.

"Fifty per cent of our white children who enter the first grade drop out of school before reaching the seventh grade," the speaker said.

Game & Fish News

Fisheries Society Meets

Fish and game experts from three nations on the North American continent converged on Asheville, N. C., this week for the annual joint meeting of the Amercan Fisheries Society and the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioers June 20-24 inclusive. Alabama is interested in the convention because many problems affecting Southern warm water fishes will be discussed, and because I. T. Quinn, read of the State Conservation Department, is president of the American Fisheries Society. He will preside at the sessions and deliver the president's address. This group represents the leading thought and research on food and game fishes of Canada, the United States and Mexico. Commissioner Quinn was honored with the presidency last year at the Mexico City convention.

Barbecue Scheduled

The Choctaw Hunting and Fishing Club, with interests in Hale County, announces that the club will be host July 4 at a big barbecue. Residents living on and adjacent to the property will be invited, as well as all club members. Purpose of the barbecue, according to Carl F. Wittichen, secretary, will be to acquaint the people of that section what the club is doing to restore and conserve wildlife and fish. A. M. Bruce is president of the club.

Huntsville Meeting Success

More than 100 sportsmen and representatives of conservation groups in north Alabama counties met last week at Huntsville with State, Federal and TVA officials for a discussion of problems affecting that section. Dr. Walter B. Jones, president of the Alabama Wildlife Federation, presided. Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of the State Conservation Department, said that it was one of the most fruitful meetings of this kind he had ever attended, and praised the Tennessee Valley people for their interest in the work all agencies are doing to restore and conserve game and fish of that area.

There will be public installation of officers and speaking at the Masonic hall at Jemison on next Friday p. m., June 24, beginning at 5 o'clock. Evbody is nvited to come; refreshments free. Come.—Committee.

Farmers, FFA members, 4-H Club boys and girls and farm and village women are expected to cooperate in a state-wide survey to determine if the white fringed beetle, now known to be in an area around Florala, Ala., s in any other part of the State so that control measures can be set up to prevent spread of infestations if found, states F. E. Guyton, Auburn, who is in charge of the state-wide campaign. Suspicious beetles found anywhere shohld be reported to the nearest agricultural official.

One of the best markets for some of the surplus milk Alabama dairymen have during the summer is through dairy heifers, says F. W. Burns, dairy specialist of the Alabama Extension Service. There is a growng demand for dairy cows in the counties that are eradicating Bangs disease and dairymen need to raise more of their good heifer calves for replacement purposes.

To get the latest information on crop, hog and poultry production an expected 5,000 farmers of nine Southeast Alabama counties will visit the Wiregrass Experiment Station at Headland from July 12-15. Counties to have delegations of farmers at the Station on one of the days are: Houston, Dale, Geneva, Coffee, Henrn, Barbour, Pike, Crenshaw and Covington.

Alabama needs a more uniform system of grading hogs, since the low cost of producing pork on peanuts and the unlimited market for hogs makes the peanut-hog combination profitable for the Alabama farmer, says the farm products marketing committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, adding that more careful grading and packing of all farm products is necessary to bring the best market prices to Alabama farmers.

NEW HOPE BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Saturday night and Sunday, (the 4th Sunday), are our regular preaching dates at this place. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

Rev. J. P. Littleton, our pastor, always has a good message, and we are sure you will be benefitted by hearing him.

Our revival meeting begins on the fourth Sunday in July.

Sunday school every Sunday at 10 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.—Rev. A. C. McMinn, Clerk.

Old Manuscript Relates Life History Of C. C. Billingsley

Last week a subscriber of ours brought to the office of The Union-Banner an old manuscript of the life of C. C. Billingsley, written by himself; Mr. Billingsley died in the last of 1906 or first of 1907. The history was brought in by a Mr. Wilkins, grandson of the writer. The letter follows:

Knowing that I have but a short time to live, I thought that I would write out a history of my life for the benefit of my children and friends.

I was born in Stafford County, Va., December 25, 1816. My first recollection of my father is that he was doing business for Col. Enoch Mason. He quit there and got the position of bridge keeper at the bridge that was built across the Rappahannock at Falmouth. My father sent me to school in Falmouth to Daniel Bell. He gave up his position and Uncle Sandy Turner took his place. Father commenced merchandising in the town of Falmouth. I kept his books and assisted in the store.

My grandfather moved to Alabama. Mother and her people remained in Stafford County; she did not want to leave her people. In September, 1831, my father sent me with some negro traders to Alabama as an inducement for her to leave her people. I left the negro traders near Huntsville, and tried to get direction to Autauga County, but could not get it. I crossed the Tennessee River at Ditto Landing and came out to the public house of Wm. Newsom, staying there until August, 1832, when I came to Autauga County and lived with my grandfather two or three years.

My father bought land and settled it, but did not live long. I took mother and the children until she remarried, when I married and commenced life as a married man. My wife died and I married again, and have raised a large family of children, with whom I am now living.—C. C. Billingsley, Sr., Billingsley, Ala., R. F. D.

A 90 year history of my life, written for Bro. Jim Green, his wife and children.—C. C. Billingsley, Sr., Billingsley, Ala., R. F. D.

MARINE STUDIO OPENS JUNE 23, 1938

The Marine Studios at St. Augustine, Fla., will have their formal opening on Thursday, June 23rd. An all-day program has been arranged, and important guest speakers will include Senator Claude Pepper, Mayor Walter B. Frazer of St. Augustine, and Mayor V. B. Couch of Daytona Beach.

This aquarium is a complete novelty, since nothing of its kind has ever been attempted anywhere before. It permits the life study of all kinds of sea fish and deep-water curiosities. No doubt, the venture will prove a great boon to science.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. All the officers and teachers and 52 pupils were present last Sunday morning. Besides our Sunday school, we have preaching, B. Y. P. U. and prayer meeting. Everybody is invited to attend these services.

We hold our communion service tere next Sunday, June 26. Everybody is cordially invited to attend this service. There were four baptized last Sunday by our pastor, Bro. Allen Ruff. Remember, you are always welcome at this church.—Walter Anderson, Reporter.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

At this particular time, when many are seeking deversion from their regular labors, Colonel Harry M. Ayers, Chairman of the Recreational Development Committee of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, points out to Alabama citizens the possibilities of their own state for a summer vacation.

Alabama is rich in recreational facilities and offers a broad and varied field of pleasurable pursuits. Its forests, mountains, lakes and sea shore afford opportunity for every type of diversion.

In North Alabama on the crest of Lookout Mountain is Mentone, a pleasant resort with excellent hotels. It is located near DeSoto State Park, a recreational area with accomodations for vacationists including camps, camp sites, cabin and trailer parks.

DeSoto is one of Alabama's fifteen State Parks, which have found popular favor with Alabama vacationists and sightseers. Among those which feature cabins are Cheaha, DeSoto, Gulf State, Little River, Oak Mountain, Weogufka, and Panther Creek.

CHEVROLET SALES SCHOOL

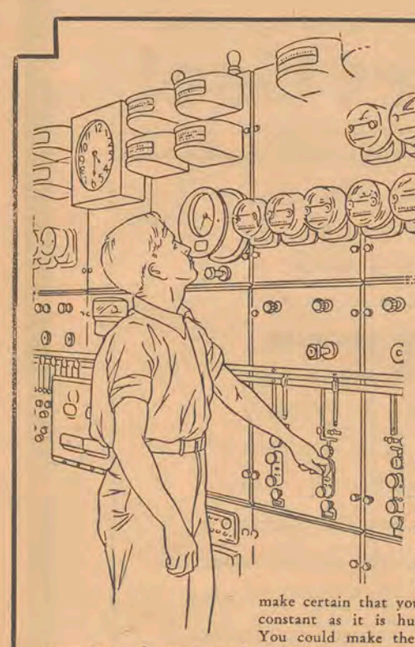
Detroit, June 18. — "You should deal with the customer on the Golden Rule basis—only you do it first". This was the advice which W. S. Knudson, president of General Motors Corporation, gave this week in an address to the 27 members of the Shevrolet School of Modern Merchandising and Management for sons of dealers, now entering the final days of their 7-week course in Detroit.

Mr. Knudsen said that this principle built permanency into the automobile business, which is on a solid foundation now as compared to the earlier times when the fathers of the students were entering it. The sons of dealers, he said, would start in the field as salesmen and managers under very favorable circumstances as compared to earlier times.

"We still need good retail salesmen in the automobile business", said Mr. Knudsen. "The most successful is the one who knows his own car, the factory behind it, and the organization of the company".

HOMECOMING TO BE HELD AT PILGRIM REST ON JULY 3rd

The annual homecoming and singing will be held on the first Sunday in July, as usual. Everybody invited to come and bring your lunch and song books and spend the day with us. Showalter and Stamps books will be used.—R. W. Kendrick.



IN MEMORY

Mrs. Emma Glass, wife of Arthur Grass, died at Mt. Dora, Fla., June 7. The funeral was held at Oak Grove near Jemison, June 9th. Rev. Maurice Hodgens officiating; Martin in charge.

She was survived by her husband, Mr. Arthur Glass, four sons—Shelly, Leon, Royce and Ray; three daughters—Lorene, Elouise and Maurice; one grandchild, Jean; father, Pete Wilson, of Jemison; one sister — Mrs. Percy Freeman; two brothers, George and Erb Wilson and a host of other relatives and friends.

Pallbearers were: Brasher Northcutt, Howard Glass, Fay McGhee, Carl Samons, Paul and Carl Wilson.

On the Ship He Would Be the Look-Out

"IF YOU could take a few seconds off sometime and travel with me around the electrical system of my Company, you'd be surprised at how many people you would find on duty any hour of the night or day, to make certain that your electric service remains as constant as it is humanly possible to make it. You could make the trip in a few seconds because, as you know, I travel 186,000 miles a second.

"I believe you would find the work of the operators at the substations and power plants particularly interesting. While it might appear to you that they are not working, all of their senses are attuned to the delicate but precise instruments about them, which signal the slightest variation from normal in your electrical service.

"The operators must be on the job every minute of the duty period assigned to them. You would get a big thrill if you happened to come in when there is a serious weather disturbance, because then you would see the automatic signal lights rapidly blinking on and off; you would see the operator hurrying from switchboard to switchboard promptly and accurately getting the service back to normal again.

"You, sitting in your cozy chair, are seldom aware of the thousands of Alabama Power Company employees who, in the performance of their duties, make it possible for you to enjoy cheap, dependable electric service."

AUGUST 1-6 DATES FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn, May 16. — One of the most outstanding programs from the recreational and educational standpoint ever held is being worked out for hundreds of Alabama farmers and farm women who will gather at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 1 to 6, for the 1938 Farmers and Homemakers Week, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

As part of the educational and recreational program, Director Davis says that state and national agricultural leaders will be present to address the farm people. Community singing, so popular in the past, will be continued this year, as will the sections or classes in livestock, landscaping, poultry, forestry, and other phases of agriculture in which the farm people are interested.

The latest facts on farming and homemaking gathered through experiments of the Alabama Experiment Station will be given the farm men and women, the director states. In addition, tours will be conducted so that the group may see what is being done to improve Alabama crops and farm practices.

All persons attendiny Farmers and Homemakers Week will be housed in cottages of the state camp on the campus at Auburn. Assemblies for speakers and singing will be in the assem-

HOME - COMING DAY

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to announce that the E. L. Scott, better known as (Bud Scott's children), and all the relatives have planned to hold their reunion or home coming this year at what is known as old Sulphur Springs church where mother was buried 55 years ago last March, the second one put in that cemetery.

This place is in Jefferson County, three miles from the Birmingham Highway on the Bessemer cut-off road. The time will be the first Sunday in July, which is the 3rd day. All of our friends everywhere is invited to come and spend the day with us. Everybody who can, please bring a lunch along to help out at noon. Don't forget the date, July, the first Sunday. We also want everybody in that community to come and be with us.

We look forward for a great day in the Lord's services. So pray everybody that the Lord may be with us and that the day may be a great blessing to the community and the old church, which I first joined and was baptized in Cahaba River at Hubbard Ford 53 years ago next August. I get great joy out of thinking over those good old days. So, I hope to see all of my relatives and friends out on that day. From the one who tries to be a friend to all.—J. N. Scott. 2t

SHOULTS

Our Sunday school is making rapid progress, with Mr. Brooks Shoults as superintendent. B. T. U. is also progressing, with Miss Lucy Walker as director. We wish more would come out to church. Come on, folks, let's show the world where we stand, and make our B. T. U. and Sunday school 100 per cent.

Miss Geneva Shoults left for Birmingham Sunday to visit her sister.

Allan, Jr., and Floyd Seeley of West Palm Beach, Fla., are spending several weeks here with relatives.

Miss Clara Allie Walker, of West Palm Beach, Fla., spent two weeks here with her father, Mr. C. T. Walker. She left last week for Miami, and is now attending Miami Academy of Beauty for six months.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Reinhardt of Harrisburg spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore.

Mrs. Sam Shoults, Miss Lucy Walker, Allan and Charles Shoults, Allan, Jr., and Floyd Seeley spent Sunday afternoon in Centreville with their sister, Mrs. T. C. Snead.

Miss Doris Lawrence spent Sunday in Lawley with friends.

Messrs. George and Sam Shoults motored to Plantersville Saturday afternoon to see their mother, who is seriously ill.

Miss Grace McAfee, of Birmingham, is visiting relatives here.

Mr. L. W. Young, of Brent, spent last week with his son, Mr. Malison Young.

Mr. Bird Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Shoults and family spent the week end in Selma with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Moore from Macedonia were here to see relatives last Saturday. Their brother, Crit Moore, accompanied them home Saturday night.

Our revival begins at Pleasant Grove the second Sunday in August. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Let's make it one of the best we have ever had.

PROVIDENCE — BEAT 13

Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days. Rev. Bob Green, our pastor, chose "The Straight Path" as his text for Sunday. He delivered a wonderful sermon, which everyone enjoyed.

After preaching several members of this community witnessed the wedding of Mr. Dewey Henderson and Miss Geneva Maudlin, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Maudlin, Rev. J. N. Green performing the ceremony.

Several people attended the singing at Collins Chapel Sunday.

The enclosed cotton bloom was found on the farm of Mr. Bob Green, near Providence, Beat 13, on June 20.

The Counties pay the expenses of holding all State and County elections in Alabama. These elections do not cost the State one penny. The Counties pay all election officers and for all election supplies. The statement that the recent primary cost the State $40,000 is erroneous. It probably cost the Counties that amount but in most counties there were local candidates in the run-off.

THE SUFFERING SERVANT

LESSON TEXT—Mark 15:22-39.
GOLDEN TEXT—For even the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many. Mark 10:45.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Wonderful Love.
JUNIOR TOPIC—On Calvary.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Self-Secrifice for Others.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Love's Supreme Sacrifice.

"A Christianity without a dying Christ is a dying Christianity. History shows us that the expansiveness and elevating power of the Gospel depend upon the prominence given to the sacrifice of the Cross. An old fable says that the only thing that melts adamant is the blood of a lamb. The Gospel reveals the precious blood of Jesus Christ, his death for us as a ransom, as the one power that subdues hostility and binds hearts to Him" (Alexander Maclaren).

We consider today that darkest of all days in the history of the world—when wicked men with cruel hearts and hands crucified the loving Son of God. But, thanks be to God, it was also the day when bright hope shone forth for sinful humanity, for in His death Christ bore our sins upon the tree, the veil was rent, the old sacrifices were set aside, and the "new and living way" was opened into the "holiest by the blood of Jesus" (Heb. 10:20).

I. Crucified—That We Might Live (vv. 22-28).

The details of and circumstances surrounding the crucifixion are of deep interest to every Christian. We stand with Luther and weep as we see Christ's unspeakable agony, not only of body but of spirit, and we cry as did Luther, "For me, for me!" How can any believer contemplate the cross and withhold self, substance, or service from Christ?

Equally earnest and heart-searching is the message of the cross to the unbeliever. He knows he is a sinner (Rom. 3:23), he knows that "the wages of sin is death" (Rom. 6:23), and he knows that "neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). Here at the cross he meets that one "who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed (I Pet. 2: 24). There were two malefactors who were crucified with Him, and one railed at Him. The other said, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom"; and Jesus said to him, "Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise" (Luke 23:39-43). Unbeliever, who reads these lines, will you not just now take the eternal life which Jesus died to make possible for you?

II. Forsaken—That We Might Be Accepted (vv. 29-36).

The railing, head wagging, and other abuse that men heaped upon Jesus as He hung on the cross, must have been a grevious thing for His tender loving heart to bear. But it was as nothing compared with that hour when, covered with all the sin and curse of the world, He who knew no sin "was made sin for us" (II Cor. 5:21), and God turned away from Him.

We cannot fathom the full meaning of that hour, we dare not attempt to explain it, we can only accept it and thank God that because He did become sin for us we may be "made the righteousness of God in him" (II Cor. 5:21).

III. A Veil Rent—That We Might Enter (vv. 37-39).

The death of Jesus was not the pitiful weakening of a human martyr. Here was the Son of God, crying with a loud voice (v. 37), giving up His spirit to the Father (Luke 27:46), declaring that the work of redemption was "finished."

As a visible indication of that part—and as a declaration that the old dispensation of law had given place to the dispensation of grace, God tore the temple veil in twain. Only He could have done it. No man could have torn this sixty-foot long, twenty-foot wide, and inch-thick curtain from top to bottom. It had hung in the temple to keep all but the High Priest out of the Holy of Holies, and he entered with fear and trembling but once a year as the representative of the people. Now all this is changed. We have now, "brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil." Therefore, let us draw near with a true heart and full assurance of faith" (Heb. 10:19-22).

Homely Simile

He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under His wings shalt thou trust: His truth shall be thy shield and buckler.—Psalms 91:4.

Lofty Companionship

POPLAR SPRINGS

Last Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days. Services were well attended both days, but there were not so many Sunday night, probably because of the rain.

The Sunday school is progressing nicely. We had the largest attendance Sunday we have had in several months. We will have a Sunday school social at the church Friday night. The community is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Some new officers have been elected for the B. Y. P. U. We hope for it a steady increase in interest and membership.

Rev. Haggard filled the pulpit Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, who preached the homecoming sermon at Shades Mountain church, near Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Smolon Thornton are the proud parents of a baby boy.

New lamps have been bought for the church, and we hope to paint the inside of the building before long.

1938 TON LITTER SHOW AND SALE ENTRIES CLOSED

The 1938 ton litter show and sale that is to be held at the Union Stock Yards at Montgomery on September 15 and 16 has 65 litters from 15 counties entered. These 65 litters total 613 head. This is the largest number of entries in a number of years and is a true indication that interest in the breeding and proper development of hogs is on the increase.

The counties having entries in this contest, with number of litters, are the following: Montgomery 11, Covington 10, Autauga 7, Chilton 7, Baldwin 6, Shelby 6, Crenshaw 4, Bullock 3, Macon 3, Coosa and Sumter 2 each, and Barbour, Dallas, Lowndes and Pike 1 each.

These contestants have been assured that the Chicago price will prevail in the sale of these hogs, and much interest is being manifest in the contest, the purpose of which is to encourage the production and marketing of hogs by farmers and 4-H Club Boys in the Montgomery trade territory, to teach the fundamentals of proper feeding, breeding and management in the production of market hogs, to teach farmers and 4-H Club boys the advantages of producing the type of hogs wanted by the pork trade. The object of the show is to make one litter of pigs weigh one ton or more at six months of age.

F. W. Burns, Extension Animal Husbandman of Auburn is Superintendent of the show, and Tom McCord of the Union Stock Yards is Secretary.

MATERNAL CARE STRESSED BY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Chilton County's maternal mortality problem was reviewed this week by officials of the local health department and a plea made that husbands cooperate in bringing the expectant mother under the care of a family physician early in pregnancy. Records of the local unit show that a total of 21 mothers made the supreme sacrifice in childbirth during the years 1935, 1936, and 1937. Of these there were 16 white and five colored. Leading among the causes of maternal death in Chilton County during this period was infection in 15 cases. The average age at death of these mothers was 26. Some of these untimely deaths, it was pointed out, might have been prevented had the mother been given proper prenatal care beginning early in pregnancy.

"Much of the blame for the failure of mothers to get this care", stated Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer, "must be laid to irresponsible husbands who think they have discharged their full duty when they call the doctor at the last moment. Instead, their duty begins as soon as pregnancy is suspected, at which time the wife should be carried to the family physician. After the initial visit, she should return at least once a month during the first seven months and every two weeks during the last two months. Blood pressure determinations, urinalyses, and weighing should be performed monthly. At least one blood test for syphilis should be made early in pregnancy, and a visit to the dentist should never be overlooked. Besides the examinations, valuable instruction will be given the mother as to the proper diet (milk, cod liver oil, etc.) and mode of dress. Such safeguards properly instituted early in pregnancy, followed by delivery by a competent physician, will usually enable both mother and child to come through unscathed and unharmed. This has been definitely proven by the work done at maternity centers in New York, and in prenatal clinics in Birmingham."

Mr. Chas. S. Deason left Tuesday to go to Golden, Colo., and visit Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Deason of that city. Mr. Deason is the son of the late Judge E. B. Deason, and Clanton's youngest attorney, having been admitted to the bar last week.

Of the $711,307.69 released for education on June 9, $225, 000 was from the sales tax, $195,000 from the tobacco tax, $5,000 from the gross receipt tax, $150,000 from the general appropriation fund, making a total of $575,000 from the educational trust fund. In addition to this the schools got $42,000 from the three mill ad valorem school tax, $44,307.69 from the property relief fund and $50,000 from the general fund appropriation, the total being released at this time being $711,307.69. This fund, in most counties, will be used to make final payment of teachers salaries for the school year just closed.

Messrs. Ed McMorris and Sumner Ashby, of Birmingham, visited Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White in Clanton recently.

Jefferson is the only County in the State that has more election precincts than Blount County. Jackson has the same number as Blount—39. Jefferson has 57. To accomodate the voters there are more than one box in many of the precincts where ballots may be cast.

SPIEGLE-DEVAUGHN

A marriage of widespread interest was that of Miss Imogene Spiegle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Spiegle, of Joppa, and William Lincoln Devaughn, of Clanton, which took place at the First Christian church, Cullman, at 8 o'clock on the evening of June 11.

Maurice Hodgens served as best man and Howard Couch was groomsman; ushers included Frank Petty, George Ponder, Jr., and James Graham. The candles were lighted by Miss Margaret Nell Jones of Clanton.

The bride is very popular among her associates possessing a charming personality that has won her many friends throughout the Tennessee Valley. She received her B. S. degree from Athens College with the class of 1935, and has since been employed by the TVA at Wilson Dam.

Mr. Devaughn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Devaughn, of Clanton, and is connected with the Authority in the Department of Operations.

After a wedding trip to the gulf coast, Mr. and Mrs. Devaughn will be at home at Florence.

ALL HAIL THE G. O. P.

They can sing of the glories of relief on the dole,
That scarcely sustains the body and soul;
But I'll tell the world that the G. O. P.
Has been like a father and mother to me.

Under its liberal, benevolent rule,
I was able to put all my children through school;
And I didn't rely on the W. P. A.,
But found regular work at $3 per day.

The kiddies had lunches, real dinner, complete,
Eggs, biscuit and butter, with jellies and meat;
And never for once did they have to stoop
To New Deal salmon and pinto pea soup.

Through most of the years of the G. O. P.,
The factories were humming, the farmers were free;
They tilled the broad acres where they saw fit,
For they never had heard of a New Deal permit.

The farmers relied on their hoes and their plows,
Their chickens and horses, their pigs and their cows—
They raised in abundance all things that would grow.
An order to burn these things made to sell,
Would have irked the true farmers like a message from hell.

So, backward, turn backward, Oh Time in your reel,
And give me relief from this pesky New Deal;
For I'll tell the world that the G. O. P.,
Has been like a father and mother to me.

"The Repeal"

As you recall, we stated in the very beginning of the writing of these articles on the liquor business, that the things that we would have to say would be based upon observation, experience, facts, and figures.

It is my purpose this week to give some facts and figures on the repeal, or rather the results of the repeal, of the 18th Amendment.

The consumption of milk jumped from 35 billion quarts in 1924 to 41 billion in 1933, according to the report of M. D. Nunn, President of the National Dairy Council. This represents an increase of 17 per cent during the last ten years under prohibition. Since repeal the consumpton of milk has slumped from 41 billion quarts to 39 billion. This represents a loss of more than a quarter of the gains made during the ten dry years.

Moreover, a report of the Consumers' Council shows that in 59 leading cities of the nation the rate of consumption of milk is below a healthful normal. G. A. Norris, President of the Associated Milk Boards, discussing figures for the 11 leading nations of the world, recently stated that the United States is now next to the lowest of that group.

According to reliable statistics, the present per capita consumption of milk in the United States is 15 quarts daily per family of five. The minimum quantity for each such family should be 25 quarts. In other words, the present milk consumption is 40 per cent under the minimum for health safety. The quantity recommended as ideal for a fully adequate diet is four quarts per day per family of five. By that standard the present consumption is 64 per cent below requirement.

G. A. Norris, above quoted, recently said: "The severest blow to milk drinking was the repeal of the prohibition amendment". That statement seems to be fortified by the fact that in 1934, the first full year of legalized beer, its consumption was 1,168,018,000 gallons. The consumption of beer increased steadily, reaching 1,720,222,481 gallons of legal tax paid beer in 1937. This represents an increase of 47 percent for the period, or an annual increase of 16 per cent, which means further ruinous inroads on the milk market.

The farmer is probably the chief financial loser. His direct annual loss is about $92,000,000. But every producer and seller also loses, for when the drinkers spend more than a billion dollars a year for beer, there is a billion less for legitimate purposes. Moreover, many a beer drinker drinks himself out of production into the relief line. Then, willy nilly, the rest of us take up the slack. Prohibition is coming back.

REPUBLICANS IN ALABAMA

The other day we expressed the belief, in connection with the Republican Chairman Hamilton's visit to Birmingham, that there is no real basis for hope that the GOP can win any part of this state away from its Democratic allegiance. The Selma Times-Journal reproduced this newspaper's comments in connection with an extensive discussion of the subject in its own columns. Here are a couple of typical paragraphs from the Selma Times-Journal's editorial:

"Should The Journal send representatives out into the various sections of the state and question Alabama citizens who are too busy contributing to the productivity of the nation to hold out their hands toward Washington, it would learn what Chairman Hamilton knows—that thousands of solid Democrats in this state are ready to jump in any direction from the New Deal. For instance, nomination by Republicans of a widely known and substantial citizen to oppose 100 per cent Lister Hill in the fall senate election would result in a vote trend which would provde a rude jolt for numerous complacent personages, even if the Montgomerian should win handily. Given a fair count, such a candidate might even find Lister luscous."

The Alabama Journal would be interested, as would thousands of other Democrats in this state, to know the name of a man who could even make a creditable race under a Republican banner against Hill. Loyalty to the Democratic party is still rampant in Alabama and such differences as we have in this state must be settled within the ranks of the Democratic party itself.—Alabama Journal.

GO TO IT, G. O. P.

Honest, we are glad to see all the activity and spirit of Alabama Republicans who meet here today in state convention. And we are glad that they rate enough attention to attract a visit from John D. M. Hamilton, the Republican national chairman.

This paper believes in two strong parties for the nation. It thinks the same kind of line-up would be good for the states of the South. Lively inter-party opposition not only is good check on whatever party is in power. A two-party line-up undoubtedly would result in more consideration for the problems of Southern states in Washington and a greater participation by them in national government.

We do not look for Alabama Republicans to do so much in November, but even such opposition as they now offer will not be in vain and may lead to greater things.

Welcome to the boys—and let us not forget the ladies—of the G. O. P. — Birmingham Age-Herald.

Dates Set For Dog Vaccination

Dr. W. L. Parrish announces the above schedule for the vaccination of the dogs of the county:

July 1, Clanton, McCain stable, 8 to 4.

July 5, Thorsby, behind Wyatt Drug Co., 8 to 11.

July 5, Jemison, McNeill Shop, 12 to 3:30.

July 6, Bob Merrill's store, 8:30 to 10.

July 6, Concord (Dry Valley), 10:30 to 12.

Dr. Parrish states to dog owners:

"Please remember that you may meet me at any place to suit your convenience and I will be glad to treat your dog at my home before July 1 at the regular fee of 50 cents, but after we start the above schedule, $1.00 will be charged if done privately.

"Also, I wish to impress upon those who did not cooperate last year that this law was enacted for the protection of people, and that the State Health Department and your County Health Society are very anxious to see that all dogs from three months up are treated. All dogs that were treated last year mus tbe treated again. This is a state law and all violators are subject to a fine for violation of it.

"Watch for further appointments next week.—W. L. Parrish, Inspector.

DECISION NEAR ON "LOST" BALLOT BOX

Selma, Ala., June 21. — What to do about Chilton County's missing absentee votes will be decided Friday at a meeting of the County Democratic Committee.

This decision was the only one announced here Tuesday after a meeting of a sub-committee of the State Executive Committee with E. N. Bentley, vice chairman, and Billy Smith, secretary, of the Chilton committee.

John D. McQueen, chairman of the state committee, came here from Tuscaloosa for the meeting. Other members of the sub-committee are Silas D. Cater, Montgomery; B. F. Head, Tuscaloosa; and Walter Lusk, Guntersville.

Bentley said recommendations of the state sub-committee would not be announced until after the meeting of the Chilton County group.

Chilton's absentee box, containing 741 votes, was seized by a group of five men at the Chilton County courthouse at Clanton shortly after noon June 14, election day.

The box and its votes have been missing since.

Sheriff J. R. Hardy, on returns from all but the absentee box, was nominated tax collector by 32 votes over Tom McKee, incumbent. McKee said he would file a contest if Hardy is certified as the winning candidate.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CONCERT AT COOPERS

The Stamps Southernaires, popular WBRC radio artists, will put on a concert at Chestnut Creek church, Coopers, Saturday night, July 23.

They will also be present for the all day singing at this place on the Sunday following.

One law violator appeared before Mayor C. Fenn Jones Monday of this week — a negro man charged with selling illicit liquor. He was fined $10 and cost.

Mexico Joins S. F. World's Fair

Mexico will be a major participant in the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay, and here Senorita Hortense Melero, Mexican beauty, christens the International Signpost on the island. Senorita Melero was sent by the Mexican Consul General as a representative of Mexico on an official visit to the site of next year's World's Fair of the West. In colorful native costume, she typifies Mexico's "fair sex" at its best.

Miss Sarah Frances Collins, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Collins, is spending the week with relatives in Selma.

Dr. Lamar Callaway has returned to Durham, N. C., after spending several days with his mother here, Mrs. Dora Callaway.

CHILTON MAN WAS PICKED BY G. O. P.

State Republican Ticket Includes The Name Of C. C. Conway, Jemison, For Secretary Of State

FULL STATE TICKET NOMINATED

Among the list of nominees gotten out by the Republican State Convention in session in Birmingham Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, June 22 and 23, Mr. C. C. Conway, of Jemison, secretary of the Chilton County Republican Executive Committee, was slated as the Republican nominee for the office of Secretary of State, to run against the Democratic nominee, John Brandon.

A complete state ticket was nominated at the convention, headed by Judge W. A. Clardy, of Raonoke, for Governor, to appear on the state ticket against Major Frank Dixon, the Democratic nominee. Other Republican nominees niclude:

For Lieutenant Governor, W. L. Longshore, Birmingham; State Auditor, Arthur South, Florence; Attorney General, J. Foy Guin, Russellville; State Treasurer, Curtis Arkins, Ashville; State Superintendent of Education, Aaron Weaver, Double Springs; Alabama Supreme Court, Position No. 1, Milton Lanier, Huntsville; Position No. 2, J. T. Johnson, Oneonta; Public Service Commission, Position No. 1, L. A. Carroll, Slocomp; Position No. 2, Elmer Sutterer, Cullman; Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, J. H. Jones, Cedar Bluff.

During pre-convention goings-on on Tuesday, delegates from the 7th Congressional District met and formed a committee with J. M. Pennington, Jasper, the Senatorial candidate, as chairman, to survey the field for a Republican candidate to oppose Speaker William B. Bankhead, up for reelection. The committee is not slated to report until mid-July.

Republican candidates will be named to oppose all the nine Democratic nominees for seats in the national House, party officials said, but no definite action has been taken yet by Republicans in the other districts. All, however, are expected to put up candidates before July 15.

Another Chilton County Republican to receive recognition and honors at the Republican convention was Judge J. Osmond Middleton. Mr. Middleton was selected toastmaster at the banquet Tuesday night, and he was made chairman of the Committee on Resolutions and Platform. It was only expected that Judge Middleton would do himself and the Republican party much credit in these capacities; this he did.

The platform, submitted by Judge Middleton, and adopted by the convention, will be published in full in next week's Union-Banner.

The Republicans from Chilton County attending the convention one or both days were: J. N. Dennis, member of the State Executive Committee, W. H. Gillespie, J. Dewey Rockett, W. G. Culp, S. M. Pate, Akins I. Collins, Rascoe Maddox, H. A. Harris, W. J. Billingsley, J. Wiley Littlejohn, W. T. Bean, Raymond Mims, Percy M. Pitts, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Grant, and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wyatt.

ANOTHER UNUSUAL FLOOD WATER STORY

Last week The Union-Banner carried an item about a hoe being washed 150 yards out of a field. Well, here's one probably better, and vouched for as an actual happening.

Last Saturday afternoon, the big rain seemed to be heaviest about two or three miles east of Clanton. At the home of Judson Easterling near Temple church a heavy four-foot hog trough was washed out of a hog pen, carried over the public road, under or over a net wire fence, and drifted up on the side of a slope in a field two hundred yards from the hog pen. The water was about two feet deep where it went over the public road.

People going from and coming to Clanton by way of old Solley Pond were forced to wait until the high water receded before they could cross. This was said to have been the heaviest rain in that section in a long time.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION ANNOUNCED FOR DIRECTOR

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an open competitive examination for Regional Director, Social Security Regions V and VII, Social Security Board. Region V comprises the states of Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio. Region VII comprises the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Tennessee. Full information may be obtained at the post office in this city.

MRS. MARY A. BARNES

Mrs. Mary A. Barnes, 76, died Sunday at Talladega. The body was shipped here to Martin, and burial was at Mars Hill Tuesday morning, services conducted by Rev. S. J. Ingram of Talladega; Martin directing.

Surviving are one son and one daughter — W. H. Compton of Trion, Ga., and Mrs. Etta Watson of Talladega. There is one brother, J. R. Marlow of Jemison; 14 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

FOURTEEN ARRESTED BY SHERIFF AND DEPUTIES

Sheriff Hardy reports a rather busy week just passed, there having been a total of fourteen arrests for various offenses. They include: Reckless driving, three white men; public drunkenness, one white and one colored; assault and battery, one colored; driving while intoxicated, three whites; violating prohibition law, four whites; rape, one white; burglary, one white.

There are now sixteen people incarcerated in the county jail, including two white women, ten white men, and four colored men.

MAYOR'S REPORT

Five people, all white men, answered charges in mayor's court the first of this week. One for driving while intoxicated was assessed $50 for fine and cost; three for public drunkenness, one was dismissed, and the other two were continued to July 5; one for obscene language was assessed $8.25 for fine and cost.

The Leader Putting On Big "No-Profit" Sale

Offering Exceptional Values To The Thrifty Shoppers of This County

Mr. Maurice Lande, of The Leader, is this week shooting a big gun, in terms of a gigantic selling event. When Mr. Lande comes forth with one of these sales, the buying public of this section knows what to expect. When he says values, he means just that and everybody knows it.

A "No-Profit Sale" is what The Leader calls it, and that means low prices. Only a few of the values offered are found in a half-page adv. in this week's Union-Banner. Turn to the adv., and get a sample of what The Leader is offering. Look at the free list, too. The sale opens Friday.

New Process For Cleaning Wash Suits

Mr. Leo Thompson, of Clanton Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Co., announces the installation of new and modern contrivances for laundering men's wash suits, so that there will be no shrinking or getting out of shape. Two new machines have been installed by Mr. Thompson to do this work, the principle being to force the water through the goods rather than to stir the goods around and force them through the water. The laundry asks you to "Keep Cool Smartly" by having your wash suits laundered by them. Read the announcement elsewhere in The Union-Banner.

July Fourth Program At Thorsby Next Monday

Community Club Will Sponsor Affair At Public Park

July Fourth is going to be a jolly and care-free day at Thorsby this year, according to those citizens of the town in charge of the program for that day. Something of interest will be happening every hour of the day, but the principal things on the roster are: Parade at 9:30 o'clock, public speaking, competitive contests, and a double-header baseball game at 2 o'clock in the afternoon — New Cedron, Antioch and Thorsby.

The picnic will be in the new City Park, and everybody is invited to bring basket lunches and spread them. There will be cold drinks and other refreshments for sale. The program is in charge of the Thorsby Community Club.

VIRGIL ROBINSON ATTENDING COLLEGE IN OHIO

The Union-Banner has been requested to transfer Virgil Robinson's paper from Auburn to Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Robinson of Cane Creek community, graduated with honors at Auburn on Tuesday, May 31st, receiving not only his certificate of graduation, but a scholarship to the University of Ohio at Columbus. After spending just two weeks with his home folks, he left for Columbus and entered the university.

Mr. Robinson will take his Masters Degree at the University of Ohio, in veterinary medicine, after attending there one year. He is teaching in the university and studying in the classes too.

MRS. NETTIE MIMS DIED AT HER HOME SATURDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Nettie Mims, age 29, died at her home on last Saturday night. Funeral services were held Monday morning at 11 o'clock at the Liberty Hill church, with the Rev. Davis officiating. Interment followed in the church cemetery, with Spigener directing.

She is survived by: her husband, Dewey Mims; five children — Ruby Lois, Josephine, Buddy, Derrell, and an infant daughter; her parents — Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henley; four brothers — M. C. Henley of Logan, Ala., and W. B., R. L., and Quinton of Clanton; two sisters — Mrs. R. L. Chapman of Birmingham, and Mrs. Beatrice Headley of Clanton.

Pallbearers were: Urshel Mims, Howard Maddox, Bill Jacksno, Lonest Chancellor, R. L. Chapman, and Luther Kendrick.

PERSONAL IMPRESSIONS FROM THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

The editor of The Union-Banner greatly enjoyed the Republican State Convention in Birmingham last week. Some of the most noticeable and interesting phases of things in general are noted.

National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton proved himself a master diplomat at coping with the situation at hand. The manner in which he fitted himself into the South, with its own peculiar problems and emotions, was nothing short of masterly. He made a wholesome and lasting impression upon the people of Alabama of both political parties.

Mrs. Roy Wates, our National Committeewoman, won for herself much worthy praise and commendation for the fine way in which she introduced the speaker at the banquet Tuesday night. Every single word was perfectly aimed and hit the intended mark.

Our National Committeeman, Hon. T. J. Kennamer, was every bit himself or a little more throughout the convention. Mr. Kennamer thoroughly enjoys working for the Republican cause, and he is about the handiest man about an occasion like that last week.

The toastmaster was every inch a toast-master. Judge J. O. Middleton was expected much of on that occasion, and not any one was disappointed. His own chosen remarks in introducing the guests at the speaker's table were most witty, toasty and fitting.

It was nothing short of regrettable that our good old Republican friend, Mayor Jim Sloane, of Oneonta, found himself at a loss to get his cart away from the barnyard. Better luck next time, Brother Jim.

The select words of Toastmaster Middleton used in his touching introduction of our beloved Judge Oliver Day Street were well directed and much deserved. It would be difficult to imagine a Republican party in Alabama apart from the efforts and attainments of this eminent and respected citizen and jurist.

The music, under the supervision of Mrs. Jatie Longshore, was beautiful and most fitting. This accomplished musician, former resident of Clanton, received much praise and acclamation at the hands of the entire gathering.

We exercised anticipation to hear a speech by young Ralph Kennamer, of Montgomery, son of Judge C. B. Kennamer. This young man comes from a very fine family, and holds promise of great accomplishments in the future. The Republican party in Alabama will hear much about Ralph Kennamer, unless we miss our guess. His life should be an incentive to young Republicans over the state, exemplifying loyalty and integrity.

And, probably saving the best for the last, that sterling Republican and silver-tongued orator, Claude O. Vardaman, filled a most important place in the State Convention, as he does in all Republican gatherings. Mr. Vardaman probably did more actual hard work in arranging everything than did any other one person. And he made a red-hot speech near the close of the Convention Wednesday about noon. A Republican at heart is C. O. Vardaman, and he talks it, too.

Democrats Call Third Primary 26th

Chilton Absentee Ballot Seizure Upsets Result In 15th Senate District And Chilton Tax Collector

A new three-county primary to determine a Democratic nominee from the 15th Senatorial District, and for tax collector of Chilton County was called Thursday for July 26 by a subcommittee of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and another run-off in the Chilton County tax collector race.

Karl C. Harrison, of Columbiana, 15th Senatorial District winner on votes certified to the sub-committee from Shelby, Autauga and Chilton Counties, failed in his plea to have the Democratic party chieftains declare him the nominee by overlooking the Chilton absentee ballot box, seized and apparently confiscated election day by five identified men.

The sub-committee ordered a run-off between Harrison, who carried all the counties on the face of returns certified, and Dr. J. A. Hines, of Siluria, who claimed the record-breaking number of 741 Chilton absentee ballots would have changed the results to favor him.

The Chilton County executive committee, which held an undisclosed "recommendation" of action from the state sub-committee, ordered another run-off primary in the tax collector's race involving J. R. Hardy, sheriff, and T. L. McKee, seeking reelection as tax collector.

Hardy won by 32 votes — without the absentees — but McKee claimed the snatched votes substantially favored him.

Since the sub-committee called for the Harrison-Hines special run-off, usually reliable political quarters summarized Thursday night it had recommended to the Chilton County committee that it call a new tax collector primary.

The absentee box was snatched from the courthouse June 14 as party officers preared to count ballots cast in the regular Democratic run-off.

Harrison, who led by 199 votes in other Chilton boxes, presented two election officers who testified to the best of their knowledge the young Columbiana lawyer received at least 200 of the 741 votes.

The men said they noted particularly the senatorial race, after "seeing some of them (the absentees) had been changed", when checking the ballots against the poll list. A total of 86 votes for Harrison would have elected him, had Hines received all the others. He got 83 May 3.

National Chairman Accorded Warm Welcome By Birmingham Citizens

Hon. John D. M. Hamilton Made Speeches To Alabama People Last Week

Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton characterized the Republican party as the "only organized champion of the Jeffersonian philosophy" in a speech before the Alabama Republican State Convention in Birmingham Wednesday, June 22, in which he proposed a union of "real Democrats" and members of his party.

Speaking before a large gathering of Alabama Republicans at the Temple Theatre, Hamilton, whose arrival in Birmingham marked the first time a Republican national chairman ever came into Alabama to drum up votes, said "there is today no insurmountable barrier between the real Democrats of the South and the Republican party."

Again assailing President Roosevelt and his New Deal policies, Hamilton said, "I rejoice to bring you news that throughout our country the tide of battle is beginning to turn in our favor".

"As the failures of the New Deal become more evident — and they have become apparent during the last year with startling rapidity — the voters of this country are turning back to the Republican party", said Hamilton. "They are turning back to us because they are tired of charming smiles which promise but never perform. They are turning back to us because they want sanctity and common sense to mark the administration of public affairs".

As to his trip into the deep South setting precedent, Hamilton declared it was but "natural" he come here because "today we are speaking a common language with many Southerners".

Hamilton's visit here, which admittedly was to pep up and help revitalize the Republican party in Alabama and get out the vote in the November general election, was hailed by Southern Republican leaders as the first step in a new drive to end the South's solid support of the Democratic party.

"Only a deep-seated loyalty which comes from years of loving and serving their party keeps many Southern Democrats today from formally and openly repudiating the Democratic party under its present leadership," declared Hamilton.

"We find the leadership of the great political party which the South nurtured and kept alive through many decades now out of sympathy with the ideals, aspirations and economic interests of the South. We hear the leader of that party — who has steer-

OPERATED ON MONDAY

Mrs. H. Pinkerson was operated on at Highland Avenue Baptist Hospital, Birmingham, Monday of this week. She has been suffering with thyroid or throat trouble for the past several weeks. She returned from Baltimore only a few days past, where she went for treatment of the ailment. Late reports say she is improving satisfactorily.

Registrars Here July 4th Through Friday

The Board of Registrars of Chilton County will be in session at the courthouse in Clanton Monday, July 4th, through Friday, July 8th. They will not be here Saturday.

All who are eligible to register will please take notice and meet the registrars one of these days.

If you have become 21 years old since last October 1st, you are eligible to register and vote in this year's elections without paying a poll tax. If you have recently moved into the county, you should get a transfer from your former location and re-register in this county.

You are asked to cast around among your neighbors and remind them that they can register at the courthouse next Monday through Friday. Don't forget the dates, and you can't register Saturday.

RINGLING CIRCUS HEADS SOUTHWARD

Scranton, Pa., June 28. — The Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, stalled here by a strike, rolled southward today, its summer tour ended after nine weeks on the road. Circus officials and performers — some nearly in tears — watched roustabouts working in a heavy rain run the last wagon aboard the circus trains for the journey to winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla. It was the first time in the 54-year history of the circus that a strike had cut short the 30-week season. The company's 1,600 employees struck last Wednesday after refusing to take a 25 per cent cut in wages.

A. B. BAXLEY TO PREACH HERE

A. B. Baxley of Calera will preach at the Church of Christ Sunday at 11 o'clock, and will appreciate the presence of his friends. Hear him!

TEACHING SINGING SCHOOL AT REFUGE CHURCH

Beginning Monday morning of this week, Prof. O. L. Devaughn is teaching a singing school at Refuge church, five miles northeast of here. Reports are that the school has gotton off to a good start.

Prof. Devaughn is a good man and a proficient singing and music teacher. He has one or two more schools on the string for this season; most likely he will teach a school near Clanton before the summer is over.

G. T. Wilbanks Buried Here Last Saturday

G. T. Wilbanks, age 77 years, died at Central Alabama Hospital Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at Clanton Methodist church, Rev. J. M. Truett and Rev. Oscar A. Davis officating. Martin & Sons directing.

Surviving are his widow; two sons, T. E. Wilbanks, Montgomery, Joe W. Wilbanks, Lanett; three daughters, Mrs. F. E. Fiquett, Lanett; Mrs. J. Mell Martin, Clanton; Mrs. . Reed Metes, Tupelo, Miss. There are three brothers—Charles Wilbanks, of Belton, Texas; Joe and Ben of California; two sisters—Mrs. Sallie Matthews and Mrs. Kate Pyles, Wynona, Texas.

The elderly man was said to have died from injuries sustained when he was struck by a light truck driven by Mrs. Nell Klinner Saturday morning, June 18th, near Clanton Presbyterian church.

Pallbearers were: Dennis Knowles, Charlie Will Kline, Latham Ellis, Samuel Martin, Ernest Hartley, Jr., and Jack Jones. Honorary pallbearers were the members of Mr. Wilbanks's Sunday school class of Clanton Methodist church.

JOE EARL GOWAN PASSED BOARD

Joe Earl Gowan, younger son of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowan, went to Montgomery last Monday and stood examination before the State Board of Dental Examiners. On Wednesday the young man was notified that he had passed the examination and is now fully qualified to engage in the practice of dentistry in Alabama.

Joe Earl was issued a commission as First Lieutenant in the officers Corps, when he graduated in Atlanta on June 1st.

OFFICERS ELECTED

At the annual communication of Clanton Lodge No. 423, A. F. & A. M., held on June 21, 1938. The following offiers were elected for the ensuing masonic year:

Dr. Joseph E. Edgar, W. M.; Dr. Charles R. Moore, S. W.; James D. Bell, J. W.; J. Renfro Mullins, Treasurer; Grover C. Harris, Secretary; James J. Freeman, S. D.; Homer F Roberts, J. D.; and Grady F. Harris, Tiler.

SEVERAL INJURED IN AUTO WRECKS

Carload of Negroes Injured At Marbury; One Died At Clanton Hospital

Martin's ambulance has been kept busy during the past week answering wreck calls up and down the highway and other directions from the city.

A carload of negroes were in a wreck last Friday down about Marbury. Six of them were brought to the hospital here, and one woman, Doshia L. McCray, of Lynch, Ky., died at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. The others were not so badly injured.

Clifford Manning was rather painfully but not seriously injured when his car overturned on an embankment during the rain Saturday afternoon out near Baker schoolhouse. He was brought to Central Alabama Hospital and treated.

Also during the downpour of rain Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Stanley Cooper was seriously injured when the car in which she was riding and which was driven by Jadie Culp ran into the back end of a parked bus a short distance south of Calera. Mrs. Cooper, widow of Stanley Cooper who died a few months ago, suffered severe cuts and bruises on the head, and internal injuries.

Mr. J. T. Ellison was injured in a wreck up near the Cotton Mill Monday morning, when he was coming to Clanton to make arrangements to bury his wife who had just died. He was given first aid treatment at Central Alabama Hospital, and was released in a short while.

NOTICE TO CHILTON ASSOCIATION

The Unity-Chilton Mission Institute will bed held at Clanton Baptist church, July 5, 6 and 7. We are hoping for it to be the best and largest ever held. So you plan to attend all three days. I hope the Chilton Association will come and help to make this the best ever. We want preachers, deacons, teachers and all leaders of your own church; we expect women and children to come.

This is the best opportunity ever heard of for Chilton Association to learn more of Christ's Mission. If you fail to come, you will miss a rare treat. I'll be looking for every church in our association to be there.—Mrs. J. Lee Grant, Superintendent of W. M. U.

Barbecue Next Monday At Log Cabin Beach

There will be a barbecue at Log Cabin Beach all day Monday, July 4th. Log Cabin Beach is at the ferry two miles below Mitchell Dam. The doings will be in charge of Mr. G. W. Duke, of Sylacauga, and Mr. Bell. According to Mr. Duke, there will be all kinds of nicely barbecued meats, and cold drinks of all kinds. Those who come to Log Cabin Beach to spend the day are assured of an enjoyable time.

CLAY MARCUS NOW WITH POLK BROS. MOTOR CO.

The well known and popular automobile salesman, Clay Marcus, is back in Clanton and has again joined the sales force of Polk Brothers Motor Co., Chrysler and Plymouth dealers.

Clay has been connected with the automobile business for a number of years, and he knows his used cars.

For the past four years he has been in the used car department of one of Birmingham's largest Plymouth dealers, but like the majority of home town boys, he has never been exactly satisfied away from Clanton. So we join his host of friends and acquaintances in welcoming him back with the Polk Brothers Motor Co.

He requests that when you are in the market for a good used car or truck that you give him an opportunity to figure with you.

Dove Banding Results

Nearly 2,000 mourning doves have been banded in the past two years by the cooperative wildlife research project workers at Auburn, and interesting returns have been received this year. Doves banded at Auburn have been taken in Missouri, Florida, S. C. and several other states. Dove nesting started relatively early this year in Alabama, the research workers reported, being in full progress the latter part of May. The cooperative project is sponsored by the State Conservation Department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey and the American Wildlife Institute. Dr. A. M. Pearson, of Auburn, is leader.

Agreement Renewed

The State of Alabama, through the Department of Conservation of game, fish and seafoods, recently approved renewal for an additional year and an agreement between Stat and Federal agencies for establishment of refugees for migratory waterfowl and other wildlife in the Tennessee Valley. Commissioner I. T. Quinn, representing the state department, approved continuation of the agreement between TVA, U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, the State of Tennessee, and Alabama.

Quail Hatched

By July 1, there will be a total of 5,826 young quail hatched at the State game in Autauga County. The largest hatch of the season—2,800 birds—was due out of the incubators June 28, and prior to that time 3,026 birds had been hatched. Eggs collected this spring total 9,706 through June 18, and approximately 1,400 more to be collected June 25, for total of 11,106. The weekly average of eggs collected has been over 1,000, all laid by 350 Bob White hens.

MARINE STUDIOS SHOWED TO LARGE CROWD

One of the largest throngs in Florida's history, estimated at about 25,000, turned out yesterday afternoon for the dedication and formal opening of Marine Studios' giant aquarium at Marineland, 18 miles south of St. Augustine. The crowd began to arrive early ano by the time the ceremonies bgan at 2:30 all the parking space for miles was jammed and the roads were lined with cars that were still arriving for several hours after the aquarium had been opened.

"One of the greatest sights ever seen" Charles Francis Coe, well known author said during the program which was broadcast over a state-wide hook-up. "I have walked about utterly enthralled, never before have I seen such sublime and beautiful marine and aguatic life."

On of the afternoon's highlights was the feeding of the two porpoises both from above the water and by a diver from 12 feet below the surface.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce is a year old and is going forward with its creative work in a manner altogether gratifying to those who assumed the responsibility of establishing it and sponsoring it.

The State Chamber of Commerce has a specific function to perform and is sticking strictly to its mission. It is not a militant agency of opinion, it is innocent of partisan political motives, it will engage in no controversies except with those who question the right of Alabamians to seek a higher standard of living and those who question the ability of Alabamians to attain a higher standard of living.

In the beginning there were some doubting Thomases. They suspected that the State Chamber might have political interests to serve. Luckily a State election was held in the first year of the Chamber's life. Members and officers of the Chamber voted as they pleased and had no suggestions to make to voters on behalf of the Chamber as to how the people should vote, or what they should think and say.

State Chamber officers and executive commttee maintain that there is a tremendous job to be done in promotng the welfare of Alabama and that the State Chamber is the medium through which it must be accomplished. ith this in mind they laid careful plans for the future work of the organization.

BANG'S DISEASED CATTLE

Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, R. J. Goode, today revealed receipt of the following letter from the United States Department of Agriculure, Bureau of Animal Industry: "The Act making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1938, contains a provision for the payment of Federal indemnity to owners of tuberculous cattle or cattle reacting to the test for Bang's disease. Under the provisions of this Act, the amount of the Federal payment shall not be more than one-third of the difference between the appraised value of the animal and the salvage or slaughter price and in no case exceed $25.00 for grade or $50.00 for purebred cattle. The Act further proyides that for cattle slaughtered on and after May 1, 1939, the Federal payment shall not exceed the amount paid or to be paid by the State, territory, county or municipality cooperating in the work.

In view of the above it will be necessary to enter into a new agreement wih the herd owner in the Bang's disease project after June 30, 1938, and ach owner should be informed regarding the change and the method of computing indemnity claims prior to the date his cattle are tested."

Mr. E. Reese McKee, of Valparaiso, Fla., near Ft. Walton, was in Clanton the first of this week visiting his mother, Mrs. M. E. McKee, and brother, Osce. Mr. McKee was formerly in the government forest service in Florida.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

NEW DUSTING MIXTURE KILLS COTTON INSECTS

Auburn, Ala., June 27.—Cotton insects specialists of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U. S. Department of Agriculture announce that it is possible to control both the boll weevil and the flea hopper at the same time by dusting with a mixture of sulphur and calcium arsenate, says W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist.

As a rule, growers in areas troubled wth both the weevil and the flea hopper have dusted with calcium arsenate to kill the weevil and then made separate dustings with sulphur to kill the flea hoppers, said Mr. Ruffin.

The Bureau of Entomology specialists conducted experments at Fort Lavaca, Tex., for three years, and state that results of the work apply to all parts of the cotton belt where both the hopper and the weevil cause heavy damage.

The experiments showed that dusting with the mixture not only gives as good results as the separate dustings, but under some conditions even better results.

The Department's insect specialists recommend a mixture including one part of calcium arsenate and two parts of sulphur. In other words, a 100 pounds of calcium arsenate to 200 pounds of sulphur, said Mr. Ruffin. They recommend 12 to 15 pounds of the mixture to the acre.

During the experiments it was found that it was necessary to make two to four applications of the mixture at intervals of five to seven days to obtain the best results.

FARM CREDIT IS BASED ON PRODUCTION CAPACITY

Auburn, Ala. — Sound agricultural credit is based upon production capacity rather than upon selling price of the land, since loans must be repaid out of products of the farm, states James D. Samford, specialst in farm finance with the Alabama Extension Service.

Hundreds of foreclosures have resulted because land has been bought before earnings from the farm have been determined, he says.

"Obviously, all the products of the farm cannot be used to retire the debt," states Mr. Samford. "First must come the living expenses of the family, the other production costs and the taxes, and unless there is some net income above these expenses the farm cannot carry a debt. Amount of the debt which a fram can carry is, therefore, dependent upon the net income."

Mr. Samford says that in approaching the problem of wise use of capital credit, the first step is to establish the net income which may be expected from the farming operations. It makes no difference whether the debt is contracted to purchase the farm or for other purposes—there must be in all cases enough income above regular expense to pay the debt or the borrower will lose his farm, he emphasizes.

Auburn, Ala.—Due to weather conditions and other factors many Alabama farmers have not planted enough feed crops to properly feed their stock next winter, states W. H. Gregory, associate extension agronomist, in advising that there is still ample time in which to grow sufficient winter feed.

It should be remembered that to adequately feed a cow or a mule about two tons of hay in addition to grain is needed, says Mr. Gregory. Sudan grass will make a larger amount of hay quicker than any other crop on good land. On land which s sown in this hay-producer one to two tons of feed per acre can be grown in 60 days. Mr. Gregory suggests that after the grass comes up it should be top-dressed with 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre. He says about 25 pounds of seed should be planted to the acre.

Sorghum is another crop that will produce a large tonnage of grass hay even when planted this late, states Mr. Gregory. Amber and orange are two of the best varieties that may be planted. From one to two pecks of sorghum should be planted to the acre in order to keep the stalks from being too large. Disc the seed in and top-dress with 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre after the crop is up, he advises.

A third crop which will produce grass hay is pearl or cattail millet, which should be sown at about the same rate as sorghum. Other varieties of millet do not make a large tonnage.

Cowpeas is the only legume crop that may safely be recommended for sowing this late for hay production, says Mr. Gregory. However, on some of the better soils of the State soybeans will make considerable hay. Gregory states that a mixture of cowpeas and either sorghum or Sudan grass sown together will make a large tonnage of hay on good land, and the hay will be more nutritious than the sorghum or grass planted alone.

FIDDLER'S CONTEST TO BE HELD IN FARM WEEK

Auburn, Ala. — A series of county "old fiddling" contests will begin over the State next week preparatory to selecting contestants for the fiddling copetition to be held in Auburn durng Farmers and Homemakers Week, August 1-5.

In recent years, the plan of immunizyoung pigs against hog cholera instead of waiting until the animals are older has gained favor. Immunizing the pig before weaning time has definite advantages.

Use of cotton bagging as a covering for 16,000 bales of cotton was among the projects sponsored during the past year in connection with the cotton diversion program for encouragement and development of new uses for cotton A. . Jones, AAA adminstrative officer in Alabama, has announced.

In announcing that this novelty feature had been added to the Farmers Week program P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, requested that all county contests be held in the near future and names of county winners be sent to his office by July 20.

Luncheon clubs and other organizations in a number of counties will sponsor the local contests. Several clubs are planning to offer a free trip to the Auburn meeting as county prizes.

The final competition in Auburn is expected to attract a number of real, old-time "fiddlers," said Director Davis. He added that three cash prizes will be offered at the State contest here.

Miss Elizabeth DeLony, State girls' 4-H club leader, is chairman of the music committee, and will randle details of the fiddling contest.

Plans for the annual meeting of farm men and women in Auburn are well underway. This year the program will include more actual farmer participation an dan increased number of recreational and entertainment events. Farmers' forums and discussions, field trips and recreation, and educational addresses will be included on the program.

4-H MEMBERS WILL HUNT INSECT PEST

Auburn Ala.—An army of amateur bug hunters will take the field throughout Alabama next week for the biggest insect hunt in the State's history as machinery gets in motion to determine the progress of the white-fringed beetle, which has been found in Covington and Geneva Counties.

The thousands of Alabama 5-H club boys and girls have been enlisted by F. E. Guyton, state inspection director, white fringed beetle control, to help in the search for the insect. All "suspicious" looking bugs found by the clubsters will be placed in boxes, shipped to the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine at Gulfport, Miss., and identified there.

4-H CLUBSTERS WILL RECEIVE AWARDS

Around 1,000 4-H Clubsters will receve awards this autumn starting with county prizes in the ninth annaul National 4-H Meat Animal Project Contest, conducted by the Extension Services of the various states. Particulars may be obtained of local club Leaders.

A watch fob with gold emblem of achievement will be awarded in every county of the United States to the Clubster whose record in livestock projects is designated as outstanding by the county agent.

Miss Roberts, Mr. Philips Wed at Ceremony at Church—

The marriage of Miss Jane Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Barney Roberts, of Clanton, to Mr. J. Ross Philips, of Gadsden, which took place on last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Methodist church, was a beautiful ceremony, witnessed by a large assemblage. Mr. Ivan Trussler, of Gadsden, officiated.

Cathedral candles in branched floor candelabra lighted the green-boughted altar. In the center and at each side was a huge sprayed arrangement of white gladiolus. White tapers in an arrangement of green burned in the windows.

The music was a beautiful and impressive feature. Before the ceremony Miss Beverley Hester played a program of organ music. Selections were "In Summer" and Shubert's "Serenade". Mrs. Henry T. Stanley then sang "Because" and "O Promise Me", accompanied by Miss Hester. During the ceremony "The Perfect Prayer" was sung by Mrs. Stanley, instead of being given by the minister. The traditional wedding marches were played for processional and recessional.

The ushers were Woodrow Purcelle, Randall Cross, Wilson Appleton, Irvin Levi, Jr., Joe Bellenger, Jr., and Dr. J. A. Arnold, all of Gadsden.

The bride was attended by a lovely coterie. The junior bridesmaids, Misses Anne Ross, Nell Rockett, and Peggy Page wore gowns of flesh marquisette, and carried old fashioned French bouquets. They stood in the center of the decorations, behind the minister. The bridesmaids were Misses Edna Roberts of Kansas City, Ernestine Childs of Marianna, Fla., Sara Ann Philips of Gadsden, Aileen Tisdale of Graceville, Fla., Theresa Pope of Decatur, Ga., and Mrs. George Parr of Clanton. They were dressed similarly in gowns of marquisette shading from flesh into cherry. Their flowers were French bouquets of carnations. The maids wearing the lighter dresses carried the cherry shades of flowers, and those wearing the cherry and giguin dresses carried the flesh bouquets.

Miss Helen Roberts, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of parlior pink net over cornflower blue, and she carried briarcliff roses.

The lovely little flower girls were Anne Freeman of Gadsden and Janet Ross of Clanton, niece of the bride. They were gowned in flesh marquisette over satin.

The bride entered with her grandfather, Mr. W. H. Sartor, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and Mr. Frank Ralls, of Gadsden, who was best man.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white satin made in princess lines, with tight bodice and a graceful skirt. The heart-shaped neck line was embroidered in seed pears. The skirt terminated in a long train. The bridal veil was of illusion in layers attached to the hair with a pearl tiara, and extending beyond the length of the gown's train. The bride's only ornament was her mother's diamond cross. Her flowers were briarcliff roses, showered with lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Barney Roberts, mother of the bride, was gowned in aqua lace. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. J. Ross Philips, Sr., mother of the groom, wore black net, and a corsage of white gardenias.

A reception at the home of the bride's mother followed the ceremony. The briday party stood to receive in the living room, which was effectively decorated in white gladioli and white candles.

The dining table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a huge tiered wedding cake, which was a present to the bride from Mrs. Waites of Birmingham. The cake was beautifully embossed with rosebuds and lilies-of-the-valley. In the center stood the miniature bride and groom under a miniature arch. Mrs. Waites baked the 300-pound cake for the Roosevelt reception held recently in Birmingham.

Cake and cream, carrying out the green nad white color scheme, was served to the guests.

The bride and groom left late in the evening for a wedding trip to points in Florida. After July 1 they will be at home in Gadsden.

The bride possesses charm and poise. She is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Barney Roberts, and has a wide circle of friends throughout the state. She received her degree in music at Huntingdon College, and has taught for the past year in the Gadsden High School.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Philips, Sr., and is a prominent business man of Gadsden.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were: Dr. James Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Purcelle, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Ralls, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ralls, Hogansville, Ga.; Theresa Pope, Atlanta, Ga.; Aileen Tisdale, Graceville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Philips and family, Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roberts, Sheffield; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mingo and family, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Ernestine Childs, Marianna, Fla.; Edna Roberts, Kansas City; Miss Martha White Randall, Dr. Wilcox Randall, West Blocton; Miss Patricia Swift, Selma; Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Ralls, Miss Emma Ralls, Miss Elizabeth Ralls, Mr. Boyd Philips, Mr. and Mrs. Burke Philips, Miss Mary Whorton, Mrs. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Levi, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Trussler, Mr. Willis Adelbert Harris II, Mrs. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Freeman, Oscar, Jr., and Ann, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Philips, Sr., Sara Ann Philips, Irvin Levi, Jr., Randall Cross, Joe Bellenger, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox Appleton, Judge and Mrs. J. L. Herring, all of Gadsden; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Radebaugh and family of Montgomery.

Junior Bridesmaids Honor Miss Jane Roberts—

On Wednesday, June 22, at the lovely home of Mrs. J. C. Page, Misses Nell Rockett, Olive Rainer Elmore, Peggy Page and Ann Ross entertained with a beautiful breakfast at 9:30, honoring Miss Jane Roberts, who was married on that date to Mr. J. Ross Philips.

The home was decorated with baskets of beautiful gladioli. The dining table was centered with a California pottery bowl of garden flowers. The table on which the breakfast was served also held smaller bowls of pottery, filled with garden flowers.

The 3-course breakfast was planned and served by Mrs. M. R. Orr, who is noted for the delicious food which she serves at the Exchange Hotel.

The bride gave her gifts to her attendants at the breakfast, which is the traditional custom.

Miss Roberts wore a black nad white ensemble, accentuated by a cluster of lilies-of-the-valley.

Those included in this delightful affair were Misses Aileen Tisdale, Theresa Pope, Edna Roberts, Helen Roberts, Beverley Hester, Anne Ross, Peggy Page, Nell Rockett, Mrs. Henry Stanley, and the honoree.

Lovely Luncheon Given Honoring Miss Roberts—

One of the beautiful parties of the season was the buffet luncheon at which Mrs. Barney Roberts entertained on last Wednesday, the occasion continuing the pre-nuptial parties which were given honoring Miss Jane Roberts, who was married that evening to Mr. J. Ross Philips, Jr.

The buffet table laid with a lace cloth was centered with candles in crystal holders. Two cabbage filled with tooth picks, on which were placed artistic cheese pears, were placed at each end of the table. This attractive decoration was the gift to the bride from Mrs. Clara B. Curry. The table was presided over by Mrs. Henry Stanley, Mrs. Mason F. Jones, and Mrs. Bill Inzer; 75 guests were served.

Mr. and Mrs. George Parr and Miss Ernestine Childs Compliment Miss Roberts—

Mr. and Mrs. George Parr, and Miss Ernestine Childs of Marianna, Fla., entertained on last Tuesday evening with a delightful buffet supper complimenting Miss Jane Roberts, bride-elect.

For the occasion the home was decorated with garden flowers in a color scheme of green and white.

The place cards were attractive cigarets with the faces of a bride and groom drawn on them. They stood on a small match box, connected by a match, on which was written "It's a match".

Miss Childs presided over the bride's book. A buffet supper was served from a prettily appointed table.

The bride wore a model of pink marquisette and lace made on princess lines with low decollegate.

The following guests registered: Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ross, Wilson Appleton, Misses Helen Roberts, Mary Robinson, Patsy Polk, Nell Rockett, Ann Ross, Peggy Page, Aileen Tisdale, Sara Ann Philips, Edna Roberts, Beverley Hester, Ernestine Childs; Ervin Levi, Jr., Dr. J. A. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ralls, Mr. Ivan Trussler, Mrs. Oscar Freeman, Randall Cross, Joe Bellenger, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Purcell, and Mr. and Mrs. George Parr.

MOORE-BRADLEY

A marriage of much interest which took place recently was that of Miss Myra Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore, of Clanton, and Mr. William Abed Bradley, of Tuscaloosa. The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Moore, in Clanton.

The home was artistically decorated with ferns and cut flowers. The bride was very attractive in a dress of powder and navy blue alpaca, with accessories of navy. She wore a corsage of talisman roses. The bride and groom entered to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. John Deramus, who also rendered soft music during the ceremony. A very impressive ring ceremony was performed by Dr. S. J. Ezell, former pastor of the Clanton Baptist church.

Mrs. Bradley is a very accomplished young lady. She is a graduate of the Chilton County High School, and of the University of Alabama, where she has done some graduate work. For the past few years she has taught in the Verbena elementary school, where she also takes an active part in community activities.

Mr. Bradley is a prominent young man of Tuscaloosa. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama, where he is now in line for his Master's degree. For the past year he has taught at Coopers, where he was active in community life.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley are now at the home of the bride's parents, where they will remain until fall. At that time they will take up residence at Verbena.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bradley have a host of friends who wish them much happiness.

Farmers, FFA members, 4-H Club boys and girls and farm and village women are expected to cooperate in a state-wide survey to determine if the white-fringed beetle, now known to be in an area around Florala, Ala., s in any other part of the State so that control measures can be set up to prevent spread of infestations if found, states F. E. Guyton, Auburn, who is in charge of the state-wide campaign. Suspicious beetles found anywhere shohld be reported to the nearest agricultural official.

One of the best markets for some of the surplus milk Alabama dairymen have during the summer is through dairy heifers, says F. W. Burns, dairy specialist of the Alabama Extension Service. There is a growng demand for dairy cows in the counties that are eradicating Bangs disease and dairymen need to raise more of their good heifer calves for replacement purposes.

Alabama needs a more uniform system of grading hogs, since the low cost of producing pork on peanuts and the unlimited market for hogs makes the peanut-hog combination profitable for the Alabama farmer, says the farm products marketing committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, adding that more careful grading and packing of all farm products is necessary to bring the best market prices to Alabama farmers.

PICTURE SETTINGS

In your springtime pictures, use blossoms and flowers to help get the "feel" of the season.

IN TAKING outdoor pictures of people, are you careful to get the "feel of the season" into each picture, by proper selection of background and surroundings?

An outdoor picture without such "feel" is like a stage without scenery —or, worse, with the wrong scenery. For instance, some of us will take a springtime shot of a child in the yard, with the garage or back steps as a background—when the child could just as easily have been pictured kneeling beside a row of jonquils, bending over and sniffing one. In the latter case, how much more pleasing, and meaningful, the picture would be!

In your Maytime pictures, why not associate people with blossoms and the early flowers? In summer pictures, emphasize the deep blue of the sky and white masses of cloud by using a color filter on the lens. In autumn, let your pictures show the withering leaves and brown fields, with gray skies or billowy clouds hovering over, as backgrounds for your pictures. And in winter, make full use of the snow, and bare branches against the sky.

Try to work into each of your outdoor pictures some feature, even if a mere detail, that gives definite indication of the season. Make it an essential part of the picture, so that folks who look at your snapshots can "feel" the time of year. It seems like a small point, but you will be surprised when you see how much it adds to the pictures that come out of your camera.

RETURN FROM WESTERN TOUR

Prof. Luther E. Little and the large group of teachers and others who have been on a tour out through the Golden West and Northwest, for the past month, returned to Clanton Tuesday. They report a most enjoyable trip. The Union-Banner hopes to have a write-up of the trip next week.

CURIOUS STALK OF CORN

Mr. Jadie Thomas, of Beat 16, reports a rather unusual arrangement of ears on a stalk of corn. There is one ear three inches from the ground and another ear a foot from the top; the ears are 48 inches apart. Both are firm ears, and the top one is especially heavy.

MYSTERIOUS CHILTON

Dean Napier found on his desk Saturday morning a box of the finest quality peaches. A card accompanying the package read, "Chilton County Republican Peaches."

Upon inquiry of his secretary, she made the explanation that they were left by a summer school student.

"Who brought those lovely peaches is as mysterious to me as the whereabouts of the absentee ballot box in Chilton County," said the Dean.

"They are peaches all right, and I am taking them home to get the diagnosis of Mrs. Napier. I expect, however, that we will mutually and unanimously conclude to risk eating them, even if they are labeled Republican. I know good peaches when I see them, and I will not let any political label fool me. Anyway, they say it is hard to tell a Democrat from a Republican in Chilton County, and that may apply to their peaches also." —Montevallo Times.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—It is perhaps just as well that Crosby Gaige is a bachelor. He drags home 200,000 patent models, including a corpse preserver, hog-catcher, burglar alarm, an early Hoe printing press, a dentist's chair, a machine gun, an egg-beater, an engine, a steamboat, a pretzel-bending machine—and so on—and on.

Bachelor Has 200,000 Odd Gadgets

The patent office models had been gathered by the late Sir Henry Wellcome and kept at his estate in 3,251 packing cases. Mr. Gaige bought them.

A friend of this writer, remembering with remorse he hadn't bought a birthday present for his wife, stepped into an auction room. He became confused and bought ten barrels of tin cookie cutters. It almost broke up his home. Mr. Gaige will have no such trouble.

Mr. Gaige was born the son of the postmaster at Skunk Hollow, N. Y., and became a Broadway theatrical producer, with a 300-acre estate at Peekskill on the Hudson, where he indulges his taste for knickknacks such as the above, but with more discrimination than this ensemble suggests.

He is a gourmet, with 300 cook books in his kitchen, has a de luxe machine shop where he makes art objects, is a master of viticulture and a maker of connoisseur of beautiful wines.

He has cattle folds and breeds blooded cattle, a printing plant where he prints typographical knock-outs in limited editions, a huge library with 5,000 reference books, and is distinguished both as a bibliophile and a cook—one of the best cooks in the world, his friends say.

All these concerns are merely extra-curricular. In his 29 years on Broadway, he has hit off his full share of successes, built three theaters and kept steadily out of the red. In Columbia university, he wrote the 1903 varsity show, "Illusia."

Theaters Out of Red for 29 Years

He got a job with the late Elisabeth Marbury, famous play broker, reading plays at ten cents an act. He saved his money and headed into the show business with a fast running start.

His life is the fulfillment of every commuter's dream. He is of clerical, almost monkish mien, of somewhat austere countenance, with octagonal pince-nez and, like all epicures, abstemious in all things—saving such things as patent models.

He wears red, white and blue suspenders and is very fussy about his handkerchief pocket. He always has the tailor sew a button on it.

WHITE HOUSE COINS NEW NAME FOR AMERICANS

President Franklin D. Roosevelt has always been prone to alphabeticize and nickname things that he comes across. Generally he uses a slight and epithetic nickname for his opponents, having introduced into general usage such slurring names as tories, economic royalists, etc. In his fireside chat last week, however, his fertile mind dug up another name for that "small minority" who oppose his plans. The president brands them as "copperheads". Mr. President explains where he gets the word from, but the only copperhead we have ever known is that certain species of poisonous snake known as copperhead moccasin.

Really, we believe if Mr. Roosevelt used just the word best suited to express his mind about his political opponents, it would be just plain "snake". He probably is too refined to use a word so low down and so common. But we really believe that is what he means by "copperheads".

The president also says in his fireside chat that he is going to openly oppose those candidates for Congress who are out of line with his policies. Can you imagine a man in the American White House who is so partisan that he will use the prestige of that high office to sway elections of minor governmental officers over the land? Pray, what has become of those fine expressions "consistency" and "dignity of public office"? Do they exist any more? Our president is very liberal — he lets us choose between two names. We can be called either New Dealers or snakes, whichever we like.

Maynard's Chapel

We had a nice crowd out for Sunday school and church services Sunday. Bro. Robert Cost preached two good and helpful sermons.

We are requested to ask that all members of Maynard's Chapel be at church next Saturday night, July 2, at 7:30 o'clock for a very important meeting. We urge all deacons to be present as there is some important business that we must attend to at once. Please be present.

Everybody come to Sunday school next Sunday and bring someone with you.

MONEY IN FAYETTE ELECTIONS

With reference to the improper use of money in Alabama elections here is an editorial expression from the Fayette Northwest Alabamian revealing a condition which should serve to spur any county to reform of its election machinery: "From all reports, (but you can't give credence to all of them), last Tuesday's primary was probably the rottenest election held in Fayette county in many, many years. Money was spent, it is said, like the proverbial drunken sailor, by some candidates and their supporters. Every trick of the political bag was resorted to. Votes were bought and sold for as little as a $1.50 poll tax receipt and friends were double-crossed, lied to and lied about. Outside interests and indviduals slipped in and out of the picture, pulling strings and wire-working. Government officials deemed some of the races important enough to stick their fingers in the political stew. Cars sped on their mid-night missions of corruption and ballot fixing on Monday night to every spot in the county where the before-dawn work could be accomplished under cover of darkness. In Collins Beat where a drastic change is said to have taken place in the contemplated results, the election officials refused to number the ballots as required by law—thus heading all future investigation and tracing of the changes, trades and swaps that took place, if any. And as usual in every close election, the absentee votes came in for their share of whispers of fraud and mishandling.

Not in many years has there been so much talk of improper use of money in election as is being heard in various parts of Alabama today. It is a subject which is going to demand the serious attention of the State Executive committee, and perhaps even of the legislature itself if it is found that the existing laws contribute to the ease with which votes can be bought and manipulated. — Alabama Journal.

UNION GROVE

Friday, July 8, has been set as the day to clean off the cemetery at this place. Everyone who is interested please come and bring the necessary tools.

CLANTON "BLUES" SWAMPED WETUMPKA WEDNESDAY 12-0

The Clanton "Blues", so-called "second" team of Clanton, didn't look like second stringers at all Wednesday afternoon as they swamped the Wetumpka team 12 to 0 behind the 7-hit pitching of L. D. Easterling.

Easterling scattered his seven singles over four innings, no more than two coming in any one inning. In only one inning did Wetumpka really threaten, the 7th. With two away, Adair and Brown singled in succession, but Belyeu, who already had two hits to his credit, went down swinging as Easterling bore down to end the uprising and gain his shut-out.

For the Blues, 16 hits rang out, with Curlee coming up with a perfect day four for four, including a single, double, and two triples; this chap is a straight-away hitter, driving the ball on a line cleanly; he looks like good timber within the next few years.

Armstrong, Williamson, Cox, "Bull" Easterling and Roper gathered a pair each.

Easterling struck out 9 and Adair 1. Not a single base on balls was given. Wetumpka pulled five errors, while the Blues let one slight boot get by.

These Blues may be second raters, but nevertheless, it would be a pretty good ball game if they could be gotten on the same field with the Clamps. That might be arranged before long.

Pud "Tillie" Walker was calling the game behind the plate, and did a good job of it.

Little Inez Wyatt returned home last week from attending summer school at Montevallo.

ONLY HALF THE STORY

Nearly everybody admits that taxes are high—too high for our national welfare. Many of these taxes are indirect and hidden, falling upon the poor man in the shape of higher rent, food, clothing and other necessities of life. But when the apologists for high taxes too closely pressed they seek to give us a cheerful alibi by pointing to the fact that in Great Britain normal income taxes are higher than in the United States—27 per cent. Then they say—think how much better off we are! Of course, they say nothing about the taxes on higher income brackets—taxes on earnings, many of which are passed on to the consumer in the shape of hidden penalties. Neither do they point out that the federal income tax in Great Britain is the big bulk of taxation, while in the United States in addition to federal income taxes, and hidden taxes, we have state taxes, income and otherwise, heavy county, township, city and village taxes. The average Britisher is in no way bothered with as high local taxes as we have to pay.

But there is even more to it than all this. When the Britisher pays his income taxes he has the satisfaction of knowing that the money does not go into impractical pump priming or primary pumping. He has the satisfaction of knowing too that his money goes to help balance the budget—that Great Britain is operating on a balanced budget and is making income and outgo meet each year.

It is true that business is not so good in Great Britain now as last year. Britons attribute this primarily to the Roosevelt depression in the United States which they think is affecting business all over the world. But they know at least that they are keeping their expenses in order and that they are not increasing the public debt four or five billion dollars each year. By holding on, they know that they can defeat hard times and that prosperity will come again without the intervention or ruinous inflation.

Here is something worth thinking about. In the United States we have rising taxes, an unbalanced budget and a rising national debt. In spite of our burdensome taxation, national, state and local, we are steadily going into the red facing increasingly higher taxes and the prospect that even our children's children will not finish paying for the foolish social experimentation whch we are now carrying forward. The British method is somewhat different despite its higher normal income tax.

Some critics of the administration are complaining because agriculture is now being run from Washington by a lot of so-called experts who never did any practical farming. Oh, we don't know. A lot of the most successful song composers in New York who write the best songs about "mammy" and the fields of cotton, have never been south of the Battery. Now if the farm experts at Washington would only confine themselves to song!

Speaking of "pump priming", what could be more horse-and-buggy? The kind of pump that called for priming came into the world after the old oaken bucket would no longer serve. Modern pumps are operated by steam, electric or internal combustion power. They cannot be operated efficiently by politicians, either. — Chicago Daily News.

The socialist orator who stands on a soap box and shouts "down with the capitalists" doesn't know what he is talking about. If there were no capitalists to furnish free bread and gasoline, he would have to go to work himself.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

In an exchange, the following paragraph is credited to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt: "It is sometimes wiser to go without things than to load one's self down with so many installment payments that one has no margin of income for unexpected needs."

There is more than one grain of truth in this statement of the First Lady of the Land. The thought embodied in the paragraph should be taken to heart by every American householder. It is always best to have something laid by for a rainy day and it is certainly unwise and improvident to load one's self down with debts, the payments for which anticipate all the income the consumer expects to have for the indefinite future.

It is a wise rule not to plunge into debt at all for luxuries which have to be paid for on the installment plan, solely out of anticipated earned income. When one gets too heavily involved he is apt to be confronted with unexpected illness, a loss of job through an economic depression or other unanticipated calamity.

We might carry the thought one step farther. Thrift and economy which ought to be employed by the humble consumer, might well be practiced by our state and our national government. It is more than possible that the national government might be better off to go without some experiments than to load itself down with so any installment payments. True the government at Washington has more resources from which to draw money than has the individual. Yet there is a limit, for after all the nation is nothing more than an aggregation of individuals and their accumulated wealth. Sooner or later if the government goes into debt for things it could do without many of which look even "foolish" to the average man, it will come to the end of its rope and will resemble the average man, who meets with calamity after his future for several years has been pledged for installment payments.

When the individual comes to that point he has to divide his assets among his creditors and start all over again. When a government gets to this point it must wipe the slate clean through the process of inflation or other form of repudiation. Inflation always means the destruction of all values for the saving and prudent man, and spells misery and suffering for the wage earner who is always caught in the center of the storm.

Our national debt will soon be forty billions of dollars. It can, of course, be pushed higher than that in the enthusiasm of pump priming and other expenditure. But sooner or later we will come to the point where Uncle Sam can no longer keep up his "installment buying" and disaster could then easily follow. Even now we can look forward to installment payments over the next two or three generations.

Wouldn't it be better to take for Uncle Sam himself, the sound advice which Mrs. Roosevelt gives the individual consumer, before it is too late?

Add Mother Goose rhymes:
Baa, baa, black sheep, have you any wool?
Yes sir, yes sir, two bags full.
One for my master, one for myself,
Wallace got the third one and put it on the shelf.

According to an exchange, a little girl who had been taught to pray for just what she wants from anyone, closed her evening prayer recently by saying: "And now, O God, take care of yourself, for if anything should happen to you we would have only Roosevelt to help us, and he isn't doing as well as pa expected."—Exchange.

Representative Rankin of Mississippi wants the government to issue paper money on the several billions in gold held by this federal government. If Uncle Sam were to distribute $12,000,000,000 in brand new money it wouldn't be three weeks until it arrived at the same place in which the present currency is located.

A Texas ranchman reports having produced a cross between a sheep and a goat. Politicians are said to be exploring the possibility of using it as a nucleus for an ideal electorate. Grand Island Independent.

Of course if you reside in Pennsylvania or Maryland and things continue to get worse you can take to the hills. But how about the folks who live in Kansas?

If Henry Wallace had been in King George's corner when the embattled farmers started the Revolution at Concord Bridge he would have bombarded them with relief checks.

The height of New Deal consistency is to lend the utilities money so they can stay in business and then lend the cities and towns money to put the utilities out of business.

A big whale was washed up on the beach on Long Island recently and the authorities are quarreling about whose duty it is to remove it. Why not call in the PWA?

President Roosevelt said he would not let the people down. But that isn't the question now. What we want to know is whether he will let businees up.

The trouble with pump priming is that too many people want to stand in front of the spout with a bucket and nobody wants to ride the handle.

MAN IN THE MOON

* * * * * * * * * * *

"WHAT MUST I DO . . . . ?"

The Book of Bocks relates the story of an incident in the life of our Lord and Master in which a young rich man approached Him and asked: "What must I do to be saved?" He was told to go and sell all that he had and give to the poor, "and come and follow me".

No doubt last week the perplexed Democratic officials of Chilton County's "Royal Order of the Jackass and Rooster" wished they could find some authentic head to whom they might turn for so easy a solution of their novel problem, and have that source of wisdom tell them: "Just chuck it all, and your troubles will be over, for you will be told the correct procedure from now on".

But it wasn't as simple as all that. These Chilton officials had a right to believe that their state organization could work them out of the mess. But Chairman John McQueen promptly stated that he was "stumped". What a candid admission! Chairman McQueen no doubt has had quite a few skirmishes on crooked deals in Alabama Democratic politics to straighten out — and, so far as I know, has made an excellent job of strengthening them all out without undue worry — up to now. But he unwittingly admitted that when some of his party took a move to clean up politics, that's a new wrinkle on his horn, and he is "stumped". By his admission and by his first action, or lack of it, Chairman McQueen says, in substance: "Who ever heard of trying to clean up politics, any way?"

As a Republican, I have no particular interest in the affair. Both of the contestants, Mr. Hardy and Mr. McKee, are my personal friends. Both, I believe, are upright gentlemen. I would do as much to beat either of them this fall—vote my ticket. I am not even unduly elated over the incident, as might be expected. The only interest I have, or could have, is to see the "bona fide" voters in the Democratic party nominate their man, so that if he should win this fall, I could feel assured that our tax collector would be the choice of the people whom he is to serve, rather than be elected by their ancestors, now slumbering 'neath the sod, many of whom no doubt would not have voted the way their vote was marked if they had been alive to have their say, nor elected by imaginary votes by individuals who never existed except in the minds of unscrupulous people with access to a plentiful supply of absentee ballots, and no deterrent to the manner in which they handled them.

The press of the state has listened, gasped, and then tossed their venom at those five intrepid pioneers for a clean vote who dared take the absentee ballot away, under the impression, or with the knowledge, that it was crooked. Most of the papers contend that these men have violated a law, yet, so far as I have been able to find, none have said just what law was violated, nor what charge could be lodged.

I dare say that if someone should walk into the courthouse, pick up a typewriter, walk away with it and fail to return it, there would be arrests. But there have been none in this case! Why? Some say the box was "kidnapped", yet no one has apparently made much effort to find it, and the "kidnappers", if such they are, are abroad on Clanton's streets daily. Some say it was stolen, yet stealing is a crime under all law from the Ten Commandments on down to the present day, and the thief is subject to arrest. Then why no arrests in this case? There is something rotten, and from all indications it is much closer than Denmark.

Could it be possible that there WAS rotten work in that ballot box? Can it be that some of these ballots can be traced back to their "fixers" if charges are pressed and the whole affair and the contents of the box aired in the courts? Could it be that there is evidence in the box which might send some of the high and mighty ward bosses down for a prolonged visit with Frank Boswell in his public hotel at Kilby? I am making no charges—just wondering and pondering, like everybody else.

We all know Dr. Johnson, Dr. Gowan, Tom Burdette, and John Thompson. Dr. Johnson has been a leader in the community and the Democratic party in Chilton County ever since I could remember, and enough apparently is thought of his integrity, for he is now a member of the state Democratic organization. Dr. Gowan is a prominent Democrat, and generally regarded as one of the first citizens of Clanton and Chilton County. Tom Burdette is considered one of Clanton's best business men, a Democrat from Georgia, where they breed that political belief into the bone, and is generally regarded as a square-shooter and one of our best and most honest and upright citizens. John Thompson has had a few tiffs within the last year or two with some of the local political-minded, yet is considered honest and upright, nevertheless. The same can be said of the two principals in the run-off primary, Mr. Hardy and Mr. McKee.

Yet the four first named men, with others, saw fit to "kidnap" that box. There must have been a reason. They say they did it because the box was crooked, with no implication as to just which candidate was favored by the crooked work. So far as they have intimated, they didn't particularly care who the crookedness favored — their intent was to remove the crooked work. I believe I know all of them well enough to know they wouldn't put themselves on the spot for nothing. They aver they KNOW it was crooked, and have invited arrest, going so far as to offer reward for anyone who would swear out a warrant for them, so that the missing box might in some way be opened in the courts and its contents become public, as they attempted to prove their charges and clear themselves.

Alabama is a civilized state, with civilized people, laws, etc., which go to do away with the law of "the survival of the stronger". Then why not invoke these guarantees to society that this "law of the strong" is a thing of the past? Why not take some steps to prove that "it can't happen here"? It will be no trouble to find either or all of the "guilty" men; it will be no hard matter to charge them with "tampering with a ballot box"—against the law in this state; it will be no hard matter to force these men to prove their contention that the box was crooked, and justify their action, if they can. And, right here, by parenthesis, may I offer an observation that, if the box WAS crooked, it had no place in the election, and should have been removed? I believe I will be joined by every fair-minded citizen in the county — Democrat or Republican — in the last statement.

And, allow me to add, if the box was crooked and they knew it was crooked, and took their step in the interest of a clean election, they have proved themselves — not scoundrels, but protectors of the sanctity of the ballot; not theives, but men with grace and grit enough to face a bad situation and say: "It shall not be done"; pioneers in Chilton County in every sense the term can imply — pioneers for clean government as surely as Daniel Boone was a pioneer to open up the unbroken wilderness.

It is said these men have broken the law. If they have, then they should be arrested. If they cannot prove, by the box, itself, that their contention of unfairness and crookedness is true, then they should be punished. BUT, if they CAN prove that box was what they charge it is, then they should be heralded as heroes in the fight for good and clean government, and the perpetrators of whatever crookedness might be proved should be made to suffer for their misdeeds, if such persons can be determined.

These five men say openly that the reason they have not been arrested is because the powers that be in the state and county KNOW that the box was crooked, packed with enough damning evidence to shock the modesty and sense of justice of every self-respecting citizen in Chilton County and Alabama, and that the finger of suspicion would point to high places.

A grand jury investigation has been ordered. If these men's contentions are wrong, and the box was on the up-and-up, somebody knows it, and can place the proper evidence before that grand jury. But that body can find out nothing unless such evidence is presented to it by those "in the know" of the whole affair.

Why not call the hand of those who removed the box. If there was nothing out of order, nothing wrong with the box, why not make them prove their words — or eat them — and suffer for their act of June 14. If their charges are false, if there is no damaging evidence that might come to light by an exposure of the contents of that box, then the proper evidence will likely be introduced, and they will be arrested. On the other hand, if their charges are allowed to go unanswered, if nothing is done about the matter, in the face of the contention that they have broken the law in removal of the box, then there is but one conclusion that anyone can draw — those charges must be true, and those who might be incriminated by what the contents of the box might show are guilty. What else can anyone believe. It's a dirty piece of linen for anybody to try to clean up, and we sympathize with the officials who must cope with it.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Montgomery, Ala., June 25. — One hundred and 11 pellagra deaths occured in the State of Alabama during the first four months of the present year, of which none occurred in Chilton County, according to provisional figures propared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health.

The Pellagra death total for the period from January to April, inclusive, this year was 40 per cent greater than that of only 79 for the same period last year. The total of 311 pellagra deaths for the whole of 1937 was the highest reached in this State since 1933, when 368 pellagra deaths were reported.

Pellagra is described by health officials as a diet-deficiency disease, due to a lack of proper food elements in the diet.

We have been requested to announce that Rev. McMinn will preach at this place the first Saturday night and Sunday in July. We urge all members of our church and Sunday school and all interested in our church and its growth to attend Sunday school and preaching. — Daisy Martin.

OAK GROVE — BEAT 16

The church at Oak Grove has set the date for beginning its revival as July 10. An evangelist from Maine will be in charge.

On the following Sunday homecoming day will be observed, with dinner. Come, with a well filled basket, prepared to spend the day. We are expecting a large crowd, and especially all our members. We expect two preachers to be with us from Birmingham, as well as others. Come; we need your cooperation in this meeting. Jesse Mitchell, church clerk. 6-30-2t

Auburn, May 16. — One of the most outstanding programs from the recreational and educational standpoint ever held is being worked out for hundreds of Alabama farmers and farm women who will gather at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 1 to 6, for the 1938 Farmers and Homemakers Week, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

As part of the educational and recreational program, Director Davis says that state and national agricultural leaders will be present to address the farm people. Community singing, so popular in the past, will be continued this year, as will the sections or classes in livestock, landscaping, poultry, forestry, and other phases of agriculture in which the farm people are interested.

The latest facts on farming and homemaking gathered through experiments of the Alabama Experiment Station will be given the farm men and women, the director states. In addition, tours will be conducted so that the group may see what is being done to improve Alabama crops and farm practices.

All persons attendiny Farmers and Homemakers Week will be housed in cottages of the state camp on the campus at Auburn. Assemblies for speakers and singing will be in the assem-

Lesson for July 3

A CHOICE OF LOYALTIES

LESSON TEXT—Joshua 1:2-6; 24:14-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord. Joshua 24:15.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Choosing Sides.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Loyal Leader.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Choice of Loyalties.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Man's Highest Allegiance.

"Lives of great men all remind us," according to the poet, that we too may make our lives sublime, and thus leave our footprints in the shifting sands of time. The study of biography is interesting, instructive, and often challenging. When we enter the field of Bible biography we bring into consideration an additional and fundamental factor, namely, the power and grace of God working in and through a surrendered life. All strength of character and ability is a gift of God, but its glory is largely veiled and its usefulness definitely limited, if not actually perverted, because there is no recognition of the foundation of true greatness, which is faith in and loyalty to God.

During the next three months we are to share in the study of the life stories of great men and women which will not only stimulate ambitions, but which also reveal what God can do through those who are ready to follow Him.

Moses, God's great leader for Israel, having brought them out of the land of bondage and through the terrible wilderness, is about to leave them. God's workman is about to die, but His work is to go on. God is not taken by surprise.

I. A Prepared Man Takes Command (1:3-6).

"Moses is dead; now therefore arise." Life is like that. "The king is dead; long live the king," is the cry of those who live under monarchies, as one ruler dies and his successor takes over the throne. Until that day when there shall be "time no longer," men must put away their sorrow and go on. Three words characterize the commission.

1. Promise (vv. 2-4). God gave the land to Israel. Every place that Joshua planted his foot upon was to be his possession, even as God has promised Moses. A river lay between; there were walled and armed cities to be taken; there were even giants in the land, but God promised it to Joshua; and he took it by faith.

God has given us many promises, too. If we are fearful, poverty-stricken, powerless Christians, it is because we do not believe God.

2. Power (v. 5). No man is able to stand against God's servant who is doing God's will, in God's way, in God's time. It was true of Joshua; it is true today. Men set up their opposition to God's plan and program with the assumed belief that because they have position, power, or money, they can readily crush the poor little band of Christian workers. Russia tried it. They even "abolished" God. But religion thrives in Russia, secretly perhaps, but none the less sincerely and successfully.

3. Courage (v. 6). To serve God means to be assured of His help. Faith lays hold of that fact and the whole man becomes courageous.

II. An Experienced Man Gives Counsel (24:14-21).

More than two decades have passed since the appointment of Joshua to lead Israel. God has fulfilled every promise. Israel is in the Promised Land. Before the aged leader dies he calls the leaders of his people together to urge them to continue in the way of faith and loyalty to God. This he does by:

1. Example (v. 15). "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." No man can honestly and effectively call others to devotion to the Lord unless he sets them an example.

2. Instruction (vv. 16-19). Remembering God's dealings with them, the people declare their determination to serve the Lord. They spoke rather glibly. Joshua instructs them. God is not interested in lip service. He does not need them so much as they need Him. He does not look upon their confession of Him, if they continue to live in sin.

3. Warning (v. 20). God will visit His judgment on His people if they forsake Him and turn away—such is Joshua's warning. We who look back to the history of Israel know that they did forsake Him, and that the judgment of God is still upon them. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" (Gal. 6:7) is God's warning through Paul to the Christian.

Be a Torch-Bearer

The poorest can be God's torch-bearer as well as the richest. The little candle may do more good in the world than the flaming beacon.

Giving Up Faults

Most people do not mind their faults being spread out before them. But they become impatient if called upon to give them up.—Goethe.

CEDAR GROVE

Rev. J. W. Enfinger filled his regular appointment here Sunday and Sunday night. His appointment for next month has been changed to the fifth Sunday. We invite all who wil to attend.

Our Sunday school and Christian Endeavor is growing stronger each Sunday. Our Christian Endeavor program next Sunday evening will be in the form of a radio broadcast.

There was singing here in the afternoon Sunday. The people of the community are planning a singing school to be taught by Mr. A. O. Boswell. If you are interested, please get in touch with either of the following: J. D. Price, Cleve Thomas, Green Melton, or Mrs. Dewey Collins.

No Repeal To Liquor Harvest

You may repeal the prohibition law, but you cannot repeal the liquor problem. You cannot repeal the broken - hearttd wives that liquor causes, you cannot repeal the pinched-face and faded widows it creates, you connot repeal the orphan boys and girls it makes, you cannot repeal the crime it fosters, you cannot repeal the law violations it broods, you cannot repeal the murders it manufactures, you cannot repeal the hate it generates, you cannot repeal the vice it incubates, you cannot repeal the stealing it hatches, you cannot repeal the gambling that it mothers, you cannot repeal the disgrace that it blights an individual, a family, a community, a State, or a nation with.

What are you going to do about it? Just sit and say nothing? Will you not write a letter, lift a hand, to keep your friends and neighbors from partaking of this poison potb I don't know about you, but I am going to do my best to take the place of old Elisha. He set about to correct that evil. He didn't sit down and sigh about the depression and the poison in the pot. He took some meal and corrected that poison. If those of America who are called to walk in His steps will be as vigilant and anxious about their subjects as Elisha, we can put the Meal of Truth in this poison pot and save the day.

It was up to old Elisha, and he didn't fail or quail from his responsibility. We need all over this land a bunch of Elishas that won't sit and bewail the poison and wait to see which is the popular side and where their bread buttered, but who will speak up and get busy taking poison out of the pot.

I want to say the fight is on. I serve notice on the liquor gang at home and abroad that we will stand, and having done all we will continue to stand—I will not compromise. I will not retreat a single inch. We will stand for the purity of our pleasures. We will stand for the purity of our homes. We will stand for the mothers against the saloons. We will stand for the girls against the breweries. We will stand for the boys against the whiskey. We will stand for the soul against their poison profits.—M. Lockhart, Clanton, R 5.

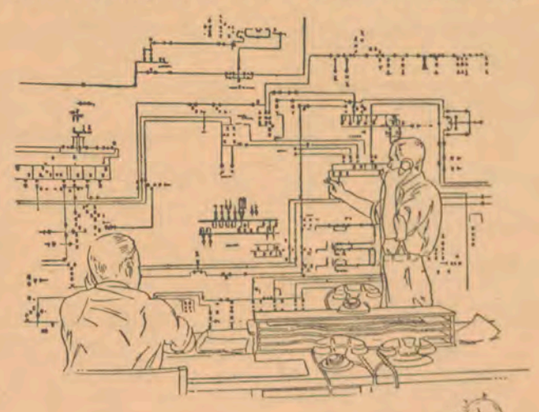
CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Last Sunday the attendance in the Adult Department of our Sunday school was fine. Mr. Waites as president of the Men's Bible Class and Mr. Elmore as teacher during the absence of Mr. W. A. Reynolds are doing mighty good work in that class. We congratulate the Adult Department in general and the Men's Bible Class with the aforementioned officers in particular on last Sunday's attendance and its teacher's message. We look forward to the same and even better record from this day forward. Our hope is that all classes and departments can and will follow the example set by that department and make our work and attendance record-breakers. Each department is really working to go forward and we are hoping for such success in each.

Our pastor's sermons at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., are always well worth the hearing. They are appealing to the forward and inspiring to the Christian. Let's give him good audiences and choirs at both preaching services next Sunday after having attended Sunday school at 9:45. Come yourself and invite the visitors and the town's newcomers.

Farmers in erosion-control demonstration areas in Alabama who at first considered strip cropping an awkward method of farming are finding in practice that it similifies many of their farming problems, according to O. C. Medlock, state coordinator of the Soil Conservation Service.

According to figures recently released by an automobile insurance company there were 40,300 people killed in the United States in automobile accidents during the year 1937. The largest number were pedestrians who were struck by automobiles, the number being 17,410.



There are almost ten times as many motor vehicles in operation as there were 20 years ago.

Burglary at night is a capital offense in Alabama, and the culprit may be sentenced to the electric chair.

(But Simple If You Understand It)

"THERE are a number of similar maps in the numerous Alabama Power Company substations. They represent the wireways over which I must travel to reach your home so I may furnish you with cheap, dependable electric service. They are watched by a dispatcher who immediately learns, either through automatic signals or telephone calls, when one of these electrical wireways becomes blocked, or goes out because of a storm or other trouble. When that happens, he immediately detours me around the scene of trouble. Sometimes I have to travel over half the State to reach you, but that does not bother me much because I travel at the rate of 186,000 miles a second!

"Of course, this map and the dispatcher's job look complicated to you, but to him both are as simple as 'a-b-c.'

"But that doesn't mean that he doesn't take his job seriously. He does, and is as dependable as the fine, cheap electric service you get."

Singing At Cooper Sunday, July 24th

There will be an all day singing at Chestnut Creek church, Coopers, the fourth Sunday in July, the 24th. All are invited to come, bring dinner and song books—new ones of all kinds. The Scuthernaires will be there.

TRUCK ENDS 50,000-MILE RUN

Detroit, June 25. — Chevrolet's long distance safety and dependability truck run, which passed the 50,000-mile mrak at Spokane, Wash., June 14, five months and three days after its start, is still chalking up a remarkable record of performance, durability, nad economy, figures received today from the Contest Board of the AAA in Washington indicate.

The run, conducted by Harry Hartz, well known former race driver, carries Stanley Reed of the AAA as official observer. The truck, a stock 1½-ton model, selected from the assembly line at Flint by E. von Hambach, AAA Contest Board steward, carries a 4,590-pound load of steel. The gross weight of the vehicle, with driver and observer, is 9,260 pounds. In spite of this load, and the difficulties imposed by widely varying climatic, highway, and topographical conditions, the truck has maintained an average road speed of 32.37 miles an hour, and averaged 15.36 miles per gallon of gas, official figures show.

NOTICE TO SCOTT FAMILY

There will be a truck arranged for carrying all the Scotts and connections and friends to the homecoming at old Sulphur Springs next Sunday. If you have no way, but can get to Jemison by 8:30, and want to go, let me know and I will arrange for a truck; it will not cost you much to go and come. Yours for a great day, —J. N. SCOTT.

CEMETERY CLEANING AT BETHSALEM JULY 9th

We will have a cemetery cleaning at Bethsalem Saturday, July 9. Everyone interested is asked to come and bring tools to work with. — E. A. Gray.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY SUPPER GIVEN MRS. CORA ROBINSON

A surprise birthday supper was given Mrs. Cora Robinson, wife of Rev. W. W. Robinson, of Providence, Beat 16, last Wednesday evening, June 22. Some twenty or twenty-five neighbors and relatives gathered at the home about supper and brought in a feast of good things to eat. When the hosts kindly got balanced after the surprise, all enjoyed the good eats and an hour of friendly, congenial conversation.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means to show our appreciation for the many kind deeds and words of sympathy spoken during the death of our beloved brother, Mr. Paul Simmons. Especially do we thank Mr. Mell Martin, the pallbearers, Bro. Davis and Bro. Lockhart for their kind and sympathetic words. May God's richest blessings be on you all, is our prayer. — Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Driver.

HOMECOMING AT MACEDONIA

We will meet at Macedonia—Beat 11, the second Sunday in July. We will meet at 10 o'clock, and sing a few songs and then have preaching by Rev. W. W. Robinson. The pastor will give the welcome address.

The afternoon will be spent in singing. We have the promise of some real good singers, such as the Mt. Zion church of Montgomery. So everybody come bring your new books and a well filled basket.

We are going to begin our revival on next Sunday, and we invite all to come and be with us. Rev. J. P. Littleton will assist the pastor with the preaching.

ABSENTEE BALLOTS FACE REPEAL FIGHT

Choctaw Senator To Lead Attack On Law In Legislature

Mobile, Ala., June 22.—A bill seeking repeal of the Alabama absentee ballot lew will be introduced when the State Legislature convenes in January, P. E. Devane, senator-designate of the 19th Distrct, announced today in a letter from his home in Silas.

Devane, who is at present representative in the House from Choctaw County, declared "repeal of this law will doubtless work a hardship on a very few, but to continue it in the face of what is happening in Alabama certainly will not further the cause of clean elections.

"Probate judges and their favored candidates under this much abused law have a big advantage, particularly where a candidate does not reside in a county seat."

WELL KNOWN RESIDENT OF THORSBY DIED LAST FRIDAY

Mrs. Anna Sundberg succumbed at 10 a.m., Friday, June 24, following an extended illness. Funeral services were held at Salem church at 10 a.m., Monday, June 27, with the Rev. Will Cox officiating; Spigener directed.

Mrs. Sundberg was born 68 years ago in Elsby, Sweden, and she and her husband came to America about 30 years ago.

Surviving are: her husband of 50 years, C. L. Sundberg; five sons — Arthur, E. L., J. R., K. E., and H. Sundberg; three daughters — Mrs. Hallie Price, Mrs. Elvira Davis, Mrs. Syrena Jones, all of Thorsby.

Mrs. Sundberg was an outstanding woman in her community, and, besides her bereaved family, leaves many who will miss her deeply. She was ill for several years, and her family wish to thank all their friends for their many kindnesses during her long illness. They especially thank her physician, Dr. H. K. Franklin, for his unstinted care and consideration, and also the Rev. Will Cox, who sang and prayed at her bedside.

Pallbearers were Tom Collins, Lloyd Bean, Houston Lowery, Frank Collins, Harold Price, and G. R. Ray.

HEALTH DEPT. ANNOUNCES JULY TYPHOID CLINICS

The schedule of clinics for the month to be held by the local health department for the purpose of giving typhoid injections and diphtheria inoculations at appointed localities in the county was released early this week in a departmental bulletin issued by the health office. The failure of many persons needing protection to attend the June clinics was pointed out by the local health officer, who strongly urged that all persons who have not been protected against typhoid fever since 1935 be sure to repeat the injections this summer.

In commenting on the health program, Dr. S. D. Sturkie stated, "During the month of June a total of 1,143 persons received a complete series of typhoid injections. This represents a considerable decline in the number of persons protected against typhoid as compared with 1935. Already four cases of typhoid have been reported in Chilton County during 1938, two having occurred during the last two weeks. One of these affecting a white woman near Stanton resulted in death. It is unfortunate that the average community prefers to wait until typhoid appears in its midst before acquiring any protection".

The clinic schedule is as follows:

July 5

Mt. Pleasant school, 8:30 to 9:30
Baker school, 10 to 11.
Enterprise school, 1 to 2:15.
Jackson Chapel school, 8:30 to 9:30.
Mineral Springs school, 10 to 11.
Lay Dam school, 11:30 to 1:30.

July 7

Cooper school, 8:45 to 9:45.
Floyd church, 10:15 to 11:15.
Mt. Creek church, 11:45 to 1:45.

July 8

Union Grove school, 9 to 10.
Oak Grove school, 10:30 to 11:30.
Freeman school, 12 to 1:30.
Mitchell Dam school, 3 to 4:30.

Four visits at weekly intervals will be made to each locality named.

One case of poliomyeletis (infantile paralysis) occurring in the City of Clanton was reported to the health department last week.

Lighting may strike the man who runs for a tree in a storm, but at least he won't get drenched if he can reach the sheltering umbrella of the tree's leaves.

That is one reason why well managed woodland, even when located on very steep slopes, check run-off and prevent soil erosion, Mr. James H. Wood of the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, Ala., points out.

When the rain finally does reach the forest floor, a litter of leaves, twigs and other decaying vegetation will be there to hold it—if uncontrolled grazing and burning have not been permitted. In addition, the soil is spongy and porous, lying in wait to receive the water.

It is because trees protect steep and severely eroded land and at the same time produce a profitable crop, that the Soil Conservation Service is recommending reforestation of such areas and is demonstrating proper woodland management practices for existing woodland on the farm. Farmers in the area have retired 641 acres of their worst land to trees.

In this way, parts of the farm which would not pay if left in crops or pasture can be made productive. Well manager woodland offers a crop of wood preducts which can be used on the farm or sold. What is more important, trees on steep slopes not only prevent erosion on the land where they stand, but lessen the volume of water which can pout down on and erode cultivated land below.

JOHNSON-JAMES

Mr. and Mrs. N. Johnson, of Thorsby, announce the marriage of their daughter, Julia Pratt, to Norman Eugene James, of Birmingham, on Sunday, June 5, 1938.

CLAMPS EDGED OUT HOMEWOOD LAST SUNDAY, 2 TO 1

One Of Best Games Of The Season; Teague Allowed Three Hits

The Clamps won their third in a row last Sunday, in one of the best, if not hte best, of games seen here this season, easing out over the crack Homewood team, 2 to 1.

It was a nip and tuck affair all the way, and it was anybody's ball game rght up to the finish.

The Clamps scored first, without anything resembling a hit. In the first inning Jones walked, went to second on a sacrifice by Clements, took third when Littlejohn grounded out to first base, and scored when "Nigger" Head took Baker's grounder and tossed wild to first.

The visitors evened the count in the fourth with the only earned run of the game. Dunlap tripled over the dump in left field; he couldn't score as Lawless grounded out, short to first, but Head laid down a neat bunt, and Dunlap scored.

From there on it was a scoreless scrap, although both clubs got into scoring position numbers of times. In the last half of the ninth, Golson, who had replaced Sims, opened with a nice single. Tatum rolled a bunt down the first base line, and as the catcher threw to first, hit Tatum, the ball rolling into right field, Tatum taking second and Golson third. Teague hit to short and Golson tried for the plate but was out, Tatum watching the play and forgetting to take third. Jones then whipped a single to ribht and Tatum scampered in to win the game.

Tatum allowed only three hits, one in the third, one in the fourth, and one in the seventh. He walked three and hit two batters.

The Clamps hammered Rogers for eight hits, Jones being the only man to get more than one them. Teague struck out five, Rogers four.

The visitors made five errors, the Clamps one.

DATES SET FOR DOG VACCINATIONS

July 7 — Fleetwood Rasberry's store, 8:30 to 10:30; Maplesville, 12 to 3:30.

July 8 — Lay Dam (at cow barn), 8:30 to 9:30; Leonard Gentry's store, 10 to 11:30.

July 11 — Cooper, 8:30 to 11; Verbena, 12 to 2:30; Mt. Creek, 3 to 4:30.

July 12 — Isabella, 8 to 10; Stanton, 10:30 to 1; Riderville, 2 to 4.

July 13 — New Cedron, 8 to 10; Wilins' Store, 10:30 to 12:30; Floyd church, 1:30 to 3:30.

July 14 — Pletcher, 8:30 to 11; Shoultsp, 12:30 to 2:30.

July 15 — Union Grove, 8:30 to 11:30; Smith school, 12:30 to 2.

SINGING AT CORINTH

There will be an all day singing at Corinth church the first Sunday in July, the 3rd. All are invited to come, bring dinner and new books. We invite all quartets to come and be with us. Don't forget the date — the first Sunday in July.

MILDRED'S BEAUTY SHOP OPENS FRIDAY, JULY 1

A brand new beauty shop will open here tomorrow, Friday, July 1st, the same being known as Mildred's Beauty Shop. The location is next door to Murray-Bell Hardware Company; it will be owned and operated by Mrs. Mildred Hawton, assisted by Miss Agnes Boswell.

Mrs. Hawton, daughter of Mr. T. J. Posey, formerly worked at beauty shops in Birmingham; Miss Boswell has worked at the profession for some time in Selma.

Special inducements are offered for opening day, and Mrs. Hawton asks the ladies of this section to watch for her formal opening at some early date.

REFUGE

Our Sunday school was well attended Sunday, but there are still some who are not coming. Everyone who has his name on roll please be present next Sunday and lets start the new quarter off right. We would like to have lots of new members, too.

Our singing school started off fine Monday, with over 40 upils enrolled and many more expected to enroll in the next few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Easterling are the proud parents of a fine baby girl. Both mother and baby are doing well.

Don't forget, our meeting begins on Wednesday night following the second Sunday in July. Rev. M. B. Garrett of Tarrant City will do the preaching. Everybody come. — Mrs. J. R. Connell.

BAPTIST INSTITUTE HERE JULY 5 TO 7

The W. M. U. Institute of the Unity and Chilton County Associations will be held at Clanton Baptist church on July 5, 6 and 7. Everyone interested is urged to take note of the dates and be prepared to attend.

LEON FOSHEE DIED

Leon Foshee, sometimes known as Tom Foshee, age 27, died Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, at his home 1½ miles east of old Childress cemetery. Burial was at Childress cemetery Wednesday, Martin in charge. Funeral services were conducted at Mt. Carmel church. Surviving is the wife and two small children.

ENTERPRISE SINGING POSTPONED

The singing at Enterprise is called off next Sunday on account of an all-day singing near by. Watch the papers for further announcement of our singings. You are cordially invited to come and help us out.—I. D. Hrett.

National Chairman Accorded Warm Welcome By Birmingham Citizens

ed it away from its ancient and traditional moorings — castigate Southerners as 'feudalists'. We see a war of extermination waged against several of the Southern members of that party in Congress, solely because they have been true to the faith and have dared vote their convictions.

"For that a group of reckless, left-wing experimenters propose to 'purge' those men from the party of their fathers, the party which they have loved and served so well so many years.

"We saw in the last Congress Southern Democrats of noble lineage fighting shoulder to shoulder with Republicans in a successful effort to preserve the traditional form of the American government against the encroaching hand of those who would Russianize and Hitlerize our country".

Hamilton's convention speech followed an address at a banquet attended by approximately 500 Republican leaders in Birmingham in which he invited Southern Democrats to "join us in the fight for democracy".

"If free enterprise, for which the South always has fought, is to be re-established", said Hamilton, "then principles must triumph over our emotions and our prejudices".

"The Republican party bears the name of the party founded more than a century ago by the great Thomas Jefferson. . . . It was on principles laid down by Jefferson that our party was founded. . . . Whenever the party has departed from Jeffersonian principles it has not been true to iself. . . . Today it stands as the only organized champion of the Jeffersonian philosophy".

Hamilton attacked the New Deal as dedicated "to an alien philosophy of regimenting the economic and social life of this country and breaking down the American system of government."

He went into a lengthy exposition of cotton prices during the 1920's, during the 1929-1932 period, and since 1933.

"In 1932, as the worldwide depression touched bottom, cotton prices fell to a low of 5.72 cents in the New York market", he said. "Those were disastrous prices for cotton, but the South and cotton had experienced depressions before.

"Yet through the play of economic forces and private enterprise cotton in the past always has come back. Has it come back after the 1929-1932 world depression? It has not.

"In no year since the New Deal was inaugurated has the price of cotton averaged above 13 cents. Most of the time it has been less than 12 cents, and now it has fallen to around 8½ cents. And this has happened . . . after the gold dollar has been cut to 59 per cent of its former value — and certainly since cotton is, or was, principally an export crop, this action should primarily have affected cotton prices.

"Yet during the first week of this month cotton sold in New York at 7.71 cents, a price if translated into terms of the old gold dollar is equivalent to 4½ cents — the lowest price in recorded history.

"Let him who said at Charleston, S. C., 'we planned it that way', explain this New Deal failure".

Hamilton quoted figures on foreign production of cotton, showing the upward trend after "New Deal experiments encouraged production in other countries".

"The future welfare of the South, as well as the entire country, depends on getting rid of the New Deal and its spoilsmen as fast as we can", he said. "It depends on restoration of free enterprise to this country.

"Only in that way can the national income and wealth be increased. Only in that way can the demand for cotton and cotton goods be raised to a point where the cotton planter can get a fair price for a full crop.

"What is good for the South cannot be bad for the nation. I say to you gravely and without partisan feeling that unless an end is put to New Deal policies, the economic and social problems of the South will become so aggravated as almost to defy a satisfactory solution."

Following up his assertion earlier in the day that President Roosevelt will be a candidate for a third term, and that he would be "easy" to beat "because his program can't work out", Hamilton voiced a plea for "non-partisan" action against the New Deal.

"This is a fight to save the United States of America", declared Hamilton, in deploring the administration's huge spending program. "It has gotten beyond the realm of partisan politics.

"The only way left for voters to express their disapproval of things that are going on in the White House is to support the Republican party. There are no geographical lines in this fight. If you want to live as an American, you must vote Republican."

The chairman deplored "pump priming" and efforts to "lift this country out of economic despondency by its boot straps", in his plea for Southern support. He referred to forecasts made by him during the 1936 presidential campaign, which, he asserted, had been fulfilled by White House actions.

As to business, which Hamilton had discussed earlier, he reiterated that if any business improvement came it would be "in spite of Mr. Roosevelt".

"This country could be turned upside down economically in 24 hours by one expression of friendliness to business and industry from the occupant of the White House", Hamilton added.

Hamilton earlier had refused to say what man he thought would be the Republican standard bearer in 1940, explaining it was his job as chairman to set up an organization to elect the nominee and not attempt to make any nomination himself.

As to whether he thought the Republicans would center their attack on the Democratic party or the New Deal, the chairman laughingly termed them one and the same. He said the Democratic party in virtually every section of the nation was 70 to 80 per cent New Deal, citing recent primary results to prove his contention.

In emphasizing the "failure" of President Roosevelt's recovery program, he asserted that the huge Democratic spending program had resulted in only short-lived economic recovery.

"We're $20,000,000,000 worse off under the New Deal", declared Hamilton, "and so far as prosperity is concerned, we're right back where we started".

Hamilton was introduced at the banquet Tuesday night by Mrs. Roy Wates, who pointed out his record as an organized and accomplishments as national chairman. Judge J. O. Middleton, Montgomery and Clanton attorney, was toastmaster, and introduced the various Republican leaders at the speaker's table.

DR. EZELL IN REVIVAL AT GADSDEN THIS WEEK

Dr. S. J. Ezell, former pastor of Clanton Baptist church, is in Gadsden this week, conducting a revival at 12th Street Baptist Church. Services began there last Sunday and will run through July 10; Dr. Ezell will preach three times a day—at 7:30 over the radio, and 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. at the church.

PISTOL BATTLE ON STREET SATURDAY

Convict In Attack Case Is One Of Men Wounded; Fight Scatters Shoppers

Saturday shoppers were thrown into turmoil in Clanton Saturday afternoon by a running gun battle involving three men, one of whom was seriously hurt. The latter was Lorenzo Smith, cotton mill worker, who was shot twice in the back. Hilton Prickett was shot in the heel. Owen Williams and Prickett were arrested.

Smith, taken to the Central Alabama Hospital, is reported improvng satisfactorily.

Smith was sentenced to life in prison several years ago for an attack on a 12-year-old girl, the sheriff said, and was paroled after serving about five years. Smith's parole from the life sentence had been revoked about one year ago, when he had been charged with committing a similar crime. He was out on bond under the last charge.

Sheriff Hardy said Smith and Williams were seated in a parked automobile when Prickett fired two shots which struck Smith in the back. Some say the bullet that pierced Prickett's heel was the first one fired.

As Prickett fled, according to the sheriff, Williams drew a gun and began firing at him. Prickett returned the fire, the sheriff said, but Williams was not hit.

Scores of shoopers on the downtown streets scurried for cover as bullets whizzed by.

"It's a wonder some innocent party was not killed", Sheriff Hardy said.

SIX UP BEFORE MAYOR JONES

The first of this week six men came before Mayor C. Fenn Jones charged with various offenses. One white man charged with driving while intoxicated was continued to July 11th. Two white men charged with public drunkenness will be tried on July 11th; one white man under the same charge paid his fine of $8.25, and one negro and one white man are working out their $8.25 fines on the streets for public drunkenness.

FUNERALS BY SPIGENER

Mr. Raymond Underwood, of Spigener Funeral Home, reports two funerals during the past few days, the particulars of which could not be obtained. Mrs. Moriah Chasteen Henley, age 73, was buried at Pleasant Grove Tuesday morning. She was the wid- of Jeffie Henley. Surviving are four sons — Evans, Julius, Edgar, and Reuby Chasteen.

Mr. Richard Wood, 66, died at his home near Reynolds old swmming pool last Saturday night, and was buried Monday at Swamp Creek, in Coosa County.

CLANTON METHODIST CHORCH

The writer of this column wishes to say just one thing this week. He wishes to issue a challenge to every member of our church and to each person interested in our church. The challenge is this: I dare you to kneel for at least a moment three times a day and pray earnestly for the welfare of our church. There are surely as many as three times a day when you are alone and when you can do this. I don't believe you can do that and not watch our church grow. It's a dare.

UNION SPEAKING

There will be a Union speaking at Pleasant Hill next Saturday night, July 9th. The State president, Mr. Vester Burkett, will be with us, and several other prominent speakers are expected to be there. Everybody is cordially invited to attend this meeting.—P. M. Cleckler.

Rev. Ethan A. Norris Died Saturday P. M.

Rev. Ethan A. Norris, age 65, died at his home in Corinth community last Saturday afternoon, July 2nd, at 5:15 o'clock, following an illness of several weeks. Burial was at Corinth Monday morning at 10 o'clock, services conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery, assisted by Revs. J. D. Hughes and W. S. Cox. Martin directed.

Other preachers present at the funeral were: Revs. W. W. Robinson, H. D. Durbin, G. G. Williams, T. W. Billingsley, E. L. Manning and Maurice Hodgens.

Surviving is the wife; four sons — D. C. Norris of Chattanooga, C. L. of Guntersville, W. A. of Lanett, and P. C. of Verbena; two daughters — Mrs. A. J. Howard of Verbena, and Miss Ethel of Corinth.

E. A. Norris was a Baptist minister, and preached at a number of churches all over Chilton County, as well as Elmore and Autauga. At the time of his death he was pastor of Providence and Cane Creek churches.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF BOY

B. T. U. MEETING

The Chilton Associational B. T. U. meeting will be held at Macedonia No. 1 Sunday afternoon, July 10th, beginning at 2 o'clock p.m. We urge that all churches in this association please arrange to have a large crowd represent your church. An interesting program has been planned and we hope that you will come out to hear it.

SINGING SCHOOL AT FRIENDSHIP

Prof. O. L. Devaughn is teaching a singing school at Friendship in the afternoons from 1 to 5, it having begun Tuesday afternoon. The school will continue for three weeks; the tuition is 50c per week, or 10c per day per pupil.

CLANTON MERCHANTS WILL SPONSOR TRADE DAYS AGAIN

The Union-Banner was informed by the retail merchants of Clanton that they will sponsor trade appreciation days again this year. Beginning Saturday, July 16, and continuing several weeks thereafter, they will give away cash prizes of $25.00 each week. Starting next Monday, shoppers may get trade tickets, so be sure to ask for them. They will be given with each 25c purchase. The full list of business houses of Clanton participating will be given out in next week's papers.

Squad Of Aviators Given Big Fish Fry

About twenty-five aviators, from Birmingham and other places over the state, were entertained at Mell Martin's camp on the river Wednesday evening with a fish fry. Quite a few people of Clanton joined with the flying fans of the city, headed by Dr. V. J. Gragg and assisted by Leo Thompson, Charles Wade, in entertaining the flying visitors. The aviators spent the night at the camps on the river.

Dr. Charles Moore is out of his office until July 16th, being out of the city taking special work. He hopes that his patrons will be governed accordingly.

CLAMPS TRIMMED TARRANT CITY 7-4

Williamson Won Game With Home Run With The Bases Full

The Clamps made the most of three errors and seven hits Sunday afternoon to win a good baseball game from the Tarrant City club at Lay Dam.

It was a pitchers battle until the home half of the third. Jones walked to start this frame; Clements flied out, but Tiffin was safe on his hot grounder to short; Baker walked; Jones came home on a catcher's error; Littlejohn took one on the arm to fill the bases; Williamson took one strike, then clouted a smoking fast ball far into the grass over the dump in left field for a home run, and the homelings were leading 5 to 0. They added two more in the 8th, when Williamson doubled, Hayes tripled, and Jones singled.

The visitors got a run in the fifth without a sign of a hit. A walk, a wild throw to first, and two infield outs accounted for it. Another came in the sixth on a single, an error and a long fly. The last two came in the eighth on a walk two singles, a stolen base, and an infield out.

Teague gave up five hits, all singles; He walked three and struck out four. The Clamps bobbled twice.

For the visitors, Ramey gave up 7 hits, including a home run, two triples and a double. He walked fivee and hit two batters, his mates booting three times behind him.

R. B. JOHNSON IN TENNIS MEET

Among the entrants in the annual tennis tournament inaugurated at the Florence State Teachers College by the Student Council is R. B. Johnson of Jemison.

Semi-finals will be completed July 9, finals a week later, according to Talton Thomas, of Birmingham, president of the Student Council, who states that fine tennis racquets will be presented to the winner and the runner-up by the Council.

SINGING SCHOOL AT CEDAR GROVE CHURCH

Prof. A. O. Boswell will begin a singing school at Cedar Grove church on Monday, July 11th, and continue for twenty days. The cooperation of the public for this school is invited. Prof. Boswell would like for as many patrons as possible to be there for the opening day.

MAYOR JONES EXPLAINS STREET PAVING

To Whom Concerned:

That agency of the government known as PWA, which officially died more than a year ago, has been revived by the congress and put in operation. The application we made through this agency to the government in 1935 for 45 per cent donation on the cost of paving our streets, has been finally approved and the money allotted to Clanton for street paving, amounting to $27,818.00.

Unfortunately for Clanton, on account of some debts created about 20 years ago, and unpaid today, Clanton is not prepared to carry the 55 per cent balance paving cost, which is your part of the cost, and at the present time, do the other improvements that are more essential now than is the paving of our streets.

We have application with the government for a greater water supply, for extending the sewer pipe to the new sections, for improvement of our present sewer system, for improvement to the water plant, for building a home at the plant for the operator of the plant so he will be close to the job both day and night, for a larger reservoir, for a much larger water tank, and for a sewage disposal plant, all of which is absolutely necessary to our health and progress. The government is willing to help those who are trying to help themselves, and we are planning to get every dollar the government is willing to donate to us. The Council and myself are fully agreed that the credit, or ability the city HAS LEFT to borrow money, should be used to improve our water and sewage system instead of putting it on the streets and continue to go without sufficient water. Everyone knows that our water and sewage system is the most important part of our business set-up, and should not and must not be neglected to carry on any other interest of the city.

No one is more anxious to pave our streets than myself, but knowing the absolute necessity of the above improvements, I must say to the property owners on the streets named in our application in 1935 to be paved, unless you are willing to, and do, pay cash for your portion of the cost, which is 55 per cent, it is my opinion your street will not be paved at this time.

Your officials would be glad to borrow the money to pave the streets and give you time in which to repay the city, but the fact is simply this: The city cannot, under the law, borrow sufficient money to pave the streets and do the much needed improvement to our water and sewer system. By paying cash, or getting the money yourself, to pave the streets, you do not only benefit yourself personally, but you make it possible for the city to continue getting donations from the government to make the improvements I have named above. Would you, if you were Mayor, neglect the water system to pave the streets, or would you protect the property of the people against loss by fire, and the health and progress of the city by taking proper care of our water system?

It is much cheaper for the property owner to borrow the money and pay cash for the paving than it is for the city to issue bonds to get the money. There is much expense in issuing bonds, and when the bonds are sold, the seller of the bonds gets a commission, and they may not bring par value. That is, if a $1,000 bond does not sell for but $800, we lose $200.

I cannot tell you at this time the cost of paving and drainage, and I will not know the exact cost until the contract is let, but in a few days I hope to be able to give you a close estimate of the total cost.

I wish all to understand that the streets listed to be paved in our application in 1935 was in accord with the wishes of the property owners on those streets, and the streets omitted were also the wish of the property owners. Since 1935, however, many of the property owners who objected then to the paving, want it now, and I shall try to get permission from the government to include those streets in the work soon to begin.

Santa Claus has come at last, and will pay 45 per cent of the cost. The government requires that this work get under way in a short time, so let us all work together for the benefit of Clanton. You are a part of Clanton and Clanton needs your help by paying cash for your portion of the cost. We cannot afford to lose this opportunity to get something given to us that will lift us out of the dust. I shall ask the people on each street to take care of their own problems, and I will give you more detail later.

The Council and myself cannot succeed without your assistance. Cooperate pleasantly with us and we will not knowingly lead you in the wrong way.

Respectfully,

C. FENN JONES, Mayor.

MILDRED TO HAVE FORMAL OPENING JULY 8

Mrs. Mildred Hawton, proprietor of Clanton's newest beauty shop, announces her formal opening for Friday, July 8th. For this opening Mrs. Hawton is offering a number of specials, chief among which is a free permanent to be given away late Friday afternoon. The ladies of this section are urged to ask Mrs. Hawton about this free permanent and other specials.

This new shop has brand new equipment throughout, and the place being new, everything is spic and span. You are invited to visit Milded's and get acquainted.

WELCH-FIQUETTE

Chick Fiquette and Mrs. Olive Welch were married at the home of Rev. Davis in Elmore County last Saturday afternoon, July 2nd. The following attended the wedding from Clanton: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fant and children, Mrs. W. J. Fiquette, mother of the groom, and his sister, Gertie Mae Fiquette. After the ceremony they left for a week in Florida.

The bride has been employed in the office of the county agent. The groom is a salesman for Taylor Wholesale Grocery Co.

ABSENTEE APPLICATIONS ARE BEING PUBLISHED

On an inside page of this week's Union-Banner will be found a complete list of names, by Beats, of the applications for absentee ballots in the Democratic run-off primary of June 14th. This is not a list of those who voted in that run-off, but a list of the applications, which is a public record in the Probate Judge's office. There are about 935 of these applications, and the number of ballots in the "kidnapped" box was 741.

Besides the 935 names published, there were said to be about one hundred applications on file with the Probate Judge which had not been posted and which could not be procured for publication.

SINGING SCHOOL AT MAPLE SPRINGS

Prof. Audie Brown will teach a singing school at Maple Springs church, beginning Monday, July 11th, and continuing for a term of three weeks. School will begin at 7 o'clock each morning and continue until 12 M. Besides harmony and theory of sacred music, lessons will be given in string instruments and primary lessons in piano.

Prof. Brown will be glad to get in touch with any who wish to attend this school or take lessons as above outlined.

Pitts Spoke To Crowd At Thorsby On July 4

The speaker for the Fourth of July celebration at Thorsby Monday was Hon. Percy M. Pitts, attorney of Clanton, who used as a topic "Our National Progress and Independence Day". Appearing on the program at 11 o'clock, Mr. Pitts spoke very interestingly for half an hour.

Percy M. Pitts, an ex-soldier in the World War, has served Chilton County twice in the state legislature, and is a nominee for that office again. His experiences as well as his ability as a speaker enabled him to handle his subject in a most effective manner at this Fourth of July gathering. Thorsby was honored and so was Mr. Pitts by his appearance on their Independence Day program.

PUBLIC DEBT AT ALL-TIME HIGH

Average For Past Year Placed At $285.70 For Each Man, Woman and Child

Washington, July 2. — The treasury reported Saturday that the public debt rose in the past year to an average of $285.70 for every man, woman and child in the nation. This was $4.07 more than the amount owed per person a year ago.

Final figures on the government's fiscal year, which ended Thursday night, showed the debt totaled $37,164,740,315.45. This was $740,126,583 more than the total a year ago. Interest payments on the obligation during the year required $926,280,713—nearly a seventh of all the government's expenses.

The treasury listed as the public tebt only its own direct obligations. In addition, it said the government had contingent liabilities of $4,925,000,000, or $182,000,000 more than a year ago. These liabilities, officials explained, were in the form of guarantees as to principal and interest on the outstanding obligations of the Reconstruction Corporation, the Home Owners Loan Corporation, and other federal corporations.

Deducting the "bookkeeping entries" for debt retirement from expenditures, to obtain what President Roosevelt calls a "layman's figure", the net deficit in the year just ended was $1,459,248,100, compared with $2,707,347,110 in the previous annum.

OLD FOLKS SERVICES AT COUNTY LINE 5TH SUNDAY

Surviving are the husband, E. D. Price; five sons and three daughters.

MAN RUNS AMUCK NIGHT OF FOURTH

Reedie Traywick of Highland Community Went On Wild Shooting Spree

Generally speaking, everything was mighty quiet and peaceable during the Fourth and the week end preceding. Sheriff Hardy and his deputies report that there was a noticeable absence of drunkenness around the various barbecues and other holiday attractions over the county.

One exception occurred, however, Monday night when the heat and probably excessive drinking got the upper hand of Reedie Traywick of Highland community, and he got a shotgun and went on a shooting rampage. Officers were called, and a search for him failed to reveal his whereabouts. Shortly thereafter, the officers were called back, and Traywick had discarded the shotgun and taken up a .22 rifle. The officers took him into custody without anyone getting shot, but several people of the community were said to have narrowly escaped getting shot.

A total of twenty-one arrests were made during the past week, including: Reckless driving, 3 white men; public drunkenness, 3 whites and 1 colored; assault and battery, 1 white and 1 colored; driving while intoxicated, 3 whites; violating prohibition law, 4 whites; rape, 1 white; burglary, 1 white; attempt to murder, 2 whites; burglary and grand larceny, 1 white.

Postmasters League To Meet In Montgomery

BAPTISTS HOLDING INSTITUTE AT FIRST CHURCH

According to arrangements that have been under way for several weeks, the Mission Institute of the Chilton and Unity Associations is being held at Clanton Baptist church this week. Large crowds are availing themselves of the fine lectures and lessons being taught by the outstanding lecturers and teachers procured for the work.

The three-day session comes to a close Thursday, when Miss Emma Leachman will lecture on "Foreigners in the South". Of course the regular classes will be held at the appointed hours during the day also.

People from all over the county and adjoining counties have enjoyed the fine lectures twice each day of the session. Those in charge proclaim it a most satisfactory success.

Alf Landon Speaks

"Quit Worrying About Government, and Get To Work", He Says

Willis, Kan., July 4. — Alf M. Landon came to this little town of 200 for an old fashioned Fourth of July celebration, and told some 1,500 farmers last night:

"Tough cookies built this state—not cake eaters. They had fire—fire in their bellies.

"The first job needed in this country is to put something in the bellies of our citizens—put some fire there. . . .

"The time has come to quit worrying about what the government is going to do for us or to us and the best job every one of us can do in our everyday work."

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

COTTON CLASSING FOR IMPROVEMENT GROUPS TO START THIS YEAR

Auburn, July 4. — Cotton classing for one-variety communities and other improvement groups is to be available for Alabama growers for this year's cotton crop, according to J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the State Extension Service.

The service will be available to the groups of producers organized to promote the improvement of cotton. It will not be available to individual farmers or to groups that do not qualify as cotton improvement organizations. The purpose of the service is to inform growers of the grade and staple length of their cotton and the extent to which their efforts are producing beneficial results.

From each bale of cotton of an improved variety ginned for a member of a qualified group, a 6-ounce sample of lint that is representative of both sides of the bale will be sent to the nearest classing office fo the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Each sample will be classed for grade and staple length and the grower notified of this classification.

"Organized groups", Mr. Lowery says, "must provide for the drawing and identification of the samples, and for shipping the samples to the classing office. Tags and containers will be supplied by the Bureau, and eranssportation charges will be paid by the government. There is no charge for the classing, but the samples classed become the property of the government".

During the rapid expansion of cotton improvement work in Alabama, farmers have been unable to obtain adequate classing services by which they might measure the quality of their improved cotton that is most in demand.

In summer, water should be available at all times for cows on pasture and it should be supplied from a stream or well rather than from a muddy pond.

FARM PEOPLE ARE URGED TO BECOME MATTRESS-CONSCIOUS

Auburn, July 4. — Nearly everyone realizes the importance of adequate and proper sleep, but few people ever stop to think that the third of their lives spent in bed determines largely how much they will get out of the other two-thirds.

With this idea in mind, Nell Pickens, home management specialist of the Alabama Extension Service, is starting a campaign to encourage "the younger generation" to desire the best bed possible.

"Your bed should be the most comfortable place on earth", says Miss Pickens, "and in order to make it so you must have good springs, a good mattress, comfortable pillows, and sleep-inviting pillow cases and sheets — all of which can be made at home with the exception of the springs".

To encourage farm people to become "mattress-conscious", a statewide mattress-making campaign will begin on August 1 and continue through the remainder of the year. In preparation for the campaign, training schools for home demonstration agents have been held throughout the state. More than 50 mattresses have been made at these schools. Home demonstration agents are now organizing their counties in an effort to push to completion a program which will bring the construction of 10,000 mattresses by January 1.

A comfortable mattress can be made of home grown cotton with a cash outlay of about $2.00, says Miss Pickens. Farm families, including 4-H boys and girls, should check on the condition of their beds, decide on the number of mattresses needed, and get in touch with their home demonstration agents for details concerning the County Mattress Campaign, advises Miss Pickens.

FARMERS ARE URGED TO ADOPT SOIL-BUILDING PRACTICES

Auburn, July 4. — P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service, last week called on Alabama farmers to take advantage of the opportunity offered them under the 1938 farm act to get pay for putting into effect sail-building practices on their farms.

Mr Davis has called on all county agents and agricullural learers to select practices needed in the counties and to show the farmers how to go about doing these things to earn some of the soil building practice funds which are available to Alabama farmers under the 1938 program.

"The soil building allowance for Alabama this year is estimated to be $4,182,000, or around $60,000 per county", stated Mr. Davis. "I was very much surprised to learn that in 1936 Alabama farmers were allotted $1,905,748 for soil building payments but earned only $1,694,667, a financial loss of $211,081. In addition, from all indications, they lost even more than that in 1937".

Mr. Davis said he wished to emphasize that farmers by adopting the improved practices, are improving the soil on the farm and getting paid for doing so. Among the practices for which payments are made, if put into effect before December 31, are establishing permanent pastures, seeding lespedeza, summer legumes, winter cover crops, strip cropping, planting trees, terracing, and reseeding pastures.

Farmers are advised by Mr. Davis to see their county agents for a list of things they can do to earn their share of the more than $4,000,000 and build up their soils at the same time.

FARMERS CAN OBTAIN FREE TESTS ON OATS

Auburn, July 4. — Alabama farmers having seed oats for sale are advised by W. H. Gregory, associate extension agronomist, to send about two pounds to L. N. Allen, seed analyst of the State Department of Agriculture at Montgomery, to get germination and purity tests run so that they will be in a position to tell prospective buyers the quality of their seed.

The State Department offers this service free of charge to all farmers of the state. The samples should consist of about two pounds of large seed and one pound of small seed, and should be as nearly representative of the entire lot as possible, says Mr. Gregory.

Generally money can be saved by buying seed oats and other small grain at this time rather than waiting until planting time. It is very advisable to buy only seed that have had this germination test, which should run 85 per cent or better.

Another advantage of buying seed oats now is that plenty of time is allowed to treat them for smut before planting time. The formaldehyde method costs very little and consists of spraying one pint of formaldehyde on each 50 bushels of oats as they are being shoveled from one pile to another. After each shovelful has received or two squirts of the formaldehyde the entire pile of seed should be covered with sprayed sacks to hold the fumes five hours or over-night.

Oat rust ca nbe controlled only by planting rust-proof varieties, such as Hastings 100-Bushel, Red Rust Proof, and Fulghum.

LOST — HUSBANDS AND HOG CALLERS IN ALABAMA

Auburn, July 4. — The entertainment committee of the Alabama Extension Service is getting worried. It can't find Alabama farm women who can call their husbands in the old fashioned way nor men and women who can still call the hogs in the stentorian voices of the days of yore.

To repeat, they are worried. They can find plenty of women who will call "Darling (or Honey), dinner's ready" in a weak, sweet voice, or who will send son Jim out to tell Dad that it's time for dinner. But the committee members want farm women who can step out on the back porch and let out a roaring "Hen—ry" that will bring hubby from the farthest corner of the field.

But they cannot find the women who can still do this. They are on the verge of offering a prize for one or two to be present during Farmers and Homemakers Week at Auburn, August 1-5. They have planned a radio broadcast, but can't find the husband callers of the good old days to appear on the program.

Spokesmen of the committee point out that if there are any of those old fashioned husband callers still in Alabama they can probably win the hog calling contest, too, since there seems to be a shortage of good, easily-heard hog callers, either of the male or female sex.

The entertainment committee wants to be wrong in this fear, but it is really worried.

More bees are being shipped from Montgomery than from any other point in the world. During the shipping season, which begins about April 15, and lasts for six weeks or more, approximately 50 car loads of bees are shipped from the capital city. Most of these bees are shipped to Canada, where they are ready to begin making honey upon their arrival. Because of the severe winters, new colonies are imported each season by the honey producers of that section.

Improvement of pastures is the most important single item in profitable beef production in Alabama, states R. S. Sugg, extension animal husbandman. Pastures capable of producing 250 to 300 pounds of beef per acre shoul be the goal set by all beef cattle producers, he says.

. . . But Not too Big to be Friendly

"MAKE to our order NINE MILLION telephone calls! Make them clear, fast and accurate!"

That's the big order we get every day from the South's telephone users.

To handle this great volume of calls is a tremendous job. It requires the services of over 7,000 men and 12,000 women . . . and an investment of more than 232 dollars worth of plant and equipment for every telephone.

This organization must be big to provide the fast, accurate, high-quality telephone service that the South demands. But we are not too big to be friendly neighbors. Not too big nor too busy to greet you with a smile . . . to serve you with courtesy and consideration . . . to help you locate a doctor in a hurry . . . or to lend a helping hand whenever you need some special telephone service. To us, telephone users are people—not just telephone numbers.

Use your telephone more — to keep in touch with family and friends . . . to speed your business affairs . . . to get things done quickly and easily, anywhere.

Platform Adopted By The Republican State Convention

Freedom For American Courts

We reaffirm our devotion to the Constitution of the United States and the American system of representative government. We stand for a free and independent Supreme Court.

We believe in a free and untrammeled judiciary, to interpret our laws without fear or favor, guided only by the spirit of our Constitution and not dictated to by the occupant of the White House, whoever he may be. We denounce the recent attempt to nullify and coerce the Supreme Court of the United States and to make it a tool of the executive. In its fight to destroy the vital independence of the Supreme Court, and public confidence therein, the Roosevelt New Deal party has done more to breed contempt for lawful processes than any other agency. We pledge our best efforts to maintain and increase respect for our courts, their complete independence from partisan political considerations, and to defend them from attacks of New Deal politicians operating within our system of government and their Red and Communistic allies without.

Honesty and Economy In Government

Not only has the New Deal sought to abolish the safeguard of judicial checks and balances, but by venal and corrupt procedure it has actually destroyed public confidence in the executive department of our national government. We refer now to the widespread use of public funds for campaign purposes, the policy of trading upon human misery to satisfy political greed, the use of "relief" agencies as cogs in a selfish and domineering political machine. This corrupt perversion of public trust has become so widespread that Democratic senators have been impelled to denounce their own party leaders who have stooped to such tactics. The nation is sorely in need of a return to the principles of common, elemental decency and honesty in government. Campaigns should be determined along the line of national issues, and not by the ability of the party in power to distribute plunder and rewards among its adherents. Return to the principles of sound and honest government will enable a drastic reduction in cost of government, among other things by firing a vast horde of worthless bureaucrats and theorists now contributing to the nation's ruin.

Business

In this era of economic suffering and distress, we point with pride to the records of preceding Republican administrations. Under Coolidge, economy was raised to the dignity of a principle of government; so that, instead of piling up additional billions of debt, as all modern Democratic administrations have done, the national debt was reduced by five billions. Business, instead of being hounded and persecuted as today, was encouraged and respected. Result, a high level of wages and living for all; the door of opportunity open to all, steady promotions from places in the work shop to seats at the council table for men of ability; harmonious relations between employer and employee, and a general feeling of confidence among our people. When we contrast the Coolidge era of peace, prosperity and plenty with the present regime of class warfare, suspicion, poverty and hate, we realize that under Calvin Coolidge this nation did indeed enjoy its Golden Era. It is an era whose return can be assured by a return to the principles upon which it was founded.

The present New Deal regime has prolonged what should have been a temporary economic set-back into a permanent depression. By its radical tactics, its violent assaults upon business, it has forfeited the respect and confidence of business men and the public generally. Restoration of public confidence in government is essential to business improvement, and this confidence can be resored only by a house-cleaning at Washington. The New Deal has demonstrated that it cannot and will not cooperate with business. The New Deal philosophy has no place for cooperation; it demands of all surrender to its will, with destruction as the alternative.

We favor extending the Calvin Coolidge hand of friendship to business, big and little. We favor giving the honest workman an opportunity to support his family by honest employment, rather than on crumbs from the table of the political spoilsman.

Labor

We believe that Labor and Capital have a community of interests. We favor legislation to encourage their cooperation, on a basis of mutual respect and appreciation, without force or intimidation from either side. We believe in freedom of contract and collective bargaining; in the right of the working man to strike, and to be protected in that right.

But, we believe also in the right of any man to work, if he wants to work, under conditions acceptable to him and his employer, without molestation or hindrance in any form. The right of the working man to join or not to join unions, to work or not to work, is a fundamental prerogative of a free citizen, which no man or organization should presume to abridge.

The sit-down strike and the picket blockade are forms of anarchy fomented by radical labor leaders with the deliberate connivance of the New Deal party and its party leadership.

American history has no blacker page than that on which was written the cowardly surrender of the party in power to the demands of an arrogant labor clique, resulting in seizure of private properties and assaults upon peaceful workmen. Civil conflict was averted, not by any effort of the administration, but by pressure of public opinion, which plainly indicated that it would not tolerate the Lewis-Roosevelt program of confiscation. His failure to promptly suppress these lawless outbreaks earned for Mr. Roosevelt the distrust of the people, and the contempt of the labor leaders who had made him their tool. The people have a right to expect in the White House a man who will view such momentous issues from the standpoint of the American people as a whole, not from the viewpoint of a few labor agitators who helped elect him. The New Deal stands committed to an alliance with the radical left wing of labor, as represented by the CIO. Only through the election of a Republican president can we bring about a return to the broad national perspective, in the interest of all the people.

Tariff

We favor continuation of the sound Republican doctrine of moderate tariffs at levels representing the difference between cost of production at home and abroad. We would extend this protection to the cotton growers of the South by placing a tariff on jute.

Currency

We renew our pledge of a sound and stable currency, and deplore unwarranted manipulation and breaking of faith with private investors.

State Government

Evils of the vicious one-party system are manifest in the growing waste and extravagance, the brazen disregard of the constitutional mandate in the matter of representation in the legislature; growing neglect of vital problems confronting our people. Government in Alabama has degenerated into a factional feud among Democrats, with the spoils of office rather than public welfare as the main incentive.

Reapportionment

We demand that representation in the legislature of the state be reapportioned as required by the Constitution of 1901.

The Parole System

We fvaor change in our parole system, to take it out of politics. We believe that a prisoner's chance of parole should depend upon his record, not on the size of the fee he can pay some lawyer, or the influence such lawyer may wield with the executive.

Education

Education in Alabama has been a political football for decades — a pretext for levying additional taxes for the benefit of political parasites, with too little actual benefit to the schools. School teachers have been deprived even of promised pittances and allowed to go unpaid, while the politicians holding fat jobs at the capitol never missed a pay day. We favor a living wage to teachers, an absolute guarantee of its prompt payment, and retirement with pay when old age comes.

Absentee Voting

We favor abolition of absentee voting. The intent of this law is good — to allow a citizen unavoidably away from home on election day the right to participate in the election. In actual practice, it has formed a basis for wholesale fraud and corruption, and has kept on our voting lists thousands of people who are no longer bona fide residents of Alabama and not rightly entitled to vote in this state at all. While its repeal may work some hardship, the general welfare demands it.

Conclusion

America has come to the parting of the ways, where she must choose between the old philosophy of individual liberty and the new doctrine of regimentation. The New Deal does not merely tend toward dictatorship; it is, in itself, a form of dictatorship, founded on the doctrine that the individual has no rights which the state, that is, the government, is bound to respect. The New Deal has instilled into a large element the belief that the government owes them support and sustenance; that those who are higher in the economic scale are public enemies, to be despoiled and destroyed. The New Deal has sought to regulate the details of business and every day life to a degree intolerable to free Americans.

Opposed to these new and destructive theories are our inherited and treasured American concepts, which hold that every individual, every minority, have certain inherent rights and privileges that no government, no majority, may forcibly take away. Our American ideal stresses the Rights of Man, the New Deal, the rights of governments. Between these two conflicting systems a choice must be made. The few years just ahead will determine whether we are still worthy and capable of self-government.

This national crisis is accompanied by a reshuffling of political ties. Certain radicals who formerly were Republicans in name have been encouraged to hoist their true colors, either going over to the Democrats, or as independent radicals. Countless conservative Democrats are lining up with us on an issue that obliterates party lines. We welcome hte affiliation of all who believe in American principles and will fight to preserve them.

Thousands of Southern Democrats have continued to vote their party ticket, while privately admitting disagreement with virtually everything the party stands for. Some have used as an argument for their inconsistency that the South has fared well under the New Deal. This unworthy argument carries with it the implication that the Southern voter's suffrage is for sale, that he is interested only in subsidies and relief, not in principle of government. It is an argument unworthy of the traditions of the South. Moreover, even this poor argument is refuted by the record. The record shows that instead of being the favored darling of the New Deal demagogues, the South has actually received less consideration than any other section. Alabama, for example, has received in New Deal gifts and loans only $161.99 per capita, comparde with $304.89 for Kansas, $311.01 for California, $04.29 for Nebraska, $1,114.12 for Nevada. Confident of their ability to control the policies of this section, of its slavish obedience to outworn tradition, the New Deal oligarchy has lavished money upon the doubtful states of the North and West, while the section to which the party owes its very existence gets the crumbs. Southern Democrats who boast that they have been well paid for sacrificing their convictions are thus seen to come pretty cheap after all.

To the thousands of Americans, South and North, whose convictions are not for sale or barter, we send greetings. The need of the hour is for an awakened patriotism that knows no party lines. We urge all in whom this need evokes response to rally with us under the banner of the Republican party — our sole remaining bulwark against political anarchy and economic ruin.

FIVE MINUTES WITH BIBLE QUESTIONS ANSWERED
BY THE BIBLE ONLY

Creation and the Creator

1. By whom were the heavens and the earth created?

"In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." — Gen. 1:1.

2. Through whom did God create all things?

"For by Him (the Son) were all things created that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers; all things were created by Him and for Him." — Col. 1:16.

3. What was God's object in making the earth?

"For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God Himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it; He created it not in vain; He formed it to be inhabited." — Isa. 45:18.

4. In whose image was man created?

"So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him; male and female created He them." — Gen. 1:27.

5. What home did God create for him?

"And the Lord planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he had put the man whom He had formed. And out of the ground made the Lord to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food. And the Lord God took the man, and put him in the Garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it." —Gen.2:8-15.

6. What may be perceived through the things that are made.

"For the invisible things of Him, from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal power and God head, so that they are without excuse." — Rom. 1:20.

7. Whose workmanship is the Christian?

"For we are His workmanship, created in Jesus Christ unto good works, which God had before ordained that we should walk in them." — Eph. 2:10.

8. To whom are those who suffer exhorted to commit their souls?

"Wherefore let them also that suffer, according to the will of God commit their souls in well-doing unto a faithful Creator." — I Pet. 4:19 RV.

9. What contrast is drawn in the scripture between the creator and the false gods?

"Thus shall ye say unto them, the gods that have made not the heavens and the earth, even they shall perish from the earth. . . . The portion of Jacob is not like them; for He is the former of all things, and Israel is the rod of His inheritance; the Lord of Hosts is his name." — Jer. 10:11-16.

10. To whom is our worship justly due?

"O come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord, our Maker." — Ps. 95:6.

11. In view of the curse upon this creation, what has God promised?

"For behold, I create a new heaven and a new earth; and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind." — Isa. 65:17. See Rev. 21:1.

12. What is the true basis of the brotherhood of man?

"Have not all one Father? Hath not one God created us? Why do we feel treacherously every man against his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers?" — Mal. 2:10. — (Arranged by Rev. W. H. Westermeyer, Pastor Montgomery Seventh Day Adventist Church).

Mr. and Mrs. John Holcombe and little daughter, Gwendolyn, of Birmingham, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Clay Marcus and family, who have recently moved to Clanton from Birmingham.

Mr. Raymond Underwood, of Spigener Funeral Home, carried Mrs. Aubrey Taylor to Birmingham last Saturday afternoon for a minor operation. She was entered at South Highland Infirmary. Her many friends will be glad to know that she is improving.

"Q. M."

"WAR veterans know how vital are the duties of the Quartermaster ('Q.M.') Corps in an army. Strangely, while an army and your electric company have little in common, each must have its 'quartermaster corps.'

"In Alabama Power Company, members of the 'quartermaster corps' are known as storekeepers—men who see that there is always an adequate stock of repair and replacement parts available so that when Nature 'declares war' in the form of storm or flood or cyclone, the trouble shooters of my company's 'army' can hasten forth supplied with the necessary materials and equipment with which to repair the damage quickly.

"Don't get the idea, though, that the storekeepers' only part in helping keep your electric service dependable is limited to emergencies. There is natural wear and tear on electrical generating and transmission equipment. Alabama Power Company tries to keep all of its equipment in 'applie-pie' order; therefore the storekeepers always must know where the fourteen thousand different items are on hand, and how many of each are available, and be ready to supply them on short notice from any of the 82 warehouses in Alabama.

"Of course, if my company were content with supplying you with only indifferent service, instead of dependable electric service, it wouldn't have to maintain its system in such good shape, or carry so many parts in so many different places. However, as you perhaps already know, Alabama Power Company wants to supply you with the best electric service at only reasonable cost to you."

THORSBY SECTION

MRS. TOM LESSLEY, Manager

The 4th of July celebration was a great success in Thorsby. It was estimated that about 5,000 people were here during the day. The celebration began with a parade led by Miss Annette Merchant, as Miss United States, and Mr. H. L. Collins as Uncle Sam. About 20 business firms entered cars and floats; and also in the parade were the Mayor and Councilmen, the Community Club, Thorsby Institute, Bank of Thorsby, Fire Department, Thorsby baseball team, Boy Scouts and beautifully decorated bicycles. Mr. Percy Pitts of Clanton made a very interesting speech in which he boosted Thorsby. A picnic dinner was enjoyed by many who brought picnic baskets. Children participated in races and contests of different kinds. A string band delighted crowds with their music. At two o'clock Thorsby played Antioch ball team and was defeated by score of 7 to 6, after having been tied in the 9th ending. Following this game Thorsby played New Cedron and won by score of 8 to 1.

The Community Club has purchased new swings, children slides, Merry-go-round, four tables, and eight benches for use in the new city park.

On Friday at noon there is to be a picnic for the teachers, helpers and children who have been attending the Daily Vacation Bible school, and those who have been attending the Story hour and recreation from Tuesday through Friday of this week from 9 until 11 o'clock each morning. Each one is to bring his own lunch and meet at the Congregational church at 12 o'clock. From there they will have a short hike to the picnic site.

The subject, "The Sermon On The Mount," was resumed at the prayer meeting hour at the Congregational church on Wednesday evening.

The Children's Day program will be held at the Congregational church on Sunday morning during the Sunday school hour. Worship service at 11 o'clock. Rev. Redfield will use as his shbject, "Physical Emancipation." There will be no evening service.

The Christian Endeavor society met Sunday evening in the fellowship room. Mrs. Redfield, the sponsor of the society was in charge and led a very interesting program on "Patriotism." Following the program a short business meeting was held. All the Endeavorers were invited up to Mrs. Redfield's home Tuesday night for a business meeting.

On Monday night a Christian Endeavor social was held at the home of Miss Gail Gletty. Games were enjoyed and everyone took part in making ice cream. Those present had a very enjoyable time.

The Congregational Ladies Aid social will be held at the home of Mrs. V. H. Sutlive, on Thursday night, July 7. Everyone is urged to come.

There will be regular services at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

Rev. and Mrs. Redfield will be away next week at a Training Union Conference at Southern Union College, Wadley, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Lefstead and son, Lawrence, Jr., of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Lefstead and daughter, Patricia, of Columbus, Ga., were visitors of Mrs. J. Lefstead on Sunday and 4th of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Petersen and daughter, Imogene, of Anniston, have been spending a week with relatives in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mixson and family of Clayton spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meade and daughter, Helen Louise, are back in Thorsby for a few months. Mr. Meade has been working at the Imperial dam in California.

Mrs. Walter Robinson spent last Thursday in Clanton with Mrs. J. C. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson had as their guests for the Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Lindquist and children, and Mrs. Fike, all of Bessemer.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Crowe and family of Birmingham spent Sunday and the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mims.

Mr. Vernon Gibbons of El Dorado, Ark., has been visiting Mrs. Ola Gibbons and Mr. and Mrs. Coy Gibbons.

Rev. and Mrs. Redfield and Miss Margaret Golson went over to Shelby Tuesday morning to the Daily Vacation Bible School, which is being held there this week.

The Billingsley family reunion was held on the 4th at the home of Mrs. Leila Martin. Those present during the day were: Mr. and Mrs. William Billingsley of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Billingsley and family of St. Petersburg, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Billingsley and son of Mobile, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Billingsley and family of Mobile, Mr. Sidney Billingsley of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Luncy Martin, Mrs. Leila Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Billingsley and son of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams and son of Alabama City, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Martin of Bessemer, Mrs. Roper of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Petersen, Imogene, Mrs. W. H. Goodgame, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lessley, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Blankenship, Miss Jessie Martin, Mr. N. Johnson, Mr. Jake Scott, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davenport. A very good time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Varden of Birmingham spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pate.

Mr. Van Louis McNeel spent the Fourth with his grandmother in Birmingham.

Mrs. Bell Whaley, who has beeen visiting Mrs. Alpha Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Bentley, left Wednesday for her home in Bangor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Thompson spent the week end in Birmingham.

CLAMPS LOST TO Y. M. H. A. LAST MONDAY, SCORE 10-5

Suffering in the pitching department from a heavy week of baseball, the Clamps fell before the Y. M. H. A. team, of Birmingham Monday afternoon, 10 to 5.

The visitors got a run in the first frame when Tiffin let a hot grounder get by him, and a screaming triple drove the run across.

The Clamps got that run back in their half on a walk and three straight hits. They went two up on their visitors in the third on a walk and three more hits.

Gorman met Golson in the fourth with a terrific clout to right field for a home run. No more damage was done that inning, although one more single was registered. But in the 5th the visitors woke up to the fact that it was the glorious Fourth and began to open up their guns. A. Royal doubled and Bragan tripled, and it was curtains for Golson, Ellison taking up the chunking duties. He got by the rest of that inning with only two runs, giving up a walk, and having one get away from Tatum that let in a run. He gave up two hits in the sixth but got by with a whole hide. When the first man up in the seventh singled, Teague, who had pitched the day before, came in, but fared little better, giving up six hits, walking two, and striking out three during the rest of the affray, being scored on five times.

The Clamps got one in the sixth on Littlejohn's double, an error at short, and an infield out. In the last half of the ninth, with two away, hits by Jones, Clements and Teague in succession pulled the total up to 5, but Baker flied to right field to end it all.

The Clamps got 11 hits, enough to win a ball game, but the Hebrews had their hitting clothes on, and battered out 16 safeties, six off Golson, four off Ellison, and six off Teague. Karch went the route for the visitors, Teague, Baker, Littlejohn and Sims leading the war on him with a pair each, with Jones, Clements and Tiffin coming in for the other three.

REFUGE

Sunday school was well attended Sunday, with a good report from every class.

There was no preaching service at this place Sunday night because of the rain.

Our singing school is progressing nicely. Prof. Devaughn is well pleased with the progress being made.

Everybody in this community enjoyed the 4th fine. There were gatherings at several homes in the community, with plenty of ice cream and lemonade, and other good things for all.

Remember folks, our revival starts next Wednesday night. Evangelist M. D. Garrett, of Tarrant City, will do the preaching. Everybody is invited to come and hear him.—Mrs. J. R. Connell.

MRS. LAURA MIMS

Mrs. Laura Mims, age 75 years, died last Saturday at 11 p.m. The remains were buried Sunday at Mt. Nebo, Martin directing. Services were conducted by Rev. W. S. Cox.

Who Could Resist?

Miss Myrtle Reinhardt is the perfect hostess as Miss Gertrude Finn accepts her hospitality at ready-to-serve food conference of Independent Grocers Alliance in Chicago. The IGA executives were told American housewives buy $2,000,000,000 annually in prepared foods, finding liberation from kitchen toil in great variety of foods which go direct from shelf to table.

Mrs. Dick Ball of Birmingham spent the week end with Mrs. Mae Thornburgh.

Lesson for July 10

CALEB: LIFE-TIME DEVOTION

LESSON TEXT—Joshua 14:6-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it.—Numbers 13:30.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Brave Caleb.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Caleb the Brave.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Hero's Reward.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Courage for Difficult Tasks.

"We need to know more about good men who are occasionally great, and less about great men who are occasionally good," says the Lesson Commentary, in pointing out that Caleb is one of the characters about whom the Bible does not say much, but in every case the word is one revealing high and noble character. Consider such passages as Numbers 13:6, 30; 14:7-9, 24, 30; 26:65, as well as our lesson for today.

The background for our study of today, and in fact an integral part of the lesson itself, is the story of Caleb's courageous stand with Joshua when the spies returned from their visit to Canaan, which is related in Numbers 13. He was then a comparatively young man, but demonstrated by his every word and deed that he had from his youth learned to know and obey God.

Note first of all Caleb's

I. Perfect Obedience (vv. 6-8).

"I wholly followed the Lord my God." Such a testimony from a man like Caleb is no idle boast, no effort to parade his faith and piety before others. In saying it he was repeating what God and Moses had both said about him. In his heart he knew it to be true.

It is God's will for each of His children that they should come to such a place of simple trust and complete obedience that in every circumstance of life they need know only one thing—God's will, and then in faith to go and do it. It is a life beautiful in its transparent simplicity and powerful in the strength of God Himself.

II. Promised Inheritance (v. 9).

"Surely the land whereon thy feet have trodden shall be thine inheritance." Such was the promise of God through Moses. Forty-five long years had elapsed, but down through this period of wilderness wanderings and the conflict in subduing Canaan the promise had lived in Caleb's heart. He knew it would be fulfilled, and he waited serenely for God's time.

Such also are the promises of God which keep the heart singing in our hours of trial and sorrow, which light up the dark ways, which strengthen the heart of His children. Learn God's promises, cherish them in your heart, expect God to fulfill them.

III. Preserved Strength (vv. 10, 11).

"The Lord hath kept me alive . . . and I am . . . strong." Here was a man kept of God, in full vigor in his eighty-fifth year, "like a rock in a changeful sea, like a snow-capped peak in a change of cloud and storm and sun" (Meyer). No doubt there was what our forefathers liked to call "the longevity of the antedeluvians," but even apart from that let us recognize that life and strength come from God, and that those who walk with God in holy living may count on Him for the renewed strength of Psalm 103:5.

An incidental, but extremely important, lesson, we should learn is that God has no age deadline. The church has frequently sinned against Him and against His faithful servants by "shelving them" for younger men, when they would have brought blessing to themselves and to the church by encouraging and using them. The writer of these lines is a young man, but he would speak here a word of loving admonition regarding his honored brethren who have gone on before to bear the brunt of the battle.

IV. Powerful Assurance (vv. 12-15).

"If . . . the Lord will be with me, then I shall be able." Caleb asked for no easy task. He was ready to go up against the giants of Hebron. Read Deuteronomy 3:11, and you will find that there were men in those days who needed thirteen-foot beds. But Caleb was not afraid. He counted not on his own strength, but on the power of God. It is significant that while the other sections of Canaan were only partially conquered Caleb brought his formidable adversaries entirely under control, so that "the land had rest from war" (v.15).

The spiritual application to our day is evident and appropriate. There are giants in the land in this year of our Lord 1938. Corruption—social and political—raises its brazen head. Drunkenness and vice leer at us with the impudent suggestion that we cannot control them. There are giants "within us—greed, selfishness, love of ease, lust, passion, cruelty" (Blaikie). Are we to do nothing about them? If we are to meet them in the strength of the flesh we might almost as well do nothing. But in the power of God, we are like Caleb—able. In His name we may take up a slogan of today, "Let's do something about it!" and really do it, for His glory.

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR

Robinson Springs

Last Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching dates. Both services were splendid. Rev. Gray preached for us Sunday, and he sure did bring a good message to us.

We are going to have our singing in the old books the 3rd Sunday in July. Everybody is invited to attend.

We are going to clean of the church grounds on Thursday before the 3rd Sunday. There will be preachng at the 11 o'clock hour by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Cost, on the 3rd Sunday.

We are going to begin our revival on the 4h Saturday nigh in July. Rev. J. R. Cost and Rev. Earnest Jones are going to run the revival. We are hoping to have a good revival. Everybody come and bring someone with you.

Maynard's Chapel

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody is invited. All members are requested to be present.

WOODLAND MANAGEMENT

With farm woods occupying as much or more acreage than all other crops combined on many farms in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, Alabama the importance of woodland management cannot be stressed too strongly, according to Mr. James H. Wood, camp superintendent.

Trees are a crop that can profitably be grown on the steepest and roughest land on the farm and on land which is not suitable for growing other crops, Mr. Wood pointed out. By handling his woods as a crop, the farmer can make the most efficient use of such land from the standpoint of both erosion control and timber production.

Plans for harvesting the winter fuel supply and other woodland products from the timber stand can be made during the summer by marking the straightest, healthiest, and most desirable species of properly spaced trees to be left in the stand as crop trees, just as the best cotton or corn plants are left at proper spacing by thinning these crops.

By designation the crop trees with a band of paint or by some other simple method, the remaning trees, including the slow-growing, deseased, and improperly spaced trees, and those which are crowding the crop trees, can be removed as needed for fuel wood or for other purposes. Such thinning will stimulate the growth of the crop trees, produce a valuable crop, and will leave the land protected against erosion, Mr. Wood explained.

Protection of woodland from damage by grazing and fire is an essential phase of good woodland management both for erosion control and timber production, he added.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK. — When Charles Maurras came out of the Sante prison last year, he was met by a committee of distinguished Frenchmen, who nominated him for the Nobel peace prize and said they would make him a member of the Academy. They have just fulfilled the latter promise, and M. Maurras becomes an immortal by a majority of one vote.

Leaves Jail To Get Bid To Academy

He had spent 250 days in jail on a charge of having urged the assassination of 140 members of the chamber of deputies who had voted for sanctions against Italy; also on a charge of inciting the French people to "sharpen up their kitchen knives" for use against certain proscribed politicians.

In the 250 days he had written five books, swelling his vast collection of books on biography, politics economics, literary criticism, history and what not to probably well over 100. I talked to him once in the Cafe des Lilas, a fragile, deaf bearded old man with a contentious blazing mind which makes one think of a sizzling battery running an automobile without any engine.

In 1923, he was in jail for four months in a somewhat anti-climatic adventure for one who was to be garlanded as an immortal. Three members of the chamber of deputies were kidnaped and fed castor oil—Mussolini is said to have got his broad prospectus of Fascism from Maurras—and the bald head of one of them was painted with violet ink and glue.

Showed Duce Technique Of Terror

In 1925, M. Maurras was sentenced to two years in prison, the charge being that he had threatened to kill the minister of the interior. Among the causes of his incarceration in October, 1936, was conspiracy evidence in the assault on Premier Leon Blum, in which he was severely beaten, while attending the funeral of a friend.

His books and virulent editorials against democracy in the Royalist paper, translated into many languages, are the fount of Fascist doctrine all over the world. His hatred of democracy is savage and vitriolic. He is witty, learned, brilliant and he has the most excoriating and corrosive vocabulary in France.

A FOOTNOTE to the main text of the world discussion on Japan bombing babies is the interchange between Avery Brundage, chairman of the American Olympic committee, and William J. Bingham (Bill the Plugger), Harvard athletic director. Mr. Brundage says it has nothing to do with sports, and Mr. Bingham says it has—with sportsmanship, at any rate—and he withdraws from the committee and the 1940 games.

Jap Bombs Cause Rift In Olympics

The sports writers are becoming almost metaphysical in weighing and appraising the moral values of the argument. Bill the Plugger says, in effect, that he won't play with baby-killers.

He became Bill the Plugger by losing 19 races at Harvard and winning the twentieth. Thereafter, he was Harvard's crack miler.

He started out plugging at the age of fourteen, leaving school to work in a mill and help support his five younger brothers and sisters. He saved $30, went to Exeter and worked his way through Exeter and Harvard.

He came out of the war a captain with appropriate decorations, did a turn in the banking business in Texas and became Harvard graduate supervisor and track coach in 1921. On the side, he is president of a concern which imports rubber goods.

AUGUST 1-6 DATES FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn, May 16. — One of the most outstanding programs from the recreational and educational standpoint ever held is being worked out for hundreds of Alabama farmers and farm women who will gather at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 1 to 6, for the 1938 Farmers and Homemakers Week, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

As part of the educational and recreational program, Director Davis says that state and national agricultural leaders will be present to address the farm people. Community singing, so popular in the past, will be continued this year, as will the sections or classes in livestock, landscaping, poultry, forestry, and other phases of agriculture in which the farm people are interested.

The latest facts on farming and homemaking gathered through experiments of the Alabama Experiment Station will be given the farm men and women, the director states. In addition, tours will be conducted so that the group may see what is being done to improve Alabama crops and farm practices.

All persons attendiny Farmers and Homemakers Week will be housed in cottages of the state camp on the campus at Auburn. Assemblies for speakers and singing will be in the assem-

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS DISCONTINUED IN ALABAMA

From 1900 to 1915 all Alabama teachers' certificates were required by law to be based upon examinations. In 1915 the legislature authorized their issuance on both examinations and college credentials. In 1927 it authorized issuance on their examinations or credentials.

Since 1915 the number of certificates issued upon examinations has decreased year by year. Only 32 such certificates, six being in instrumental music and two in public school music, were issued in 1937. Obviously, there is no need for the holding of further examinations for the issuance of certificates authorizing their holders to teach academic subjects and public school music in the schools of the state. Therefore, effective July of this year, the holding of such examinations has been discontinued.

If it should become necessary to conduct examinations for the issuance of certificates in instrumental music, such examinations will be held in Montgomery. In that event, applicants will be notified of time and place by correspondence or other method.

NOTICE TO SCHOOL PATRONS

In compliance with the School Code, the County Board of Education is requesting the patrons of each school in the county to hold a meeting at their respective schools at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, July 20, for the purpose of nominating school trustees. The law requires that the patrons of each school nominate six discreet, competent and reliable persons of mature years and submit this list to the County Board of Education. The Board is then required to select three of these persons as school trustees.

NO LYNCHINGS SINCE JANUARY 1

According to the records compiled at Tuskegee Institute in the Department of Records and Research, there were no lynchings in the first six months of 1938.

According to F. D. Patterson, of Tuskegee Institute, this is the first time since a record of lynchings has been kept that the first six months of the year went by without a lynching.

There were four lynchings each in the first six months of 1935, 1936, and 1937.

CLANTON AND STREET PAVING

On the front page of this issue of The Union-Banner appears a letter from Mayor C. Fenn Jones relative to street paving in Clanton. The letter is self-explanatory, but will probably bear some comment.

As we understand the mayor's letter, he wishes it made clear to the property owners of the city that they should make their own arrangements to pay their 55 per cent of the cost and not expect the city to handle the deferred payments for them by issuing bonds. The city has funds and credit, but the same is needed for expanded water and sewage projects, and the city cannot handle both propositions. We must have water and sewage disposal, and we would like to have our streets paved; but water is more important. Therefore, as Mr. Jones contends, we cannot afford to tie up the city's credit in street paving, and then when the sewage and water projects are finally approved by the government, not be able to take care of our local end of the load.

Again The Union-Banner believes Mr. Jones is right in his contention. Certainly we cannot afford to neglect our water and sewage system, and at the same time Clanton should get whatever government funds that are available to us.

The Union-Banner does not now and never has approved of the federal government's extravagance, but they are going to spend it, and we do not censure our local officials for getting all of it that we can afford to get.. Certainly we like to see our city expand and build, and we commend Mayor Jones for his alertness in getting for us all that he can of government aid.

A NEW PROBLEM

We one-gallused country weekly editors have all kinds of experiences and problems, and we solve them in many different ways. Abuse is piled upon us, and we have only one alternative — just sit and take it.

But we recently heard one on a country editor that was new to us. He held up printing his paper for twelve hours to see if a prominent old citizen who was ill would die, and if he did die the editor wanted to get the death notice in that week's paper.

Now, that is an eye for service—or is it?

THE TVA WRANGLE

The charges and countercharges made by the two Messrs. Morgan and David Lilienthal in the TVA inquiry, must await a thorough sifting by a congressional committee of investigation, before the public can draw any final conclusions. The three men involved are doubtless documenting their statements to a greater or lesser degree for the committee, but newspaper readers can hardly be expected to tell who is right and who is wrong, on the basis of the newspaper summaries.

It can be said with considerable finality that if what boh sides claim to be true, is actually founded on fact, then all three men are unfit to serve in a public capacity. If Arthur Morgan really sought to "obstruct and sabotage" the government's conduct of a lawsuit upon whose outcome the life of TVA depended, then he had no business occupying the post of TVA chairman. And if David Lilienthal and Harccurt Morgan are guilty of "inaccurate and misrepresentative reports", "mismanagement" and "lack of candor," they also ought to be deprived of their present jobs.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Now that the famous and much advertised four and a half billion dollar pump priming program is actually in effect and some financial experts are looking forward hopefully to a spending splurge that may help business at least temporarily this fall, other students of our political and economic affairs are beginning to wonder as to some of the significance of certain phasse of the so-called recovery-spending bill.

For example, those interested in the welfare of our utilities, great and small, and the number comprises the small stock and bondholder in great number, are beginning to speculate as to the exact meaning of the promise made in the Senate by Mr. Barkley of Kentucky when there was a fight in that august body to keep the government from going into competition with private business. One of the first to recall this pledge is Fulton Lewis, Jr., veteran Washington newspaper correspondent, recently in one of his daily broadcasts over a national network of the Mutual system. His statements have served to bring the matter into the limelight again.

It will be remembered that when the fight was on in the Senate to block the expenditure of relief money for the construction of utility plants in communities which already had good service from private companies, Senator Barkley, to allay the strife which was getting out of hand, and had resulted in a safeguarding amendment, brought a pledge from the President to the effect that no funds would be granted for municipally owned power plants when privately owned plants were giving good service at fair rates, unless the city first made a bonafide offer to buy the private power company at a fair price. With this understanding, the fight to stop more government competition was stopped.

But Mr. Lewis points out an interesting fact. In some cities there are already two power plants—one municipal and one private—and some of these municipal plants are now asking for more of the taxpayers' money to put themselves in better position to compete with the private utilities. For example, in Cleveland there is a big private utility and a small municipal plant. But this municipal plant some time ago asked Uncle Sam for $70,000. Now with the pump priming bill in effect it is asking for $2,000,000. Other publicly owned plants, competing with private industries, are said to be getting ready to follow suit.

Now, Mr. Lewis asks, what about this? Will granting money to these publicly owned plants already in existence to furnish competition to private business, be in violation of the Roosevelt-to-Barkley-to-the-Senate pledge? What Mr. Barkley actually said was: "It is not the president's purpose to allocate these funds from these appropriations to set up competing public utility plants". Those familiar with the administration trend of thought are confident that money will be furnished to these municipal plants for expansion and competition on the theory the Presiden's pledge applies only to "new and unconstructed" plants. They feel that the socialist tendency among the pump primers at Washington is so strong they will let nothing stand in their way that can be avoided or surmounted

In the meantime many observers are asking, "Where will it all end? How can we help business by spending the people's money to compete with private effort? And isn't it unfair to spend the taxpayers' money, and the utilities are big taxpayers, to establish ruinous tax-free competition to destroy some of the tax-payers themselves?

You find the answer.

IS CHILTON COUNTY WINNER IN NATIONAL SPENDING

The federal government has been pouring money into every state and county in the nation since 1933. There has been thousands upon thousands spent in Chilton County, and lots of it has been placed to permanent good and substantial improvement to our county. We have our ditches around Clanton, our city hall, our post office, Thorsby has a water works system, and Clanton has improved her water system. We have the Maplesville black-top road, and the government has assisted in other road building. Then there is the direct relief and the rental checks to the farmers.

But just let us figure a moment and see what Chilton County is paying for what we have received from the federal government. A recent report from Washington places the total national indebtedness at roundly 37 billions of dollars. The figure was 16 billions when Roosevelt took office; therefore, the increase since 1933 has been 21 billion dollars, or the per capita increase has been around $160.

There are in round numbers 25,000 people in Chilton County; multiply 25,000 by $160 and you have four million dollars. This is what Chilton County owes the federal government more than it did when Mr. Roosevelt took office in 1933. And, mind you, these figures represent extra money and do not include what Chilton County would have paid into and received from Uncle Sam if there had never been a Santa Claus at the White House.

We have no way of getting at just what amount the federal government has poured out in County in toto, but we feel safe in saying it would nothing like reach four million dollars, which is the amount we actually owe the federal government for what the New Deal has done for us, and which will have to be paid in some form of taxation. So, we ask you, is Chilton County winner or loser in our operations with Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal?

The New Dealers are against ear-marking the relief funds. They will try to ear-mark the voters for the coming election.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

It has been argued that if anything exists there must be something that has existed for all time. When the writer was a child, he used to wonder how God had no beginning. Many a night I have looked up at the stars in the sky and said to myself, "How could God have been here from all eternity? Who created God?" However, even as a child I would always come to the conclusion that there had to be some One who had lived from all eternity who is the same yesterday, today and forever to create a universe like this. The universe is filled with mystery, but a universe that came into existence without God would be far more mysterious than a universe which God, Who inhabits all eternity, created.

The eleventh chapter of Hebrews gives a list of interesting names. It is the names of the heroes of faith. "These all died in faith." To simply state that man died means but little. All the teeming millions who have lived in the past have died. The teeming millions who live now will soon pass on. The heroes in Hebrews, 11th chapter, died in faith. That is the thing that made their death significant. They had not "received the promises, but having seen them afar off were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on earth." They did not look on this earth as their home. They were passing through this land to a city beyond the stars. With the eyes of the soul they saw that city. The soul has eyes. The eyes of the soul of the man of faith are not blind. Faith sees through the shadow of death and beyond the grave. Faith sees streets of gold, walls of jasper, gates of pearl, crystal fountains, cloudless skies. Faith sees. Materialistic men are blind. The man who is unable to see beyond this world must be most miserable. He would be, if he stopped to think; but men without faith are not great thinkers. They are, at least, not safe thinkers. They may be mathematicians and know a great deal about physical laws, but men who have no faith cannot see through the problems of life. They have no solution for human suffering and sorrow and pain and death. If there were no life beyond this life, how tedious and tasteless this life would be!

Y. W. A. MEETS

Misses June Cox and Harriet Esco entertained members of the Y. W. A., and Fidelis Sunday school class with an evening of games on last Monday evening, June 27, at 7 o'clock at the home of Miss Cox on Lay Dam road.

OUR NEW PROSPERITY

Day by day the newspapers are full of the new prosperity that has been sweeping the country for the past few weeks. Ordinarily such news would be most hopeful, and far be it from me to say that the present upward trend will not be permanent. I hope that everything continues to boom, that prosperity has at last rounded that famous and long-looked-for corner, and that ere long we can look back on what is now the present, and be thankful that conditions have changed.

Several reasons have been advanced for this boom. Some say that since congress has adjourned the nation breathes easier, and that this has had its effect on people and business in general. Others say that the giant pump priming that is about to begin is the cause. Still others say that busness "held out" on the president up to now, that big business is now ready to "play ball", and that this makes the future brighter. There are some, too, who believe that the time has come for things to just naturally get better. It may be that any one of these things has brought the change, or it may be any combination of them, and maybe all together.

One big bond broker, however, takes a different view from all the others, and he is one high enough in financial circles that his opinion may well be respected. It may be that his words express the view of high finance as a whole, only the others have not seen fit to speak their minds. He offers his view as follows:

Business and capital have long been severely harrassed, and naturally have pulled into their shell in some degree. Charges have been made that business and capital would not work and cooperate with the president. Then, there is the big pump priming project to come. Business looks ahead by gazing into the past — it sees in the big pump priming a short spurt, as before, and then stagnation again. Business has decided to offer its help to the president and remove the above-stated stigma, confident that the administration's policies are unsound and will be proved so, and that once the nation has had its hypodermic of pump priming, history will repeat itself, and business will slump again when the "shot in the arm" is gone. Meanwhile, business will have removed all blame from itself, leaving only the administration and its policies to be blamed if things DO go bad again.

He further lays ground for his view that there will be a short-lived spurt and then another slump, by citing the action of the stock market. He points out that ordinarily when the market begins to jump, the big stock and bond buyers get into the swim, and making use of their knowledge and foresight on the market, sell out at the peak or as near it as possible. Now, however, he states, action of the market manipulators is most conspicuous. He points out that in the current market spurt, not one single big bondholder has ventured out to buy — that the buying is being done by the little fellows, clerks, industrial workers, the middle class who buy out of week-to-week and month-to-month savings — thousands and even millions of them from all over the nation, their spirits buoyed by the belief that the tide has at last turned.

He goes on to cite the old familiar saying that "whatever goes up MUST come down", and predicts that when the inevitable break comes, it will affect not the stock market as it is generally known, but will take to the cleaners those millions of little fellows who have made their hope the basis for their investment judgment, buying almost wholly on the will-o'-the-wisp of hope. Should such happen, he rightfully predicts, the rank and file of these middle class investors will have none other than the administration and its policies to blame, for it is in the president that they are placing their confidence as they throw their hard earned dollars into the money mart, believing that he will "do something" if and when the almost inevitable break comes. Under such conditions, he points out, a slight waver in the market could, and very likely would, quickly grow into a gigantic crash. These small buyers cannot bear the strain of seeing their dollars melt away in a lowering market as can the seasoned and hardened bond and stock buyers, and at the first sign of a break will move to sell, and this is where the crash comes. As more selling orders come in, the markets move downward at ever-increasing speed until the whole affair hits bottom. And then, predicts this market veteran, there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth, all for Mr. Roosevelt, for he will be their only object to blame — the only thing they CAN blame.

For that reason, he says, Mr. Roosevelt doesn't appear smart in allowing the market to run away with itself, but should hold it at a healthy level. Of course, only time can tell if he is right, but, at that, it sounds like a reasonable viewpoint. We shall see what we shall see, and that before too many moons have passed.

CRAYTON B. LENOIR DIED

Crayton B. Lenoir, age 61, died at his home in Isabella community last Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, following an extended illness. Burial was at Isabella Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, services conducted by Rev. Paul Oden and Rev. Nix; Spigener in charge.

Lenoir of Jemison, Walter of Pleasant Grove, and John of Isabella. Three sisters are: Mrs. Walter Deshazo, Mrs. William Veazey, and Mrs. John Wright.

Game & Fish News

Morgan Rodeo Success

Two hundred sixty-nine fish weighing 249 pounds were caught in two days and entered in the first annual Morgan County Fish Rodeo June 22-23 on Lake Wheeler and tributaries. There were 862 people from 41 cities and towns registered at the event sponsored by the Morgan County Conservation Club, and officials were pleased with the success of the club's first venture in this field. Plans are being made to hold another fresh-water rodeo next year The prize-winning bass weighed 5¼ pounds and was caught by Joe Ray, of Cullman. R. J. Bethany, of Decatur, turned in the largest string of bream—25 in all. Prizes were awarded anglers in 17 different classes and a fish fry marked close of the rodeo.

Quinn Re-elected

Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of Alabama, was re-elected president of the Southern Association of Conservation Commissioners recently in Asheville, N. C., where the Southerners met jointly with the American Fisheries Society and the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners. The Southern Association was formed a few months ago at Jacksonville, Fla., and Commissioner Quinn was elected the first president. At Asheville, 46 states, Canada and Mexico were represented in the two bodies. Quinn also retired as president of the American Fisheries Society, in which capacity he had served one term.

Alabama Praised

Explaining why the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries is interested in Alabama as an ideal location for experiments in developing food and game fishes, Commissioner Frank Bell, head of the Bureau, said recently at Birmingham, "Alabama has almost limitless fishing waters, most of them unpolluted and ideal for fishing purposes. Also, Alabama fishermen are awake to the need for protecting young fish until they reach legal size. The U. S. Bureau is getting complete cooperation from your state department, both from standpoint of warden protection and from standpoint of help in distributing young fish from Federal hatcheries."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to everyone who showed us so much kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our dear husband and father.

Especially do we thank Spigener, the pallbearers, Bro. Oden and Bro. Nix, the quartet, and for the beautiful floral offerings. May God bless each and every one, is our prayer. — Mrs. C. B. Lenoir and family.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Some real good work is being done at this place now. Sometimes we are few in number, but services are always fine.

Our revival services will begin the 3rd Sunday in July and will continue through the following week. Rev. Burrell will assist in the preaching. All the neighboring communities are cordially invited to attend these services.

The day for cemetery, house and yard cleaning has been set for Thursday, July 14. Everybody come and bring tools to work with.

NEW HARMONY — LOMAX

Tuesday after the third Sunday in July, the 19th, has been set as the day to clean off the cemetery at this place, also to clean the church yards. Everyone who is interested please come and help, bringing necessary tools. — Myrtle Jackson. 7-7-2t

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH

Our Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely. We had a large crowd out last Sunday for Sunday school and preaching. We had with us Sunday morning Bro. Priester, of Thomaston, Ga., who delivered a wonderful message.

Visitors are welcome here any and all times.

We had the Hughes-Jones Quartet with us Sunday night for B. Y. P. U., and they rendered some good numbers. We were glad to have them, and welcome them back.

Bro. Ruff filled the pulpit Sunday night and delivered a most powerful message.

The Junior B. Y. P. U. is doing good work under the leadership of Mrs. Vova Whittingdon.

The revival starts at this place next Sunday, July 10. Preaching is to be done by Bro. Bynum, of Decatur, Ala. Everybody come and help, as we are expecting a grand time for the Lord.—Reporter.

CANE CREEK

We are saddened at this writing; our pastor, Rev. E. A. Norris, died Saturday afternoon at 5 p.m. His funeral was held Monday at Corinth church, not far from his home. We, the members of Cane Creek, and friends of many other places, will miss him sorely. Our sympathies are with his family.

Sunday school was well attended on Sunday, but not carried out so well, because our hearts were full because of the death of Bro. Norris.

The W. M. S. met Friday afternoon. We hope more members can be with us next time. We are planning an ice cream supper in the near future. Watch the papers.

Rev. W. P. Lowery will preach for us next Sunday, July 10, at 11 o'clock. Everybody come and hear him.

The FISH ARE BITING at WALNUT CREEK CAMP now. Minnows for sale, Boats and Cabins for rent. COME

HIGHLAND

Our singing society met last Sunday evening with a large number present. We were glad to have the visitors from Shiloh, and invite you back any and all times.

The opening song was led by the chairman, Mr. J. C. Billingsley. Directors for the afternoon were: Mr. Clem Billingsley, Woody Deason, Coy Lockhart, Estes Deason, L. Z. Dickey, Mason Deason, Misses Willie Merle Lockhart, Elizabeth Culp, Mrs. Minnie Nelson, and T. W. Billingsley. Pianist for the afternoon was Miss Gladys Wyatt.

Remember, we have our singing the first Sunday evening in each month, and invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us.

The revival will begin at this place July 31. The Rev. L. T. Merchant of Centreville will help our pastor, the Rev. W. P. Lowery. We invite all who will to come and worship with us. We feel certain that you will enjoy it, and your time spent in service for the Lord will be worth while. You will always receive a welcome at Highland.

Pastures established since January 1, 1930, on land which was severely eroded or on slopes considered too steep to cultivate will be considered as acreage not tilled annually or in regular rotation, states I. W. Duggan, regional director of AAA, in discussing classification of permanent pasture land in checking of performance for 1938.

Cows that are to freshen in the fall should be dry for a period of four to six weeks, states F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service. If the dry cow is on good pasture during the summer or early fall she will need very little extra care. If it is necessary to increase her flesh a mixture of equal parts by weight of corn meal, ground oats, and wheat bran will be found satisfactory, he advises.

One of the features of the annual Farmers and Homemakers Week in Auburn, August 1-5, will be an old time "fiddlers contest".

We Refuse To Give 10 Permanents Out of 100

NOT BECAUSE we don't like to give permanents. We love to—and we give them all day long, every day in the year (as a matter of fact our statistics show that thousands of the gloriously natural looking heads of hair in this part of the country got that way right here in the Ingram System).

BUT NEVERTHELESS we do refuse to give 10 out of 100 permanents, simply and frankly because we'll only give a permanent wave when we're certain that it's going to be good!

HOW DO WE MAKE SURE?

Well, naturally, we're not magicians—we can't work miracles—but we CAN test hair to see if it will "take it" and we CAN insist on the finest ingredients and we CAN insist on employing only expert operators . . . and we DO!

SO IF YOU NEED A FRESH PERMANENT

to take you flatteringly through the Winter—reach for your phone right now and call 9-2101 for a consultation . . . or come down and let Evelyn G. Ingram, our permanent wave diagnostician, see your hair.

MAYBE YOU'LL BE ONE OF THE 10

we turn down but on the other hand maybe you'll be one of the fortunate 90—and if you are we'll give you a soft, glossy, NATURAL-looking permanent that will give you months of happy hair beauty.

"And how are the prices," you ask, "for all this care, for all this expert work, for all of these fine ingredients?" REASONABLE IN THE EXTREME!

Our permanent wave supplies are made for each other—we mean the sachets (pads) come in 100 in a carton with solution enough for just 100 satchets. The Aerogene permanent wave is different—can only be given on an Aerogene Permanent Waver.

Alcohol Not A Medicine Now

For more than a quarter of a century alcohol has been practically abandoned as medicine, but the lay traditions of a centry ago still consider whiskey a panacea to be used as a "first aid" even in cases where its use is gravely dangerous.

Dr. Haven Emerson, former Commissioner of Health of New York City, holder of many European decorations, and now head of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University states: "There is no medical school in the United States or in any modern nation that teaches that alcohol is useful as a stimulant or tonic."

Dr. Harold E. Himwich of Yale holds that because of its narcotic effect, "alcohol interferes with working efficiency".

Dr. Howard Kelly, head of the medical school in John Hopkins University, condemns it as not only useless, but injurious when used as a medical agent. He writes: "There is no disease in the world for which alcohol is a cure. It undoubtedly causes thousands of cases of disease. Its use is ruinous to the kidneys, liver, heart, and blood vessels, and gives rise to that common fatality, high blood pressure".

Scientific research has shown that alcohol is a narcotic, not a stimulant," according to Dr. Wm. J. Mayo, of the far-famed Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn. He says: "Of my classmates in college, so far as I know, none of those who drank steadily is now living".

Dr. W. A. Evans, of Northwestern University, who is one of the most widely quoted medical men in the United States observes: "No man can say that alcohol as a medicine has not had a fair trial. It has. Based in part on this extensive experience and in part on the basic facts, the conclusion is justifiable that alcoholic beverages have no place in the treatment of disease."

Alcohol is not only useless as a remedy for disease, it is the cause of many physical, and particularly mental disorders. 'In New York state alone," writes Dr. Alexander Lamber, of Cornell University, "I believe that 10 per cent of the women and 30 per cent of the men confined in the state asylums are there through forms of insanity caused by alcohol."

As a beverage alcohol is destructive of the physical, mental and moral resources of the drinker, and impairs the social structure of which the drinker is a part by increasing crimes, disease, and social waste and Disorder. — Rev. M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton, Ala.

Clanton "Blues" Play Good Game

Clanton's junior team, the Blues, went down to Opelika Sunday and made quite a name for themselves.

It seems that the management of the Opelika team was a bit disappointed when he saw the Blues and realized that he must offer a holiday gathering games with "a bunch of kids", to use his own words.

However, at that late hour nothing much could be done about it, so the pair of games was played.

And, although our Blues lost both games of the day, word comes that the Opelika fans liked them, and were pulling for them in the afternoon game as they were standing the classy Opelika team on its head, so to speak.

The locals lost the first game 8 to 3, but the fans warmed to them, as they fought gamely against strong odds, and in the afternoon, we hear that the Opelika fans were openly for our boys, and cheered them time and again as they stalled the "big shot" Opelika aggregation. It was only in the ninth inning, after the "the kids" had given their all, that the so-called big team nosed them out, 4 to 3.

We think the Blues have been playing a brand of ball that gives them a right to play alongside our Clamps. After all, there is no monopoly on talent, and we have seen the Clamps call on the Blues from time to time for help — Williamson is a Blue, you know, and, take it or leave it, we say this "kid" can hit with the best the Clamps can trot out.

Why not give "the kids" billing in real games around here along with the Clamps? Or, better still, why not rig up a date between the two teams? We are not all sure but that some of the "big boys" might have their modesty shocked.

Williamson behind the bat is the best receiver on either club, according to our humble judgment; Hook-Arm Easterling will give the Clamps all they want so long as his "kid" arm can hold out (and it might go the route); we wouldn't move Guy McKee off first for anything the Clamps can trot out, either on the base or at the bat; Cox can go any day with the second baseman of the Clamps; at short, the senior team has an edge, but Curlee is one of the most consistent hitters we have seen, and holds down the hot corner like a veteran; in the outfield, the Clamps have an edge in speed and hitting power, but those little fellows are hustling every minute, and many times that is the difference between victory and defeat.

Maybe the powers that be will not allow "the kids" to play in the same park with the Clamps, but just the same we believe things would be rather hot if they did.

Don't misunderstand — we are not down on the Clamps — we like our baseball team, but we like our "kids" too. In fact, we think we have two good ball clubs, with not a whole lot of difference between them, either, except in years and experience.

HEALTH DEPT. ANNOUNCES JULY TYPHOID CLINICS

The schedule of clinics for the month to be held by the local health department for the purpose of giving typhoid injections and diphtheria inoculations at appointed localities in the county was released early this week in a departmental bulletin issued by the health office. The failure of many persons needing protection to attend the June clinics was pointed out by the local health officer, who strongly urged that all persons who have not been protected against typhoid fever since 1935 be sure to repeat the injections this summer.

In commenting on the health program, Dr. S. D. Sturkie stated, "During the month of June a total of 1,143 persons received a complete series of typhoid injections. This represents a considerable decline in the number of persons protected against typhoid as compared with 1935. Already four cases of typhoid have been reported in Chilton County during 1938, two having occurred during the last two weeks. One of these affecting a white woman near Stanton resulted in death. It is unfortunate that the average community prefers to wait until typhoid appears in its midst before acquiring any protection".

The clinic schedule is as follows:

July 5

Mt. Pleasant school, 8:30 to 9:30
Baker school, 10 to 11.
Enterprise school, 1 to 2:15.
Jackson Chapel school, 8:30 to 9:30.
Mineral Springs school, 10 to 11.
Lay Dam school, 11:30 to 1:30.

July 7

Cooper school, 8:45 to 9:45.
Floyd church, 10:15 to 11:15.
Mt. Creek church, 11:45 to 1:45.

July 8

Union Grove school, 9 to 10.
Oak Grove school, 10:30 to 11:30.
Freeman school, 12 to 1:30.
Mitchell Dam school, 3 to 4:30.

Four visits at weekly intervals will be made to each locality named.

One case of poliomyeletis (infantile paralysis) occurring in the City of Clanton was reported to the health department last week.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NEWS

Announcement of plans of the local Farm Security Administration to begin construction on 100 privies to serve 100 resettlement families had been made early this week, according to a health department report.A list of the families to receive this sanitation was prepared by Marvin Durbin, local administrator, and given to the health department several weeks ago, the report revealed. With 30 privies installed by the resettlement group during 1937, this brings the total of families provided with adequatei sanitation to 130. The total number of resettlement families is 140. The privies are being built under the supervision of the health department according to specifications drawn up by the state health department.

"This constitutes", said Dr. S. D. Sturkie, County health officer, "a very forward step in bringing the lesson of sanitation to the rural sections of our county. The educational benefits alone should be very far reaching. No section of the state needs sanitary methods of excreta disposal in individual rural homes more sorely than does Chilton, with its high incidence of hookworm infestation. Surveys made by the health department have shown 30 per cent of the school population of the county to be infested with hookworm. The solution to this problem lies not in the treatment of infested children, but rather in the provision of sanitary toilets in homes. Treatment, while effective from a therapeutic standpoint, usually leaves a small residum of worms, which are sufficient to maintain the disease in the family."

The sanitation program of the local health department is under the direction of Fred H. Buckelew, who serves as the sanitation officer. Br. Buckelew's plans for the future include the showing of films in the county schools for the purpose of educating both the parents and children to the need of sanitation.

Dates Are Set For Dog Vaccinations

Dr. W. L. Parrish announces the above schedule for the vaccination of the dogs of the county:

July 7 — Fleetwood Rasberry's store, 8:30 to 10:30; Maplesville, 12 to 3:30.

July 8 — Lay Dam (at cow barn), 8:30 to 9:30; Leonard Gentry's store, 10 to 11:30.

July 11 — Cooper, 8:30 to 11; Verbena, 12 to 2:30; Mt. Creek, 3 to 4:30.

July 12 — Isabella, 8 to 10; Stanton, 10:30 to 1; Riderville, 2 to 4.

July 13 — New Cedron, 8 to 10; Wilkins' Store, 10:30 to 12:30; Floyd church, 1:30 to 3:30.

July 14 — Pletcher, 8:30 to 11; Shoultsp, 12:30 to 2:30.

July 15 — Union Grove, 8:30 to 11:30; Smith school, 12:30 to 2.

July 18 — Mitchell Dam, 8:30 to 10; Refuge (Robert Mims' home), 1 to 2; Providence, 2:30 to 3:30.

July 19 — Vermont, 8 to 10; Fairview Store, 10:30 to 12; County Training School, 2:30 to 4.

Calling All Ex-Coosians

Editor UnionBanner:

Please come over and be with us on the second Sunday in July — the 10th, at the 19th annual home-coming day celebration at Poplar Springs church, located six miles north of Rockford just west of the Turnpike Road to Sylacauga. This invitation is extended all ex-Coosians of Chilton, their children, grand children and the general public. A great day is in prospect for all who come.

There will be singing from nine to 10 in the Christian Harmony song books, an address by Judye Leon McCord at 10, tnd at 11 the Rev. C. C. Wilcutt and his staff will have charge until the noon hour. Loud speakers will be installed so all can hear. At the noon hour the Avondale Mills Band, of Sylacauga, will give a band concert in the church grove. There will be a full program for the afternoon also.

At the noon hour there will be an informal re-union of the descandants of Alexander Logan, one of the charter members of Poplar Springs church and a deacon of that church until his death. There will be several hundred of his descandants present, it is believed.

Get grand pa, grand ma, pa, ma and all the children and grand children, the in-laws, in cars and trucks, with well filled baskets to help the local church feed the multitude that will be there. Start early and have a day you will never forget. More than two thousand were present last year and a larger crowd is expected this time.

We will be looking for you, so don't disappoint us. The place is Poplar Springs; time, July 10th. — John A. Darden, General Chairman.

REV. E. A. NORRIS

On July 2, at 5:15 p.m., God called home and to rest His humble servant, Rev. E. A. Norris. He had been in poor health for the past three years. He was taken seriously ill on June 10, and Died July 2, at the age of 65 years.

Funeral services were held Monday, July 4, at Corinth church, with Martin in charge. Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby and Rev. J. D. Hughes of Verbena conducted the funeral services. Music by Messrs. J. C. Jones, Dewey Hughes and Melton Hughes, and Miss Neta Jones; accompaniment by Mrs. Claudie Hughes.

Pallbearers were D. C. Norris, C. L. Norris, W. A. Norris, P. C. Norris, Anderson Baker, and Clyde Robinson. Flower girls were Mrs. Pearl Baker, Mrs. Ann Aldredge, and Mrs. Frances Robinson.

He leaves to mourn his going his wife, Mrs. Callie Norris; six children — Miss Ethel Norris, Mrs. A. J. Howard, D. C., C. L., W. A., and P. C. Norris; five grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Sallie Jones; many other relatives, and a host of friends.

Scott Family Had Reunion Sunday

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to report something of the Scott family reunion held last Sunday, July 3rd, at old Sulphur Springs in Jefferson County. The occasion was a stupendous success. Services began at 11 o'clock with a house full of people, and after singing several good songs, and in the absence of Rev. J. C. Thomas, of Elmore County, who was expected to be present, the services were taken in charge by the writer, who tried to preach for about 30 minutes. I attempted to tell the people how we might obtain eternal life and the joys it would bring to everyone rescued from the loss of sin. I tried to give a picture of the two ways which await the human beings of this great world of ours, to-wit: Heaven and hell; and it is all left up to us as to which place we occupy after death. This is a great question for us to decide.

It seemed that all present were enjoying what I had to say; I saw many tears fall while I preached, for the Lord was certainly present in the meeting and in the hearts of most everyone. We closed out for dinner, and acclaimed with uplifted hands that we had all enjoyed the morning services. There was plenty of dinner for all, and everybody enjoyed it.

At 1:30 we started in by singing several good old songs, and then the meeting was turned into a testimony or praise service. The Lord was in the midst of the meeting; we had a wonderful service. Almost everybody got happy and shouted all over the house. We had a wonderful time in praising God in the good old Baptist holy way — I mean old time religion in the old time way. Yes, I had rather be an lod time Christian than anything I know. I wish that everybody could get to be old timey these days; I believe we would get along better.

I will close by saying that we will have another reunion next year at the same place and at the same time — the first Sunday in July, 1939. I pray God that we may all live to see it. I am the oldest one of 16 children. May God bless us all until we meet again. — J. N. Scott.

UNCLE JOHN HAYS ATTENDED SCOTT FAMILY REUNION

The Union-Banner has an interesting letter from Uncle John W. Hays, sometimes known as "Stumps Hills Johnnie", telling of his attendance at the Scott family reunion last Sunday in Jefferson County at old Sulphur Springs. The letter follows:

"It was a great day for all who went — full of unspeakable joys. The Lord was there in a big way, and I saw more people shouting and praising the Lord and enjoying more real happiness than I have seen for many days. The service began in that way in the morning, and closed out at 3:30 with people still shouting and praising the Lord.

"I wish everybody could have been there and enjoyed the day as we did. Beginning at 11 o'clock, several good songs were sung, and a great message was delivered by Rev. J. N. Scott. Then came a bountiful dinner, which was enjoyed by all. In the afternoon we had several good old songs, and then the meeting was turned into a praise service. Most of the people there took a part. To see the many happy people there was a great joy to all.

"One of the nicest parts of the program was three songs played on a mandolin and guitar and sung by Bro. Spencer Scott and his three boys. May God bless them, and I hope that I may hear them again some day.

"I understand that there will be another similar occasion at some place the first Sunday in July, 1939. So I hope we all may meet again. One who enjoyed the Scott reunion,—J. W. Hays.

CEDAR GROVE SOCIAL CLUB

The Cedar Grove Social Club held its regular monthly meeting Saturday, June 11, at the home of Mrs. Leon Mims. We feel that our club is growing stronger and better with each meeting.

Our next meeting will be at Cedar Grove church, and we urge everyone who is interested to attend, to help this club to continue to be strong and helpful. — Oma Lee Pounds.

Birmingham's industrial water supply system cost $7,900,000. The impounding dam is located in Blount County eight miles south of Oneonta, and is 195 feet high, and 1,100 feet long. The dam is across the Blackburn fork of the Warrior River, and will impound approximately 21 billion gallons of water. It is conveyed to Birmingham, a distance of 31 miles, through 60-inch pipes, and has a capacity of 80 million gallons daily.

WELCH - FIQUETTE

A wedding of much interest was quietly solemnized on Saturday afternoon, July 2nd, in the Methodist parsonage at Elmore Station when Mrs. Olive Yarbough Welch became the bride of Mr. C. C. Fiquette.

The bride was charmingly attired in a fan pleated model of triple sheer in black, with which she used pink accessories. In keeping with the utter simplicity of the occassion the bride carried no bouquet.

The ring ceremony was used, the vows being read by the Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Robinson Springs Methodist Church, in the presence of members of the immediate families and intimate friends.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip to points in South Alabama and Florida.

The bride possesses an attractive personality, and as president of the local Pilot Club enjoys a wide popularity, both here and in Montgomery.

The groom holds a responsible position with the Taylor Wholesale Company, and is well known and popular throughout the county.

The many friends of this charming couple wish for them a long and happy life.

No governor of Alabama has died in office since the present constitution was adopted in 1901. In fact, only one Alabama governor has died in office in more than 60 years, and not one has resigned during that time. The governor dying during his term was William J. Samford, and the lieutenant governor passing out before the end of his term was Thomas E. Knight, Jr.

REVIVAL AT REFUGE

The revival will begin here Wednesday night, July 13. Evangelist M. D. Garrett will do the preaching. He will have a large tent and lour speaker for use if it becomes necessary to use them.

Quite a bit of interest has been manifest concerning this meeting. Several seem to be interested to know if this is the man who preached at the courthouse some weeks ago. This is the same man. Come and hear him! — M. Lockhart, pastor.

FROM J. N. ERVIN

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper. I have seen an account in your paper about the absentee ballot box being taken. Also the Sheriff has not tried to make an arrest in the case. This is nothing strange to me, as I happen to be in a position to know by experience.

One of my mules was taken, and I called for the Sheriff, he came and looked around a while, or in other words a few minutes, and said that it looked to him like the mule was out grazing around some place. So the sheriff and his deputy got in their car and went back to Clanton.

I saw that the sheriff didn't intend to try to catch the man that stole my mule, so I went over to see Mr. T. V. Mims about tracking down the thief, and he said that he would try I told him if he would go I would pay his expenses as I knew he would get only a small arrest fee for his trouble.

So Mr. Mims went to work, and after a lots of hard tracking, with the help of two other officers, one from Wilton, Ala., and one from Piper, Ala., the thief was caught and brought to Clanton for trial. He pleaded guilty of the crime, and on Sheriff Hardy's and Niven's recommendations he was given one year for grand largeny.

This is not all that could be said and be the truth. I don't think that we need such men as that to run our affairs. You people that vote, look back over their record and see what they have done for the last four years: If you need anything else, I think we have it in the line of news. —J. N. Ervin.

WITHDRAWS FROM SUPT. OF ED. RACE

Luther E. Little Accepts Place With State College; Will Finish Present Term

Prof. Luther E. Little last week officially notified the Democratic County Executive Committee that he had withdrawn from the race for county superintendent of education, for which office he was nominated without opposition in the May Democratic primary election.

Prof. Little has accepted a position with one of the state's major colleges, the exact nature of which, however, was not obtainable at this writing. It was learned, though, that he would do research work in connection with the college before he enters upon his actual duties, and would finish out his term as county superintendent of education.

Luther E. Little has been active in educational affairs of this county for a number of years. Attending Chilton County High School for a while, he went to Woodlawn High School, where he finished. He graduated from Howard College in 1927, having taught in the public schools three terms before finishing college; he taught five terms after he finished college and before he was elected county superintendent in 1933.

A member of the Clanton Masonic lodge, he is at present president of the local Kiwanis Club, a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, a national educational fraternity, is a Baptist deacon, and teacher of the young men's Sunday school class, a position he resigned last Sunday. He has been very active in Kiwanis, Masonic and church work, as well as all other civic movements. He is chairman of the Cripple Children's Society of Chilton County.

The many friends of Prof. Little will be sorry to learn that he will soon leave our county, but will rejoice with him that he has been honored with the high connection he has made. The good wishes of all will go with him into his new field of endeavor, together with the hope that much success may await both him and Mrs. Little wherever and into whatever work they may be called.

How Long Will Fodder Keep?

Several months ago a bundle of fodder was left at The Union-Banner office which was said to have been pulled in this county by Tab Traywick in 1903. So somebody asked: How long will fodder remain as good roughage for cattle?

Well, here comes one better. Our good old friend and pioneer Clanton citizen, Mr. W. H. Sartor, succeeded in getting hold of a few bundles of fodder that are said to be 43 years old. They came from the barn of Prof. Joe Bone, of near Billingsley, and were said to have been pulled by old Rev. W. J. Bone in Paint Creek community near Marble Valley in Coosa County in the early fall of 1895. The fodder was brought to this county that same fall when Rev. Bone moved his family over here in a four-ox wagon.

The fodder is still in a fine state of preservation and does not appear to be over a few years old. One bundle is on display at The Banner office for the inspection of those wishing to see it. The Union-Banner is indebted to both Mr. Sartor and Prof. Bone for this bit of interesting data.

F. E. AND C. U. OF A. TO PUT ON DRIVE IN ALABAMA

Lynn, Ala., July 11. — A drive to enlist Alabama farmers in the ranks of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union will get under way July 18, it was announced today by McKinley Gilbert, state chairman of the farmers' organization and director of the drive. Ed Regor, nationally known Farmers Union leader and a close coworker of the late John A. Simpson, will be in the state for a week's speaking tour, Mr. Gilbert said. His itinerary schedules Mr. Regor in Chilton County at 7:30 p.m., on Monday, August 18.

Officers of the county organization of the Farmers Union are in charge of local arrangements. Vester Burkett, state president, will accompany Mr. Regor. Mr. Regor is state organizer of the Oklahoma section of the Farmers Union and is largely responsible, Mr. Gilbert said, for the splendid growth of the organization in that state. "He is thoroughly familiar with the problems facing the farmers today", he said.

LEE HUGHES BACK IN SHOP

Mr. Lee Hughes, the watch fixer, wishes the announcement made that he will be in his shop by the time you read this issue of The Union-Banner. Mr. Hughes is just fresh out of Central Alabama Hospital, where he has been undergoing treatment for the past three weeks. Mr. Hughes will be glad to have you come to see him when you need any watch repairing done.

CLUSTERS OF APPLES

There comes to The Union-Banner report of an apple tree near Big Springs in Autauga county, which is literally filled with apples and the fruit nearly all appears in clusters of from three to five apples. The tree has much fruit every year, but this is the first time the apples have appeared in clusters this way. It is on the place of Mrs. W. W. Fox of Billingsley Route 1; Mrs. Fox has several other trees and they are all filled with fruit this year. This report was turned in by Mrs. C. P. Jones, of Isabella community, sister of Mrs. Fox.

Dad criticized the sermon. Mother thought the organist made a lot of mistakes. Sister didn't like the choir's singing. But they all shut up when little Billy chirped in with the remark: "I think it was a darn good show for a nickel".

NEW ROAD BEING BUILT LEADING TO GRAGG FIELD

Work is going forward on building a short-cut road to the airport. It will begin at the southeast corner of the port, near the hangar, and run west, joining to the east end of the present main street through Reynolds Addition.

This will be a much shorter route from the city to Gragg Field. It is being constructed with WPA labor. It will probably be several weeks before the road is opened for traffic.

WARNING — LOOK OUT FOR WHITE-FRINGED BEETLE

The office of the county agent is sending out the warning to everyone to look out for the white-fringed beetle. This is a destructive insect, a native of South America, nd has invaded parts of the United States. It is capable of causing serious damage to field, garden and truck crops.

Farmers and all other people are asked to report all suspicious-looking beetles to the county agent or federal officials of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The agent's office in Clanton has just recently mailed out bulletins describing this beetle. You are asked to look over the bulletin and report any suspects at once.

REEDIE TRAYWICK SAYS STATEMENT INCORRECT

I would like to correct bad mistake that was printed in last week's paper about Reedie Traywick's so-called shooting spree.

He did not have a rifle or shotgun; only some shells were found in his pocket when arrested for public drunkenness. The fine, which was $12.50, has been paid. — Reedie Traywick.

MAGIC CITY FLIERS GIVEN BIG FISH FRY

Glenn E. Messer And 27 Boys and Girls Entertained At Martin's Camp

Headed by that well known aviator, Glenn E. Messer, twenty-seven boys and girls from Birmingham flew down to Clanton last Wednesday afternoon. Landing their planes, nine in all, at Gragg Field, the aviators were carried to Mell Martin's camp on Coosa River, and a fish supper was served them early in the evening.

The visitors were: Nancy Forbes, Walter Harper, Billy Hitt, Billie Suttles, Eugene Munger, Jr., William Carruthers, Winfred M. Grissom, Robert Whitman, Mildred Wilkerson, Leslie Kilgore, Earle Newman, Pete Majerik, Jr., Fred M. Leslie, J. C. Brown, R. A. Bain, Jr., Sgt. O. M. Smith, Sgt. J. C. Thomas, Carl Barnett, Joe Borders, Rella Rudulph, Croom Beatty III, Glenn Messer, Ned Mallard, Bob Gilley, Floyd Smith.

Some fifteen or twenty local people attended the supper, which was furnished by the Clanton Aero Club. Dr. V. J. Gragg served as toastmaster, who called upon various ones present for short speeches, including; C. Fenn Jones, Judge L. H. Reynolds, W. M. Wyatt of Montevallo, Judge J. Lee Smith, Luther E. Little. Glenn E. Messer served as spokesman for the visitors, all of whom were called upon to stand or make brief talks.

The aviators spent the night at the nearby camps on the river, and were served breakfast early the next morning, after which, they were brought back to the airport and seen off toward their destination.

Southernaires In Concert At Cooper

The Southernaires, of Birmingham, will put on a concert at Chestnut Creek schoolhouse on Saturday night, July 23rd, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. You know what these singers are; you have heard them over the radio, and you will want to hear them in person. All are invited and urged to attend this concert at Cooper schoolhouse.

The all day singing will be held at the church on Sunday following, the the fourth Sunday in this month. All singers are invited.

WORKING IN MONTEVALLO

Mr. Guy DeShazo, who has been in Panama City, Fla., for the past several years, has just recently taken up a job with The Montevallo Times in Montevallo. Mr. DeShazo is an experienced newspaper man and printer, having worked with the Union-Banner, with a paper in Fort Payne, in the government printing office in Washington, and in other places over this state and Florida.

Mr. DeShazo's friends will be glad to learn that he has come back to this part of the country. He expects to bring his wife to Montevallo within a short time.

CLANTON BECOMING MORE AIR-MINDED

For a long time a few people in Clanton have had their attentions turned somewhat to aeronautics. As far back as 1912, Drs. J. E. Gowan and A. M. Gowan put on a big city lot sale in Clanton, and they thought bringing an airship to Clanton would attract the people. Well, they brought a ship here, and the people flocked in from the four winds. So far as this editor remembers, this was the first airplane that ever landed and took off in Clanton. The best we remember, it was a rather crude affair, and landing and taking off in the small patches of Gowan Addition was a most difficult and hazardous operation; but it was done, and we do not remember of any mishaps. That was back in 1912.

Since that time, there have been periods when Clanton and Chilton County thought but little about airplanes; but then someone would go to the city and take a hop or visit a big air show somewhere and come back with a little renewed air enthusiasm. Away back in some of these early years Dr. V. J. Gragg took a liking to the air, and the idea stuck with him. He would not turn loose, or else the idea would not let him go; any way Dr. Gragg kept on keeping on until others became interested. It so happened that The Union-Banner and the other newspapers of Clanton that existed during past years were all favorable to air progress and gave freely of their space to it.

Finally the opportunity came for Clanton to get some kind of airport. Dr. Gragg latched on to the opportunity and got local officials interested. He persistently and tenaciously held on until we now have a right creditable little field and there are two planes owned by Clanton people. Often there are visitors from the nearby cities — sometimes one, sometimes several planes. The most was when the field was dedicated on July 4th, 1937. There were nine planes here last week at one time from Birmingham; all craft was housed in the brick hangar for the night.

Well, that is air progress, but there are still worlds to conquer. The future holds much for aeronautics, and Clanton is becoming more and more air-minded every day. The Union-Banner says hurrah for those who have kept the spark alive, and may the little flame keep burning with more and more brilliance.

QUARTERLY MEETING CHILTON ASSOCIATION TO BE HELD 21st

The quarterly meeting of Chilton Association will be held at New Salem church on Thursday, July 21, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. We hope all churches will come and bring your pastors. We are looking for every officer to be present with reports. Our district vice president, Mrs. J. H. Ingram, from Lineville, is to be with us. The program is as follows:

1-CENT SALE AT LEVINE'S

Levine Brothers are this week conducting a one-cent sale. This is a novel adventure for a dry goods store in Clanton, and should prove most attractive to the trading public. Read the small advs. of Levine's on other pages of this paper.

REV. MAURICE HODGENS ANNOUNCES REVIVALS

The revival meeting at Collins Chapel will begin Sunday, July 17. Rev. Herman Sollie of Birmingham will do the preaching.

The revival at Jemison will begin Sunday, July 24, with Rev. Grady Williams of Clanton doing the preaching. — M. Hodgens.

Body Of J. T. Crane Exhumed Friday

State authorized doctors from Birmingham and Auburn came here last Friday, and early in the morning went out to Adams station and exhumed the body of J. T. Crane, who was buried over three weeks prior to that time. An autopsy was held, and it is said the doctors decided the Crane boy died from alcoholic poisoning which caused obstruction in a large blood vessel near the brain. Some entertained the idea that Crane might have met foul play, but indications are that this deduction is unfounded.

MASONIC CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT JEMISON 27-28

The 26th annual session of the Chilton County Masonic Conference will be held with Jemison Lodge No. 411 on Wednesday and Thursday, July 27 and 28.

All lodges in the conference are requested to send representatives to this session of the conference. All Masons are invited and urged to attend. Robert B. Keith of Birmingham will conduct the conference. — H. A. Harris, Secretary. 7-14-2t

Program Friday Night At Courthouse

Tex Waterbury and his Hollywood Saddle Scouts, with Roma, the Hollywood cowgirl, and Kenny, the fiddling kid, also Hayseed Zeke, will appear in concert at the courthouse in Clanton at 8 o'clock Friday night of this week. The sponsors are Liberty Hill B. Y. P. U., and the price of admission is 15c and 25c. The public is invited to come out and enjoy the mirth.

Mayor Gives Further Data On City Street Paving

Attention Property Owner:

The most reliable information I can get is to the effect that our street paving will cost about $60.00 for each 75 feet of property abutting the street, paved 20 feet in center of street, including the drainage. That is, the paving and drainage will cost each property owner about 80 cents per lineal foot for property abutting the street paved. Take notice that this is an estimated average cost over the city, but does not mean that each property owner will pay exactly the same per lineal foot on property owned. Conditions of the street vary. Some may require a lot of pipe to carry the water, which cost is distributed over the property affected by putting the water under the ground, while on other streets no pipe will be required at all.

My letter published in our papers July 7th explained fully the conditions of the city and our plans for the future. All we are asking you to do, is to borrow the money you need from the banks, or from an individual, to pay your portion of the paving cost, and not ask the city to consume any of its credit on the streets, but retain it to do the other very necessary improvement to our water and sewage system; thereby you assist in continuing the flow of government money into the business channels of our city.

Who in Clanton owns a 75-foot lot and cannot raise $60.00 for paving which immediately raises the property value? I answer — no one. Should there be a mortgage on your property the mortgagee may better lend you the money for the reason that should the city place an assessment on your property, the assessment at once supersedes the mortgage, and the property can be sold by the city to pay the assessment

I appeal to you, not for my sake, but for your own personal benefit, and for the future development of Clanton, to assist us in completing our plans as outlined in my July 7th letter. Do not be a slacker, a kicker, a knocker at this time when the government is trying to give you 45 per cent of every dollar we spend on city improvements.

Remember this. The government WILL NOT release to Clanton the $27,818.00 until we place in the bank our part of the cost of paving, and the government requires a signed statement from the bank that the cash is on deposit subject to be paid out only for paving.

In a few days a committee from your street will call on you for your portion of the cost. Make check payable to the City of Clanton. The city will return to you any portion not required in the cost of paving in front of your property.

Respectfully,
C. FENN JONES, Mayor.

WHEN ARE WE LAWBREAKERS?

When are we lawbreakers? Ten years ago if a man walked down the street in most cities with a $5 gold piece in one pocket and a pint of whiskey in another, the whiskey made him a lawbreaker. But the present administration at Washington has reversed it. It has removed the ban on whiskey and placed it on the $5 gold piece.

WILL PREACH AT TEMPLE JULY 17 TO 31

W. E. THURMOND

Rev. W. E. Thurmond, of Pittsfield, Ill., will be at Temple church, three miles east of Clanton, on Sunday, July 17th, and will preach each evening for two weeks, through the 31st, at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Thurmond conducted a revival at Temple church five years ago. The pastor, Rev. A. T. Hickmon, invites the public to attend these services.

CLANTON FIRMS TO JOIN IN CASH PLAN

Merchants Will Give Away $25 Every Week, Beginning Next Saturday

Last week a movement was launched to reorganize the plan for Clanton merchants to give away $25.00 here every Saturday. The first awarding of the cash prizes will be made at 10 o'clock next Saturday morning in front of the courthouse. It is expected that a large crowd of people will be in Clanton at this hour for the awards.

Below is a list of the merchants participating in the plan, all of which are giving trade tickets with each 25-cent purchase:

Ben's, Alred Drug Co., Levine Bros., Clanton Cash Store, Murray-Bell Hardware Co., The Leader, Woco Service Station, Kemp Dry Goods Co., Teel's Service Station, Yellow Front Store, The Parisian Store, Bean & Taylor Grocery Co., Peoples Cash Store, Rockett Dry Goods Co., Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Co., Taylor Grocery & Market, The Dollar Store, Piggly Wiggly Grocery, Clanton Building Supply Co., Big Four Hardware Co., Calloway Drug Co., Western Auto Associate Store.

Clanton Flying Club Is Being Formed

For the past few days Mr. Earle Newman, one of the Glenn Messer flyers, of Birmingham, has been in Clanton working on the organization of the Clanton Flying Club. Satisfactory progress is being made, but if there are others who wish to get in on the club, they should get in touch with Mr. Leo Thompson, Charles Wade, or Mr. Newman. It is a grand opportunity for someone to learn to fly.

JOHN MOSES ROBINSON

John Moses Robinson, age 69, died at the home of his brother, W. C. Robinson, in Clanton, Monday morning, after a short illness. He was a resident of Deatsville.

Funeral services were held at Providence, Beat 16, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Dr. S. J. Ezell; Spigener directing.

He is survived by: two brothers — W. C., of Clanton, and J. E. of Havana, Fla.; one son—James, of Havana; one aunt, Mrs. J. C. Alred; one niece, Mrs. Margaret Robinson Lambert, of Tallahassee, Fla.

Pallbearers were: Ed Holland, Leon Richardson, and John Fuller, of Deatsville, and H. S. Shaw, Bud Jones, and W. J. Billingsley of Clanton.

GIRL DROWNED AT COOPERS ON JULY 6

Remains Buried Near Victim's Home In Elmore County Friday, July 8th

A very sad occurrence happened last Wednesday afternoon when Miss Renalda Heisler, age 15 years, was drowned in Chestnut Creek at Cooper while she and some more children were wading. The girl was said to have stepped off into a hole some seven or eight feet deep, and heroic efforts of the other children to bring her to safety failed. The alarm was given and soon most of the population of the little village was at the scene. The body was recovered after it had been in the water about fifteen minutes. Artificial respiration was administered for several hours, but to no avail.

Funeral services were held at Thelma church, near the child's home in Elmore County Friday, conducted by Rev. J. G. Threadgill and Rev. Alex Harden. Burial was at Batchelor cemetery, Martin directing.

Surviving are the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heisler, of Dexter, in Elmore County, Route 1 from Wetumpka. There are two brothers — Wm. A. and J. M.; three sisters — Mrs. Ethel Wagoner, Mrs. D. C. Crew of Cooper, and Mrs. Agnes Forbes. The child was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Crew at Cooper at the time she met her untimely death.

NEW STAMPS SONG BOOKS

There are Stamps-Baxter song books for sale at The Union-Banner office. If you want the newest book out, get one now.

SELMA GIRL WINS RACE HONORS

Gypsy Ann Boyd, Selma's noted little 11-year-old horsewoman, carried her banner of victory into another corner of the South on July 4, taking first prize in the five-gaited pony class with her steed, Cotton Stockings, at the Columbia, Tenn., horse show, in the presence of 4,000 cheering spectators, according to word received here.

Gypsy has taken firsts for five years at Southern horse shows, either with Cotton Stockings or Hot Toddy. Hot Toddy was recently sold at a record price to C. G. Williams, of Elizabeth, N. C.

Gypsy Ann Boyd is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Boyd, formerly of Clanton.

VISITORS FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Foshee of Pinedale community have as visitors for a few days the following, whose homes are in Florida: Mrs. M. D. Foshee and son, Billy, of Lakeland; Mrs. G. R. Lovering and son, Randall, of Lakeland; Mrs. C. W. Smith, of Tampa, Miss Mayo Foshee, of Lakeland.

Also, there are two granddaughters from Greenwood, Miss., who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Foshee. They will go on to visit other relatives in Anniston.

LITTLE DOROTHY ANNETTE SMITH

Dorothy Annette Smith, age 19 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Smith, of Ashland and Montgomery, died at a Montgomery hospital last Friday. Burial was Sunday in Clanton cemetery, following a brief funeral at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Broadhead. Services were conducted by the Rev. Oscar A. Davis; Martin directing. Surviving are the father and mother and three sisters.

F. E. & C. U. Of A. To Have Big Picnic July 18

Chilton County Farmers Union will have a general picnic July 18th at Bruce's Grove, two miles north of Clanton. We will have plenty of speaking. Mr. Regor, our national field worker, will be there for the day.

Monday night, July 18, at 7:30 o'clock at the courthouse, Mr. Regor will speak. Folks, if you can't hear these men Monday at the picnic, be at the courthouse Monday night.

The public is invited to attend one or both of these meetings. There will be plenty of drinks and refreshments on the ground. Come! — Gresham Smith, County Secretary; D. M. Oates, County Executive Board Member.

New Highway Will Go Around Shades Mo'nt'n

Chilton county citizens will probably be interested in knowing that a project has been finally approved whereby a new four-lane highway will be built into Birmingham from the south and connecting with the present thoroughfare where the old Green Springs road now connects. It will go into the city from that point by way of Edgewood and Oxmoor; it will cross Shades Mountain through Walker's Gap, thus eliminating much of the hilly and loopy road.

The project will cost $400,000 and will furnish labor for 600 WPA workers, through Federal aid.

Probably within a year from now, Chilton county people going to Birmingham will enter by way of the new broad highway, and will not have to make all those hair-pin curves up and down Shades Mountain.

University News

Only five of 17 fields of business activity in Alabama in May recorded gains over operations in April, according to a release from the University of Alabma Bureau of Business Research.

Pig iron production in May showed a four per cent gain over April, with 164,322 gross tons; there were awarded 249,700 square feet of building contracts, a rise of 49.5 per cent over the preceding month, and this was valued at $2,353,000, an increase of 92.1 per cent. Retail sales in 324 independent stores amounted to $3,720,000, an increase of only one per cent. Building contract value was the only activity ahead of May, 1937, with an increase of 99.7 per cent

Automobile sales (new passenger cars) numbered 1,668, and this was 57.5 per cent off 1937, and 9.7 per cent less than sales for the preceding month. Birmingham department store sales were 13.8 per cent off as compared with May a year ago, and 2.9 per cent below April sales. Gasoline sales receded 2.7 per cent with 18,536,000 gallons; sale of ordinary life insurance dropped 23.1 per cent below May, 1937, and 0.7 per cent below April, 1938. Retail sales dropped 19.7 per cent below May, 1937.

A study of population figures for 1930 in Alabma, prepared by Dr. H. H. Chapman, professor of statistics and accounting in the University of Alabma, reveals that in the above year there were 311,587 persons residing in Alabama who were born in other states, while there were 691,618 who were born in Alabma and who were living elsewhere.

Dr. Chapman points out that the result was a net loss in the Alabama migration balance of 380,031. The cities of Alabama constituted the only population group which had drawn from other states anything like the same proportion of population that Alabama had contributed to the rest of the nation. The proportion of rural farm population and of the negro population which had migrated into this state is very small.

Said Mr. Chapman: "It is entirely possible that the movement of a large proportion of the rural farm population from the farms of the South woud permit and encourage a use of the land which would not only increase the per capita wealth and income of those who continued to be engaged in agriculture, but also an increase in the total agricultural income and wealth."

The professor pointed out that a certain amount of migration is necessary in an economy which gives any room for individual initiative in choosing occupations. While the withdrawal of large numbers of people from a community is almost certain to disrupt the economy of that community and to impair seriously the ability of those who remain to provide for themselves, yet on the other hand, the immigrants usually find difficulty in adjustin gthemselves and are very likely to find that they have at best exchanged a relatvely low but secure standard of living for one that is immediately considerably higher but which is extremely uncertain.

HIGHLAND

There will be a cemetery cleaning at this place Friday, July 20. All who are interested come and bring tools and help.

Also, remember the revival will begin the fifth Sunday in July. Everyone is invited to come and worship with us. The Rev. L. T. Merchant will be the helper. — J. C. Billingsley.

AUGUST 1-6 DATES FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn, May 16. — One of the most outstanding programs from the recreational and educational standpoint ever held is being worked out for hundreds of Alabama farmers and farm women who will gather at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 1 to 6, for the 1938 Farmers and Homemakers Week, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

As part of the educational and recreational program, Director Davis says that state and national agricultural leaders will be present to address the farm people. Community singing, so popular in the past, will be continued this year, as will the sections or classes in livestock, landscaping, poultry, forestry, and other phases of agriculture in which the farm people are interested.

The latest facts on farming and homemaking gathered through experiments of the Alabama Experiment Station will be given the farm men and women, the director states. In addition, tours will be conducted so that the group may see what is being done to improve Alabama crops and farm practices.

All persons attendiny Farmers and Homemakers Week will be housed in cottages of the state camp on the campus at Auburn. Assemblies for speakers and singing will be in the assem-

CEMETERY CLEANING AT CHESTNUT CREEK

Please take notice that on next Wednesday, July 20, we will meet to clean off the cemetery at Chestnut Creek. If you have any relatives, friends or loved ones at rest there, will you please come or send someone to help in this good work?

Our revival begins the first Sunday in August and runs through the following Sunday. — J. T. Sorrell.

The Mulberry Baptist church announces that there will be a cemetery and general clean-up all day Thursday, July 21. Everyone concerned is cordially invited to take part.

SARDIS

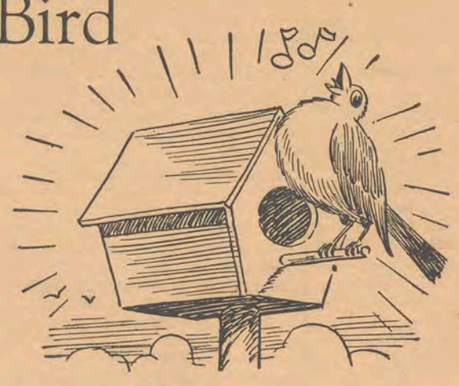
Wednesday, July 20, has bet as the date for cleaning the cemetery and church grounds at Sardis Baptist church. Those who are interested are invited to come with tools sufficient to work with. Be there early, as the work can be finished while it is cool. Don't forget the date.

MRS. MARIAH CHASTEEN

Mrs. Mariah Henley Chasteen died July 4th at the home of her son, Julius, in Wylam.

She was laid to rest at Pleasant Grove cemetery July 5th. Rev. R. M. Stillwell was in charge of funeral services, assisted by Rev. J. W. Giles of Wylam. Spigener directed.

She leaves four sons—Edgar, Evans, Reauby, and Julius Chasteen, and a host of friends. — Reauby Chasteen, Calera, Ala.



CEMETERY CLEANING AT BETHANY CHURCH

There will be a working at Bethany church Thursday, July 21, for the purpose of cleaning off the cemetery. We hope that everyone who is interested will come and help.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy has been an effective social and political ally of both her father, former mayor of Boston, and her husband, ambassador to the Court of St. James. But the news that, in accordance with her husband's decision, she presented only seven American women at court is one of her rare appearances in the headlines.

Mrs. Kennedy Aids Father and Husband

The 11 engaging Kennedys have been viewed more or less en bloc in the news and Mrs. Kennedy has never been in a very sharp lens focus.

She was one of the prettiest of Boston debutantes, 30 years ago, a rollicking girl with black hair and eyes of Irish blue. Back home from her convent training, she taught her father "Sweet Adeline."

He was John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald, and in his campaigns he sang his way to memorable political fame—riding like a surfboard the long, lingering "swipes" of the song taught him by his daughter—"the flower of his heart."

Joseph P. Kennedy, her childhood playmate, was twenty-five years old when they were married in 1914. He borrowed $2,000 for a down payment on a $6,500 house. Their fortunes grew as their family, with Mr. Kennedy president of a bank, in a year or two after their marriage.

Fortune and Family Grew Up Together

Mrs. Kennedy once told a Boston drygoods clerk that she bought 200 suits and dresses a year. It takes a heap of shopping to make a home, like the Kennedys', and she became known among her friends as a paragon of household efficiency comparable to the one in Solomon's offhand apostrophe to such skills and virtues.

Now she is mistress of the "castle" which was once J. Pierpont Morgan's home; also of a beautiful mansion in Bronxville, N. Y., a huge summer estate at Hyannisport, Cape Cod, and a villa at Palm Beach, built by one of the Wanamakers.

She is slender and girlish, comely and vivacious, weighs 115 pounds and takes size 14 in dresses. Vionnet makes her gowns and she is envied by other women for her magnificent jewels—notable among them being a ruby and diamond bracelet which, it is said, is matched only by the one the Aga Khan gave his princess.

Has Diamond a Potentate Might Envy

But she never lets the children run to unseemly display, holding them to restraint in regime and dress. Even without all these adventitious fixings, say her friends, she would be an admirable ambassador's wife, with her own quite adequate equipment of tact, charm and intelligence.

MAN and boy, this journeyman has helped process a lot of explorers' and adventurers' copy through the news mill. If it was ghost-written, it had only slick and synthetic excitement, like Ersatz pastry, and if it wasn't it was usually dull. Happily in contrast are the doubtlessly authentic and personally written yarns of W. H. Tilman, leader of the British Mount Everest expedition, now getting under way.

Yarns From Mt. Everest Ring True

These stories from the Tibetan base camp have a professional ease and fluency, along with a ring of integrity which gives assurance that Mr. Tilman is really writing them. There is no ghost on the job here.

Mr. Tilman is thirty-nine years old, a keen-faced, hard-muscled Britisher of medium stature, who has been exploring ever since he left college.

He has climbed mountains in the Alps and in Africa, including Mounts Kenya, Kilimanjaro and Ruvenzori. This is his fifth expedition to the Himalayas. The entrants in this high hurdle event are not youngsters. N. E. Odell is forty-seven, F. S. Smythre is thirty-seven and the others are all over thirty.

Bull Terrier, White Dog

When bull baiting was abolished by law in England, sporting men developed the bull terrier for dog fighting and badger baiting. About 1875, dalmatian and pointer blood were introduced in the strain, making them look less like bulldogs The bull terrier is always white, has a long tapering head, wide, deep chest, stiff, glossy hair and tapering tail. He is gentle and good natured, but fears nothing and is a good watch dog.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FORESTS AND PARKS

Montgomery, July 12. — Occasionally the distinction between forests and parks becomes somewhat confused in the public mind, states Col. Page S. Bunker, State Forester and Director of State Parks. The basic difference is the dominance of the economic motive in the management of most forests and that of scenic, educational and recreational interests in the case of a park. This distinction is very clear in connection with public reservations such as public forests as contrasted with state and national parks.

In the case of a forest the reason for being in most cases is the profitable production of a sustained yield of wood and timber, says Col. Bunker. While certain recreational facilities may be developed in a forest as a public relations measure or for other purposes, the major use of an area devoted to forestry must always be mainly commercial and no incidental or collateral uses should interfere with this. As a result, recreational improvements in a well managed forest are quite limited, usually being restricted to camp ground facilities, picnic conventiences and occasionally certain water improvements. Rarely do they include overnight facilities beyond those of camp ground character. The underlying principle o fforest recreational facilities, apart from the public relations standpoint, lies in concentrating visitors at particular centers with view to fire hazard reduction, since people roaming throughout the extent of the forest impose a constant threat of fire.

FARMERS AND WIVES WILL STUDY AT FARMERS WEEK

Auburn, July 11. — Alabama farmers and their wives will have an opportunity to "go to school" and at the same time see at first hand what improved farm practices accomplish when they visit the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for the annual Farmers and Homemakess Week, August 1 to 5.

Classes will be held this year as usual in agronomy, livestock, home economics, horticulture, agricultural engineering, and poultry. However, an innovation this year is the arrangement for farmers to ask qnestions and t odiscoss with fellow farmers the various problems in each of the subjects. Farmers who have made a success in livestock raising, for instance, will be asked to tell other farmers just how they carried on the work for this success.

"Farmers and Homemakers Week this year is going to be devoted to a great extent to farmers' discussion of their common problems and the solution of these problems", states P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service. "Of course, the tours will be held ot allow farmers and their wives to see what is being done in research work by the Alabama Experiment Station, but we are interested this year in hearing how farmers have succeeded with various types of farming. We believe that great headway can be made in the state's agriculture through these farmer forums".

CATTLE NEED WATER, SALT, AND SHADE IN SUMMER

Auburn, July 11. — Cattle cannot make good gains unless they are provided with shade, water, and salt, advises J. C. Grimes, head of the animal industry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Cattle eat grass in the cool of the morning and evening. After they have had a fill of grass they like to get a good fresh drink of water and lie down in the shade. There they regurgitate, rechew, and digest their food. They cannot do a good job of digesting food and laying on flesh or manufacturing milk if they are thirsty or uncomfortable from standing in the hot sun.

The kind of minerals which cattle will need depends to a large extent on the kind of plants growing in the pasture, and especially on the type of soil on which these plants grow. As a rule, calcium, phosphorus, and salt are the minerals needed most under Alabama conditions. Salt is especially relished by cattle, and since it is available on every farm, should always be provided in the pasture. Calcium may be supplied in the form of ground limestone, and phosphorus in the form of steam bone meal.

KILLING HOUSEFLIES

Auburn, July 11. — The adult housefly may be killed in buildings by spraying with a kerosene-pyrethrum mixture, says J. M. Robinson, head of the zoology-entomology department at Auburn. The pyrethrum extract, known as 19-to-1, is effective.

A mixture of one part of the pyrethrum extract in 19 parts of kerosene when sprayed in a room is effective in killing flies. After spraying the room it should be closed for about a half hour in order to get best results. Pyrethrum extract may be obtained through local drug stores or the farmers' exchange.

MORE HOME GROWN FEED IS NEEDED FOR CATTLE

Auburn, July 11. — More home raised feed and better pastures are needed for the increased number of cattle in Alabama, says Prof. J. C. Grimes, head of the animal husbandry department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"It is evident", says Mr. Grimes, "from figures recently released from the office of J. C. Garrett, state statistician, that Alabama farmers are turning to bee fproduction as one means of supplementing their incomes from cotton. Mr. Garrett's figures show that there were 143,000 more cattle on Alabama farms January 1, 1938, than on January 1, 1925. This increase was shared by all counties within the state except Jefferson, Autauga, Mobile, Clarke, Washington, and Pike. These six counties showed a slight decline in cattle population between 1925 and 1938.

"That Alabama cattle are increasing in quality as well as number is indicated by reports from county agents which show that more than 1,200 pure bred bulls have been bought by Alabama breeders during the last three years.

"The above information will be gratifying to those who are interested in a more diversified system of farming in Alabama. It might be well to point out, however, that pasture improvement and the growing of winter feed crops must accompany increased cattle numbers if cattle growing is to prove profitable. No county has ever yet become a great libestock section that did not at the same time become a great feed producing section. Fortunately, Alabama can grow both the winter feed and pasture necessary for a great cattle country. Peanut hay is grown in South Alabama. Johnson grass an alfalfa hay in West Alabama, and lespedeza hay in North Alabama, while all parts of the state can grow soybean hay, velvet beans, and silage. When any or all of these crops are combined with peanut meal or cotton seed meal they furnish an excellent ration for wintering stocker cattle or for fattening steers."

OLD FOLKS SERVICES AT COUNTY LINE 5TH SUNDAY

There will be special services for older people and ministers the fifth Sunday in July at County Line or Bethlehem, three miles east of Wadsworth. It is intended for the people of three counties — Elmore, Autauga and Chilton; all older people and ministers of the gospel are invited to come, bring dinner and enjoy the day together.

Dates Are Set For Dog Vaccinations

Dr. W. L. Parrish announces the above schedule for the vaccination of the dogs of the county:

July 14 — Pletcher, 8:30 to 11; Shoultsp, 12:30 to 2:30.

July 15 — Union Grove, 8:30 to 11:30; Smith school, 12:30 to 2.

July 18 — Mitchell Dam, 8:30 to 10; Refuge (Robert Mims' home), 1 to 2; Providence, 2:30 to 3:30.

July 19 — Vermont, 8 to 10; Fairview Store, 10:30 to 12; County Training School, 2:30 to 4.

ANNUAL SINGING AT BETHSALEM

The annual all-day singing will be held at Bethsalem the fourth Sunday in this month. All singers and lovers of music are invited to attend. The new books will be used. Some good quartets are expected.

Singing At Cooper Sunday, July 24th

There will be an all day singing at Chestnut Creek church, Coopers, the fourth Sunday in July, the 24th. All are invited to come, bring dinner and song books—new ones of all kinds. The Southernaires will be there.

The general ad valorem property tax in Alabama is lower on a per capita basis than in any other state in the Union except Arkansas. In Arkansas the per capita levy is $10.93. In Alabama it is $12.25. The highest is in Nevada, the rate being $67.15. Florida has a rate of $38.12, and Maryland's levy is $33.61. All the other Southern states drop below 30.00 per capita. Most of the Northern and Western states are far above this figure.

Egotism is just a realization of how good you are. "Swell head" is a realization that you are even better than you are.

FARMERS ADVISED TO PRODUCE OWN PORK

Auburn, July 11.—At current prices for ordinary meat, a year's supply will cost the average family about $90.00, states F. W. Burns, extension animal husbandman. To buy this meat will require one-fourth of the cash income of the average farm. It is quite likely that it will pay the average farmer to produce hogs for home consumption under conditions of prices of feed and hogs that would make it doubtful economy to produce them for market, he continues.

Fall pigs should be farrowed in late September on late planted soy beans ro good permanent pastures. The sow, while suckling pigs, should be fed a mixture of 60 pounds of corn meal, 32 pounds shorts, and 8 pounds of tankage or corn and skim milk, says Mr. Burns. An acre of oats, rye, or crimson clover per sow should be planted early in October to furnish grazing for the pigs during the winter and spring.

The spring litter of pigs should be fed corn and ½-pound daily of protein supplement composed of equal parts of tankage and cotton seed meal or skim milk. As soon as the pigs reach a weight of 180-200 pounds they should be marketed as the price usually drops from September to December. Corn may be "hogged off" if temporary fences are available. The electric fence is excellent to use for this purpose.

Six bushels of corn and 50 pounds of protein supplement will produce 100 pounds of pork on thrfty, well-bred hogs. Hogs furnish one of our best markets for surplus corn and should be used to supplement the cotton income on more Alabama farms.

Lesson for July 31

SAMSON: STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS

LESSON TEXT—Judges 14:5, 6; 15:11-14; 16:15-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.—Ephesians 6:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Wasted His Strength.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Strong Was Samson?

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Who Is Strong?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Physical Strength and Moral Weakness.

There is no more tragic individual among the sons of men than the one who entered upon life with every promise of success, who has lived for a time in favor with God and with man, and then because of moral failure is set aside by God, shunned by man, and ends life as a disappointment and a failure. "And yet such disastrous climaxes of what should have been great and victorious careers lie all about us, and nowhere with such frequency and inexcusableness as among those whom God has called to preach, evangelize, and teach His Word. The saddest tragedy in all the world is a man who once knew the power of the Holy Spirit and who now walks the streets of some great city or is buried in the cottage of an unknown countryside, without power, without work, without joy, without the leading of the Lord. He knows a weariness that labor never gives, for he wakens every morning more tired and weary than when he went to sleep the night before" (Wilbur M. Smith).

The life story of Samson brings us the picture of God's patient and gracious dealing with such a failure, reveals the inexorable law of cause and effect in the moral realm as well as the certainty that the wages of sin not repented of and forsaken is death.

I. Physical Strength and Favor With God (15:5, 6).

Samson had the distinction (given to only one other Old Testament character) of having his birth announced beforehand. He was to be a Nazarite and was to "begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistine"—a commission which sin kept him from ever finishing. God gave him the marvelous heritage of a strong and healthy body as well as His own blessing upon him for carrying out the Lord's work. The fact that he is named among the heroes of faith in Hebrews indicates that he did have faith in God. Yet his life was a failure.

Samson would have been a great favorite in this athletic age. Let those who worship the body and glorify physical prowess take note that such strength is not sufficient to guarantee success in life, and may indeed be a source of temptation which may lead to spiritual and moral downfall. Those who live for the flesh "shall of the flesh reap corruption" (Gal. 6:8).

II. Moral Weakness and Spiritual Decay (15:11-14).

The portion of the lesson selected for our consideration from Judges 15 gives only an act of prowess on the part of Samson, but the reader will recognize it as one of the many deeds of Samson done as an expression of his uncontrolled sensual nature. Read the entire chapter and it will be evident that here is a man who, while occasionally responding to God's leading, is on the downward path of moral and spiritual decadence.

Scripture is absolutely honest in relating the facts as they are—and here it is not at all an attractive picture. It never is, although the world tries to make it appear to be. A learned audience of university people laughed with evident appreciation at the statement of a professor that "vice is always more interesting than virtue," little realizing that they thus bore testimony to their own attitude toward sin. If the liquor advertisements were honest enough to picture the agony of a drunkard dying of delirium tremens they would present the real truth, but they would sell no "booze."

III. Failure, Darkness, and Death (16:15-21).

Delilah finally betrayed the foolish Samson who apparently had become so sure of himself that he dared to venture anything. The man who was to be strong for God is now in prison, shorn of his strength, blinded by his enemies, and finally he kills himself even as he slays his enemies (16:23-31). Thus he threw away the life that had become to him but a burden and a disgrace.

"Thus he who began never completed his work. The column was broken in the middle. The story ends with a comma and a dash, blistered over by a tear. For the light is turned into darkness, and how great is the darkness" (J. M. Lang).

Now Power Can Defeat God

Be not afraid of sudden fear, neither of the desolation of the wicked, when it cometh. For the Lord shall be thy confidence, and shall keep thy foot from being taken.—Prov. 3:25,26.

"IT'S WHAT GOES ON YOUR HAIR THAT COUNTS"

In Alabama if the office of Governor and Lieutenant Governor both become vacant, the president pro tem of the Senate becomes governor, but he cannot fill out the unexpired term. If the vacancy occurs more than 60 days before a general election he must call an election to fill the vacancy, and he can serve only until such election is held.

Only four members of the present state Senate were candidates for re-election. All four were successful in the recent primary. Under the courtesy rule of allowing each county to have its turn in furnishing the Senator where the district is composed of more than one county, 23 or the senators never succeed themselves. So a majority of the Senators are always new members.

Wife (to late returning husband: Is that you, John?
John: It'd better be.

A small boy saw an elephant in his yard and immediately called the police.

"Chief", he said, "there's a queer animal out here in my back yard picking flowers with his tail".

"Yes", said the chief, "and what does he do with them?"

"Never mind," was the answer, "you wouldn't believe me if I told you".

There is a modern pleasant way to get relief from Headache, Gas on Stomach, Colds, Heartburn, "Morning After" and Muscular Pains.

Just drop one or two ALKA-SELTZER tablets into a glass of water. Watch it bubble—listen to it fizz. As soon as tablet is dissolved, drink the tangy solution.

Alka-Seltzer

(Analgesic Alkalizing Effervescent Tablets)

You will really enjoy the taste—more like spring water than like medicine.

ALKA-SELTZER, when dissolved in water, contains an analgesic, (Sodium Acetyl-Salicylate), which relieves pain, while its alkalizing agents help to correct everyday ailments associated with hyperacidity.

Your druggist has ALKA-SELTZER. Get a 30c or 60c package on our "satisfaction-or-money-back" guarantee.

LIQUOR Worse Than War

Today we hear of wars and rumors of wars. At this present time nations are slaughtering each other in the most ruthless way. Only sin and demon possession could make men so brutal and inhuman. When we see hatred, revenge, and useless destruction of our fellow beings, it makes us shudder. But why object to war? You know why. War brings a perfect havoc of waste; it destroys property of every character; it brings about desolation of homes, suffering to women and children; it piles up national debts; it sends out a multitude of maimed men to hobble through life in want and misery; it tears the souls of men out of their bodies, which are mangled by this demon of war, and rushes them off suddenly, unprepared, into eternity. Hell enlarges itself when wars break out and battles rage. No wonder, then, that any civilized nation of people object to this demon of war!

But what about this liquor traffic? It is worse than war! When I think of the blasted lives, the bodies and souls of men, women and children this liquor demon has left. It has left a trail of blood, and bloody suffering throughout the nations and across the centuries.

This liquor traffc is selfish in the worst degree; its lust for gold cannot be estimated. It is merciless as the devil, himself; it has no respect for old age; it drags down manhood and womanhood at its best; it tramples little children beneath its diabolical feet without any compunction of its dead conscience. Wars have raged and ceased, armistices have been signed between nations at different times in the world's history, but this liquor traffic signs no armistice; it never ceases to fire its furnace and lift the black flag of stifling smoke from the top of its broken chimney. The sad and heart-rending thing is that the American flag floats its colors of red, white and blue amid the black smoke from the furnace which boils out this liquid damnation. And when you see that flag that we love and admire waving its colors over these distilleries, you are made to feel that Uncle Sam is the 100 per cent protector of one of the greatest evils that the devil ever let loose on any civilized nation — an enemy that carries on and on in its ceaseless war against human life, hope and happiness.

Why should the president of a nation, senators and congressmen, speak against war, and strive to preserve peace and cultivate good will among nations, and at the same time turn loose upon our beloved nation one of the most deadly enemies that mankind has ever encountered — an enemy which has blighted the happiness and peace of homes and distrurbed the sanctity of the church, and wrecked millions of human lives, and sent the precious souls of men and women to a burning hell? The day of vengeance will surely come.

Let us remember that we must give an account of every deed done in life. Unless there is a national repentance that ploughs deep and causes this nation, which has been the defender of this great evil, the liquor traffic, to see the folly of their ways, we may expect conditions to become worse morally and spiritually, and in every other way. God help us to see our folly and amend our ways, is my prayer. — Rev. M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton, Ala.

The many friends of Mrs. Aubrey Taylor will be glad to learn that she is much improved from a recent minor operation, and is returning home the middle of this week.

JUSTICE BEN CARDOZA

In the passing of Justice Benjamin N. Cardoza, the American nation has lost a faithful servant and the United States a tried and true friend. He was devoted to the preservation of fundamental American principles, which to his thinking were the bulwark of our system of government. He felt that the continuation of these principles meant the assurance of our continued and cherished freedom.

He had faith in the American people — that they recognized and would perpetuate democracy which had its origin in our Constitution. He believed that progress and prosperity were best achieved within the framework of the Constitution. The death of such a man is an irreparable loss to the country. Others may rise to or even beyond his heights, but the same moral principles and that ripe experience are not in any other man.

OLD FOLKS SERVICES AT SAMARIA SUNDAY

Special services for older people will be held at Samaria next Sunday, July 17th, at 11 o'clock. Some recognition will be made of the oldest person present at this service. All are invited. — M. I. McLeod, Pastor.

WIFE OF HENRY CLECKLER DIED

Mrs. Ada Cleckler, age 34, wife of Henry Cleckler, died at the home on Sunday, July 10th, at 4:30 o'clock. Burial was at Refuge on July 11th at 1:00 p.m., Rev. M. Lockhart officiating. Martin in charge.

Pallbearers were: John Miner, Jas. Partridge, Jodie Connell, Paul Miner, R. G. (Bob) Marler, and Lonnie Mims.

Mrs. Cleckler was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Holsemback. Surviving are the husband and three small children.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Miss Mabel Dennis gave a party in honor of Miss Mabel Grey Burnette, of Tuscalocsa, in her home in Maplesville Friday, July 8. Many games were played. The guests were: Herbert Walker, Helen McGee, Andrew Lloyd Dennis, Pattie Nix, Reube Bearden, J. T. Sexton, Henry Ruth Elam, Walter Roper, Bobby Roy Elam, Virginia Glass, J. W. Glass, Ralph Glass, Tommie Lee Sexton, Erskin Glass, B. F. Atchison, Clarence Allen Dennis, Harold Walker, Mattie Delene Dennis, Geo. Merchant, Mildred Dennis, M. D. and Billy Walalce, Marilyn Bearden, Dixie Anne Williams, Joseph, Dolly Jean, Dorothy, Jeanette and Elizabeth Dennis. After the games, punch and cake were enjoyed.

Mr. Ernest Hambric is seriously ill at the home of his mother at Maplesville.

Lucy Taylor Cunningham of Birmingham is visiting relatives in Maplesville.

Mr. Billy Dennis has just returned from a visit with his uncle, Horace Dennis, of Clanton.

Miss Hazeltine Harris has returned from a visit in Birmingham with her aunt. — Mabel Harris.

W. REDGE BEARDEN

God called W. Redge Bearden, age 42, from his home Monday morning, July 4. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Stanton Baptist church, Rev. Nail officiating; Brislin and Son directing.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Sallie Joe Chandler Bearden; two sons — Joe Ed and Redge Burton; one daughter — Mrs. O. V. Harrison of Selma; four brothers — Willie, Noah, Monroe, all of Plantersville, and Sam Bearden of Oxford; one sister — Mrs. Walter Wright of Stanton; and a host of friends. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bearden of Plantersville.

Known and loved by all in his community, he did his part well and with a smile. He loved to do something to help others. He was a member and worker in the Baptist church, and enjoyed so much the part he took in the song services there. We miss him, and there is a vacant chair in the family circle, but the Lord knows best. Our loss is heaven's gain. — A niece, C. Delle Davis.

FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION

Farmers from all parts of Chilton County are expected to attend the annual shareholders' meeting of the Chilton County Farm Loan Association, which will be held July 21, at 10 a.m., in the courthouse at Clanton, according to D. W. Waite, Secretary-Treasurer of the association.

The principal purpose of this meeting is to make a report to the shareholders of the activities during the past year, and to elect five members to the Board of Directors. In addition to the local speakers, a representative of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans has been invited to address the meeting on subjects pertaining to the operation of the Federal Land Bank and the bank's relationship with the association.

"We are expecting a much larger attendance at the annual meeting this year than we have experienced at any meetings which have been held in the past", Mr. Waite stated. "Formerly meetings were held either in January or February, with the result that bad weather frequently interfered with attendance. The directors of the association decided to change the meeting this year to mid-summer in the belief that it will give a larger number of members an opportunity to attend.

"Perhaps the most important part of the meeting will be the election of five directors. A new law passed by congress last season provides for 3-year terms on the Board of Directors in the future instead of 1-year terms as in the past. At the meeting this year two of the directors elected will serve for three years, two will serve for two years, and one for one year. As the terms of the directors who are elected this year expire, future directors will be elected. This will provide a continuing Board of Directors."

IN MEMORY OF REV. E. A. NORRIS

Editor Union-Banner:

I noticed in the last issue of The Union-Banner an ccount of the death of Rev. E. A. Norris. Having known him as I did in former years, and for the benefit of his family and friends, I felt like writing this piece.

It was 44 years ago this coming September that I was pastor of the church at Corinth. At that time and place, during revival meeting, at a late hour at night, at E. A. Norris's father's barn lot, kneeling together with him and his wife while in prayer E. A. Norris was converted, joined our church, and was baptized. Some few years later he felt a call to the ministry and was regularly ordained, and has spent a good life for lo, these many years in the service of the churches in and around Chilton County. Of ordinary country boys, I do not know of one who has done more good for his people than he has.

When I think back over those 44 years since he was converted, there have been many changes taken place in our church life and work. Having followed this work all of these years I have taken due notice of all of these changes, and somehow or other I am still here and still in the service of churches, although in these later years I see and know of many of our old friends passing away, like E. A. Norris. Reading an account of his this year's work, I notice he was pastor of Providence and Cane Creek churches at the time of his death.

Many years ago I pastored the Cane Creek church for a few years, and often think about the old time church that we used to have there.

In my boyhood days I was converted and baptized into the membership of Providence church, and knowing all of the people of that community years ago it is sad to think about the fact of their having lost a good and worthy pastor such as E. A. Norris, though in humble submission to the will of Him Who doeth all things well, we willingly bow to His will and wish.

Turning back to the churches at Providence and Cane Creek — I think about them as the old home. Some few of the older people who were there in my time are still there, like Riley Robinson, W. W. Robinson, W. S. Cox, and a few others that I might mention are, by the will of the Lord, still there. It would be a great pleasure to me to again visit these churches, and if it was the Lord's will be in revival meeting with them again.

With the greatest of sorrow for the family and friends of E. A. Norris, we bow to the will of Him Who doeth all things well. — Rev. J. H. Thomas, R 1, LaFayette, Ga.

FOURTH OF JULY PICNIC

A picnic on the grounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sears in Providence (Beat 13) community last Monday was a very jolly affair. Music and games, sack racing, high jumping, weiner roasting, marshmallow toasting were part of the fun, and a delightful picnic spread of cold drinks and watermelons were enjoyed by the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sears and children, Barbara Brooks, Mrs. Evelyn Kuthel and son, all of Birmingham; Mrs. Carrie Tapscott and daughter of Jemison, Mrs. Madge Howard and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Butler and children, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Butler and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hardin, Miss Coqueece Barnes, and the host and hostess.

CARD OF THANKS

We use this means to publicly express our deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks for the words of kindness spoken and the deeds shown us during the illness and death of my beloved and dear wife, who passed away to heaven on Saturday night, June 29. — Dewey Mims and children.

FIRST PNEUMOTHORAX PATIENT RETURNS

Mr. Olen Crumpton, of Randolph Route 1, Chilton County's first tuberculosis patient to receive the new lung collapse treatment from local physicans, returned from the Montgomery County sanatorium last week, according to a health department report. A new outfit for administering injections of air has been purchased by the local tuberculosis association and placed at the Central Alabama Hospital to be used by physicians who are interested in the new type of therapy for tuberculosis. Mr. Crumpton, the report indicated, will receive injections of air at weekly intervals for the first three months, after which time the intervals between refills may be lengthened.

The great boon to the county in having available such an outfit and physicians familiar with this method of treatment was pointed out by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, local county health officer. Patients who are recognized early in the course of the disease before adhesions have developed are especially suitable for collapse treatment, he declared. Marked improvement in the general condition of the patient, disappearance of the tuberculosis germ from the sputum, etc., takes place much more rapidly following collapse than with the older bed-rest method of treatment, according to the Chilton health officer. "Under our present set-up n Alabama", he said, "it is possible for such a patient to spend 4 to 6 weeks in a sanatorium at a cost of from $30 to $45 and return to his home well on the road to recovery and no longer a source of danger to his family".

Announcement was also made by the local health department of the installation in the office of an incubator for care of prematurely born infants. This infant-saving device will be at the disposal of any Chilton County physicians to be used in homes or at the hospital, as the circumstances demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Patterson and daughter, Peggy, of Tuscaloosa, and Mr. and Mrs. Judge Culver and daughter, Maxine, of Birmingham, were guests of Mrs. Martha Burnett and Mrs. L. F. Watts oveh the past week end.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

It is so easy to become discouraged, and so hard to keep up our courage. Our faith is being tried. Our mettle is being tested. Let's show ourselves to be people of strength of purpose in our Lord's kingdom by sticking by our church with our thrice-daily prayers.

Let's be at Sunday school next Sunday morning at 9:45 with love in our hearts for the Lord's kingdom and for the success of His work. Let's try to build His kingdom in our midst. Let's support our church officials and our pastor. Let's hold them up in every thought and word and deed. Let's seek God's guidance in every move we make in His work so that the good work will be aided, not hindered.

Can God count on you to be at Sunday school and the other church services next Sunday? Can He count on you to be led by Him? Can He count you as one of His profitable servants? My prayer is that I may be.

FAMILY REUNION ON FOURTH AT HOME OF W. T. YATES

July 4th was a great day at the home of W. T. Yates, near Cooper. All of the children and grandchildren were present, including: Mr. and Mrs. Mack Parrish and children of near Lay Dam, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yates from near Mt. Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schuffert and family from Ensley, and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Yates of near Cooper.

After lunch, ice cream was served, and the children played games until late in the afternoon.

After visiting various friends and relatives of the neighborhood, all returned to their homes, except Miss Margaret Schuffert, who is to spend a few weeks with her grandparents.

Morris Parrish is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schuffert in Ensley.

LIBERTY HILL

Revival services will begin here on next Sunday, July 17. There will also be preaching Saturday at 11 a.m., by Rev. B. Lawrence.

Rev. Collis Cunningham will be here Sunday to conduct the services through the remainder of the week.

It is not likely that Bro. Holland will get to be with us, as he is taking treatment.

Everyone is cordially invited to come and we trust that we will have a great revival. — A. G. Littlejohn.

AAA Checks Ready

Checks for compliance under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program are being delivered to Chilton County farmers this week.

Over 1,300 checks that totaled $52,738.76 were received at the county agent's office Monday and Tuesday of this week. This represents approximately 45 per cent of the total money earned by Chilton County farmers who cooperated under the 1937 program.

There were 2,215 farmers who signed work sheets under the 1937 program. Most of those who signed the work sheets cooperated to the extent that they will receive some payments. Some few farmers signed work sheets, then planted all or more than their cotton base acres, and will not receive any payments.

Checks are expected to arrive frequently until the total of approximately $110,000 is received by Chilton County farmers for cooperating with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Cards have been mailed to each of the 1,308 farmers who are to receive these checks, notifying them that the checks are ready for delivery.—J. W. Fant, County Agent.

JAMES D. SIMS

James D. Sims, 78, died at his home at Stanton Saturday morning, after a short illness. Funeral services were held Sunday at 11 a.m., at Mt. Nebo, Rev. R. M. Stillwell officiating; Spigener directing. He is survived by one son.

Professor: I will not begin today's lecture until the room settles down.

Voice from the rear: Go home and sleep it off, prof.

Is you wife happy?

I'll say! My wife can have a good time thinking what a good time she would be having if she were having a good time.

Union Leaders Visited In County Recently

Chilton County had the pleasure of entertaining some of the officers of the state F. E. and C. U. of A. on Friday of last week, including: Vester Burkett, President; J. G. Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer; McKinley Gilbert, Chairman of State Executive Board; and George Campbell, Secretary of the State Executive Board.

They arrived in this county and spoke at Free Springs Friday night, speaking at Antioch at the county meeting Saturday. Those present heard some of the best union talks ever delivered in this county.

These men are now in South Alabama doing work for the organization, and will be back here for a session of the Executive Board, which will convene on Thursday and Friday of this week at the vocational building of the Jemison High School. They will talk at several different places Thursday night; some will be at Minooka.

Those already mentioned will be joined here by the Vice President, W. T. Pate, and R. W. Hagood and W. H. Martin, other board members.

On Monday, July 18, Mr. Ed Regor, national organizer, will be in the county, speaking probably at the county rally to be held in Bruce's Grove on that date, and will be at the courthouse in Clanton Monday night. You will miss a powerful speech if you miss hearing him. Hear him — you will hear something that will be of great benefit to you, whether you belong to the Farmers Union or not.

We wish to recognize one of our own Chilton County members who spoke at the county meeting Saturday. We have heard many compliments for him from county delegates and visitors present.

We have already seen some results from these men visiting here, and are sure much good will result. Attend all these other meetings and avail yourselves of the great things in store for you. — Mrs. Essie L. Collum, Recording Secretary, F. E. & C. U. of A.

REFUGE

Our Sunday school was short Sunday, because so many of our people went to the singing at Rockford.

Preaching service was held Sunday night, with a full house present.

This community was saddened Sunday afternoon by the death of Mrs. Ada Cleckler. Surviving are: her husband, Henry Cleckler; three children — Houston, Ermon, and Irene, all of Clanton. There is one brother, whose address is unknown. Funeral services were held at Refuge Monday afternoon, Rev. M. Lockhart in charge of servces; Martin and Sons directing.

When you read this we will probably be in service in our revival meeting. Everybody is invited to come.

Our singing school sloses this week. There has been good attendance, and much progress has been made during these three weeks. Everyone is well pleased. — Mrs. J. R. Conneli.

PLEASANT HILL

There will be a union speaking at Pleasant Hill church Thursday night, July 14. The public is invited. Everyone interested in Pleasant Hill community is urged to come. — P. M. Cleckler.

CEMETERY WORKING AT UNION GROVE

There will be a cemetery working at Union Grove Friday morning, July 15. All interested please come and bring necessary tools. — W. J. Vinzant.

CEMETERY CLEANING AT PLEASANT HILL

Everyone interested in the cemetery at this place is urged to be on hand next Friday morning, July 15, with necessary tools to clean off same, as the cemetery is in bad condition. — Callie Dawson.

REVIVAL AT MT. SPRINGS

The regular summer revival at Mt. Springs will begin next Sunday, July 17th, and continue through the following week. There will be services every night, preaching by Rev. H. M. Gray of Langdale, Ala. The public is invited to attend.

Aunt Kate: When I was younger I could have married anybody I pleased.

Little Bobby: Didn't you please anybody, Aunt Kate?

Social Worker: Do you owe any back house rent?

Relief Seeker: We ain't got a back house. We have modern plumbing.

You're prettier than your mother.

I ought to be; I'm a later model.

I made a nurse sore by giving a sick man a pint of my blood.

Why?

The sick man jumped out of bed and chased her all over the hospital.

Smartly dressed in coat of fur,
Lounging against the cocktail bar;
Baby, how I wish you were

WHEN MONEY TALKS

The return of the senators and representatives of the 75th congress to their home fields was accompanied, not by brass bands, but by the jingle of 12 billion dollars * * * and it is safe to say that even had John Philip Sousa still been alive no brass band could make more noise than the ring of 12 billion dollars. For it is the sum which congress, adjourned last week, appropriated. Setting a peace time record, this tremendous fund is to be doled out to a depression-ridden nation during the next year.

The 75th congress set many other marks as well. First, it began with the greatest one-party majority in history. Its membership was overwhelmingly Democratic, there being 76 senators and 328 representatives of that party in its roster. Before it had gotten well under way, the Democratic party experienced one of the bitterest party splits in history, over the president's proposal to pack the Supreme Court. From this split any semblance of party unity was never again achieved until during the tag-end of the session, when the members could no longer resist the insidious influence of governmental money grants * * * as represented in the pump priming bill. Congressmen could see in the bill's enactment an opportunity for re-election. The pump priming act tamed the outlaws most effectively, and the adjournment was one, for the main part, of friendly good-byes.

And so our representatives in congress are back home, most of them happy in the knowledge that their campaign speeches for the fall elections can be sweetened with the promise of largess from Washington. — The Shore Line Times.

FOR RELIEF, NOT POLITICS

Billions in federal money spent for relief constitute an election year temptation which strong men will resist and weak men will become victims of. When Harry L. Hopkins, chief spender of the billions, told the Democrats of Iowa ho whe would vote were he voting in that state, he was, purposely or otherwise, throwing Iowa's share of these billions into the primary.

Hopkins' other declaration that every Iowan in the WPA ranks was at liberty to cast his ballot sa he chose, regardless of Hopkins' own choice, was far less impressive than his indorsement of Wearin for senator. The fact that Wearin lost is in no sense an excuse for the great almoner's egregious error in indorsing him.

Three or four billion dollars, flowing into the states from Washington in the few months preceding the most important primaries of a national election year might easily control the nominations of vital interest to the party in power. It is likely to do exactly this unless those in control of the expenditure shall set their faces sternly against every suggestion that the spending be used for political purposes. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CAN'T BUY OFF REVOLUTION

One hears politicians prating that is public money had not been prodigally spent, the country would have been in "revolution"—as if a country could buy itself out of revolution. Money cannot prevent revolution. Unless the majority of the Americans can take care of themselves as individuals without the aid of government, of course they will have revolutions, here and there, soon or late. — Charleston News and Courier.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Everyone is now looking forward to autumn with the hope that, with the summer lull over, we will have a revival of business. But it is generally recognized by those who make a calm and sane study of our financial and economic conditions that we cannot have a really sound recovery until the railroads of the country are put on a prosperous basis once more. The railroad industry is an important part of the foundation of our national economic structure. Railroad securities are held by people everywhere, not only by millionaires and other men of considerable wealth, but by the common people — doctor, lawyer, farmer, worker, teacher, widow, and orphan. These hold the securities individually, depending on them for a part of their livelihood. But the common folks are interested much more widely, because such securities are held by our life insurance companies and our savings banks. So it may be seen that not only present income, but the future of millions of our citizens is tied up with the welfare of the railroads.

And the rails, at this time, are in a sorry plight. So serious is the situation that it threatened a delay in the closing of congress even in a hot summer with a national election coming on. A survey is to be made by administration forces of the problem this year and congress has promised to tackle it the first thing in January is a special session is not necessitated in the meantime.

The seriousness of the situation is indicated by the fact that only a few roads are now earning their fixed charges, and more receiverships seem in the offing. It is said that the slump in earning this year may be so severe as to wipe out all the gain which the roads have made since 1932. Touching on this situation, the Alexander Hamilton Institute says:

"During that depression, revenues declined from $6,280,000,000 in 1929 to $3,095,000,000 in 1933. In the subsequent 4-year period of expansion, revenues rose to $4,166,000,000 in 1937. In the first quarter of 1938, revenues declined to an annual rate of $3,253,000,000, a figure so close to the 1933 low that there is a good possibility that actual revenues this year will drop back to that low in view of the unfavorable state of affairs at the present time.

"Even if actual revenues equal the first quarter rate, the prospect is that the railroads will end this year with a large deficit. On the basis of the first quarter figures, railroad expenses will be at such a high level that operating income will amount to only $77,000,000. This will fall so far short of meeting such items as interest charges that a deficit of $408,000,000 is indicated. This will exceed by a wide margin the largest deficit of the 1929-1933 depression. That deficit, which occurred in 1932, amounted to $139,000,000".

The railroads had announced a cut in wages starting July 1, but the railway unions fought this and threatened to strike, so it is possible that the cut will never be made effective. When the New Dealers study the railway situation this summer it is hoped that they do not stop with recommending half baked socialistii theories of relief. What the railroads need, first of all, of course, is more business. This can come about only through a general economic revival. They need, too, salaries and wages fairly adjusted to income, and they must have fewer taxes instead of higher ones.

BEING LET ALONE

The fact that the president has fallen back again on "pump priming" is distressing because it indicates he is uncertain and is now grasping at straws. The sad part of the whole thing is that all the country needs is to be let alone. If the president would depart on a 2-year fishing trip, if his advisers could be dumped on some remote island where they could not get back for a decade, so that there would be a respite from "cure all" ideas and fantastic experiments, the country on its own power would quickly get back to normalcy, business would boom, farm markets would stabilize, and the nation would once more become contented and happy. — Long Prairie (Minn.) Leader.

THIS ROOSEVELT DEPRESSION

President Roosevelt was getting along very well and the whole country was doing very well during his first term. Much of the effectiveness of his 1936 campaign speeches for re-election was due to the fact that he and his party managers could point with pride to the achievements of his administration. The President was wont to ask his hearers "Are you better off than you were n 1932?"; and he was in a position at that time to tell them: "We planned it that way." It is very evident that something has gone wrong with the plan or the planners, for the present condition of the country is such that no one can now point to it with pride. The whole works seem to be out of order and the country is possessed with a feeling of confusion and alarm.

The President himself is to be blamed for most of the trouble that has been stirred up. He took all too seriously the overwhelming victory he had in 1936. He construed it as a mandate from the people to impose without limitation, his policies on the country. He has resented opposition and refused advice from his party leaders. He plunged headlong into social reforms and economic adventures in which the substantial leaders of his own party could not follow him. To impose his will on the Congress he sought to reward his friends and punish his enemies. At a time when he should have been guiding the ship of state on a charted course, approved by experience, he was venturing out on an unknown sea.

How much better it would have been had the President, instead of stirring up trouble by trying to force through the Congress his theories of reform and by so doing, awakening distrust and opposition, poured oil on the troubled waters and endeavored to steer the ship of state on the charted course approved by one hundred and fifty years of successful and peaceful voyaging! — Sarasota, Fla., Herald.

The only thing we hate about Clanton havinging her streets paved is that we will have nowhere to throw our watermelon rinds. The dusty streets are an ideal place for automobile wheels to consume the rinds. That one hundred or five hundred dollars which we will borrow from the bank is not worrying us (?), but we do hate to be deprived of the above convenience.

It is not likely that the president will ask the voters this year if they are better off than they were a year ago. — Council Bluffs Nonpariel.

There must be some solution of the problem or the whole country will suffer, and our march toward prosperity, when it starts, will be definitely slowed up for years.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"I asked my father if he thought the soul was immortal. His answer was, 'Nobody has ever proved it isn't'." That is what a great lawyer said. The father gave the son an intelligent answer. The Bible claims to be the Word of God. It teaches that man must live somewhere forever. It sets forth Jesus Christ as the virgin-born Son of God Who died on the cross for the sins of the world and Who rose again from the dead and ascended into heaven where He sits at the right hand of the Father and from whence He is to come again to judge the living and the dead. No man has ever been able to disprove the statements in the Word of God. Multiplied thousands of people have testified that from personal experience they have proved much of the Word of God to be true. It stands to reason, if there is a God on the throne of this universe Who created man an intelligent being, that God would reveal Himself to man and make known His will for human life.

The writer has often said that the Bible is the only book that has ever been written that speaks with absolute authority about the will of God for man's life. If the will of God cannot be found within the lids of the Bible, then there is no revelation of God's will which has been given to men. "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork". Nature can tell me some things about God. It is reasonable to suppose that back of all the things in this universe which are seen and unseen, there must dwell somewhere a divine, supreme, and omnipotent God. But no man by searching has ever found God. If there is a God it seems to be necessary, if man is to know Him for Him to reveal Himself. The Bible claims to be from God. It claims to be a revelation of His will. Someone has said a good man could not have been the author, because the Bible claims that God is its author, so if it were a forgery, then it was not a good man who wrote it. No bad man would have been the author, because it tells man how bad he is in his natural state. Man would not thus expose his own depravity. Only God would say how bad man is. When we write biographies of our friends, we leave out the bad things. God doesn't do that way. He wrote the biography of David and told us David was an adulterer and a murderer. The story of the life of David as recorded in the Word of God is all the proof that any sane man who knows the natural mental human processes needs to convince him that the Bible came from God.

FAMILY PICNIC DINNER

A host of relatives gathered at Wyatt's camp on Walnut Creeek on July 4, to enjoy a real picnic dinner. At noon the table was spread with delicious food, and pictures were made.

In the afternoon the children enjoyed swimming, wading and boat riding, while the older people amused themselves by talking of bygone days.

Among those present were: Mrs. Everie Tippett and daughter, Mrs. Alice Tippett, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tippett, Mrs. Arrie Belle Frasier and children, Mrs. J. W. Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Frasier and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Kelley, Mr. R. F. Wyatt, Mrs. Odean Deloach and daughter, Mary Francis Arnold, all of Clanton; Mr. E. L. Edwards of Jackson, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. George Tippett and son of Gladewater, Tex.

Many farmers in Alabama could add to their incomes by keeping a small flock of from 15 to 35 ewes, states R. S. Sugg, extension animal husbandman. This season of the year is a good time to start a flock, as foundation stock can usually be purchased at lower prices than at any other time of the year, he says. As with other classes of livestock, good pasture, both permanent, and temporary, is essential to successful sheep raising.

No, women are not exactly like cats. A woman can't run up a telephone pole, and a cat can't run up a bill.

Game & Fish News

President Invited

The Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo Association has extended an invitation to President Roosevelt to "look in" on the 10th annual rodeo to be held off Dauphin Island in lower Mobile Bay August 8, 9, and 10, according to Albert Gill, president of the association. President Roosevelt's cruise itinerary will bring him to Pensacola on August 10, where he will board a train for Warm Springs, and rodeo officials are hopeful that the president will stop off at Dauphin Island en route to Pensacola. It is known that President Roosevelt is fond of deep sea fishing, and at the Alabama rodeo he would see the art of salt water angling as practiced by approxmately 600 experts from over 20 states, celebrating the rodeo homecoming jubilee. Gov. Graves and Commissioner I. T. Quinn joined with the rodeo association in the invitation.

81 Wildlife Clubs

There are 81 wildlife conservation councils and sportsmen's clubs in this state affiliated with the Alabama Wildlife Federation, according to Tom Ford, secretary of the Federation, who recently compiled a list of officers of each group. Baldwin and Walker Counties each have four affiliated clubs, while several other counties have two and three clubs. Jefferson County Sportsmen's Association, with over 1,500 members, is prehaps the largest in membership. The State Federation is now engaged in a drive to obtain financial support for perpetuation of the organization in Alabama.

Gobbler Law

Alabama's "Gobbler Law", which prohibits the killing of the wild turkey hen under any circumstances, is known and copied throughout the United States. Robert B. Vale, in his book "Wings, Fur and Shot", says: "The State of Alabama has led the entire nation in bringing back the wild turkey. It has been more far-sighted and more advanced than any others. Alabama did it by limiting the kill to gobblers. Texas followed the lead of Alabama, and turkey shooting is improving there".

DISEASES FROM RATS

The department of health says that 90 per cent of all rat borne diseases are contracted in food handling establishments.

A few of the diseases spread from rat to man are:

1. Bubonic Plague (by rat fleas).
2. Endemic Typhus or Brill's Fever (by rat fleas).
3. Infective Jaundice (food products contaminated from rat urine).
4. Trichinosis (fram rat to swine to man).
5. Aemobic Dysentery (through their feces and urine to food products).
6. Intestinal Parasites (harbor 11 different kinds).
7. Typhoid Fever (one epidemic on record).
8. Food Poisoning (para typhoid group).

Rats are susceptible to tuberculosis, cancer, and numerous other diseases. They spread the following diseases to other animals:

1. Hog cholera.
2. Swine erysipelas.
3. Hoof and mouth disease.
4. Fowl tuberculosis.

Rat proofing is a protection against rat contaminated food products.

TENANT PURCHASE FUNDS

Auburn, July 13. — An increase of 150 per cent in tenant purchase funds, over the fiscal year just ended, for the 12-month period commencing July 1, 1938, has been allotted Alabama to help tenants and other low income farm families to become owners, according to Julian Brown, State FSA Drecter in a release from his offices in Auburn.

"The sum of $1,538,827.50 is Alabama's share of the national total of $23,750,000 appropriated by congress to finance ownership undertaknga of rural families under the provisions of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act. The allotment to Alabama for the year just ended was $615,531. The new allotment represents 2½ times the last year's amount", said Mr. Brown.

H. O. BEAN DENIES APPLYING FOR ABSENTEE BALLOT

During a visit to the office of The Union-Banner last Saturday, Mr. H. O. Bean, of Clanton Route 4, Beat 9, had the following statement to make:

"I noticed in last week's Union-Banner that my name was included in the list applying for absentee ballots in the Democratic primary.

"I want to emphasize the fact that this is grossly incorrect. I am not a Democrat, do not vote the Democratic ticket, and have no political dealings whatever with Democrats.

Certain parties insisted on my wife voting an absentee ballot and she did, although her name was not on the list of applicants for ballots. Neither of us made application for a ballot; she voted one and her name was not on the list, while I most emphatically did not vote one, yet my name was on the list. I do not know who signed my name to the application, if such was done, and it appears that quite a bit of "changing" must have been done in the whole affair".

AMMIE BOSWELL SAYS "SOMEBODY LIED!"

The following letter is given The Union-Banner for publication by Mr. A. O. Boswell, of Beat 10:

"I noticed my name appeared on the lost of those who filed applications for absentee ballots in the Democratic primary of June 14.

"I want all the citizens of Chilton County to know that this is a lie of someone's own make. The same is a thief and a robber. I'll repeat this any time, anywhere, to anybody. — A. O. Boswell."

More home raised feed and better pastures are needed for the increased number of cattle in Alabama, is the belief of Prof. J. C. Grimes, head of the A. P. I. animal husbandry department.

The old belief that it takes a lot of money to terrace a field or farm is erroneous, says Sam Doughty, soil conservationist of the extension service, in discussing the need for checking soil erosion. It is recommended, he says, that farmers build a few terraces the first year and a few more each succeeding year until the entire farm is terraced. By this means the expense will not be great in any one year.

ANTIOCH

Sunday school is progressing nicely at this place. We want the people to come and help make this one of the best Sunday schools.

Christian Endeavor was well attended Sunday night; 56 were present. We want to urge the parents to come out and be with us more. It seems the young people are more interested in the church's work than their parents; they will work still harder if they know their parents are for them.

Visitors are always welcome at this place. Come and help us build up our church work. — Willie Pearl Roseberry.

FIVE MINUTES WITH BIBLE QUESTIONS ANSWERED BY THE BIBLE ITSELF

Fall And Redemption Of Man

1. What place has the will in determining whether man shall have life?

"And the spirit and the bride say come. And let him that heareth say, come. And let him that is athirst come, and whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely."—Rev. 22:17.

2. To what extend has Christ suffer for sinners?

"He was wounded for our trangressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed."—Isa. 53:5.

3. For what purpose was Christ manifested?

"We know that He was manifested to take away our sins; and in Him is no sin. . . . He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil."—I John 3:5-8.

4. What was one direct purpose of the incarnation of Christ?

"Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, He likewise took part of the same; that through death He might destroy him that had the power of death, that is the devil."—Heb. 2:14.

5. What triumphant chorus will mark the end of the reign of sin?

"And every creature which is in heaven, and on earth, and under the earth, and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, blessing and honor, and glory and power, be unto him that sitteth on the throne and unto the Lamb forever and ever."—Rev. 5:13.

6. When and by what means will the effects of sin be removed?

"But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also, and the works therein shall be burned up."—II Peter 3:10.

7. How will the curse of the confusion of tongues be brought to and end?

"For then will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may call upon the name of the Lord, and to serve Him with one consent."—Zeph. 3:9.

8. How thoroughly will the effects of sin be removed?

"And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; or the former things are pass away."—Rev. 21:4. "And there be no more curse; but the throne of God and the Lamb shall be in it (the holy city) and His servants shall serve Him."—Rev. 22:3.

9. Will sin and its evil results ever appear again?

"What do ye imagine against the Lord? He will make an utter end; affliction shall not rise up the second time". — Nahum 1:9. "There shall be no more curse."—Rev. 22:3. "And there shall be no more death."—Rev. 21:4. Note: That sin exists none can deny. Why it was permited has perplexed many minds. But he who brought light out of darkness can make the wrath of man praise Him, and turn a curse into a blessing, can bring good out of evil and can turn mistakes and downfalls into stepping stones to higher ground. II Cor. 4:6; Psalms 76:10; Duet. 23:5. In the final outcome it will be seen that all things have worked together for good to them that love God.—Romans 8:28.—Arranged by Rev. W. H. Westermeyer, Pastor of the Montgomery Seventh-day Adventist Church).

When Caesar was a babe in diapers,
And chariots lacked windshield wipers,
Before Napoleon ever knew
That he would meet his Waterloo,
When Cleo was a howling brat,
Women were yelling, "Buy me that!"

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the loving kindness shown us by our many friends during our recent bereavement. We especially thank Mr. Martin, and Mr. Hollis and his crew from Mitchell Dam. May the richest buessings of God abide with each of you, is our earnest prayer. — Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heisler and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Crew.

IN MEMORY OF RONALDA HEISLER

On July 6, about 2 p.m., a cloud of darkness overshadowed the village of Cooper and all the community was in sadness because God had called and the angels had wafted the spirit of Ronalda Heisler to that home beyond the skies. There is consolation in the minds of all who knew her that she is resting in that mansion that God had gone to prepare for her.

Ronalda was 15 years of age. She leaves to mourn her going her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heisler; two brothers — Aubrey and Maurice Heisler, of Wetumpka; three sisters — Mrs. Dewey Crew of Cooper, Mrs. Winard Farbus of Wetumpka, Mrs. M. C. Wagoner of Kaiser, Mo.; and a host of relatives and friends in both the community of her home, and in Cooper, where she has frequently visited her sister, Mrs. Dewey Crew.

The funeral was held at Thelma church in Elmore County on Friday, July 8, at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Harden; Martin and Sons directing.

PLEASANT GROVE NO. 2

Sunday was our regular preaching day. Our pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson, delivered two very interesting sermons.

Mr. J. M. Walker, from St. Petersburg, Fla., is visiting his brother, Mr. C. T. Walker. This is the first time he has been here in 18 years.

Mrs. Cleve Coleman, from Tarrant City, visiited her brother, Mr. Walter Lawley, recently.

Miss Edwina Latham, who is in training at South Highland hospital, is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Latham.

Miss Margaret Oden, from Isabella, visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Oden, recently.

Mrs. Baker Rosser, from Tuscaloosa, spent the week end with her brother, Mr. Madison Young.

Miss Victoria Young has as her guest Miss Virginia Burt, from Cleveland, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawley are the proud parents of a baby girl.

Our B. Y. P. U. enjoyed a weiner roast on Dixie Beach Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Snead, from Centreville, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Sam Shoults.

Miss Grey and Blanche Hicks arrived Sunday from a pleasant trip to Centreville.

Our B. Y. P. U. regrets very much to hear of one of our members, Mr. Hudson Smith, breaking his arm. We hope to have him back in B. Y. P. U. soon.

Mr. Ben Head, from Birmingham, Mrs. Lula Head and Mrs. Gertrude Bedford, from Lawley, spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Sam Shoults.

Mrs. Amanda Adams, from Clanton, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Emmett Lawrence.

Mr. C. T. Walker and his brother, Mr. J. M. Walker, spent the week end in Centreville with Mrs. T. C. Snead.

Mr. and Mrs. Lige McMillan and family from Brent spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Madison Young.

Mrs. Stella and Lavern Shoults, from Selma, spent Sunday afternoon with relatives here.

Miss Lanett Williams, from Clanton, is visiting her cousin, Miss Daris Lawrence.

Miss Gray and Blanche Hicks have as their guest Miss Edna Earl Snead of Centreville.

MARY ELIZABETH ELLISON

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Ellison passed away June 26, and was laid to rest on June 27 at Mullins cemetery. Rev. Wiley Davis officiated at funeral services, assisted by Rev. Parker; Martin in charge of burial.

She leaves to mourn her, her husband, Tom Ellison; two sons, Henry and Jesse Ellison of Clanton; four daughters — Mrs. Cora Varden, Mrs. Emma Willis, Mrs. May Wright, Mrs. Minnie Burnett; two brothers, a sister, two half brothers, and a step-mother. — Mrs. Fate Cleckler.

A girl can be very sweet when she wants.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—France is beginning to think she has another Clemenceau in Premier Daladier, and she still has Marshal Philippe Petain, one of the few survivors of the great generals of the World war. Two or three years ago, General Petain was counseling peace and conciliation with Germany. Now he warns the French people of their "serious situation in Europe," and urges them to consider realities.

How Petain Keeps Fit at 82

It is quite possible that rope-skipping is mainly accountable for General Petain being alive, trim, fit and active at eighty-two. He is an inveterate rope-skipper, ejected from his apartment in 1914, because he jarred the plaster from the walls. This writer's record as to that goes only to 1934, but, in that year, he was still skipping diligently. Joffre, Foch and Maginot, among the French, Von Mackensen, Ludendorff and Hindenburg among the Germans — non-skippers all—have passed, but Marshal Petain lives on, venerated by his countrymen.

It was he who said, "They shall not pass"—on February 5, 1916, to be exact. He was the savior of Verdun, and, in this connection, a deft historian might discover that rope-skipping saved France. The general spent a solid week in an Automitralleuse without sleep, and the London Daily News commented at the time that no man who was not in perfect physical condition could have survived such ordeals. It was suggested that his energy and endurance had turned the tide of war.

He was born Henri Philippe Benoni Omer Joseph Petain, the son of a baker in Couchy a la Tour.

Man Mountain Dean, the wrestler, running for the legislature in Georgia, is after only one seat, but he will need three or four if he is elected. In retirement on his farm, near Norcross, he still weighs 317 pounds. It is a unique contest for him, with no chance for his running broad-jump attack, in which he hurtles his body against his opponent.

Dean Girds for Ballot Bout

His career seems to have been mostly his wife's idea. Born Frank Leavitt, in New York, known as the "Hell's Kitchen Hillbilly," he did a hitch in the army and thereafter engaged in some desultory wrestling and mauling as a Soldier Leavitt. Nothing much came of it, and he began placidly taking on weight as traffic cop in Miami, Fla. Doris Dean married him and began prodding his lagging ambition.

He started grappling again, in Boston in 1933, with fame still eluding his half-nelson, when a German promoter took him on a tour of the Rhineland. This was more successful, and brought him to the attention of Alexandre Korda, who needed a double for Charles Laughton as Henry VIII in the wrestling scene. Thus came the famous whiskers, an important detail of his wife's clever showmanship in the build-up of the Man Mountain. It was she who persuaded him to take the name Dean and who managed the histrionics which made him a fabulous creature. He was born in West Forty-third street in 1891, weighing 16½ pounds.

GEORGE E. Q. JOHNSON, the slight, self-effacing, bespectacled man who sent Al Capone to Alcatraz, is devoting his life to social betterment. He wants to make cities less fertile soil for crime, and to that end, would flush city and country children back and forth, interchangeably, to the benefit of each, he believes, and the nurture of good behavior.

He Sent Capone to Alcatraz

It was as United States attorney that he deftly enmeshed Capone in a silken spider-web of evidence, laboriously gathered and spun. The next year, Herbert Hoover made him a federal judge, but he stayed on the bench only a year and then went back to his law practice.

He broke the gangs in Chicago His story of how he snared Capone, told before the senate judiciary committee, with its tales of trapdoors and secret panels, was Grade A melodrama, but he didn't make it sound that way. He is a modest man, with no instincts of showmenship.

J. L. DUPREE DENIES VOTING IN DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please publish the following statement for me?

I noticed in The Union-Banner that I, J. L. Dupree, made application for an absentee ballot for the Democratic primary on June 14. This, I state, is untrue. I did not make such request, neither did I take any part in the Democratic primary. If there is such application, it is without my consent or knowledge.

I voted an absentee ballot in the Republican primary. I never in all my life, have taken part in a Democratic primary, neither have I ever voted a Democratic ticket.

I make this statement that all my friends may know the truth. — J. L. Dupree, Mt. Creek, Ala.

Pleasant Grove

The revival will begin here next Sunday, with services continuing through the following week. Our pastor, Rev. E. E. Wells, will be assisted in this meeting by Rev. J. W. Jones of Columbiana, formerly of Chilton County. Everyone is invited to attend.

Charles Relius Cobb of Jemison spent the latter part of last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Merchant.

Miss Mondelle Langston, from Powderly, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Robert Davenport.

Lucille Compton, of Oak Grove, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Charlie Childress.

Miss Lorine Spivey left Sunday for Birmingham, where she plans to enroll in Alverson Business College soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merchant and daughters spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hayes, near Randolph.

Miss Velma Price enjoyed a visit with her cousin, Mrs. Henry Posey, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Posey accompanied her home and spent the week end here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Lenoir of Bessemer stopped by at the home of his parents last week after vacationing a few days in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Clements had as their guests last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Martin of Oak Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Hughie Waldrop of Plantersville, and Misses Gwendolyn and Willie C. Clements of Birmingham.

Mrs. Sam Woodley and children spent last Friday night with her sister in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tatum and his mother, of Montevallo, spent a while last Sunday night with her uncle, Mr. Frank Merchant, and family.

Mr. Horace Atchison, of Ensley, spent the week end here with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sewell of Montgomery spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Thula Foshee, and family.

Don't forget — the revival begins here Sunday, July 17; plan to be with us some.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school and preaching were well attended Sunday. Our Sunday school is still progressing. Everybody come back next Sunday and bring someone with you.

Mrs. Dock Crew and children of Cairo, Ga., spent several days of last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Glenn and family.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn spent last Monday night with her brother, Mr. Wesley Stroud, of the Enterprise community.

Mrs. W. W. Stroud and daughter spent last Tuesday with Mrs. W. F. Glenn and family.

Prof. A. L. Brown is teaching a singing school at this place.

Quite a number from here attended the homecoming last Sunday at Poplar Springs, in Coosa County. There were said to have been about 3,000 people present.

A number from here are expecting to attend the all day singing next Sunday at Providence, Coosa County, five miles east of Mitchell Dam.

Kern Sandlin and Ottis Glenn are hauling watermelons day and night. They have made several trips to Florida and South Alabma for melons.

J. R. Mitchell spent several days last week fishing on Coosa River.

SINGING SCHOOL AT THORSBY

The Union-Banner has been erquested to carry the announcement that Prof. A. H. Glasscock, of Jemison, will teach a singing school at Thorsby Junior High School building, beginning Monday, July 18th. Classes will be held all day each five days a week, four weeks.

All of the elements of music will be taught, and the pupils will be disciplined to the best of the teacher's ability. The cooperation of the public is respectfully solicited.

NO ABSENTEE APPLICATION, SAYS A. E. GLASSCOCK

I want to say to the public that I have never voted a Democratic ticket in my life. Neither did I make application for an absentee ballot. I was not at the polling place either on May 3 or June 14, and whoever put my name in that kidnapped ballot box forged it. I am ready to go into any court and testify to this. — A Republican, A. E. Glasscock, R 1, Calera, Ala.

MUSIC SCHOOL TO BE TAUGHT AT ENTERPRISE SCHOOLHOUSE

Prof. W. M. Devaughn will teach a music school at Enterprise schoolhouse in the afternoons, beginning on July 25. Rudiment pupils, 50c per week; harmony pupils, 75c per week. Anyone wanting to study music will have a real opportunity. — J. W. Devaughn.

Marilyn McKinnon, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McKinnon, of Harrisburg, Pa., died at at the home on July 2nd. The remains were shipped here and buried by Martin in Clanton cemetery on July 5th. Brief services were conducted at the grave by the Rev. Oscar A. Davis. The parents survive.

DID NOT RECEIVE BALLOT

Last week I saw my name on the list of absentee voters. I want the public to know that I did not vote an absentee ballot. I went to the polls in Beat 9 and voted.

I filled out an application for a ticket to be sent to Siluria, Ala., so that if I saw I wouldn't get to go back to Chilton County to vote I could vote an absentee. However, I never received the ballot applied for.

Whoever did all this wanted someone elected to an office much more than I. — Vergia Robinson, Siluria, Ala.

Marvin Martin Denies Applying For Ballot

Editor Union-Banner:

In the July 7 issue of The Union-Banner I noticed in the list of applications for absentee ballots on June 14, that my name appears from Beat 12.

I wish to say to the people of Chilton County that I never signed any application for a ballot for that election, or voted in it. I will give $100 to anyone who will show an application with my signature on it. If my name appears, it is a forgery.

It is my opinion that a majority of these names were forged, or bought. There were 111 names from Beat 12. I am sure that at least 90 per cent of them were in Chilton County on that date, and that 10 per cent of these have never been outside of Chilton County.

Mr. Hardy and Mr. McKee have both written through the papers that they do not aprove of the vote buying and stealing. If they oppose such things, why were people trying to buy votes for them? And who paid for those votes? If this election was on the square, why was nothing ever done about the absentee ballot box being taken? If it had been someone taking a sack of flour for his hungry children, Mr. Hardy and Mr. McKee no doubt would have had him in jail.

It looks to me as if someone is afraid of uncovering something or they would get busy and do something about it. In view of all this, I feel that both of these men should be voted against instead of voted for. — Marvin Martin, Northport, Ala.

SINGING AT ENTERPRISE FIRST SUNDAY IN AUGUST

Concert On Saturday Night, August 6, By Quartet From Columbus, Ga.

There will be a singing at Enterprise schoolhouse, all day, on Sunday, August 7th. Some half a dozen good quartets are expected, one being the Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga. The singers of Chilton and adjoining counties have a cordial invitation to attend. All new books that are on hand will be used, with no partiality shown.

The Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga., will put on a concert at the schoolhouse on Saturday night before, August 6th, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Admission will be 10c and 15c — an amount which anyone can raise, and the cooperation of the music loving public is urged. Those who have heard this quartet say it is among the best in the South, and Enterprise wants to give them a good crowd; the people of other communities are urged to help in having a full house for this concert. Mark down the date on your calendar and come to the concert and the all day singing Sunday following. —I. D. Huett.

BEAT 12 VOTER DENIES APPLYING FOR ABSENTEE BALLOT

Editor Union-Banner:

I noticed my name in the list of applications for absentee ballots in the Demoratic primary of June 14th. I wish to say that I did not apply for a ballot and did not vote in that election; no one had any authority to apply for a ballot in my name.

I notice my wife's name, Mrs. Effie Robinson, appears twice in that list. She did not apply or authorize anyone else to apply. The name of Mrs. L. A. Campbell is in the list. She died four years ago. The name of J. M. Cleckler is on the list. Mr. Cleckler died two days before the election, and I am sure he did not apply for a ballot. The name of Mrs. Sophia Cleckler was in the list, and I know she did not apply. There are dozens of others whose names appeared on that list that I know knew nothing about it until their names came out in the paper.

The good citizens of Chilton county must arouse themselves and do something about such dirty practices in our politics. The welfare of our county depends on this kind of rottenness being stopped.—J. M. Robinson, Mineral Springs Community.

LIGHTING KILLED 34

Montgomery, Ala., July 17.—Thirty-four persons died in Alabama in 1936 as a result of being struck by lighting, or more than 11 times as many as were killed in airplane accidents, according to a tabulation of accidental death reports prepared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. No figures are yet available for 1937.

"On the basis of the latest availabe records, more people are killed by lightning in Alabama than in any other state except Georgia," Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, commented in making public these figures. "The area of abnormally high mortality rates from lightning is limited to two groups of contiguous states situated in two different sections of the country. The first is in the southeast and includes North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. The second extends from the Canadian border southward through Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona."

SYLACAUGA MAN CHOSEN HEAD OF STATE AMERICAN LEGION

Twentieth Session Ends As Fairhope Chosen 1939 Convention City

Montgomery, July 12. — The Alabama Department of the Amercan Legion elected Richard B. (Dick) Kelly, of Sylacauga, as commander Tuesday, and closed its 20th annual convention after deciding to meet at Fairhope next year.

Kelly, 49, is a Rainbow Division veteran and the second Sylacaugan to serve as state commander. Taylor Boyd, a fellow townsman, headed the department in 1937.

Ben W. Spielberger, Sheffield, was elected Vice Commander at large, defeating W. M. Rayburn, Gadsden, 203 to 172. The convention endorsed Judge J. Fred Johnson, Florence, for national commander. Thomas W. Jones of Birmingham was elected sergeant-at-arms.

NEW OUTBREAK OF THE WHITE-FRINGED BEETLE

Commissioner of Agrculture R. J. (Bob) Goode states that a new outbreak of the white-fringed beetle has been determined in Monroe County. This was first discovered at Peterman by a 4-H Club boy and the sample sent to Gulfport, Miss., for official identification. It was there determined to be the white-fringed beetle, or Argentine weevil.

Immediately following this identification, men from the U. S. Department fo Entomology were sent to delineate the area infested in order that control and quarantine measures might be inaugurated.

At the time of this release, it had been determined that the infestation exists from Monroeville to the Wilcox County line, largely along the L. & N. Railfay for a distance of approximately 25 miles. Most of the infestation occurs in the woods adjacent to the railway right-of-way, and there is a possibility of checking it before it spreads into the adjacent crops and fields.

More Dog Vaccination Dates Are Set

After going to press with the announcement of dog vaccination dates, further dates were given out by Dr. Parrish, who is in charge of the work.

Dr. Parrsh writes:

"The deadline will soon be here, August 1. Quite a few have not vaccinated dogs yet. Some seem to think there is no law to this, but if you are caught, don't blame me. The state is pushing me, and your neighbors are harder than the state. They do not feel that you are treating them right by not treating your dog. Talk with your friends who are cooperating, and be sure to tell your neighbor who takes no paper. If I have not made my appointments right, see your friends and I will be glad to give you a date."

Dr. Parrish cites a clipping from Montgomery, as follows:

"Dog owners in Alabama have until August 1 in which to have their animals inoculated agianst rabies without incurring penalties provided by the state's anti-rabies law, Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, says.

"While the 1937 anti-rabies act provides the county rabies inspector may set inoculation deadlines in his district, all inspectors have agreed penalties would become effective over the entire state after August 1."

On another page of this paper is given the schedule of Dr. Parrish from July 14 through July 19. Below are given additional dates, turned in too late to be included in the other notice:

July 26 — Jemison, 2 to 4.
July 27 — Verbena, 2 to 4.
July 28 — Maplesville, 2 to 4.
July 29 — Clanton, 8 a.m., to 4 p.m.

T. L. McKee Brands Rumor As Falsehood

To The People Of Chilton County:

My enemies and my opponent have circulated the rumor that I was coming out of the race for the nomination for Tax Collector, which is absolutely false. I have never sold out on my friends in my life and never will.

These same persons have also circulated the rumor that I was responsible for the fraud in the ballots and the vote buying in the absentee ballot box of the June 14th primary Everybody knows that all the above rumors are absolutely false and beneath the consideration of anyone.

Having been confined to my home the past week due to illness, I was unable to formulate a letter as I intended. However, next week I will give you a detailed account, the reason why some of our good citizens saw fit to take the absentee ballot box on June 14th, the persons responsible for the polluted condition of that box, and why our officers made no effort to do anything to the parties who took the box.

I will publish this in both county papers for the benefit of the public and will call a spade a spade.—Yours for clean politics and good government—T. L. McKee.

USED CAR SALES

Detroit, Mich., July 9. — An indication of the size and scope of the used car industry in America is given by the used car sales of the Chevrolet dealers during the present year and for more than three years consecutively, according to William E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

"June sales of used cars totaled 123,701", he said, "and it was the 40th consecutive month that Chevrolet dealers exceeded the 100,000 mark. It brought the 1938 total to 725,086, and the grand total for 40 months to 5,732,819".

It has been estimated that the used car business in the country has an annual dollar turnover of approximately two billion dollars for a normal year. Statistcs say that there are more than 11,000,000 motorists who buy regularly in the used car market.

Proud Mother: He's a year old now and has been walking since he was eight months old.

Bored visitor: Really? He must be awfully tired.

MONEY SNATCHED AT BASEBALL GAME

Fifty Dollars Taken At Gate By Boy About 15 Years Old; No Arrests Made

The cashier at the donkey baseball game at the high school park Monday night was surprised by a boy about 15 years old, when the young fellow snatched a handfull of bills amounting to $50.00 from the counting shelf at the gate. Prof. Patterson Hicks was keeping the gate for the sponsors of the game — the W. M. S. ladies of Clanton Methodist church — and near the close of the game, Mr. Hicks states, a hand slipped through the opening at the ticket window and snatched the bills like lightning, and the young man fled into the crowd before his face could be seen. He was dressed in dark pants and a white shirt.

Southernaires In Concert At Cooper

The Southernaires, of Birmingham, will put on a concert at Chestnut Creek schoolhouse on Saturday night, July 23rd, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. You know what these singers are; you have heard them over the radio, and you will want to hear them in person. All are invited and urged to attend this concert at Cooper schoolhouse.

The all day singing will be held at the church on Sunday following, the the fourth Sunday in this month. All singers are invited.

Commissioners And Councilmen Meet

The Board of County Commissioners and the City Council held a joint meeting at the courthouse last Friday afternoon and took under consideration the matter of paving that part of Lay Dam road that comes within the corporate limits of Clanton. After much discussion pro and con, it was decided to defer the matter until some future date.

The city is asking the commissioners to extend the same aid within the city that it bears on the rural section of the road, pointing out that city residents pay into the county treasury taxes the same as do taxpayers outside Clanton. The proposed paved road will not cost landowners anything, directly, out in the rural section where the right-of-way touches.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Thank God for the church. Thank Him for its numerous ways of serving. Thank Him for those people of the church who are ever ready to lend their time and energy to the aiding, comforting and encouraging of the rest of us.

We had a good attendance at Sunday school last Sunday. Now, in addition to our thrice daily prayers for our church, may we not every one be at Sunday school and both preaching services next Sunday? It is our privilege to be a regular attendant to and worker in our church.

Sunday, July 31, a week after next Sunday, is Orphanage Day. Let's begin now to make our plans to make our contribution to our orphans an extra good one.

ASKS SOME QUESTIONS ABOUT ABSENTEE APPLICATIONS

Editor Union-Banner:

I noticed my name in the list of applications for absentee ballots in the Democratic run-off of June 14th. In the first place I wish to state to the public that I knew nothing of having voted in that Democratic election or of applying for an absentee ballot until my name came out in The Banner. I did not vote in this election, and my name was forged by someone on the application for a ballot.

I went to the probate office and tried to ascertain, if possible, who turned in such application, but there was no record as to who signed my name to the request.

I noticed something about the requests in the probate judge's office, which I wish Judge Smith would explain. Some of the applications were endorsed on the back as to who turned them in, but it seems that by far most of them were not endorsed on the back and there is no way of telling who turned them in. I would like to know why some of them were required to be signed while others were not, and I believe other voters of the county would like to know this also.—Yours for Fairness in Voting.—J. R. Rucker.

MUSIC SCHOOL TO BE TAUGHT AT ENTERPRISE SCHOOLHOUSE

Prof. W. M. Devaughn will teach a music school at Enterprise schoolhouse in the afternoons, beginning on July 25. Rudiment pupils, 50c per week; harmony pupils, 75c per week. Anyone wanting to study music will have a real opportunity. — J. W. Devaughn.

REVIVAL AT SUNSHINE

The revival at Sunshine will begin next Sunday, July 25th. Services will be held each evening at 7:30, under a large tent. Rev. E. J. Orange will do the preaching. The public is cordially invited.

Also the fifth Sunday meeting of the Assemblies of God, will be held here the fifth Sunday in this month. There will be all day services, special music, singing, etc. Everybody welcome.

All farmers who are interested in cattle and hog production should confer with Mr. W. J. R. Browder.

We plan to set up several electric fence demonstrations in the county within the next few months if the farmers are interested. — J. W. Fant, county agent.

FRIGIDAIRES AT BIG FOUR

The Big Four Hardware Company are sole distributors in this territory for the original Frigidaire, the General Motors electric refrigerator. This is one of the first electric refrigerators out, and they have been adding improvements all along, as the engineers and scientists of this great corporation discovered the necessity of various improvements. The silent meter-miser is one improvement that Frigidaire boasts of, which is said to save lots of electricity and brings the noise of operation to the minimum.

Messrs. Lester and Amon Jones at Big Four will be glad to make further explanation of Frigidaire to anyone interested. Read the space adv. about this product elsewhere in The Union-Banner.

VERY OLD FRUIT JAR

This seems to be a time when folks are thinking in terms of half a century or more ago — those good old times when folks knew nothing except to be honest and truthful, work hard and treat everybody right. Recently there was a shoe brought to The Union-Banner office said to be 75 years old; we have a bundle of fodder 43 years old. Now, Mr. Jim M. Mims of Verbena Route 2 comes in with an old Mason fruit jar patented in 1858. Of course, the jar might have been made some years after the patent was granted, but a glance at it shows that it is an old one. The mouth is about regular size, but the threads are different, so that a standard lid will not work on it. The jar is at the Banner office.

More Students Wanted By Beauty School

Since Mrs. W. C. Robinson opened her Modern School of Beauty Culture here three years ago, that school has filled a need to the young ladies of this section. Some thought it would prove detrimental to the beauty shops, but the facts point out differently. The students in the school give permanents and other beauty treatments cheaper than regular shops do, but when they once give a treatment, that subject is then a regular patron for somebody's beauty shop. In this way, the business for all the shops is stimulated.

And, on the other hand, the trade furnishes work for girls who probably would otherwise be unemployed. There are always openings for good operators. Since Mrs. Robinson opened her shop, she has turned out a total of 31 trained operators. Most of them have good jobs and are making good wages.

Mrs. Robinson is this week advertising for more students in her school. Turn to her adv. and read it, and if you are interested, get in touch with the Modern School of Beauty Culture.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Cedar Grove church Saturday night, July 23. Everybody come and bring another with you. Proceeds go for benefit of the church.

LITTLE MAN MAY PAY INCOME TAX

Workers In Low Bracket May Soon Have To Fork Up, Is Late Hint

Washington, July 18.—The treasury intends to make an intensive study this Summer of the feasibility of levying heavier income taxes on the "little fellow."

No decision has been made as to whether the adminstration will sponsor any change in the low income tax brackets, but a study of the subect was one of the items on "homework" Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau assigned his experts before leaving Friday for France.

Although more taxes for the "little fellow" are believed by some administration advisers to be politically inexpedient, Secretary Morgenthau has hinted at a process which might ease the sting of such a change. He indicated some of the excise taxes now paid by the "little fellow" on theater admissions, cosmetics and the like might be repealed to lessen the burden of increased income taxes. A few of the smaller excises, including those on tooth paste and chewing gum, were repealed by the last Congress.

A little girl visited in Clanton last week who had a rather interesting family history. One of her grandfathers was the first policeman for the city of Birmingham. Her other grandfather built the first log cabin in Birmingham. The little girl's name is Myrece Kelley, and she lives in Bessemer; she is attending summer school in Montevallo, and was spending last week end here with Inez Wyatt, who is also attending school in Montevallo.

All Day Singing At Antioch 1st Sunday

There will be an all day singing in the new books at Antioch, on Pletcher road, the first Sunday in August. All are invited to come and bring dinner and new song books. — C. W. White.

Miss Marguerite Prater, of Millport, Ala., visited Miss Mary Belle Bean last week.

TOO MUCH OF IT ALREADY!

WRITING SCHOOL WILL BEGIN NEXT MONDAY

There will be a writing school at Concord schoolhouse, beginning next Monday, July 25th, at 9 o'clock. The school will begin every morning at 9 o'clock a. m. and close at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Tuition will be only $1.00 for the entire 10 days of the school.

The writing school will be taught by the Professor J. C. Brown of Coosa County, formerly of Clanton and Chilton county. He has taught school here in Clanton and other various places in and out of the county. Prof. Brown teaches all the young and the old. Your patronage will be appreciated.

WORLD WAR VETERAN BURIED NEAR MAPLESVILLE MONDAY

Ernest C. Hamrick Died In Maplesville Last Saturday Night

Ernest C. Hamrick, age 42, a World War veteran, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. G. M. Hamrick, in Maplesville last Saturday night at 11:25. Burial was at Pleasant Grove, Shoults, Monday morning, following services at Maplesville Baptist church at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. G. G. Williams. Martin directed. Pallbearers were the following ex-service men: Bill Hampton, J. R. Bearden, Walker McGee, Joe A. Davis, I. A. Dennis, and C. E Rucker. Flower girls were: Jerry Ratliff, Johnnie Middlebrooks, May Shanks, and Jean Huggins.

Surviving are the wife, Mrs. Ruby Binion Hamrick, one daughter and four sons; mother, Mrs. G. M. Hamrick; six sisters, four brothers, and two half brothers. Ernest Hamrick's home is on Clanton Route 3.

Mr. Hamrick saw service with the army in 1916 on the Mexican border. On July 22, 1918, he enlisted again and went to France with Co. A, 323rd Machine Gun Battalion. He remained until the war was over and was discharged soon thereafter.

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS AT TEMPLE CHURCH

Evangelist W. E. Thurmond began a two-weeks revival campaign at the Temple church, three miles east of Clanton, last Sunday night. A large congregation was present to meet the speaker, and deep conviction rested upon the entire audience.

The evangelist said in his messsage that he had come to Clanton to be a help to every church in this community, and if he thought his messages would not be a help and a blessing to many he would return home at once.

Services continue for two weeks, with two services daily; the pastor, Rev. A. T. Hickmon, speaks at the morning service.

On the closing day of the campaign the evangelist wishes to speak to men only at a 2:30 service.

MASONIC CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT JEMISON 27-28

The 26th annual session of the Chilton County Masonic Conference will be held with Jemison Lodge No. 411 on Wednesday and Thursday, July 27 and 28.

All lodges in the conference are requested to send representatives to this session of the conference. All Masons are invited and urged to attend. Robert B. Keith of Birmingham will conduct the conference. — H. A. Harris, Secretary. 7-14-2t

OHIO PARTY RETURNS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baltzer and sons, Kenneth and Lee, and Mr. R. V. Watson, left Saturday morning for Akron, Ohio, where they have made their home for the past several years. They spent their two weeks vacation in Clanton and Montgomery with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson, and other relatives.

MISS MARY COURTNEY JONES HAS SCHOLARSHIP RENEWED

Announcement has just come from the office of the President of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., Dr. Geo. F. Donovan, of the renewal of the tuition scholarship at Webster for 1938-1939 of Miss Mary Courtney Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jones of Clanton.

Miss Jones was a Sophomore at Webster College last year. She did her academic work at the Loretto Sisters' Academy in Montgomery. Webster College is conducted by the Sisters of Loretto, also.

All scholarships given at Webster are for one year only. Some are renewable, but may be renewed only by the recipient maintaining an average of 85 per cent in her studies throughout the year and participating in at least two extra-curricular activities. These tuition scholarships have a value of $150.00.

More Dog Vaccination Dates Are Set

Dr. Parrish writes:

"The deadline will soon be here, August 1. Quite a few have not vaccinated dogs yet. Some seem to think there is no law to this, but if you are caught, don't blame me. The state is pushing me, and your neighbors are harder than the state. They do not feel that you are treating them right by not treating your dog. Talk with your friends who are cooperating, and be sure to tell your neighbor who takes no paper. If I have not made my appointments right, see your friends and I will be glad to give you a date."

Dr. Parrish cites a clipping from Montgomery, as follows:

"Dog owners in Alabama have until August 1 in which to have their animals inoculated agianst rabies without incurring penalties provided by the state's anti-rabies law, Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, says.

"While the 1937 anti-rabies act provides the county rabies inspector may set inoculation deadlines in his district, all inspectors have agreed penalties would become effective over the entire state after August 1."

Below are given additional dates:

July 26 — Jemison, 2 to 4.

July 27 — Verbena, 2 to 4.

July 28 — Home of Kizer Morgan, 8:30 to 9:30; Shoults, 10 to 11:30; Maplesville, 2 to 4.

July 29 — Clanton, 8 a.m., to 4 p.m.

Dr. Parrish further points out that the law defines a dog "owner" as anyone who allows a dog to stay on his place. He makes this explanation because some have claimed that dogs about their places did not belong to them. If there is a dog at your home, therefore, and remains there, you are legally held the owner thereof.

Dr. Parrish makes explanation regarding the penalty for non-compliance with the law. Contrary to general opinion, the inspector will not go about shooting dogs which have not been vaccinated, but their owners will be subject to prosecution and a fine of from $1 to $10 and costs for each dog.

Dr. Parrish has set out the above information because some seem not to understand the whole procedure, and he says he wants no one to get into trouble unwittingly.

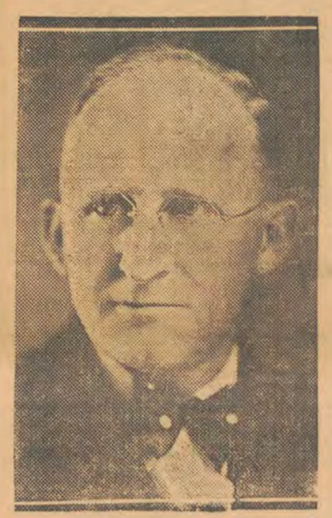
Man Shot In Stomach

On last Saturday afternoon, reports say, Mr. J. H. (Bud) Headley of near White City was mysteriously shot through the stomach with a .38 revolver. He was carried to Prattville hospital by Mr. Luke Calloway, where his condition was pronounced critical. Mr. Headley is 62 years old.

It is said that only two small children were present at the time, and it is thought probably they were playing with the pistol when it went off, wounding the man.

SCHOOL CURTAIN FINISHED AT RANDOLPH

Prof. J. Hudson Williams, principal of Randolph school, reports that the curtain over there has been completed and that it is pleasing to the eye. Mr. Williams invites everyone coming near Randolph to drop by the schoolhouse and see the new curtain. The artist for the job was Mr. Carter Camp, of Auburn.



Deep thanks and appreciation are extended those who took advertising space on the curtain, which made the payment for same possible. Prof. Williams and others connected with the school wish all who helped to know that they thank them for what they did.

ONLY SEVEN ARRESTS

Through the past week, only seven arrests have been placed on the jail register at the sheriff's office. They include: Driving while intoxicated, two whites; issuing fraudulent check, one white; grand larceny, one negro; public drunkenness, one white; assault and battery, one white; reckless driving, one white and one negro.

Revival At Thorsby Baptist Church Soon

The regular summer revival at the Thorsby Baptist church will begin on next Sunday, July 24th, and extend through Wednesday, August 3rd. Services will be held daily at 10 a.m., and 7:30 p.m. The pastor, Rev. M. I. McLeod, extends a cordial welcome to all who can arrange to attend, adding the following quotation: "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord".

REV. W. D. OGLETREE
Of Enterprise, Ala.

The preaching will be done by Rev. W. D. Ogletree, of Enterprise, Ala., whose picture appears above. Arrangements are being made for a song leader.

EAGLE'S STORE TO OPEN SOON

New Business House To Have Formal Opening; Is In Old Sartor Building

Some weeks ago The Union-Banner announced that Mr. Ike Nathews, of Montevallo, was coming to Clanton and going into business. Well, Mr. Nathews is here, and has his store all ready to begin serving the trade Saturday of this week. The place is known as Eagle's Store — Bargain House, and is located in the old Sartor building formerly occupied by Watts Hat Shoppe. Eagle's store will handle general merchandise.

Mr. Nathews, who has been in Montevallo for 10 years, intends moving his family to Clanton some time soon, but not right at the present.

Clanton and Clanton people extend a warm welcome to Mr. Nathews and his family. He is not only a business man, but a person interested in civic enterprise and social betterment. During the decade he has lived in Montevallo he has pioneered several movements which have meant much to the improvement of that town, its business customs, Etc. He has always manifested especial interest in school work, fraternal organizations, church and Sunday school activities, and the betterment of things generally about him. Clanton will be glad to have Mr. Ike Nathews and his family with us.

Before going to Montevallo, Mr. Nathews operated stores at Centreville and Blocton.

VISITING FROM NEW YORK

A visitor from New York City, for the first time in 20 years, is Mr. J. Edgar Barrett, who is spending several days with his mother, Mrs. M. J. Barrett on Clanton Route 1. Mr. Barrett will return to his adopted home on July 29th.

ANNUAL ALL DAY SINGING AT BETHSALEM JULY 24th

There will be an all day singing at Bethsalem church next Sunday, July 24th. We are expecting some good quartets from Selma and Prattville. Everybody come, bring your lunch and new books, and spend the day with us.

PAVING FUNDS ARE BEING COLLECTED

City Officials Report Project Is Certain; Many Streets To Be Paved Soon

Committees are busy collecting the part of the street paving funds to be paid by the property owners of Clanton. Various committees on different streets are meeting with satisfactory success in responses from the owners of abutting property. Complete reports are to be in this week, according to Mayor C. Fenn Jones.

This work is being done under the old set-up of PWA, which city officials applied for back in 1935. This plan of the government was abandoned, but has recently been reinstated; so this is the system under which the present paving will be handled.

However, Mayor Jones explains that under WPA, other streets may be paved, and even curbs and drainage may be constructed on the streets where PWA is to do the center paving.

If there are streets which property owners would like to have paved, they should get in touch with Mayor Jones at once and get their projects under consideration.

Mayor Jones is well pleased with the response property owners are according the solicitors and the city officials. There is no doubt now that the paving will be done, and the chances are that lots more will be done than was originally planned. The plans for installing a larger and better water system have been approved, and work on that will begin before long.

The property owners of Clanton are assured by the Mayor that if they will lend their ccoperation, he will see that Clanton gets all the government assistance that is possible during the next two years.

Mrs. Alpha Wyatt is on a trip to Cuba with Alabama Press Association this week. She left last Sunday and will return next Sunday.

Large Sunflowers

The Union-Banner has had reports of exceptionally broad sunflower blooms this year. One 12 inches in diameter was brought in Monday; there was a report of one 13 inches across, and there was a report over a week ago of one 16 inches in diameter.

These things make fine chicken feed, and the owners are reluctant to leave the blooms with us, since they shed out readily.

We have the concrete evidence of one 17 inches in diameter, brought in by Mr. Walter Poole on Tuesday. John Schmith, the shoe man, says he has one 13 inches across, and raised one in Minnesota or some other place one time that was 27 inches in diameter. But we have not seen either of them; Mr. Poole left his 17-inch specimen at The Banner office to be seen by anyone wishing to call by.

TEN APPLES ON CLUSTER

On Friday of last week Mr. John Wells of Concord community brought to The Union-Banner a cluster of apples. Mr. Wells stated that there were ten apples on the eleven-inch twig when he left home, but driving over the Democratic road shook off half of them by the time he got to town.

Mr. Wells stated that his apple trees are completely weighted down with apples this year, and that a great portion of them are in clusters similar to the ones left here. It seems that there is an abundance of fruit of all kinds raised this year.

Mr. H. S. Sewell brought in two or three bunches Saturday afternoon, which grew on a 40-year-old tree on his place near Isabella. Mr. Sewell said there were at least ten bushels on one tree, the variety being old fashioned winter or cider apples.

KELLY GENTRY WAS HERE

The Union-Banner was glad to have a visit from our good friend, Kelly Gentry, of Montgomery, Monday of this week. Mr. Gentry is a good Republican who never changes his texture. He was Republican before he left Chilton county, and he is the same since he got down to Montgomery where nearly everything is the other way. That is the kind we like—a man who sticks to his colors under whatever circumstances or conditions he happens to be.

Mr. Gentry, who works for the L. & N. Railroad, gave some interesting figures about shipments of produce from Baldwin county this season. That part of Baldwin between Bay Minette and Foley has shipped over the L. & N. since April 1st the following number of cars of various products: Irish potatoes 4,763, cucumbers 469, corn 386, mixed shipments 41, peas 5, beans 4, tomatoes 1, and sweet potatoes 193. Shipping of sweet potatoes has just begun, according to Mr. Gentry.

JUDGE GLOVER TO BE HERE ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 6th

Judge Arthur Glover, circuit judge, of Wetumpka, will be in Clanton on Saturday, August 6th, for the purpose of meeting offenders in cases who have entered pleas of guilty and are paying off their fines in installments. There are about 100 cases on the criminal docket of this nature, according to the Circuit Clerk.

No; I'm not that soft and you're not that hot.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

OUTSTANDING SPEAKERS TO BE ON FARM WEEK PROGRAM

Auburn, July 18. — Feature of the annual Alabama Farmers and Homemakers Week which will be held here August 1-5 will be addresses by farm and governmental leaders. The program this year includes talks on many subjects of vital interest to the farm group.

First address of the annual session will be that of Gov. Bibb Graves, who will speak on the subject, "Forward March In Alabama", at the opening session, Monday evening, August 1.

"Reciprocal Trade Agreements" is the subject of an address to be delivered the next morning by Dr. Woodbury Willoughby, of the Department of State, Washington, D. C. Following Dr. Willoughby on the program will be Edward A. O'Neal, president, American Farm Bureau Federation, who will discuss "A National Program for American Agriculture".

That evening Congressman - elect George Grant of Troy will talk on the subject, "When I Am In Congress". This address will be followed by a talk on "Public Education In Alabama" by Dr. A. H. Collins, State Superintendent of Education.

Two of Alabama's outstanding public leaders will appear on the program Wednesday, August 3. Donald Comer, president, Avondale Mills, Birmingham, will discuss "Agriculture and Industry", while Sen. John H. Bankhead will talk on the subject, "Congress And The Farmer". An illustrated lecture is scheduled for that evening, by W. M. Landiss, TVA, Knoxville.

A native Alabamian, Jesse B. Hearin, resident, Production Credit Corporation, New Orleans, will speak on Thursday morning, August 4, on "The Farmer And His Financial Needs". Miss Lula Dunn, director, State Department of Public Welfare, will follow Mr. Hearin on the program, discussing "Welfare Work In Alabama".

Sen. Lister Hill will bring the message to the farm men and women on Thursday evening, speaking on an unannounced subject. "Mixing Factories With Farms" is the subject of an address to be given the same night by Benjamin Russell, president, Alabama Chamber of Commerce, Alexander City.

Friday morning, August 5, P. K. Norris, Senior Marketing Specialist, Foreign Agricultural Service Division, United States Department of Agriculture, will address the farm group on the subject, "Cotton Production In Other Countries". Following this speech, Assistant Secretary Harry Brown, U. S. Department of Agriculture, will talk on "Agriculture From A National Viewpoint".

KEEP PURE BRED HEIFERS AND IMPROVE THE HERD

Auburn, July 18. — The most practical method of improving the quality of the beef herd is to retain a few heifers which were sired by a good type pure bred bull and out of the best "doing" cows in the herd, advises R. S. Sugg, extension animal husbandman.

By good "doers", Dr. Sugg explains, he means the cows that are good mothers, good milkers, and those that make the best use of feed and pasture.

Too often producers fail to take the quality of the cow into consideration in selecting heifers for foundation stock, he says. The best guide in selecting cows is the actual performance of the cows. It is not always possible to select the best producers from their general appearance and conformation, states Dr. Sugg, adding that in many herds the best looking cows often prove to be the poorest breeders.

Both the breeder of pure bred cattle and the commercial producer should make a careful study of the cow herd and note the type of calves they produce and how these particular calves grow off and develop. Calves from hte best cows should then be marked for identification either by tattooing the ear, horn brand, or neck chain, and a record should be made of the date of birth, and the sire and dam. By following this method it is possible to check up on the value of the bull as a sire.

Losses from disease in herds graded up in this manner are less likely to occur than if replacements are purchased and brought in from other sections, Dr. Sugg believes.

By culling out the inferior or poor producing cows, he states, on the basis of the kind of calves they produce, and replacing with heifers from the good cows, it is possible to build up a herd within a few years from which maximum returns may be obtained.

COTTON MARKETING QUOTA PROCEDURE IS EXPLAINED

Auburn, July 18. — Regulations for establishing marketing quotas for cotton under the Agricultural Aljustment Act of 1938 and outlining the procedure to be followed by producers, ginners, and buyers in connection with the marketing of this year's cotton crop have been announced by A. W. Jones, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in Alabama.

Use of marketing quotas for the 1938 cotton crop was approved by more than 92 per cent of the farmers voting in the referendum on March 12.

Quotas will be based on the cotton acreage allotments and the normal cotton yields of individual farms, to be established by the county committees as provided in the Act. The normal cotton yields of individual farms are now being calculated from the available farm records and notices of marketing quotas will be mailed to farmers as soon as these have been determined.

The cotton marketing quota of a farm will be the normal roduction or the actual production, whichever is greater, of the acreage allotment of that farm, plus the amount of cotton from any previous crop which the producers on the farm have on hand.

On a farm planting within the acreage allotment, the producer will get a card indicating that he may sell without payment of nay penalty all the cotton produced on that farm in 1938 and any cotton on hand from a previous crop. A producer receiving this card may also receive a certificate, as evidence that he holds the card, to be used in marketing cotton by telephone, telegraph, mail, or other methods in which the producer does not complete the sale directly in the presence of the buyer.

Producers on whose farms the total production does not exceed 1,000 pounds of lint cotton in 1938 will be exempt from the 2-cent penalty in connection with the marketing of any part of their cotton.

On farms on which cotton allotments are overplanted, the producers will receive another type card. This card will specify the amount of cotton produced in 1938 or held over from a prior year which the producer is entitled to sell without penalty.

Producers will be required to identify their cotton at the time it is marketed by showing the buyer their marketing cards or certificates.

The penalty on cotton marketed in excess of the farm quota will be collected by the buyer at the time of the sale and may be deducted by him from the price paid for the cotton. However, the producer may arrange with the county committee to pay or secure payment of any penalty which he may incur, prior to the sale of his cotton. All penalties collected by buyers must be remitted to the treasurer of the county committee in the county in which the cotton was produced within 30 days after the sale. These sums will be covered into the treasury of the United States.

The quota regulations require ginners to keep a record of all cotton ginned and to submit a report of the ginnings on prescribde forms to the county committee twice a month. Buyers will be required to make a record of each purchase of cotton from producers on farms which exceeded their allotments and to send a copy of this record to the county committee.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BEGIN AT MULBERRY

Revival services will begin at Mulberry on the fourth Sunday, July 24, and will continue through the week. Rev. H. L. Tully, pastor of the Baptist church at Wylam, will be our visiting minister. We are all hoping for a great time together. Members of the church are urged to attend and bring their friends. All visitors will be welcome. Come and be with us. — Paul Oden, pastor.

C. C. SEWELL DENIES APPLYING FOR ABSENTEE BALLOT

Editor Union-Banner:

In the July 7th issue of The Union-Banner, I noticed in the list of applications for absentee ballots on June 14 that my name appears from Beat 7.

I wish to say to my friends and the people of the county, that I never signed any application for a ballot in that election, or voted in it. — C. C. Sewell, R 2, Maplesville.

BAKER CLUB MEETS

The Baker Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Kate Smith Tuesday, July 12. Several members and two visitors were present. The morning was spent in laughing and talking and preparing a delicious meal, which was spread at the noon hour to the members and Miss Mattie Jo Barbour.

After dinner the members assembled in the living room, where the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. A. Marcus. The roll was called and the minutes read by the secretary. Miss Barber then explained mattress making nad taught the members several other things necessary in mattress making. Several other subjects were discussed. It was decided to meet some time in August with Mrs. Kate Smith to make a mattress. After a most enjoyable day, the club was dismissed, to meet with Mrs. J. A. Marcus on September 13.

NEED FOR EROSION CONTROL

Auburn, July 18. — What most Alabama farmers want to know is how they can hold their soil and the moisture that falls upon it without spending much money. That is the belief of J. B. Wilson, agricultural engineer of the Alabama Extension Service.

Most farmers have heard of the great need of soil erosion control. Estimates of thousands of tons of soil that has left Alabama farms have been made, but the farmer is interested in how he can save and build up what he has left. A farmer is usually most convinced of the destruction to his farm when he tries to fill a small gully in one of his fields by hauling dirt to fill it, or by noticing reduction in yields as a result of sheet erosion.

The old belief that it takes a lot of money to terrace a field or farm is erroneous, the specialist says. In fact, it takes very little more to terrace the field than it does to plow it once if the farmer does the work himself.

It is not necessary that the farmer do all his terracing in one year. Instead, it is recommended by the Extension Service that farmers build a few terraces the first year and add a few more each year until the entire farm is terraced.

The Agricultural Conservation Program will help pay for the terracing work, since payments are provided for terracing and other soil erosion control work under the program. Mr. Wilson recommends making these terraces larger by back-furrowing each year for a period of two or three years. By this method about half the cost of the finished terrace is taken up in regular far moperations, and the first cost of building the minimum terraces is very small.

Miss Pearl Henley is spending a few days with Miss Francis Farley in Birmingham. The former was the recipient of honors at a swimming party there recently.

Little O. K. Welch has returned home after visiting relatives at Elmore, Ala.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT RELEASES QUARTERLY REPORT

A summary of activities of the local health department for the months of April, May and June was issued early this week from the local health office. An invitation to the people of the county to review the report was extended by the county health officer, Dr. S. D. Sturkie. The work done during the period is, on the whole, up to the standard, excepting the nurse's activities, according to a comment by Dr. Sturkie. The illness and untimely death of Miss Smitherman, and the fact that her successor, Miss Rumbley, has been temporarily handicapped by not being familiar with the county, has brought about a slowing down of the nurse's program. This setback, Dr. Sturkie feels, will be speedily overcome during the current quarter.

IN MEMORY OF LEON FOSHEE

On June 28, the dear Lord called our brother, Leon Foshee, away. There is no doubt in our minds but that he has gone to rest. He was a member of Mt. Carmel Baptist church.

He leaves to mourn his loss three sisters, a wife and two small sons, his mother, and five brothers. He was the youngest son of Mrs. Cleasie Foshee.

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for their kindness shown us during the long illnes of our brother. We especially thank Dr. Franklin, Rev. Nix, and our good neighbors, Mr. T. V. Eiland, Berdie Liveoak, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Liveoak, who stood by him in his last hours.

His body was laid to rest at Mt. Carmel cemetery; his spirit is gone where all is bright and fair. — Mr. and Mrs. Rastus Foshee and daughter, Everee.

MISS HULETTE MILLER

Miss Hulette Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Miller, of Montgomery, died last Thursday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock in St. Margaret's Hospital.

Miss Miller was taken ill shortly after the Fourth of July with a heart ailment. She was removed to St. Margaret's Hospital for treatment, after which pneumonia developed, causing her death.

Hulette was 14 years of age. Although her life was short, it was sweet and beautiful. She had a number of friends in Montgomery, where she lived, and in Cooper, where she frequently visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pinson. Her passing is deeply felt by all who knew her.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce is at present very active in matters of vital importance to the state.

Benjamin Russell, as president of the State Chamber, has taken a lead in opposing recent recommendation of the National Resources Committee to federal government of transporting several million Southern people to other sections to benefit the South.

Mr. Russell proposed that the Southeast be given greater opportunities for self help as a way to solve the region's economic difficulties arising out of a population too great for industrial and commercial opprtunities.

Development of extensive new industries and of new lines of production for home use were proposed by Mr. Russell as alternatives to moving the South's people.

The State Chamber is likewise lending its support in the Southeast's fight for elimination of adverse freight rate differentials. President Russell, who accompanied the governor to Buffalo for the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing, told the Commission that both North and South would benefit by an adjustment of rates.

Mr. Russell explained that with a parity in rates, Alabama industry would get the chance it needs to expand; that it would increase the purchasing power of Alabama consumers of Northern goods, and at the same time would enable Northern consumers to buy Southern products on a more competitive basis.

RAILROAD WAGE RATES

Railroad wage rates in 1938 are at the highest average level in history, according to a detailed analysis of rialroads and railroad wages, compilby the rail carriers of the United States.

General business conditions and the cost of living according, to this study, do not justify the continuance of present wage levels. while the railroad industry, facing disaster, cannot sustain them. The study presents, in complete detail, the situation which compels the railroads to seek, under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act, a reduction of 15 per cent in present wage rates.

The railroads' study, based on official records, shows that 1938 average railroad wages are higher, whether measured in dollars or cents or in purchasing power, than they were in 1929, the year of greatest national income, or in 1932, the year of lowest national income. The study shows that the return on money invested in providing railroad plant and equipment is now less than one-tenth the rate of return in 1929 and less than one-third the return in 1932, the previous depth of the depression.

The causes for these changes are analyzed as less traffic hauled at lower average revenues, in contrast with rising prices, mounting taxes, and an average wage level now 20 per cent higher than it was in 1932.

The railroads' study also considers other reasons to which railroad difficulties are sometimes ascribed, and shows from Government authorities that railroads as a whole are not over - capitalized, and that fixed charges are neither excessive, unjust, nor a major cause of the present critical condition of the lines.

How critical this condition is is indicated by the figures for the first quarter of 1938, when about one-half the railroad mileage of the country failed to earn even operating expenses and taxes, and nearly nine-tenths failed to earn enough to meet interest due on money borrowed from the public, and rentals on leased property.

The question, as presented in the railroads' study of the situation is "one of preserving efficient, low-cost, self-supporting, tax paying rail transportation. A bankrupt railroad industry cannot aid in the restoration of national prosperity."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to those who assisted in any way during the recent death of our beloved daughter, Hulette; also for the beautiful floral offerings. Especially do we thank Mr. Martin for his splendid service. May God richly bless each of you, is our earnest prayer. — Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pinson, Agnes Boswell.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hayes on July 2nd, a fine baby girl, whom they have named Martha Charlotte.

Miss Theda Wyatt of Montevallo is spending this week with relatives and friends in Clanton.

Every effort was made for her recovery, but God mysteriously called her to a place he had prepared for her that none other could fill. We cannot understand why she was called so young, and it leaves us with broken hearts, but God's will is best, must be done, and we must be submissive. We only know that it was for some good and great cause.

Surviving are the parents, three brothers (one of which was her twin), one sister, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Many friends from Montgomery attended the funeral, which was conducted by the Rev. McLeod of Thorsby church, at Chestnut Creek church at Cooper, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment was in the Verbena cemetery, Martin in charge.

SINGING AT ENTERPRISE FIRST SUNDAY IN AUGUST

Concert On Saturday Night, August 6, By Quartet From Columbus, Ga.

There will be a singing at Enterprise schoolhouse, all day, on Sunday, August 7th. Some half a dozen good quartets are expected, one being the Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga. The singers of Chilton and adjoining counties have a cordial invitation to attend. All new books that are on hand will be used, with no partiality shown.

The Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga., will put on a concert at the schoolhouse on Saturday night before, August 6th, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Admission will be 10c and 15c — an amount which anyone can raise, and the cooperation of the music loving public is urged. Those who have heard this quartet say it is among the best in the South, and Enterprise wants to give them a good crowd; the people of other communities are urged to help in having a full house for this concert. Mark down the date on your calendar and come to the concert and the all day singing Sunday following. —I. D. Huett.

GULLY CONTROL

Gullies thrive on water, and do not grow during periods of drought. This fact, according to Mr. James H. Wood, Superintendent of the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, gives the key to the solution of most gully problems.

One of the best ways to check the growth of a gully is to keep the water out of it by construction of diversion ditches or terraces just above the gully head, Mr. Wood said. Such structures catch water from above and divert it around the danger points.

In the local area, the general policy is to divert water from the drainage area adjacent to the gully into another watershed where it may be spread through natural vegetation and onto a stabilized area.

After the headwater has been diverted from the gully, it way be necessary in some cases to construct a few low brush or sod dams behind which locally adapted plants will start immediate growth.

A good demonstration of the effectiveness of water diversion in stailizing gullies can be seen on the farm of Mr. Henry Cleckler. On this farm terraces and diversion ditches were constructed to divert water from a very deep and active gully. During the planting season kudzu and black locust were planted. The healing process commenced immediately, and in a few years little will remain of this ugly and destructive art of Mr. Cleckler's farm.

AUGUST 1-6 DATES FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Auburn, May 16. — One of the most outstanding programs from the recreational and educational standpoint ever held is being worked out for hundreds of Alabama farmers and farm women who will gather at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 1 to 6, for the 1938 Farmers and Homemakers Week, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

As part of the educational and recreational program, Director Davis says that state and national agricultural leaders will be present to address the farm people. Community singing, so popular in the past, will be continued this year, as will the sections or classes in livestock, landscaping, poultry, forestry, and other phases of agriculture in which the farm people are interested.

The latest facts on farming and homemaking gathered through experiments of the Alabama Experiment Station will be given the farm men and women, the director states. In addition, tours will be conducted so that the group may see what is being done to improve Alabama crops and farm practices.

All persons attendiny Farmers and Homemakers Week will be housed in cottages of the state camp on the campus at Auburn. Assemblies for speakers and singing will be in the assem-

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James J. Drumm, nee Lena Mims, of New York, an eight-pound girl, on Saturday, July 16th.

According to a recent statement of Gov. Graves, Alabama now has under construction or contracts have been let for the construction of approximately 800 miles of paving. When this is completed there will remain less than 700 miles of unpaved federal aid highways in the state. If the state continues to match federal funds all federal aid roads in this state should be paved before the end of 1939.

Outstanding results with plantings of lespedeza sericea have been obtained by farmers in the Soil Conservation Service demonstration area at Anniston, Service technicians report. Plantings were made following a cultipacker on a well prepared soil that had been firmed by rain. Virtually all of the 1937 plantings will be cut for hay this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Heflin and Grady, Jr., left Tuesday morning for a vacation. They expect to go to the Tennessee and Virginia mountains, and may go on to the Atlantic coast.

Willodean and Martha Jean Stewart are visiting this week with the family of Dr. Middlebrooks, in Montgomery.

CANE CREEK

Sunday school was well attended Sunday. There were a few absent, but are looking for more to be present next Sunday. Rev. Tommie Billingsley preached for us last Sunday, and delivered a good message.

Our revival will begin the fifth Sunday in July. As Bro. Norris, our pastor, had arranged the meeting with Bro. Ben Dykes to do the preaching before he was taken ill and died, we are going to try to carry out the meeting as near as we can like Bro. Norris would if he had lived. We are still looking for Bro. Ben Dykes to come. We are praying for a great revival, for one is needed around here. Everybody remember our meeting the fifth Sunday in July.

The B. Y. P. U. was not so well attended Sunday night. Everybody come back next Sunday night at 7:30 and bring someone with you.

We are to clean off the cemetery and church grounds next Friday, July 22. Everyone who has loved ones buried here come and help in this much needed work.

Next Sunday afternoon is our regular singing date, but on account of the all day singing at Chestnut Creek, Coopers, we have postponed ours until the fifth Sunday afternoon in July. On that date we want everybody to come, bring their new song books and help us sing. We especially invite the Alabama Four, Coopers Quartet, and Prof. Marion Easterling to come and sing with us.

Several from here attended preaching at Mt. Springs Sunday night, and heard a wonderful sermon.

Don't forget to come to our services and find a welcome when you get to Cane Creek.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK—Several years before Romain Rolland finished "Jean Christophe," Leo Tolstoi called him the warden of the conscience of Europe.

Rolland Comes Home To Die

In his quarter-century exile in Switzerland, he remained "above the battle," warning of war, decrying hatred, pleading for peace and understanding. His has been a voice crying in the wilderness. His exile ended, he returns to France, "an old man, broken and despairing," as the news dispatches report. The world seems to have little heeded his impassioned appeals. He wants to die in Clamecy, the village where he was born.

The greatest novel of a century, possibly of many centuries, "Jean Christophe" has been called by great critics and multitudes of lesser lights. It was published in 1913. This writer has found few young persons, even those majoring in literature, who have read it.

He has found others who have never heard of Romain Rolland, the Nobel peace prize winner exiled from his country, while Carl von Ossietsky, German Nobel peace prize winner, was impoverished, jailed and harried to his death in the same "years between." There is in this age swift obsolescence in the spiritual heritage as well as in machines.

But another, even greater teacher, looking sadly down on the multitude from a hill in Jerusalem, was also unheeded:

Teachings Will Be Remembered

"How often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!" But neither He nor His teaching was altogether forgotten. There will also be those who will remember Romain Rolland.

When he was exiled from France, vast sums of money were offered him if he would go to America, to write and lecture. Publicity, or any form of self-exploitation, is to him profoundly distasteful. He withdrew to a secluded villa near Zurich, Switzerland.

There is one definite attitude in all these post-war writings. He had no faith in "movements," in "idologies," right or left.

He Knew Righteous Can Be Cruel

He repulsed Henri Barbusse, his clarte group and the various "united fronts," as he did the emissaries of bloody reaction from the right. He knew that the righteous can be as cruel as the wicked, once they find reliance on force.

Like the great German Fichte, whom he esteemed, he believed only in the "inner light"—never in organization or force. But he was not a "political agnostic." He fought, and suffered, to arouse the world conscience, as the dying Tolstoi had enjoined him.

He is a tall, spare, pallid old man, with thinning hair and sad, deep-set eyes as he returns to France at the age of seventy-two. Educated in music, at the Ecole Normale, he became a devotee of Wagner, whose genius inspirited his life—then of Tolstoi and Shakespeare. He has written many times in the last few years that he sees little hope that the world will escape a last devastating war.

IT WAS reported that Sir John Reith, director general of the British Broadcasting corporation, was badly licked in that international Arabic crooning contest a while back. Virtually all observers gave the decision to Italy. If so, it probably was the only time he ever lost a contest.

Sir John Beaten in Radio Duel

The tall, bald, grim Scotsman is upped to the job of running the Imperial Airways, as a civil arm of rearmament, with a sizeable hike in salary. It is now $50,000 a year, instead of $35,000.

He is an engineer, and in 1916 was here with 600 technicians checking on war material contracts. He didn't like America or Americans but eased up on us later on. Running British radio, he has been execrated as a tyrant, but he has held to his line and confounded all his adversaries. His views on radio programs were outlined by him as follows: "To set out to give the public what it wants, as the saying is, is a dangerous and fallacious policy."

Doctor, Writer Investigate Possible Results Of Social Disease Drive

NINE of the forty-eight states have adopted laws requiring premarital physical examinations.

Margaret Culkin Banning, one of America's most noted women writers, and Dr. Joseph Earle Moore, internationally known physician, months ago set out to learn the story behind venereal diseases.

In the August issue of Pictorial Review, Miss Banning and Dr. Moore, in a sensationally frank article, for the first time point out the danger of "too little knowledge."

"The American public is now 'venereal-disease conscious,' they write. "People are no longer embarrassed or afraid to mention syphilis and gonorrhea, nor to join in the campaign against them. Once more it has been proved that the best way to conquer a social enemy is to draw it out of ambush, to discover its strength, and then to throw sufficiently strong forces into the fight against it."

The article points out that certain facts about the prevalence of syphilis, its ordinary symptoms and chances of curability, are now common knowledge. But this does not mean that everyone understands the disease.

"A few statistics can be just as dangerous as a little knowledge, particularly when it comes to lawmaking," they say. "In our anxiety to stamp out syphilis we are bound to develop crusaders, usually laymen, who want to go to extreme lengths, farther than many physicians think it necessary or wise."

Dr. Moore and Miss Banning point out that legislation which relates to syphilis and marriage must be founded both on accurate knowledge and on common sense.

They explain that they have prepared this article to guide worried young men and women and mothers and fathers who may sometime have to face this problem. They will need as much advice and protection as can be given. There are those, too, who are interested in furthering correct legislation on this matter and they need guidance.

"How can the public be protected against the evasion of the laws if they are passed?" they inquire. "The first thing to remember is that there have been laws enacted in regard to syphilis and marriage before. This comes as a surprise to some people, but as early as 1913 there was a public recognition of the danger of the spread of syphilis within marriage; and between then and 1935 nineteen states enacted laws that one or both candidates for marriage must attest their freedom from syphilis by personal affidavit or by a physician's certificate."

"But in 1935," according to the article, "a new kind of law was enacted in Connecticut. The legislature passed a law requiring that every candidate for marriage, male and female, should submit to a blood test for syphilis. This was to be a standard laboratory blood test made in a place that was approved by the state department of health and it was a long step forward in strengthening such laws."

What began as a ripple in Connecticut soon became a wave of legislation. Before April of 1938, nine states passed laws requiring a blood test and other states have legislation of a similar nature pending.

"All these laws, of course, cannot be reviewed in detail," the writers of the article say. "The point is that each citizen should find out how his own state stands and what it has done or is doing. It is of the utmost importance that the individual find out what laws are on the statute books of his state, being certain that they are as model as possible."

In the early part of 1937 Pictorial Review published the first of its articles on the genito-infectious diseases. It was the first time that any major magazine in America brought to its readers a free, frank and open discussion of the subject.

Since that venturesome day the grave problem has been widely publicized in every direction. Unfortunately, in their zeal, some individuals and some legislatures have sponsored and passed laws which forbid certain persons to marry. These laws require a careful study and some amendment. A thorough understanding is sorely needed lest ill-advised measures inflict unnecessary hardships without giving society the protection it must have in its fight to eradicate venereal disease.

THE HISTORY OF STRONG DRINK

The history of strong drink is a history of ruin, of tears and blood. It is perhaps the greatest curse that ever fell upon this earth. It is one of depravity's worst fruits, a giant demon of destruction. Men talk of earthquakes, storms, famines, pestilence, but the use of strong drink has sent a violence of woe and misery into the stream of the world's history more terrible than any of them.

It is the Amazon and the Mississippi among the rivers of wretchedness. It is an evil which is limited to no age, no continent, no nation, no party, no sex, no period of life.

It has supplied every jail, penitentiary, almshouse and charity hospital in the world with wrecks of humanity. It has sent forth beggars on the street and flooded cities with crime. It has done more toward bringing earth and hell together than any other form of vice. Could we but remove this moral ulcer and sweep away forever all of its results we would hardly have need of such places as prisons, asylums, etc. The children of want would sit in the halls of plenty, the tears of the widow and orphan would cease in large measure. Disease would be robbed of much of its power, and the clouds would vanish from thousands of afflicted homes; peace would breathe its fragrance on the world as if the day of its redemption had come.

I have wondered how many of our good church people voted for the return of old King Alcohol. Excuse me for saying "good" church people. Good church people do not vote for booze, directly or indirectly. Whiskey and Christianity do not mix.

The church is, or should be, a soul saving institution, ever on the alert to keep out of our midst such evils as liquor. It wuold be well for those of us who profess to be Christians to examine our lives and pray as we vote and vote as we pray, "for judgment must first begin at the house of God". Let's pray: "Thou mighty God, give us men with grace, grit, and gumption to preach against the damnable evil that is sweeping this country like wild fire". — M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton.

STREAMLINING THE OL' BUS

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—As a token of good will, President Kemal Ataturk of Turkey sends his bomb-tossing adopted daughter on a flight over Greece and the Balkans. She holds a diamond medal for bombing Kurds, having outscored veteran male fliers in a recent work-out.

Feminine Bomb Tosser Has Good Aim

When the timid and demure Turkish women started coming out from the harem, they kept right on going. They seem to be out-distancing our girls who are merely coming out of the kitchen.

Turkey's "Flying Amazon" is Sabiha Gueckchen, twenty-four-year-old daughter of a Turkish army captain who was killed fighting Greeks in 1921. She is a pretty little thing.

An admiring woman correspondent described her as "shy and demure," with quick recourse to her "modish little vanity case," as she climbed from her plane after a hard day's bombing. That was in the Dersim area, in eastern Anatolia, in which she had been blasting the Kurds out of their caves.

She is a first lieutenant in the Turkish army, the only woman air force officer in the world.

Sabina Best Stunt Flyer, Says Mentor

Her French flying instructor says she is the most gifted woman acrobatic pilot in the world. She was trained in flying and gliding in Russia and later was a cadet in the Turkish army air force school. She rides a single-seated military plane, handles all types of planes and is especially accurate and skillful in bombing.

It is said no aviator in Turkey can match her in diving and stunting, but she shrinks modestly from all such, possibly unfeminine, exhibitionism, and sticks to her humdrum bombing tasks.

* * *

HERE is another diverting little news note, in sharp contrast, however, on the emergence of the modern woman. At her home in New York, Mrs. Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler presents prizes of $750 to the winners of the annual "Intellectual Olympics," conducted by her new history society.

Belle Gives Up Society For Religion

Happily the flying bomb put is not included in her decathlon. She has been for many years a diligent and earnest advocate of peace and brotherhood, working through the international Bahaist movement, of which she has long been a leader. She derives from the Blue book and has turned from society to religious and humanitarian concerns.

Her husband, now retired, is a great-grandson of John Jacob Astor, and a former lieutenant governor of New York. He is a big, gray, silent man, walking a small white poodle dog, rarely seen at his wife's salon, but a loyal partner in her endeavors. He is the brother of the late Bob and John Chanler.

The flaming-haired Valeska Suratt was an instrument of fate in the life of Mrs. Chanler. They were jointly engaged in a Hollywood script enterprise when Miss Suratt introduced her to Mirza Ahmed Sahrab, descendant of Mohammed and a disciple of the Abdul Baha. He was her tutor in the esoteric faith whose followers, like those of the Oxford movement, fervently believe the world can be saved only by a religious and cultural internationalism.

Dick Gets Degree 20 Years Late

From ancient parchments, Trinity college dons lift the reverse expression—"nunc pro tung," which means "now instead of then." With this high academic sanction, they are enabled to deal a bachelor's degree to Richard Barthelmess, who failed to touch second when he was there 20 years ago.

Baseball moguls could now say "nunc pro tung" and hand Fred Merkle that run he didn't get in 1908. If the custom gets going, it might open the way for some European debt payments.

Mr. Barthelmess is one of the thinning line of the stars of the old silent screen who remain in the public consciousness. His mother was Caroline Harris, an actress of the Biograph days. She gave Nazimova English lessons and in return Nazimova gave her boy his professional start in "War Brides." "Broken Blossoms," with Dorothy Gish, was his last big success.

J. R. Hardy Makes Final Appeal Before Democratic 3rd Primary

Explains Why No Arrests Were Made About Removal Of Absentee Ballot Box

To the Voters of Chilton County, Ala.:

It is with a great deal of confidence in you, and with a clear conscience of my mind and heart that I come to you in this way. It is now only a few days until the voters of this county are to again endeavor to nominate a candidate for the office of Tax Collector of the county.

Quite a great deal has been said about fraud and irregularities in the past primaries of the county since the May 3rd primary, and from the general talk on the streets in Clanton I believe there are people who seem to know a great deal more about this than I do myself; but at any rate let's look forward to a Grand Jury hearing of their claims of fraud and irregularities.

I am sure you all have learned by now that an official canvass was made of the returns from all the voting precincts of the county on the June 14th primary, and that I was declared to have received a majority of 32 votes over my opponent. Personally, I feel that each and every vote cast either for my opponent or myself were legal votes. I also feel that the election officers who served in this election were as honest as any other citizens in this county, and I feel definitely sure that they made a true and correct tabulation of all votes cast on June 14th. Much more could be said by me about my confidence in the voters as well as the election officers of the county in the past elections, but I will not take your time just now, as we are forced to go through another primary, this one now less than a week away. I am sorry that I have been unable to see each of you personally, but I hope you realize that my duties as sheriff are an obligation I owe to you as the result of your confidence bestowed in me four years ago.

I am deeply grateful to you who cast your vote and influence for me in past primaries, and I sorrowfully regret that since there was a majority declared in the June 14th primary, the county is forced to the expense of another primary, as well as the voters being asked to leave their work to go to the polls again. But as long as a majority of the qualified voters of the county gave me a majority, I feel that it is just, honest and patriotic for me to continue soliciting the support of the voting public as long as I conform to the laws and practices of the state and party.

Frankly, I was taught when I was young that the people were to abide by the majority in elections, so I assure you all that your expression of confidence in me in days past, and my knowledge of honesty and integrity in all things causes me to look forward to this July 26th primary with immense pleasure and satisfaction. I am willing for you to call a spade a SPADE.

I am sure you all have learned by now that the law enforcement officers of the county have been extensively criticized for not having taken legal action against the parties who removed the absentee ballot box and its contents. This is my reply to the question for the present: Neither me nor any of my deputies saw this act committed, so, therefore, we cannot make an affidavit against anyone, but I hope you will bear with me on this until the grand jury has had a chance to investigate the act, whether or not there is any legal action determined against them. I, for one, feel that perhaps their action will at least have its bearing on the pride of the people enough to cause the absentee ballot law to be very rigidly enforced in the future, if it is possible that it has been handled slack in the past at any time.

I earnestly solicit the vote and influence of all the voters of the county on July 26th, and truly hope it shall be my privilege to share the confitenoe of each and every one who supported me in the past, as well as the many who have told me they were unable to get to the polls on June 14th but expect to be there on July 26th.

Thanking you each and every one for all past courtesies and confidence, and wishing you continued success in your every effort, I am respectfully, — J. R. HARDY.

ATTENDED SHORT COURSE

A group of eight 4-H Club boys attended the short course in Auburn July 10-14. An excellent program was planned for them throughout the entire time. The following types of meetings were held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday:

From 8:30 to 10:00 a general meeting was held, at which time general topics of interest were taken up. Later each group had a lesson in one of the following: poultry, forestry, dairy cattle, hog production, beef cattle, agronomy, or horticulture.

From 2:00 to 3:00 another general meeting was held, at which time other topics of special interest and value to the entire group were brought to the boys by specialists in the various fields.

From 3:00 to 5:00 was devoted to recreation, and at this time the boys enjoyed many forms of wholesome outdoor activities.

From 8:00 to 10:00 another general meeting was held each night. One of these meetings was devoted to stunts, and another to ameteur night, while the other meeting of this type consisted of additional talks. One of the outstanding talks during the short course was made to the boys by Dr. Hayes, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Auburn, on Sunday night.

I sincerely believe that this week will be one long remembered by these boys, and that what they received there will be given in some measure to other club members throughout the county as they come in contact with them from time to time. I consider the time most profitably spent. — B. N. Ivey.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hayes on July 2nd, a fine baby girl, whom they have named Martha Charlotte.

Miss Theda Wyatt of Montevallo is spending this week with relatives and friends in Clanton.

WHAT IF WE HAD NO RAILROADS?

To ask a question like the one above heading seems foolish, and it is foolish, but doing foolish things and making foolish experiments seems to be the order of the day in this part of the twentieth century.

Our railroads have come to be considered a matter of course, but their peaceful and uninterrupted operation could be taken away from us or changed so radically that they would not serve us so well as they are accustomed to.

Did you stop to realize that at the present time over 30 per cent of the railroads of the nation are operated by receivers or trustees? At the present time the railroads are paying over four times as much in taxes as they are realizing as returns upon their investments.

In 1916 the average hourly wage paid by railroads to employees, excluding executives and officials, was 27.6 cents. This year the average is 77.7 cents. This is quite an increase in wages, when the depressions have cut into the gross earnings of the roads so much.

The time has been when people looked on the railroads as a big corporation that was invincible and almost merciless in exacting its revenue from the public. Politicians fought the railroads and painted them as being heartless and grossly inconsiderate of the interests of the public. It is true that there was once a time when the railroads appeared a little over-independent; but probably then it may be that they just appeared that way.

Be that as it may, people are beginning to see it differently now. We can see that railroads are just composed of lots of people working together, and that the persecution can be so great that they cannot endure it. Men will not knowingly put their money into enterprises that do not pay, and if they already have their money so invested, they will get out as quickly as possible.

The trend now is toward government operation of the railroads, a large increase in government employees, and the consequent control of a large slipe of voters.

The American citizens do not want this. Well, then, we had better help the railroads avoid such catastrophe.

BEING DEMOCRATIC DOESN'T ALWAYS PAY

The State of Alabama has next to the highest percentage of unemployment among the nine Southeastern states, being excelled only by Kentucky, yet Alabama is to have the smallest per capita expenditure in the present WPA allotment. If we had more Republicans in Alabama, we might get more money from the federal government; but it is the same old trick. They know there is no use — Alabama will trail along to Roosevelt's shirt tail and be content with a few meagre crumbs from the big billion dollar table.

With the trend women's fashions in headwear has taken, it's becoming dangerous to lay anything on the millinery counter, lest some woman might buy it as a hat. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

Woman applying for citizenship papers in Ohio was asked, "How is the Constitution changed in a republican form of government?" "By the Democrats", she said, and was given 100 per cent on that one. — Macon Telegraph.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

The fact that the people of the United States everywhere turned aside once more this year to observe Independence Day is in itself an encouraging assurance of our future. For July 4th, in addition to marking the date of the beginning of our freedom from the British yoke, has come to be looked on as an occasion when we ought to rededicate our hearts to the cause of American freedom and American tradition. It is for this reason that we heard this year so many warnings against the subversive influence of communism and fascism. In his Independence Day address at Washington, the capital city of the nation, Attorney General Cummings said:

"To make democracy work, to make it succeed, to make it serve its people with greater justice and constantly increasing efficiency, is to supply the final answer to those who have lost faith in democratic processese. Here is a cause worthy of all we have to give".

There is, of course, a great deal of truth in this praagraph. The Attorney General might have gone a little further, however, and reminded us that to maintain a free nation it is as much the duty of the people to support the government as it is that the government support the people by making itself more generous and more efficient. In this day we find too frequently the tendency of the people in every civilized country of the world to "let George do it"; in other words, to depend on some magic and mysterious quality in the government itself to make the people free, and happy, and prosperous. This is the case not only in democracies but in autocratic governments as well. It is the cardinal claim of dictators that they are able to do more for the people than the people can do for themselves.

In seeking to serve the "cause of democracy" and to make our government more efficient it must be remembered that after all, the United States is not a democracy in the strict sense of the word. It was designed by the framers of the Constitution as a free representative government and it is a representative republic still, despite all efforts in later years to make it something else. Our constitutional fathers thought that the way to build a free democracy, to protect the people from the autocracy of the dictator and the rule of the mob, was to create a representative, republican form of government, with the powers carefully defined between the legislative, judicial and executive departments, and with as many powers as possible reserved to the people themselves through the states and the smaller units of government.

Such a government cannot endure unless the people give it as much careful thought and direction as they hope to extract from the government in the way of emoluments.

It is to be remembered too that a free government, such as ours, will never be as efficient as an autocratic one, because in the very process of acquiring efficiency, something of individual freedom must be sacrificed. It is therefore well, that in demanding more aid and greater efficiency from the government, we render to that government a wise and loyal service, a keen discrimination in the selection of public servants lest, in seeking after greater efficiency and benefits we do not sacrifice they very freedom of opportunity our forefathers fought to establish.

CAUSE FOR SHAME

So much is read in the newspapers about the pervading influence of the federal government in our economic life that people of average intelligence, and many others for that matter, are more or less bewildered when they try to understand what the remedy is for the present industrial depression, in which we find practically as many people unemployed as there was six or seven years ago.

"It is a disgrace," said 84-year-old Professor Schurman, distinguished philosopher and diplomat, in a recent address, "that our country, the most richly endowed with resources of any nation, should have the terrible tragedy of 12,000,000 unemployed. Instead of struggling against one another, government, business and labor should be collaborating to find a solution to the unemployment problem. In a country as rich as ours, it is a disgrace that young men coming out of college can find no work with which to begin their careers."

That Professor Schurman is right can be proved when we read that in the last five years our national government has spent forty billion dollars which is more than was spent from George Washington's time until the beginning of the World War and what is more, before the present session of Congress adjourns we shall have increased this sum by at least three billion dollars.

The "disgrace" charge is all the more emphasized when we know that the United States is better able to take care of itself than any nation in he world.

No country has nearly as many natural resources. No nation comes near us in per capita wealth. Europe which is only half as large as the United States has three times as many inhabitants to support.

If we are not ashamed of ourselves we ought to be.—Berkshire Evening Eagle.

THE SYMBOLISM OF WPA

The headline, "WPA, Here We Come," in a McClave (Colo.) high school paper referring to an account of the graduating class is greatly deplored by a Colorado New Deal politician because he says, it makes WPA a symbol of despair and defeat." It is all that and more.

It is a symbol also of new Deal incompetence, since it indicates that the relief problem, after five years of fumbling, is as great as ever. It is a symbol of the New Deal's inferiority complex, since it proves that the New Deal is afraid to face the voters on its merits and feels it must continue to buy votes with public money. It is a symbol of hypocrisy and pretense, with its administrator, Harry Hopkins, always declaring its purpose to be non-political and the President asserting its made-work and pork-barrel program is less humiliating to relief clients than the much less costly dole.

It is a sympol of approaching national bankruptcy through inflation. It is a symbol of broken pledges for national economy and balancing of the budget. It is a symbol of job-killing taxes and other devices which prevent honest men from earning an honest living at productive work.

Defeat and despair? The two words do not begin to depict WPA symbolism.—Los Angles Times.

THE PRESIDENT WON'T PLAY

The statement of Lord Stamp, formerly Sir Josiah Stamp, that many American business men have adopted an "I won't play" attitude is a variation of the old charge that industry in this country is engaged in a conspiracy to discredit Mr. Roosevelt. It sounds no better coming from the lips of the distinguished Englishman than it does when it is made by the President's friends and admirers. It is, moreover, just as difficult to believe it in the one case as in the other.

The theory that the manufacturers of this country are deliberately sacrificing profits in order to defeat Mr. Roosevelt is to preposterous for words. They may cordially dislike the administration and all its works, they may hope that it will be turned out of office in 1940, but to assume that, out of sheer spite, they refuse orders for goods, slow down the operations of their factories, create unemployment and make living harder for themselves, is to reveal either an uninformed or a disordered mind.

When Lord Stamp has been here a little longer—he ventured his opinion as he arrived from England—he will probably find grounds for a new judgment of things American. He will discover, if he looks into a few corners, that it is Mr. Roosevelt—not business—who "won't play" or at least won't play unless he can make al the rules and change them at his whim and pleasure. No other President in history has had the hand of friendship and cooperation extended to him so often and so frankly and none has been so reluctant to accept it. That, of course, is his privilege but if the results are damaging to the welfare of the nation, it is he alone who should be held responsible.—Boston Transcript.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"My father is an outstanding prohibitionist. Personally, I am against the 18th amendment. This is election day. Shall I go to the polls and vote against my own conscience and conviction, or shall I vote my convictions?" That is what a lawyer friend of mine said a few years ago. "I am a prohibitionist. I do not see how anybody could vote to legalize liquor. However, I would not vote against my conscience if I were you", was my reply. It is the opinion of the writer that any man who does anything against his own conscience "scars his character". To change a man's conscience, it is necessary to change his creed. Our conscience is regulated by what we believe. A heathen woman's conscience hurts her if she doesn't sacrifice her baby to a heathen god. A Christian woman's conscience would hurt her if she did sacrifice her baby to a heathen god. The difference between the heathen woman and the Christian woman is not so much a difference of conscience as it is a difference of creed. When a man believes right, his conscience, as a rule, is a pretty safe guide. No minister has any right to insist on people contributing money to a cause which their consciences do not endorse. It is all right to try to sell the cause, but the effort to get church members to support the entire church program regardless of the conscience of the individual Christian is a wrong approach for a minister. A Christian has no right to turn his conscience over to somebody else. Paul lived in all good conscience all his life. His conscience changed when his creed changed. When he met Jesus on the Damascus road, he looked at life out of spiritual eyes. He had a Christian creed. He was born again. He therefore had a Christian conscience.

"How much more shall the blood of offered Himself without blemish unto God, cleanse our conscience from dead works to serve the living God!" This verse from Hebrews should be studied carefully. The blood of Christ cleanses our conscience from dead works. What are dead works? They are the works that men do in an effort to satisfy their own conscience and save themselves. "I got drunk last night and was mean to my family. I cursed my wife. So today I bought her a nice present and that satisfied my conscience", a man said one time. The world is filled with people who are endeavoring to find satisfaction from a disturbed conscience by doing a great many dead works. The blood of Jesus Christ cleanses our conscience from dead works. A Christian person has living works. He doesn't work to get relief from a conscience that is troubled. He does not do good to be saved. He does good because he is saved. He knows he is saved because he is under the Blood. He has been born again. If he grieves the Spirit, or lives as a Christian should not live, of course his conscience is troubled. But in an effort to get relief from a troubled conscience he doesn't do dead works. He confesses his sins and asks God for forgiveness and prays to be restored to fellowship. Christianity is not doing. It is being. Jesus went about doing good, but He did this because He was good. Men can't do good who are not good. Man, unregenerated, man in his natural state, is absolutely helpless, according to the Bible, to do anything to "fix himself" so he will be right with God. Jesus "fixes" men. "He that hath the Son hath life". A sinner is dead. A Christian is alive. A sinner's works are dead works. A Christian's works are living works.

SINGING AT MT. ZION

There will be an all day singing at Mt. Zion church the first Sunday in August (the 7th). All are invited to come, bring a well filled basket and new song books, and enjoy the day.

Our revival will start Sunday night, August 7. Our pastor, Rev. J. P. Littleton, and Rev. Wiley Davis will do the preaching. All are invited to be with us for the singing and during the next week for the revival.

Game & Fish News

Two Big Gars Caught

What is believed to be some kind of gar killing record was reported to the Conservation Department recently by Hugh McCafferty, assistant fish hatchery assistant. Two alligator gars totaling 190 pounds in weight were taken from the Tombigbee River near Aliceville, Pickens County, by B. F. Johnston. The smaller gar was six feet and one inch long, and weighed 88 pounds. It was taken in a net. The largest gar was seven feet and two inches long, and weigher 102 ounds. He was caught on a trot line. Pictures of both will be in the next issue of the Alabama Game and Fish News, August 1.

Two Rodeos Slated

The month of August will see two major fishing events take place in Alabama. Hundreds of anglers from all sections of this state and other states will attend. First is the 10th annual homecoming jubilee Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, to be held in Lower Mobile Bay and Gulf waters on August 8, 9, and 10, when it is expected that over 600 registered contestants will participate. The second event is the annual Baldwin County Fishing Rodeo, scheduled August 23-24 from Burghardt's Landing in beautiful Perdido Bay. The former contest is for salt water fishing, while the latter includes both salt and fresh water angling. In both events many valuable prizes will be awarded for record catches in several divisions, and anglers are looking forward to the fun. Both rodeo associations are non-profit groups.

Migratory Regulations

Migratory game bird bag limits and open seasons for 1938 are expected to be announced by the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey some time within the next few weeks, possibly in August. Open seasons on such migratory birds as doves, ducks, geese nad snipe are fixed by presidential proclamation on advice of the Biological Survey, which is a division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Last year Alabama had a 30-day wild duck season, from November 27 to December 26, with a bag limit of 10 a day. There was a split dove season for north and south Alabama hunters.

NEW SALEM

Monday, July 25, is the day set to clean off the cemetery at New Salem church. All who have friends and loved ones laid to rest there are expected to be present to show our respect for the dead. Come early, as there is a lot of work to be done. — T. A. Maddox, G. A. Maddox, J. D. Bean.

MACEDONIA — BEAT 14

HOLLEY REUNION

On Sunday, July 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley, Sr., a reunion for the Holley family was held. All the living brothers and sisters were present except one brother, D. M. Holley, of Hico, La.

A very enjoyable day was spent by all, laughing, talking, making pictures, and singing. At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread on tables under the trees. Later in the afternoon watermelons were enjoyed.

Rev. Marion Stillwell and Mr. S. R. Williams each gave a short prayer for each one's safe return to their respective homes. Shortly afterward all departed, hoping to see each other again soon. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley, Sr., and children, Miss Naomi Holley of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Whitfield and children of Birmingham, Mr. J. R. Holley, Jr., of Adger, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. E. J. MORE FORGED NAMES FOR APPLICATION OF ABSENTEES

Editor Union-Banner:

We noticed our names in the list of applications for absentee ballots in Beat 12. We would like for the public to know that we positively have never voted an absentee ballot, or even made an application for one.

If our names are signed to any ballot or application, it is forged. We hope the guilty party or parties meet their just punishment.

We have never mingled with politics more than going to the polls and voting on election day.—Yours for Repeal of the Absentee Ballot Law.—Pryer and Onedelle Robinson.

Strip cropping is coming into recognition as an important factor in soil conservation. When the entire farm can not be planted to cover crops, strips across the field will aid a great deal in checking erosion and keeping the good top soil from washing away.

Many farmers are finding it possible to get a considerable amount of late winter and early spring grazing and still have a sufficient growth to turn under. Can we not use some of our liberal soil-building allowance in 1938 to enable all of our farms to have more of these many important advantages that are assicated with a wise use of winter cover crops?

Many of our best farmers are finding that a green top soil covering, together with a mat of growing plant roots to bind this soil together, is a first necessity along with good terraces to protect the land from the damaging effects when the heavy rains of winter fall.

JONAH MIMS DIDN'T LIKE HAVING HIS NAME FORGED

Uncle Jonah Mims, a staunch Republican of Clanton Route 4, was in town Saturday literally "chawing the bits".

He wanted to know if the Jonah Mims listed in the applicants for absentee ballots referred to him. We surmised that it did, whereupon Uncle Jonah proceeded to utter a vehement denial of any part in the affair, and to give us his own personal opinion of the person who signed his name. And, believe it or not, whoever that worthy person may be, his ears must have burned.

Uncle Jonah is only one of scores of voters who have denied any knowledge or part in the absentee scandal of June 14. Even Democrats are ashamed of it, let alone Republicans.

OLD FOLKS SERVICES AT COUNTY LINE 5TH SUNDAY

There will be special services for older people and ministers the fifth Sunday in July at County Line or Bethlehem, three miles east of Wadsworth. It is intended for the people of three counties — Elmore, Autauga and Chilton; all older people and ministers of the gospel are invited to come, bring dinner and enjoy the day together.

Dates Are Set For Dog Vaccinations

Dr. W. L. Parrish announces the above schedule for the vaccination of the dogs of the county:

July 14 — Pletcher, 8:30 to 11; Shoultsp, 12:30 to 2:30.

July 15 — Union Grove, 8:30 to 11:30; Smith school, 12:30 to 2.

July 18 — Mitchell Dam, 8:30 to 10; Refuge (Robert Mims' home), 1 to 2; Providence, 2:30 to 3:30.

July 19 — Vermont, 8 to 10; Fairview Store, 10:30 to 12; County Training School, 2:30 to 4.

Singing At Cooper Sunday, July 24th

There will be an all day singing at Chestnut Creek church, Coopers, the fourth Sunday in July, the 24th. All are invited to come, bring dinner and song books—new ones of all kinds. The Southernaires will be there.

ANNUAL SINGING AT BETHSALEM

The annual all-day singing will be held at Bethsalem the fourth Sunday in this month. All singers and lovers of music are invited to attend. The new books will be used. Some good quartets are expected.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school was well attended Sunday. So let's everybody come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson. Two wonderful sermons were enjoyed by everyone Sunday and Sunday night.

A large crowd from here attended the singing at Providence last Sunday. They report a very good singing.

Dr. Eve Wilson of Birmingham was in this community Friday visitng relatives and friends.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Cecil Little is seriously ill. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Gadsie Vinson is spending some time in this community visiting relatives and friends.

P. M. MARTIN WRITES

Well, here I come again. I have been asked a lot about what I thought about the absentee ballot box being stolen. I hate to say what I think, but it is not just Democrats who are doing so much dirty work, it is the sub Democrats. You all know what a sub man is, he is a man who will do anything for the money; you all know who he is by the way things went on in the last election. What they could not buy, they stole. I see names on the list who worked at the election and voted an absentee ballot to, so I guess they have got plenty of dough.

We will shut them out in the November election. Boys do not go to the next Democratic primary; wait until November.—P. M. Martin.

FIVE MINUTES WITH BIBLE QUESTIONS ANSWERED WITH THE BIBLE ITSELF

Fall And Redemption Of Man

1. What is sin declared to be?

"Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law; for sin is the transgression of the law."—I John 3:4.

2. What precedes the manifestation of sin?

"Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin.,'—James 1:5.

3. What is the final result of sin?

"And sin when it is finished, bringeth forth DEATH."—Romans 6:23.

4. Upon how many of the human race did death pass as the result of Atam's transgressions?

"By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned."—Romans 5:12; "In Adam all died."—I Cor. 15:22.

5. How was the earth affected by Adam's sin?

"Cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life; thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee."—Gen. 3:17-18.

6. What additional curse came as the result of the first murder?

"And the Lord said unto Cain: And now art thou cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand; and when thou tillest the ground it shall not henceforth yield unto thee her strength."—Gen. 4:9-12.

7. What terrible judgement came in consequence of continued sin and transgression against God?

"And the Lord said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; the end of all flesh is come before Me; for the earth is filled with violence." "And Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of the waters was upon the earth; the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heav n were opened."—Gen. 6:7-11; 7:6-11.

8. After the flood, what came in consequence of further apostasy from God?

"And the Lord came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of men builded. And the Lord said, Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language; and this they began to do; and now nothing will be restricted from them, which they have imagined to do. Go to, let US go down, and there confounded their language, that they may not understand one another's speech. So the Lord scattered them abroad from thence upon the face of the earth; and they left off to build the city."—Gen. 11:5-8.

9. Into what condition has sin brought the entire human race?

"For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now." — Romans 8:22.

10. What explains God's apparent delay in dealing with sin?

"The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some men count slackness; but is long suffering toward us, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."—II Peter 3:19.

11. What is God's attitude toward the sinner?

"For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God; wherefore turn yourselves, and live ye."—Ez. 18:32.

12. Can a man free himself from the dominion of sin?

"Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots, then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil."—Jer. 13:23.—(Arranged by

GREAT REVIVAL AT REFUGE

The revival which began here last Wednesday is proving to be the greatest in the history of the church. More than a score have already proclaimed Christ; 15 have been added to the church, 9 for baptism.

The church is on fire for God, cooperating, praying in a marvelous way. We need not be surprised at many more coming to Christ as long as our people are as anxious as they are now for lost souls.

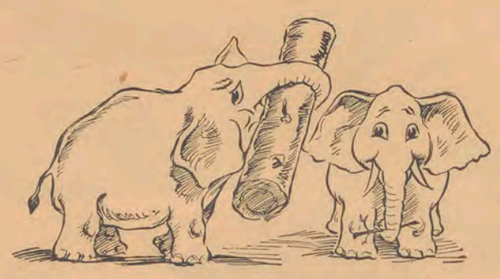
Evangelist M. D. Garrett is bringing some of the greatest soul stirring messages that we have ever had the privilege of sitting under. He is the most powerful and fearless preacher we have ever had with us. He is not only a great preacher — he is a deep, consecrated, humble man. The following is an excerpt from a letter that Rev. Garrett recently received from a sheriff at Tupelo, Miss., who was converted under Rev. Garrett's preaching:

"Your many friends are praying and pulling for you with their whole hearts. The people are clamoring and praying for your return in September, and in my judgment you will have the biggest crowd to hear you that has ever assembled in this part of Mississippi. The pepole have faith in you, and believe in you to the limit, that your are a truly God-called evangelist, and appreciate that you have the manly courage to stand by your convictions. With love and friendship, — O. T. Trapp, Box 386, Tupelo, Miss."

Rev. Garrett will bring a special message Friday night of this week on the subject, "Let the dead bury the dead". He will use a real casket to illustrate this message. Don't miss these services. Prayer services at 10 in the morning, preaching at 11, and at 7:30 in the evening.

WANTS TO KNOW WHO SIGNED NAMES FOR ABSENTEE BALLOTS

Another pair of Chilton County citizens were very much wrought up over the fact that their names were among those given out as applicants for absentee ballots. These are Mr. and Mrs. Dock Mims of Beat 12. Mr. Mims had the following to say regarding the affair:



"I want the people of Chilton County to know that I am a Republican, have always been a Republican, and intend to remain one. And, although times are a little tight, I want all our people to know that I am not cheap enough to sell my vote, nor wishy-washy enough to vote a ticket that is contrary to what I conscientiously believe is best.

"I am told that there is no way for me to find out who the lying, forging, misconceived excuse for a human is who forged my name to that application; and, I don't suppose there is a way to find out, for I have tried hard enough. If I could but find out who the snake was, that poor excuse for a man would be taught a lesson he would never forget; at least he never would want to forge another name for a ballot — especially for me. And all of this goes for my wife, too, as her name was on the list also."

Mr. Mims said he "was so mad he almost choked" when he read their names on the list.

Our good friend, R. P. Busby, of Beat 13, was in to see us a while Monday morning. The Banner is always glad to have Mr. Busby call to see us.

GIDEON: FOLLOWING GOD'S PLAN

LESSON TEXT—Judges 7:4-7, 15-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage. Joshua 1:9.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Gideon Won.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Gideon's Band.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Lord's Three Hundred.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Wise General.

Who is he? What are his connections? How large an organization does he represent? These are the measures of the greatness of a man which are common in the world. Even in religious circles there is a seeking for the men with "big names" when something is to be done. Our lesson for today reiterates the principle which we all know but which we practice so little, namely, that whatever is accomplished that is really worth while is done by God and that He uses only humble instruments—the "foolish things," the "weak things," the "base things," and "things which are despised" (I Cor. 1:26-29). No flesh is to have any opportunity to glory in His presence. If men who are accounted great by this world are useful to God it is only because they are themselves humble in spirit and service.

Gideon came from an obscure family in a small tribe in Israel—and was astonished when God called him (Judges 6:15). He asked God for several signs to assure him that he was the chosen instrument of the Lord (read Judges 6), but once he was certain he went forward, nothing doubting.

I. An Insignificant Army (vv. 4-7).

At first thought it seems almost foolish to comment on this story of repeated reductions in the size of Gideon's army in these hectic days when the nations of the earth are living for but one objective—to create a fighting machine bigger and more fully manned than that of any other nation.

But on second thought it is just the time for such comment, because what the nations are doing is a perfect example of the hopeless philosophy of men, while what Gideon did is a presentation of God's way. These notes are being prepared in a city distant from the writer's home, where he is attending a conference of national leaders in a field of great and international importance. A long session just concluded was addressed by a number of brilliant and capable men and women—and the conclusion they reached was that America was a badly befuddled nation, lost without a sense of direction in a wilderness of incoherent and inherently contradictory theories and about to lose its dearly bought freedom, unless someone points the way out. The only solutions offered were bigger and better human programs, and when a suggestion was made that our need might be spiritual the discussion was promptly directed in another direction.

We need the lesson today that it is by the seemingly insignificant Gideon's band that victory is to be obtained. Take courage, ye 300, rid yourselves of the 22,000 fearful ones, let God sift out the 9,700 who are not alert to the danger of the enemy, and then, under some Gideon who is obedient to the command of God, go forward to victory. You are the hope, and the only hope of our nation. Do not fail God in this crucial hour.

II. Obedience to God's Command (vv. 15-23).

After the Lord had encouraged the heart of Gideon by the account of the dream of the Midianite (vv. 8-14), he and his band are sent forward with strange weapons and even stranger instructions.

It is not ours to question "Why?" when God tells us to move forward. When will we learn that He knows more than we do, and that obedience is all we need to render unto Him? "Behold, to obey is better than to sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams" (I Sam. 15:22).

III. The Sword of the Lord and of Gideon (vv. 18, 20).

While some folk err in counting the Lord out and making everything depend on man, there are a few who make the opposite error and become fatalistic in spirit and relatively useless to both God and man—because they hold an improper view of the manner in which the Lord works through human agencies.

A man who objected to soul-winning efforts, and especially personal work, said that he believed "God could save a man if he were alone on the top of the Alps." Of course He could, but God does not ordinarily work that way. It is the "sword of the Lord"—yes, but do not forget that it is "the sword of the Lord and of Gideon." God has graciously condescended to do His work on earth through human agencies. Let us be ready and subservient instruments for His use, but let us at the same time be alert and active in His service. The two are not at all inconsistent, in fact the one whom God chooses to use is usually the one who is already busy about His work.

That a roadway 20 feet wide along the center line of 2nd Avenue South from a point 10 feet Southwest of the center line of 6th Street to a point 10 feet northeast of the center line of 1st Street, also along the center line of 1st Avenue from the Northeast property line of 6th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 1st Street, also along the center line of 2nd Avenue North from a point 70 feet Northeast of the Northeast property line of 6th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 1st Street, also along the center line of 3rd Avenue North from the Northeast property line of 7th Street to the Southwest property line of 4th Street, also along the center line of 4th Avenue North from the Northeast property line of 7th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 5th Street, also along the center line of 5th Avenue North from the Northeast roadway line of 7th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 6th Street, also along the center line of 6th Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue South to the Northwest property line 1st Avenue Alley South, also along the center line of 6th Street from the Southeast property line of 2nd Alley North to the center line of 5th Avenue North, also along the center line of 5th Street from the center line of 1st Avenue to the center line of 4th Avenue North, also along the center line of 4th Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue South to the center line of 1st Avenue, also along the center line of 1st Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue South to the Southeast property line of 3rd Avenue North, also along the center line of 8th Street from the Northwest property line of 2nd Avenue North to the Southeast property line of 7th Avenue North, also along the center line of 10th Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue North to the Southeast property line of 7th Avenue North, also along the center line of 6th Avenue North from the center line of 8th Street to the center line of 10th Street, also along the center line of 5th Avenue North from the center line of 8th Street to the East property line of 13th Street, also along the center line of 3rd Avenue North from the center line of 8th Street to the center line of 10th Street, and, also along the center line of 2nd Avenue North from the Southwest property line of 8th Street to the East property line of Kicker Street (14th Street), shall be paved with Bituminous Surface Treatment with Premix Cold Lay Asphalt Seal on a 6 inch Sand Clay Gravel Base or a Triple Bituminous Surface Treatment on a 6 inch Sand Clay Gravel Base. The final determination of materials to be used to be postponed until bids are received.

That Vitrified Clay or Concrete Drainage Pipes, inlets and manholes of brick with cast iron covers, shall be constructed along said streets between said points.

Section 2. That said improvements shall be made in accordance with the established grades on file in the office of the City Clerk, for said portions of said highways and, according to full details, drawings, plans, specifications and surveys of said work and estimates which have been prepared by the J. W. Goodwin Engineering Company, exhibited to this Council and now on file in the office of the City Clerk in the City Hall where property owners who may be affected by said improvements may see and examine same.

Section 3. That the cost of constructing said improvements shall be assessed against the property abutting on the portions of the highways so improved, provided

(a) That the cost of improving any intersection or any part thereof shall be assessed against the lots or parcels of land abutting on each of the streets, avenues, alleys, or other highways so intersecting for a half block in each direction therefrom, provided that for the purpose of computing assessments, no block shall be considered as extending more than 1,000 feet from any intersection so improved.

(b) That no assessment shall exceed the cost of such improvements or the increase value of such property by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements.

Section 4. That the detailed estimates of cost of such improvements on file in the office of the City Clerk aggregate $61,818.00, and, that the City Council of the City of Clanton, Alabama, will meet on the 9th day of August, 1938, in the Council Chamber of the City Hall of Clanton, Alabama, at 7:30 o'clock P. M. to hear any objections, remonstrances, or protests that may be made against said improvements, the manner of making the same, or the character of materials to be used.

Approved July 19, 1938.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

Well, I am glad the county is building a house for the voters of Shoults. We are expecting a landslide for the Republican ticket this fall. We are not going to allow any ballot box stuffing in this new house; if such happens some one is going to jail, you bet!—Uncle Remus.

MT. CARMEL

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Mt. Carmel on Thursday, July 28. All who are interested come and bring the necessary tools to work with. This is the Mt. Carmel church at Adams.

HULETTE MILLER

Miss Hulette Miller, age 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Miller, of Montgomery Route 2, near Maxwell Field, died at a Montgomery hospital on Thursday, July 14th. The body was brought here by Martin and prepared, and carried to the home of the grandfather, Mr. M. A. Pinson, at Cooper. Funeral services were held at Chestnut Creek, Cooper, Friday, and burial was in Verbena cemetery. Officiating was Rev. M. I. McLeod; Martin in charge.

Pallbearers were: J. W. Wilson, C. F. Baker, J. D. Cone, K. T. Chasteene, E. H. Luck, and John Smith, all of Montgomery. Flower girls were: Jewel Miller, Mildred and Ruth Smith, Edith and May Baker, Gloria Thomas, Ann Barner, and Eloise Haber.

Surviving are the mother and father, a twin brother, one sister, and two small brothers; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pinson of Cooper. The father of the deceased child was originally from Lima, Ohio.

Alabama's bonded debt is steadily growing less. Gov. Graves states that the state now has on hand funds to retire another half million dollars' worth of bonds before they become due. Bids for these bonds are now being requested.

In 1930 Alabama had only 2,613 teachers holding college degrees. It now has 5,723 in this classification.

The largest office building in the world is the agricultural building in Washington.

CONTINUES WITH NEW BARGAINS EVERY DAY

A Visit To This Store Will Convince You!

FARMERS WEEK AT AUBURN

Farmers Week at Auburn is scheduled for August 1 through 5. This week has been designated for farmers to visit the experiment station and college. There has been a good program arranged for each day.

Facilities for taking care of people over night are very limited, but there is plenty of room for everyone who cares to go and spend the day. Reservations for 12 farm men and women from Chilton County to spend the week, but we would like to have a lot of folks go over for one or two days. The necessary expense for those who stay through the whole conference will be approximately $7.50 each.

Farmers who are interested in making the trip get a group of neighbors together and drive over. Several could go in one car or truck and each pay his pro rata share of the expense for a small cost to each. Carry a picnic lunch and make a recreational as well as an educational trip for the whole family.

Those who want to make the trip and can't arrange transportation facilities should notify the county agent on or before Wednesday, July 27, and he will try to arrange for transportation.

We believe this is a fine opportunity for you to visit the college and experiment station. It is better to visit the station during Farmers Week because the whole staff of workers rae ready to help you understand what is going on, and every different experiment will be explained in detail.

We are making special effort to have a large group of Chilton County folks in Auburn Wednesday, August 3. — J. W. Fant, county agent.

T. L. McKee Blows Lid Off As To Alleged Corruption In Absentees

Points Out Many Irregular Acts Committed By County Officials And Others In Obtaining Votes

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Last week I told you that I would write a letter this week.

I am going to commence by saying that all that I tell you and all the questions that I ask you, if you seek the correct answers, are backed up by statements or affidavits, and the first thing that you want to get in your mind is that my opponent was to reap the benefit of all the fraud that was placed in the absentee box, and did reap all the benefit from the forging and buying of votes at the polls on election day. The absentee ballot box which was taken June 14 was checked, and I had 107 honest and legal votes in that box, and my opponent, J. R. Hardy, had 634, nearly all bad ones; I mean by bad ones that lots of them that were voted for me had been changed to be for J. R. Hardy, lots of them were forged, lots of them were bought and paid for by the agents set up by this political ring, clique, or outlaw gang (if you care to call it such a rude name), and for the special benefit of J. R. Hardy. If you doubt this, ask the men who took the box; they are all honorable men, and opened the box and investigated its contents.

I am going to give you an insight to how they operated this fraud machine by asking you the following questions: Do you knwo who is responsible for the giving out of absentee ballots? The Probate Judge. Do you know that the absentee ballots for the election of June 14 arrived here at 5 p.m., closing time, at the probate office at the courthouse? Do you know that the next morning at 7 o'clock, one hour before opening time, that Ira Crowe, a deputy sheriff, paid by the taxpayers' money of Chilton County, caught the bus for Birmingham with about 50 absentee ballots? How did he get these ballots? From whom did he get them?

Do you know that this same deputy sheriff, who is paid out of your tax money, made three trips to Birmingham and other adjacent counties to secure absentee ballots for J. R. Hardy? Do you know that this same deputy sheriff at a later date carried about 30 absentee ballots, wrapped up in a newspaper, around to the Ford place and delivered them to a voter of Beat 12 for him to get them voted for Hardy? Do you know that it is a violation of the law for the Probate Judge to solicit or aid in securing of an absentee ballot, or to allow them to go out when the voter's name is not on the poll list? Do you know that Marion Gore, who operates a feed and grocery store right in front of the courthouse, operated a complete buying agency of absentee votes? Do you know that he had men on the streets asking people to go down to his place and sell their vote? Do you know that he had a good supply at all times of loose absentee ballots in the office of his store?

Do you know that he and Lewis Easterling made trips out in the county offering to buy, and did buy, everyone's ballot that they could? Do you know that they carried these ballots with them, and the application blank, and when the voter voted he signed an application, and sometimes didn't even do that?

Do you know who these fraud ballots were being voted for? The records show J. R. Hardy. Do you know that S. D. McCary acted as an absentee agent, with a full supply of ballots, for J. R. Hardy? Do you know that he is another active deputy sheriff of Chilton County? Do you know that he voted people who had not been in the county six months? Do you know that he carried absentee ballots to the notary public and justice of the peace and got them to notarize them without the voter being present? Do you know that several whom he voted an absentee ballot for have made affidavits that they did not vote, and know nothing of it?

Where did he get the unlimited supply of blank absentee ballots? How did he secure them? Do you know that there were about 50 or 60 forged absentees voted? Do you know that all the absentee votes that were secured by S. D. McCary and John Motley, his cohort, were voted for J. R. Hardy?

Do you know that the Probate Judge left his office at 7 a.m., June 3, with about 25 or 30 blank absentee ballots, and that about that number of requests, for the sole purpose of securing absentee votes? Do you know that he did get some of them voted and acknowledged same himself? Do you know that your Probate Judge aided and abetted in the buying of absentee votes? Do you know that your Probate Judge is a strong supporter of J. R. Hardy?

Do you know that it was your Probate Judge who gave out all the absentee ballots within the legal way or otherwise? Do you know that nearly all those fraudulent absentee ballots were stored in the Probate Judge's office until 10 minutes until 1 o'clock on Friday before the election? Do you know that lots of my friends who voted at my suggestion, and for a reason, were advised to leave them with the Probate Judge? Do you know that those ballots were all changed for J. R. Hardy? Ask the men who took the box!

Do you know that five or six hundred voted ballots were carried down to Marion Gore's on Friday before the election? Was the chairman of the party the proper one to have received them, or Marion Gore?

Do you know that J. R. Hardy, the sheriff, who is supposed to keep down law violations, was the man who was to receive the benefit of all the fraud that I have asked you about, and was the chief operator, the superintendent, if you please?

Do you know that the clerks and managers on election day in Beat 16 wrote down the names on the poll list and marked ballots and put them in the ballot box and counted them for parties who were not at the polls at all? Some of them were sick, and some of them were at home at work.

Do you know that there were men stationed in front of the courthouse door on election day who bought and paid for votes for J. R. Hardy?

Do you know that it was your county solicitor, who is paid out of your tax money, and Marion Gore rode into several counties with a supply of absentee ballots and requests and secured votes for J. R. Hardy? Do you know that your county solicitor went to a voter and paid him $3.00 for his absentee vote and advised him to go to the polls and vote on election day?

Can you tell me how those dead people who voted secured their ballots? If you can, you will have all the mystery solved of the fraud that was in that absentee ballot box.

I think that I have given you a lineup so that you can study this thing out and decide for yourself. When you investigate the above, you will see that it was a wholesale agency of fraud, forgery and buying of votes, and that, within itself, and backed up by the fact that they had 634 ballots in that box would convince any reasable man, or any man who has the improvement and the best interest of his people at mind, that something had to be done to check, if not stop, the absentee fraud. The men who took this box knew the fraud it contained before they took it. They knew it was full of forgery and buying and every type of law violation that could be thought of relative to an absentee vote. Consequently, they felt justified in taking the law into their hands and setting up to the public a principle that has always been agreeable to mankind, and that principle is that if you go too far in fraud we will have to stop you by whatever process it takes, and you and I know that 75 per cent of the average and best citizens of our county very much appreciate men who have the mental foresight and backbone enough to tell a bunch whom I have asked questions about above, that it is time for them to stop violating the law.

When you take all of the above into consideration and weigh it out with a fair, honest mind, which most of you have, and when you take into consideration and the knowledge of it being a fact that your sheriff was reaping all the benefit from this fraud, had promoted it and indulged in it himself, then that will answer the many questions why the sheriff did not do something about it. If one of you had taken a man's horse and the other had taken his chicken, then it would be folly for the man who took the horse to get out on the house-top and proclaim against the man who had taken the chicken.

I hope that everyone who reads this will consider it from the point of improving our county, for I have certainly written this with the idea of getting you people to think in an open minded way. I invite every man in this county to check my official record as a candidate for the office of tax collector, in the other primary and in the June primary. I told the men who worked for me to be sure to get genuine signatures, and to let all their practices be such that the sun would shine on them; in other words, I did not want any fraudulent votes, and as far as I know, I did not get any.

Now, I am leaving this up to the voters of Chilton County. I have been sick for two weeks, and have not been able to canvass much, and will not be able to see many of you before election day, but you all know me and my record as an officer, and you all know my opponent and his record as an officer. I am telling you right now that I am not going to buy my way into an office, because any man who pays his way into an office is not fit to serve you in that office when he gets there.

You remember that I promise you an honest, courteous and accommodating administration if nominated and elected. I now ask you to cast your vote next Tuesday for what you think is to the best interest of the people of our county, and I will be satisfied.

Thanking you in advance for your support and vote, I am, respectfully yours. — T. L. McKEE.

FARM FENCING

Many Chilton County farmers would keep more livestock if their farms were fenced. Fencing is a big problem on most every farm in the county.

During the last few years an electric device has been developed that will reduce the cost of fence. By the use of this device it is possible to keep cattle and hogs with a fence of one strand of barbed wire, charged with electricity. If this one wire is properly installed, one ordinary dry cell battery will keep three miles of fence charged for a period of six months. The battery can be recharged every six months and continue in service for many months.

On Friday, from 1 to 2 p.m., July 22, Mr. W. J. R. Browder, experiment agricultural engineer, will be at the county agent's office to discuss fencing with any and all farmers

DRIVER HELD UP BY HITCH-HIKERS

Three Boys Took Money And Car From Montgomerian Saturday Night

A boy or young man be the name of John Smith, from near Maxwell Field, in Montgomery, was giving three other boys, hitch-hikers, a lift last Saturday night, when the boys stuck a pistol in his side and demanded him to get from under the steering wheel. This was down near Prattmont, and the hitch-hikers brought the Smith boy on to the curve below Coopers, robbed him of 65 cents, and put him out of the car. They came on to Clanton and proceeded out the Maplesville road; in the meantime highway patrolman Julius Smith had been notified, and he and night policeman Plyler set out in search of the boys and the stolen car. The abandoned car was found at a filling station at Plantersville, where signs showed that attempt had been made to break in the station, presumably to get gasoline. The officers, who were accompanied by the Smith boy, drove on down the road a short distance and found the three boys by a fire out near the road. They were identified as the same three boys who had taken the car earlier in the night, and gave their names as William Sidney Roberts of Renfroe, in Talladega County, and J. W. Godfrey and George Tarrence, both from Texas. All three were brought here and placed in jail, charged with robbery.

LaFollette and Fish To Speak In B'ham Nov. 30

Progressive, Conservative Lawmakers Will Meet At Auditorium On National Topics

Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., fiery young Progressive from Wisconsin, son of the late "Bob" LaFollette, who initiated more progressive legislation perhaps than any other U. S. senator, and brother of "Gov. Phil", who recently made a bid for the White House on a third party ticket, is coming to Birmingham on November 30 to meet in debate the conservative, anti-Progressive, anti-New Deal Republican congressman from New York, Hamilton Fish, Jr.

The two gentlemen from Capitol Hill represent oppcsite schools of social, economic and political philosophy. Their debate at the Municipal Auditorium, the subject of which will be announced, should, therefore, prove of keen interest to citizens of this changing world.

Both men are descendants of long lines of patriots.

Rep. Fish is the great-grandson of Nicholas Fish, who was a colonel under George Washington in the American army of the Revolution, and was an intimate friend of the executor for Alexander Hamilton. He is a grandson of Hamilton Fish, who was governor of New York and U. S. senator, and served for eight years as Secretary of State in President Grant's cabinet. His father was speaker of the New York State Assembly and served in congress. His first cousin, Sgt. Hamilton Fish, served with Col. Theodore Roosevelt's Rough Riders, and was the first soldier killed in the American army during the Spanish-American War.

Rep. Fish, who "knows all the answers" to Progressive Sen. LaFollette's queries concerning "what's wrong with the world?" was elected to the 66th congress in 1919 and has served continuously ever since, being reelected with increasing majorities.

Sen. LaFollette has been following in his famous father's footsteps in Washington and is highly regarded as an able lawmaker. His challenging leadership in the senate constantly has attracted national atttention and he has been described as a "Progressive with one of the levelest heads in the senate".

LaFollette oratory has been one of Wisconsin's most famous products for more than 30 years, and young Bob, like his brother, "Gov. Phil", has inherited his father's keen sense of the dramatic and vivid and fluent oratorical ability which, combined with his profound study of economics, makes him another spellbinder on the lecture platform, especially when he crosses mental swords with a man of opposite political and economic philosophy.

Cherishing his heritage of the "Wisconsin idea" — a spirit rather than a program, of economic and social reform, which has helped shape such things as public works, unemployment insurance, social security — Bob LaFollette has differed with the New Deal, not in philosophy but in methods of establishing "a decent annual income for all".

The question of whether he will stay with the present administration or become a staunch supporter of his brother's proposed new political party, the National Progressives of America, doubtless will be answered during Sen. LaFollette's debate in Birmingham.

Appreciation Pages From Montgomery

On two inside pages of The Union-Banner this week will be found small advertisements from various firms in Montgomery, who express their appreciation for business received from citizens in Chilton County and central Alabama. Their slogan in this advertising campaign is: "If you can't find what you want in your home town, we invite you to come to Montgomery."

The Union-Banner commends these firms to the people who are in need of their wares. Turn to these pages and read them. Their messages are all catchingly written and (we hope) neatly printed. So, give these firms a break by reading their advs. and trading some with them.

BLACKKETTERS ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Blackketter and Mrs. Blackketter's sister from Indianapolis, Ind., are in Florida for a week. They are at Manitu, Fla. Mr. Blackketter is doing some deep sea fishing while there.

Preliminary Work On Paving Job Is Pushed

The work of getting the preliminary arrangements for the paving of the city streets is progressing satisfactorily, reports Mayor C. Fenn Jones, the collections from property owners coming in right along. It will not be long until the local collections will all be in the bank and work will proceed on the actual grading and paving. In this connection Mayor Jones makes the following statement to the citizens and property owners of the city:

"Notices of this street improvement will be mailed to all property owners on streets to be paved. The reason for mailing these notices is to make the project legal, and to take care of some properties that are entailed, some where owners are unknown, and school and church property. These notices do not mean or indicate in the least that the city officials have changed or would change their plan of getting the streets paved. In other words, the city officials are expecting the property owners on each street that is to be paved to pay cash for their part of the cost if they want the streets paved. I want it distinctly understood that neither the council nor myself have any purpose or wish to force the paving upon anyone; we want the people to cooperate with us in our efforts to improve the city."

HARDY WON OVER McKEE IN RUN-OFF

Democratic Voters Put Hardy In 244-Vote Lead; Count Was 1,333 To 1,089

Democrats of Chilton County went to the polls Tuesday in the third attempt to nominate a candidate for tax collector to run against the Republicans' choice, Tom Taylor, on November 8th. This primary resulted in Mr. Hardy receiving 1,333 votes and Tom McKee 1,089; this unofficial result gave Mr. Hardy a majority of 244.

BEVERLY HESTER OPERATED ON FOR APPENDICITIS

Miss Beverley Hester underwent an operation for appendicitis at Selma General Hospital last Sunday. Late Reports say that Miss Hester is improving satisfactorily at this writing.

Ray Miller, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Miller, accidentally shot himself with a .22 rifle last Sunday just after noon. The bullet went through his leg above the knee; he is recovering at Central Alabama Hospital.

CLANTON GOSPEL TABERNACLE

Our revival begins Saturday, August 6, at 7:30 p.m. This is the regular appointment of Rev. J. J. Dubose, pastor, at this place. Rev. Dubose, as well as members of the church, invite all to attend these meetings. Rev. J. D. Stevens, New Brockton evangelist, will conduct the revival services. Rev. Stevens is well known here, and we are looking for a great revival. You are invited.

Motion Pictures To Be At Baptist Church Here

Rev. Oscar Adams Davis, pastor of the Clanton Baptist church, announces a special motion picture program at that church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. This program will feature the life and work at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Ky. The pictures are accompanied by musical undertone throughout. The radio worship chorus is featured in pictures with vocal synchronization.

REV. HAROLD G. SANDERS

Rev. Harold G. Sanders, a graduate student and representative of the seminary, will speak and project the film depicting the human interest side of the school — faculty, students, families, charming children, distinguished visitors, buildings, homes, parties, athletics, and students in action in the streets, institutions, and churches. "The Beeches" is one of the most beautiful campuses in America.

Pastor Davis is a graduate of this historic school for ministers and missionaries, the first and largest of its kind among Southern Baptists. Some of the leading religious men of the nation and the globe are sons of "The School of the Prophets". During the past 79 years, nearly 8,000 trained Christian workers have gone from its halls to the ends of the earth with the Christian message.

Dr. John Richard Sampey, president, and teacher for 53 years, is the retiring president of the Southern Baptist Convention, having served for three years as the Baptist leader. He has the unique distinction of having taught more ministers than any other man in Christian history.

The public is cordially invited to this service.

DR. ODUM MOVED

Dr. E. R. Odum has moved to North Clanton in the Ben Sims house north of Willis Tourist Camp. His friends and patients will be governed accordingly.

Big Fox Hunt Held Last Wednesday, 20

A barbecue and fox hunt was sponsored by F. J. (Buddy) Ellison and Clanton sporsmen last Wednesday evening at the new Dixie Camp on the backwater of Coosa River. F. J. (Buddy) Ellison entertained his friends and sportsmen of other places with one of the best and most enjoyable barbecues and fox hunts that have ever been held on Coosa River; this was the first one of its kind ever held in Chilton County.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon, men and dogs began to pour into the camp, where delicious barbecue, camp stew and chicken were served to the satisfaction of everyone's taste. Present were from 85 to 100 men and boys, and 53 well bred fox hounds. The barbecue was enjoyed at 6 o'clock.

Just after eating, the dog show was held; the 53 fine dogs appeared before the crowd for inspection.

About 7 o'clock the horn blowing contest was held. Many entered this contest, with Buddy Ellison awarding a nice blowing horn to the winner. Dr. Adams of Calera, Alley C. Trice of Prattville, and Mr. Norman Cost of Calera were selected as judges. After trials, it was decided that Mr. Gaylor of Montgomery, and Buddy Ellison were tied. A "blow-off" was decided upon, with Mr. Gaylor winning the horn by a close margin.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. Ellison and his friends included people from Montgomery, Prattville, Mt. Creek, Verbena, Cooper, Clanton, Calera, and Birmingham.

After the horn blowing contest, all got together, lined up the 53 hounds and loosed them in the woods, where they had the wild red fox going within a few minutes and continued up into the day Thursday.

This occasion will be remembered a long time. Much praise is due Buddy for his untiring effort, and to the nice crowd that enjoyed the outing. The friends of Mr. Ellison have insisted on making this an annual affair; information about this will be published later.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Just want to mention that next Sunday, July 31, is Orphanage Day. Our offering was rather small last Orphanage Day. We invite you to our church to Sunday school and preaching services, and urge that at Sunday school each of us give all we can and make the offering to our children at the orphanage as much more than last time as is possible.

COOL AIR AT PIGGLY WIGGLY

Real air-conditioning has come to Clanton, and Piggly Wiggly is the proud sponsor of the novelty — if it might be called a novelty to Clanton. This store has installed a system that is said to change all of the air in the building once ever one and one-half minutes. They cannot prove that statement by us, but we will say that it is really cool and pleasant in there. And of course, Messrs. Paul Locklear and Obie Deloach invite you to come in Piggly Wiggly and enjoy the invigorating breeze with them. It is really fine.

TEXAS WENT AGAINST THE NEW DEAL

Texas, the Lone Star State and the home of Jim and "Ma" Ferguson, is like the lowly flea when it comes to politics. It is hard to tell what it is going to do. In a primary election last Saturday, W. Lee O'Daniel, a New Deal critic and a thorn in the side of President Roosevelt, won a clear majority over 11 other candidates for Governor of our largest state, including Mr. Maverick, whom the president recently "blessed" in his tour of the country in behalf of New Dealers who were to stand before the judgment bar of public opinion in elections this year. The successful Texan campaigned the state with a hillbilly band and sang mountain music himself, prior to making his stump speeches. But it worked!

MONEY SNATCHERS ARRESTED FRIDAY

Donkey Baseball Robbers Were Caught; Were Three Men From Sylacauga

Three boys from Sylacauga — Virgil John, 20, J. L. Harris, 18, and Leonard Harris, 22, all of Sylacauga, are in Clanton jail charged with snatching the $50 in bills at the donkey baseball game here last Monday night. Chief of Police H. M. Simpson was called from Sylacauga by city officers over there and asked if any money had been missing from Clanton. They were wired back to hold the suspects, whereupon policemen Willis and Thornton, accompanied by Prof. Patterson Hicks, went over to Sylacauga, where Prof. Hicks identified one of the boys as being the one who snatched the money at the ball game. The three were brought here and placed in jail. Virgil Johns is said to have been wanted in Talladega for some previous fracture of the law.

Three other boys, two local boys and one from Sylacauga, were questioned about the incident, but were released as not being implicated.

HOKE S. PIPES WAS HERE

Mr. Hoke S. Pipes, former Clanton young man, has been visiting his parents, here, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Pipes, for the past several days. He returned Monday morning to his home in New Orleans.

It will be remembered that Mr. Pipes was driven from his home in Louisville, Ky., by the flood a year or so ago. He is working for a big steel concern.

J. Z. MIMS RETURNED HOME

Mr. J. Z. Mims, who has been taking treatment for rheumatism, returned home last week. He has been at Cottonwood, Ala., for several days taking baths in naturally hot water, as well as treatment from a doctor. Reports are that Mr. Mims has improved in some respects from the treatments.

Martin's ambulance brought Mrs. Dallis Little home from a Birmingham hospital last Sunday; she had undergone an operation.

VISIT FROM DISTANT RELATIVE

The editor of The Union-Banner was surprised and pleased last Saturday to have a visit from another Wyatt — a distant relative whom we had never seen or heard of before. This was Wm. R. B. Wyatt, from Alexandria, La., but originally from Caroline County, Virginia. All the Wyatts trace their ancestry back to Sir Francis Wyatt, the first Governor General of the Virginia colony, and his two brothers who were among the first settlers at Jamestown.

Wm. R. B. Wyatt, garduate in law at the University of Virginia, has been in the lumber business in Louisiana for several years, which business has carried him all over the continent and half a dozen trips to Europe. We greatly enjoyed his visit and were interested in hearing him tell of his various and varied experiences.

EAGLE'S OFFERS BARGAINS

Eagle's the new store of Mr. Ike Nathews, located on the corner, is offering some attractive bargains to the trading public of this section this section this week. He has two separate advs. in this week's Union-Banner. Turn to them and see what this new and attractive store has to offer.

Mr. Nathews just opened up his store here about a week ago, having come here from Montevallo. He and his clerks would like to get acquainted with the people of Clanton and Chilton County. You are invited to drop in to see them.

Clean-Up Rural Mail Box Week

Mr. Q. C. Meroney, carrier on Verbena Route 1, asks The Union-Banner to carry the following notice for him about better mail boxes and the consequent better rural mail service:

Unserviceable and unsightly mail boxes both retard the delivery of mail and detract from the natural scenic beauty of the highway. Particularly to be deplored are the non-regulatoin, old-type, top-opening boxes, as well as makeshift receptacles which expose the mail to the elements.

It is the desire of the Department not only to correct the above-mentioned unsatisfactory situation but to encourage all rural mail patrons generally to possess pride in their boxes, both in the manner of erection, neat stenciling, and tidy appearance.

To help accomplish these desirable objectives the Department is designating the week of August 1 as "Clean-Up Rural Box Week".

See our carrier for information about an attractive proposition.

CLANTON CITIZEN DIED SUDDENLY

George C. Polk Passed Away At 8:10 Wednesday A. M. After Long Illness

Death claimed Mr. George Clark Polk, prominent Clanton business man for the past several years, at 8:10 o'clock Wednesday morning, following confinement to his room for the past week or ten days. He was 48 years old.

Funeral services will be held at the home Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, and burial will be in Clanton cemetery. Martin is in charge.

Surviving, besides the wife, are two daughters — Miss Alice (Patsy) Polk, and Mrs. Corinne Parr, both of Clanton; one brother, W. M. Polk, also of Clanton.

Mr. Polk had been in declining health for the past several years, but had been unable to be about for only about one week. He had suffered with a stomach trouble and heart ailment. Since coming to Clanton from Shelby County some twenty years ago, Mr. Polk had engaged in business as a cotton broker, in partnership with his brother, W. M. Polk, as well as the automobile and implement business.

Verbena Girl Wins National Honors

Jane Billingsley Awarded 1938 Home Economics Fellowship, Training Course During Summer

A Verbena girl achieved national recognition recently when it was announced by the Danforth Fellowship Foundation that Jane Billingsley had been awarded the 1938 Home Economics Danforth Fellowship for two weeks' study in St. Louis, and two weeks leadership training at the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp at Shelby, Mich. The summer scholarships are given jointly by the Ralston Purina Mills, and William H. Danforth, founder and chairman of the board of this national feed and cereal organization.

Jane Billingsley arrived in St. Louis July 17. For four weeks she will be a member of one of the most representative groups of home economics students in the United States. With junior girls representing 33 leading state colleges she will have an opportunity to view the "inside" of big business and study the relationship between home economics and industry, and learn of the opportunities now open for young women with a home economics background. The fellowship program is designed to give young women on the brink of graduation from college a pre-view showing of what to expect in the business and professional world, and to aid them in "catching hold" immediately upon graduation, rather than changing from one position to another the first few years out of school.

As winner of the fellowship, Jane Billingsley will be taken on inspection trips of large wholesale, manufacturing, and industrial plants. Research laboratories, department stores, and the problems of institutional and hotel management will be studied under experts. A trip to a large experimental farm is included in the schedule.

The last two weeks will be spent at the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp on Lake Michigan. Leadership courses for personality development and enlargement of abilities will be taught by nationally known educators, ministers, and professional men and women. A well planned recreational program will be coupled with study at this camp where hundreds of young women meet annually for a fortnight of training and fellowship.

Jane Billingsley is typical of the young women chosen for this honor. She was selected from the entire home economics class of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute this past spring because of her outstanding scholarship record, wide participation in campus activities, religious interest, and all-around development.

At college, Miss Billingsley belongs to the Dramatic Club, Theta Epsilon, Woman's Athletic Association, Sphinx Honor Society, and the Baptist Student Union.

PIONEER CITIZEN DIED SUNDAY A.M.

W. H. Sartor Succumbed To Heart Ailment Following Only Brief Illness

Willam Henry Sartor, 77 years old lacking seven weeks, died at his home in Clanton last Sunday morning, July 24th, at 11:30 o'clock following an illness of only a few days. Funeral services were held at the home Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Oscar A. Davis, assisted by Rev. J. M. Truett. Burial was in Clanton cemetery, Martin in charge.

Pallbearers were fellow members with the deceased of Clanton Knights Templar: H. T. Pipes, M. L. White, G. C. Harris, G. F. Harris, J. Watts Moore, and B. J. Sessions.

Surviving are the wife, one son, Adolph, two daughter — Mrs. Elna Roberts, and Mrs. L. C. Ross.

W. H. Sartor was one of the few citizens left who knew Clanton from its beginning. He was born in Autauga County, the son of W. D. Sartor; the family removed here when W. H. Sartor was a boy, and he grew up in Clanton, spending the rest of his life of activity and usefulness here. As a boy he worked at the first printing office that ever came to Clanton, when this paper, then called The Record, was printed in one room of the old frame courthouse near the present courthouse site. Mr. Sartor worked for Ehrman's sawmill commissary, as well as in his store, when Clanton was mostly a lumber yard and a field of pine stumps. Mr. Sartor always took great delght in talking with his friends about those olden times. He was married to Miss May Bell Watts September 12, 1893.

Starting out in partnership with N. A. Kicker, the mercantile business in Clanton claimed most of the years of Mr. Sartor's active life, about 35 years, in which capacity he made the acquaintance of most of the people of Chilton County, all of whom highly respected his honesty, integrity, and honor. Always manifesting a deep interest in his church and Sunday school work, Mr. Sartor had been a member of Clanton Baptist church almost since it was established. He took active interest in the fraternal activities of Clanton and territory, being treasurer of Clanton Commandery No. 27, Knights Templar, at the time of his death, as well as Past Commander of all the Blue Lodges of the Masons here. He has been Auditor for the Woodmen of the World here for a number of years.

W. H. Sartor was the last member of the family, his last brother, Eugene Sartor, having died in Birmingham two years ago.

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE DELOS CULP FOR SUPERINTENDENT

The Democratic Executive Committee, in special session here last Friday, named as their nominee for county superintendent of education Prof. Delos P. Culp, to fill the vacancy on the Democratic ticket caused by the withdrawal of Prof. Luther E. Little two weeks ago.

Delos Culp, age about 27 years, is the son of Mr. Joe Culp, of Fairview community. He is a graduate from Auburn, and made an exceptional record in his college work there. He has taught three years in Chilton County — two years at Fairview, a one-teacher school, and one year as principal of Mineral Springs school. He has taught two years as principal of a four-teacher school in Butler County, near Greenville.

The names of five other teachers were before the Democratic committee seeking the nomination, they being J. A. Peterson of Jemison, J. D. Griffin of Thorsby, Dennis Hopper of Mt. Creek, W. C. DuBose of Verbena, and C. C. Matthews of Isabella.

Mrs. Maurice Lande and son, Irvin, returned Sunday night from Miami, Fla., where they spent a month. While there they stopped at the Hotel Edison, and they come back to Clanton with much praise for that hostelry and the splendid service which they render their guests.

MARTIN MEMORIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD AT OLD BETHESDA

Mr. J. Mell Martin announces that the Martin memorial services and annual homecoming will be held at old Bethesda church, Equality, Ala., on next Sunday, July 31st, beginning at 10:30 a.m., and continuing all day; there will be dinner at 12 o'clock.

MAKES LIVING SINGING BUT CANNOT OPEN MOUTH

Tommy Gentry, the whispering cowboy, and his Texas Plainsmen, will appear in person at Verbena High School on Saturday night, July 30, at 8:30 p.m., sponsored by the Epworth League. Tommy Gentry is said to make his living singing, but cannot open his mouth; at one time he was given only six hours to live. The entire cast of radio artists, who play over WBRC, will appear on the program, including the little red bantam rooster and Red Hayes with his electric Hawaiian guitar. Admission 15c and 25c.

Canadians have petitioned their parliament to annex a small strip of Maine to the Dominion. Pretty shrewd those Canucks, they pick out good Republican territory.

FARMERS WEEK AT AUBURN

Farmers Week at Auburn is scheduled for August 1 through 5. This week has been designated for farmers to visit the experiment station and college. There has been a good program arranged for each day.

Facilities for taking care of people over night are very limited, but there is plenty of room for everyone who cares to go and spend the day. Reservations for 12 farm men and women from Chilton County to spend the week, but we would like to have a lot of folks go over for one or two days. The necessary expense for those who stay through the whole conference will be approximately $7.50 each.

Farmers who are interested in making the trip get a group of neighbors together and drive over. Several could go in one car or truck and each pay his pro rata share of the expense for a small cost to each. Carry a picnic lunch and make a recreational as well as an educational trip for the whole family.

Those who want to make the trip and can't arrange transportation facilities should notify the county agent on or before Wednesday, July 27, and he will try to arrange for transportation.

We believe this is a fine opportunity for you to visit the college and experiment station. It is better to visit the station during Farmers Week because the whole staff of workers rae ready to help you understand what is going on, and every different experiment will be explained in detail.

We are making special effort to have a large group of Chilton County folks in Auburn Wednesday, August 3. — J. W. Fant, county agent.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL CLOSED AT COTTON MILL CHURCH

Resulting in the addition of 35 new members to the new church, a most successful revival closed at the Second Baptist Church, or Clanton Cotton Mill church, last Friday night, July 22nd. Ten were by letter and the other 25 were for baptism.

The preaching was done by the Rev. Willis N. Bynum, of Decatur, who assisted the pastor, Rev. Allen Ruff. Mrs. Bynum presided at the piano the last week of the meeting, and Mr. Jesse C. Jones conducted the singing.

The meeting was a grand success from every standpoint. Both the evangelist and the pastor are young men, but according to those who attended regularly, they both preach and conduct services like veterans at the business. Rev. Bynum and Mrs. Bynum both endeared themselves in the hearts and lives of hte people of the church. A vote was taken urging them to return for another meeting at that place.

Baptizing services will be held next Sunday, July 31st, the place to be announced later.

The Biblical admonition "go to the ant, thou sluggard", has been changed to "visit the federal relief office, Mr. Voter".

That a roadway 20 feet wide along the center line of 2nd Avenue South from a point 10 feet Southwest of the center line of 6th Street to a point 10 feet northeast of the center line of 1st Street, also along the center line of 1st Avenue from the Northeast property line of 6th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 1st Street, also along the center line of 2nd Avenue North from a point 70 feet Northeast of the Northeast property line of 6th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 1st Street, also along the center line of 3rd Avenue North from the Northeast property line of 7th Street to the Southwest property line of 4th Street, also along the center line of 4th Avenue North from the Northeast property line of 7th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 5th Street, also along the center line of 5th Avenue North from the Northeast roadway line of 7th Street to a point 10 feet Northeast of the center line of 6th Street, also along the center line of 6th Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue South to the Northwest property line 1st Avenue Alley South, also along the center line of 6th Street from the Southeast property line of 2nd Alley North to the center line of 5th Avenue North, also along the center line of 5th Street from the center line of 1st Avenue to the center line of 4th Avenue North, also along the center line of 4th Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue South to the center line of 1st Avenue, also along the center line of 1st Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue South to the Southeast property line of 3rd Avenue North, also along the center line of 8th Street from the Northwest property line of 2nd Avenue North to the Southeast property line of 7th Avenue North, also along the center line of 10th Street from the center line of 2nd Avenue North to the Southeast property line of 7th Avenue North, also along the center line of 6th Avenue North from the center line of 8th Street to the center line of 10th Street, also along the center line of 5th Avenue North from the center line of 8th Street to the East property line of 13th Street, also along the center line of 3rd Avenue North from the center line of 8th Street to the center line of 10th Street, and, also along the center line of 2nd Avenue North from the Southwest property line of 8th Street to the East property line of Kicker Street (14th Street), shall be paved with Bituminous Surface Treatment with Premix Cold Lay Asphalt Seal on a 6 inch Sand Clay Gravel Base or a Triple Bituminous Surface Treatment on a 6 inch Sand Clay Gravel Base. The final determination of materials to be used to be postponed until bids are received.

That Vitrified Clay or Concrete Drainage Pipes, inlets and manholes of brick with cast iron covers, shall be constructed along said streets between said points.

Section 2. That said improvements shall be made in accordance with the established grades on file in the office of the City Clerk, for said portions of said highways and, according to full details, drawings, plans, specifications and surveys of said work and estimates which have been prepared by the J. W. Goodwin Engineering Company, exhibited to this Council and now on file in the office of the City Clerk in the City Hall where property owners who may be affected by said improvements may see and examine same.

Section 3. That the cost of constructing said improvements shall be assessed against the property abutting on the portions of the highways so improved, provided

(a) That the cost of improving any intersection or any part thereof shall be assessed against the lots or parcels of land abutting on each of the streets, avenues, alleys, or other highways so intersecting for a half block in each direction therefrom, provided that for the purpose of computing assessments, no block shall be considered as extending more than 1,000 feet from any intersection so improved.

(b) That no assessment shall exceed the cost of such improvements or the increase value of such property by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements.

Section 4. That the detailed estimates of cost of such improvements on file in the office of the City Clerk aggregate $61,818.00, and, that the City Council of the City of Clanton, Alabama, will meet on the 9th day of August, 1938, in the Council Chamber of the City Hall of Clanton, Alabama, at 7:30 o'clock P. M. to hear any objections, remonstrances, or protests that may be made against said improvements, the manner of making the same, or the character of materials to be used.

Approved July 19, 1938.

C. FENN JONES, Mayor.
Clanton, Alabama.

MT. CARMEL

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Mt. Carmel on Thursday, July 28. All who are interested come and bring the necessary tools to work with. This is the Mt. Carmel church at Adams.

A New York man recently won the prize in a bread baking contest. Usually father contents himself by merely kneading the dough.

CARD OF THANKS

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the people of our community. We cannot see everyone personally. We wish to thank everyone that helped us in every way during the illness of my husband.

Though he is a long way from well, he can't walk a step, yet we are glad to say that he is still improving. We also thank Mr. Sutlive for leaving the paper for him. We also thank those who wanted to help, but were hindered by some cause. — Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Hinson.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Singing school at this place is just fine, getting better, and will run for 15 days. Mr. Audie Brown is a very good teacher.

A number of people from here are attending the meeting at Poplar Springs.

Mrs. Willie Glenn had as her guest last week her daughter, Mrs. Elsie May Jones, from near Clanton.

W. F. Glenn visited his brother at Cooper last Friday.

Little Bettie Sue Jones, from near Clanton, visited her grandmother Mrs. W. F. Glenn, last week.

Cecil Little, son of Mr. Eddie Little, is improving from a recent illness.

Coolidge Devaughn visited his sister, Mrs. Oliver Glenn, near Mt. Pisgah last Thursday.

Mr. Chapman from Mt. Pisgah was in this community last Friday.

Mr. Orville Popwell from near Clanton was a business visitor here last Thursday.

The twin brothers, Virdie and Virgil Glenn, were on the sick list last week, but are improving now.

Remember the homecoming at this place the fifth Sunday in July, 31st, and be there. We are expecting a great day.

Quite a number of people from here, Clanton, Cooper, and Verbena attended the funeral of Mrs. Adam Glenn at Proctor Creek, in Coosa County, last Saturday.

Several people from around here attended the all day singing at Chestnut Creek, Cooper, last Sunday.

Sunday school was small Sunday on account of rain and the singing at Cooper.

Mr. Oscar Wells and family from Bethel visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Wells, near Mt. Pisgah last Sunday.

Be sure to come to Sunday school Sunday and bring a friend. Remember, next Sunday is homecoming day here. Come!

Mr. O. L. Devaughn started a singing school at Enterprise last Monday, July 25th.

MASONIC CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT JEMISON 27-28

The 26th annual session of the Chilton County Masonic Conference will be held with Jemison Lodge No. 411 on Wednesday and Thursday, July 27 and 28.

All lodges in the conference are requested to send representatives to this session of the conference. All Masons are invited and urged to attend. Robert B. Keith of Birmingham will conduct the conference. — H. A. Harris, Secretary. 7-14-2t

All Day Singing At Antioch 1st Sunday

There will be an all day singing in the new books at Antioch, on Pletcher road, the first Sunday in August. All are invited to come and bring dinner and new song books. — C. W. White.

Mrs. J. L. Thompson of Mt. Creek is visiting her mother and sister in Birmingham.

More Dog Vaccination Dates Are Set

Dr. Parrish writes:

"The deadline will soon be here, August 1. Quite a few have not vaccinated dogs yet. Some seem to think there is no law to this, but if you are caught, don't blame me. The state is pushing me, and your neighbors are harder than the state. They do not feel that you are treating them right by not treating your dog. Talk with your friends who are cooperating, and be sure to tell your neighbor who takes no paper. If I have not made my appointments right, see your friends and I will be glad to give you a date."

Dr. Parrish cites a clipping from Montgomery, as follows:

"Dog owners in Alabama have until August 1 in which to have their animals inoculated agianst rabies without incurring penalties provided by the state's anti-rabies law, Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, says.

"While the 1937 anti-rabies act provides the county rabies inspector may set inoculation deadlines in his district, all inspectors have agreed penalties would become effective over the entire state after August 1."

Below are given additional dates:

July 28 — Home of Kizer Morgan, 8:30 to 9:30; Shoults, 10 to 11:30; Maplesville, 2 to 4.

July 29 — Clanton, 8 a.m., to 4 p.m.

Dr. Parrish further points out that the law defines a dog "owner" as anyone who allows a dog to stay on his place. He makes this explanation because some have claimed that dogs about their places did not belong to them. If there is a dog at your home, therefore, and remains there, you are legally held the owner thereof.

Dr. Parrish makes explanation regarding the penalty for non-compliance with the law. Contrary to general opinion, the inspector will not go about shooting dogs which have not been vaccinated, but their owners will be subject to prosecution and a fine of from $1 to $10 and costs for each dog.

Dr. Parrish has set out the above information because some seem not to understand the whole procedure, and he says he wants no one to get into trouble unwittingly.

PETROLEUM INDUSTRIES

D. H. Bohler, chairman of the Alabama Pettroleum Industries Committee, in a statement issued this week, announced that his organization would lend its full and active cooperation to the Alabama Motorists Association in the campaign to inform the public as to the merits of the Constitutional Amendment requiring that all state special motor vehicle tax revenues be used exclusively for road, street and bridge purposes.

Mr. Bohler stated that from the standpoint of the general progress and welfare of the state, this amendment which will be known as Amendment No. 1 on the November 8th ballot, is of the most vital importance. If ratified it will protect Alabama's federal aid allotments from penalty due to diversion, thereby assuring us of receiving our full benefits in federal aid funds.

He further stated that the committee's secrettary, Earl M. Hearne, of Montgomery, had been instructed to cooperate fully with the AMA and other interested organizations and groups to the end that the public might know the importance of the amendment.

SINGING AT MT. ZION

There will be an all day singing the first Sunday in August, the 7th. All are cordially invited to come, bring your lunch and new song books of all kinds, and help us enjoy the day. We are expecting some good singers and quartets from Oak Grove, Center Hill, Cane Creek, Pleasant Hill, Mineral Springs, and others. Everybody is invited. Come one, come all!

OLD FOLKS SERVICES AT COUNTY LINE 5TH SUNDAY

There will be special services for older people and ministers the fifth Sunday in July at County Line or Bethlehem, three miles east of Wadsworth. It is intended for the people of three counties — Elmore, Autauga and Chilton; all older people and ministers of the gospel are invited to come, bring dinner and enjoy the day together.

SINGING AT ENTERPRISE FIRST SUNDAY IN AUGUST

Concert On Saturday Night, August 6, By Quartet From Columbus, Ga.

There will be a singing at Enterprise schoolhouse, all day, on Sunday, August 7th. Some half a dozen good quartets are expected, one being the Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga. The singers of Chilton and adjoining counties have a cordial invitation to attend. All new books that are on hand will be used, with no partiality shown.

The Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga., will put on a concert at the schoolhouse on Saturday night before, August 6th, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Admission will be 10c and 15c — an amount which anyone can raise, and the cooperation of the music loving public is urged. Those who have heard this quartet say it is among the best in the South, and Enterprise wants to give them a good crowd; the people of other communities are urged to help in having a full house for this concert. Mark down the date on your calendar and come to the concert and the all day singing Sunday following. —I. D. Huett.

In 1934 the net receipts from all sources for education in Alabama were $21,938,866. This included $4,221,839 federal funds as well as local funds.

James Roosevelt is indignant at an article published in the Saturday Evening Post about his insurance business. Here we see the advantage of running a magazine over that of conducting a country newspaper. If a country paper had published the article Jimmy would have had the right to try to lick the editor. But now he has to be content with expressing indignation.

In the good old days a candidate for president gained popularity through the fact he was born in a log cabin. That will be very unlikely from now on. But perhaps the candidate in the future can make a political drive by claiming he was born in a flivver on the way to the hospital.

There are many different opinions about what constitutes the sweetest music in the world. How about listening to the directors of your favorite company declare an extra dividend?

A political commentator says: "One favorable feature of the Iowa voting is that it might influence Washington brain trusters to leave politics to the practical politicians". But nothing has yet been able to influence the Washington brain trusters to leave business to the practical business men.

Secretary Perkins, on her way to Geneva, was quoted in Le Havre as saying that business is "good enough" in the United States for America to give Europe a few tips. But not on budget balancing or employment.

Head of the Netherland Bank in Amsterdam, Holland, complains because there are so many burdens on Dutch business. Boy, you ought to come to the United States!

The new constitution for New York will not legalize gambling, according to recent action of the Bill of Rights Committee. If you want to gamble in these days of depression, the easiest way to do is to get married.

Congressmen were said to be good and homesick during the closing days of the session. And no doubt some of them will like it so well at home they won't go back to Washington.

Some people seem to think that because the New Deal went over big in 1936 it will continue to do so. But you can't ever tell. Take Dizzy Dean, for instance.

We don't know what the New Deal campaign song will be this fall, but we are willing to bet 10 to 1 that it won't be "I can't give you anything but love, baby".

President Roosevelt intimates it was all right for Harry C. Hopkins to endorse Congressman Wearin in the Iowa race because Harry once went to school with the congressman. And no doubt Jimmy Roosevelt is an old school mate, too.

A popular author has written a book entitled "Insanity Fair". It of course, deals with Europe. Nothing like that here.

A financial review says that business has slipped into the doldrums. This latter term may be a polite way of naming the hot place.

The skeleton of an enormous dinosaur has just been mounted in a Berlin museum. It is said the animal weighed 40 tons, and was only one part brain to 40 parts dinosaur. Now if you are running for office this year here is an ideal term to call wour opponent: A political dinosaur.

The national Socialist party convention will be held in Berlin on September 9. Whether or not there is to be any change in policies has not been announced. No doubt they are waiting for Hitler to make up his mind.

A Louisiana man has become an expert at crocheting. Wonder whether he attributes his success to the WPA or the PWA?

An Omaha man has started a "don't worry club", and now has 150 members who have ceased worrying. Needless to say, taxpayers are not eligible.

The nearer it gets to the 1940 Democratic National Convention the more Paul McNutt is inclined to believe that Sen. Van Nuys is not such a bad guy after all.

It seems to be the strategy of New Deal leaders to try to purge unfriendly Democratic senators in states where the purge has better than a 50-50 chance of working.

What has become of the old fashoined man who prided himself on raising a big family and marrying off each of the girls to a good, thrifty husband?

From now on the minimum pay of beauty shop operators in New York will be $16.50 per week. And considering what they have to work on, some of the time, it may be worth it.

The real forgotten man so far as the New Dealers are concerned is President Andrew Jackson. He left the White House with a surplus of $28,000,000 in the national treasury.

A card from Mr. C. O. Vardaman, Birmingham, says that he is in Washington on a few days vacation, and is seeing all the sights. He had dinner with the National Republican Chairman, John Hamilton, Thursday night.

A RAILROAD MAN SPEAKS

"Not until the average man understands that relief, at best, is only a temporary expedient; that the heavy tax load is discouraging business enterprise; that HE must ultimately, through direct or indirect taxation hidden in his cost of living, largely pay the current cost of government and the public debt — will economy in government be demanded and taxes reduced. — Mr. Hill, of L. & N. Railroad.

OUR NO. 1 PROBLEM

President Roosevelt says that the South is the nation's No. 1 economic problem. Alabama Magazine says that Washington is the South's No. 1 economic problem. Probably they are both right, but we believe the South ca nbest solve its own peculiar problems without so much interference from the brain trusters and trust busters. Fact is, the nation would be bettter off if we had less fake remedies to contend with and more common horse sense in our federal government.

RECIPE FOR RECOVERY

The longest speech in Congress on the issue of government or private spending for recovery contains less meat than Representative Bruce Barton's summing up in two sentences:

"Put one man to work on the WPA and you have given one low-priced job. Put one man to work on the automobile assembly line and you have created 10 or 15 or 30 well-paid jobs."

Industry will employ more men when it is freed from confiscatory taxes, government competition and oppressive, hostile, destructive regulation.

When will that time come? Only the administration in Washington can supply the answer.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

DR. MOLEY'S ADVICE

Dr. Raymond Moley, disillusioned and reconstructed Brain Truster, said a number of timely things while addressing the Economic Club in Detroit. But none of his words were more to the point than the exhortation to "get rid of the Charley McCarthy congressmen" next fall.

There isn't anything of greater political importance just now than the acquisition of a national legislative body in which the Roosevelt robots will be conspicuous by their absence.

The way to get such a congress is to do as Dr. Moley suggests, forget party lines and tie-ups, and vote for real men who will put an end to the travesty in Washington that is wrecking America. — Detroit Free Press.

FAME, OF A SORT

Senator Minton of Indiana says he will not push his press censorship bill. He only offered it, he says, to get attention for his criticism of the newspapers.

If the Senator likes the sort of public attention he gained by his queer bill, then he does not know any distinction between notoriety and fame.

It is always possible to attract attention, if one doesn't mind making himself ridiculous. The Senator could get a large if not an admiring audience by walking down Pennsylvania Avenue with his coat on wrong side out. —Minneapolis Journal.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Railroad securities on the New York Stock Exchange were given a boost, at least ttemproarily, by the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in awarding the Eastern railroads a passenger fare increase from two to two and a half cents a mile. The public evidently reacted in the belief that the higher rate would mean greater earnings fro the railroads in the Eastern part of the country.

There is no doubt that the railroads are badly in need of assistance. The new Roosevelt depression has in most cases turned railway earnings into sizable deficits. There are rumors going about that many of the roads are in bad shape financially, that some of them may have to go through the process of receivership before anything can be done for them.

Naturally many remedies have been suggested. Among these have been lower wages to officials and employees, and higher freight and passenger rates. The ICC some few months ago awarded an increase in freight rates, but the heads of the roads themselves claim it was not enough and asked for an increase in passenger fares. This increase has now been granted for a period of 18 months at least.

Of course, what the railroads really need is more business. Unless business picks up, nothing can save some of the rails from ultimate receivership. Another help would be a decrease in taxes, but in view of the expanding programs of expenditure on the part of the federal and local governments, this much desired condition does not seem to be in the offing. Theoretically, of course, raising passenger fares ought to increase the earnings. But there is room for serious doubt about this. If people had to travel on the railroads, perhaps the theory would be sounder. Unfortunately for the roads, however, there is now competition in transportation. This includes the millions of private automobiles, the busses, and the rapidly expanding airway lines. A raise in railroad rates naturally causes some resentment on the part of the traveling public, and this is bound to result in some advantage of the bus and other vehicles of motor travel. It it true, too, that it costs the railway company as much to pull an empty passenger train as it does one loaded with passengers. Therefore, a car filled with passengers paying a lower rate may be more profitable than a car bearing only a few passengers paying a higher rate. The experiences of some Western and Southern railroads would seem to bear this out.

Whether unconsciously or not, the railway officials who have asked for this increase in fares, are following the New Deal theory that the way to bring more business and higher prosperity is to raise the cost of an article to the consumer. This is contrary to the law of competition, which has not yet been repealed. It has been tried out both in our agricultural and manufacturing fields. What the success has been, each man must decide for himself. It is a fact, however, that we still have a depression and 12 million unemployed.

It must be said, of course, that the railroads should be saved. Their prosperity is vital to the economic welfare of the country. Investments of life insurance companies, savings banks, and private citizens, great and humble, are tied up in railroad securities. Railway officials who have studies the situation seem to be of almost unanimous opinion that higher passenger fares will help. Let us hope, for their own sakes, and the sake of the investing public, that they are not mistaken. But an increase in general business certainly would help more.

EXPLAINED

In a scientific, nation-wide poll which shows a drop in the President's popularity for the eighth consecutive month, the American Institute of Public Opinion confirms a previous survey indicating that 80 per cent of those on relief favor Mr. Roosevelt.

This undoubtedly explains the administration's insistence on a relief-spending program, and particularly the President's eagerness to have full discretion as to the spending of these funds without earmarking or restrictions of any kind.—Springfield Union.

TVA

One thing is certain as a result of the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, David E. Lilienthal and Dr. Harcourt A. Morgan in the TVA investigation. It is that the congressional committee should organize a body of able and impartial lawyers, engineers and accountants and subject the whole TVA undertaking to through analysis. It is difficult to speak positively on most questions that have been raised in the flood of criticism and charges unloosed in the battle between Arthur E. Morgan and his former associates. Competent, painstaking analysis must precede judgment. But of the need for this analysis there is not the slightest question.—Baltimore Sun.

GAY AS LARKS

Gen. Hugh. Johnson of NRA fame says that the New Dealers are just a mob of discontents, ex-Republcans, ex-Socialists, and half-baked economic and social reformers.

The General sometimes is right, often wrong. This time he si a step behind the parade.

The New Dealers used to be discontents. Just now they are in the seventh heaven of delight. They are happier than a cage full of monkeys, with all kinds of gadgets to pick to pieces.

It is not the New Dealers who now are discontents, General. It is everybody else. — San Francisco Chronicle.

BUSY MONTH

In May we observed Child Health Day, National Baby Week, National Music Week, National Egg Week, National Restaurant Week, National Foot Health Week, National Golf Week, National Raisin Week, National Maritime Day, Peace Week, Ice Cream Week, Outdoor Cleanliness Day, Straw Hat Day, International Good Will Day, National Tennis Week, and the Dionne quints' birthday. And on top of all that, we worked three or four days. It's no wonder that we're all tuckered out.—Washington Post.

After five years and two months the word "recovery" is still on the lips of the president and most of the congressmen; from which it is inferred that the patient remains a patient. Is it possible that a sick country called the wrong doctor? There has been a relapse nearly a year, and the patient does not respond even to hypodermics. — Charleston News and Courier.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Someone has said, "The best measure of the profundity of any religious doctrine is given by its conception of sin and its cure of sin". The trouble with our modern world is this: It does not have the proper conception of sin. Men need to have a sin consciousness. Our fathers believed that sin was sin and right was right. We sometimes think they were narrow, but they believed in a just God, a God of holiness, a God Who could not tolerate sin. They believed that men reap what they sow. They thought sin was such a terrible thing the fires of hell could not burn it up. They believed that sin was so terrible that nobody could save us except God. We talk about the Puritans. We call them narrow. They were not narrow compared with many of our educational people today. The narrowest people I know are some "highly educated" men and women, graduates of great universities, some of whom have received their doctor's degrees. They are intolerant of everybody's philosophy but their own. They think they are broad. They think a fundamental Christian is narrow. They set themselves up as critics of the Bible, about which they know nothing. They do this in spite of the fact the greatest scholars who have ever studied the Word of God agree that it is the Book of Books, and has depths that no mortal mind has ever yet been able to explore. Much of our modern scholarship produces an egomania. Paul in Athens found an inscription "To The Unknown God". The Athenians thought they were broadminded, and cultural, and liberal. They were narrow. They were intolerant. They were against the only God Who could do anything for them. They were not big enough to know that the very gods they were worshipping were undermining their civilization, and that Jesus Christ, whom Paul offered to the city, was the only hope of their civilization. The tendency of our modern scholarship is to look on sin lightly. The Puritan scholars were thinkers. They knew things. They believed in sin. May their mantles fall no us!

Jesus Christ, our Lord, said when He stood in the shadow of His cross, "For this hour came I into the world". This is plain. Jesus came to this world to die. He did not come to live. He did not come just to show us how to live. He came to die so we might have power to live the kind of lives we ought to live. Modernistic teachers say that Jesus died a martyr's death. He didn't. No martyr ever said in his dying hour, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Martyrs have gone through the fire praising God. They died saying "God is good", "God is with me". No lonely missionary on a foreign field ever said "God has forsaken me". In all the world there has never been a consecrated Christian man who was ever forsaken by God. So, according to the Bible, Jesus did not teven die the death of a good man. Let us face the blunt fact. He died as a sinner. That is the mystery of His death. "He Who knew no sin was made to be sin for us". That is what the Bible teaches. The sinless Son of God at the cross was made to be sin. God cannot look at sin with the least degree of allowance. So when Jesus died on the cross, God the Father turned His back and Jesus said, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Jesus was not a martyr. He laid down His own life. Of course, the men who crucified Him were murederers, and they were instigated by the devil, but no man or group of men could have taken His life. He said He had power to lay it down and He had power to take it again. Jesus, our Lord, deliberately chose to climb Calvary height, taking our sins on Himself, bearing them in His own body, dying in our place on our account. "He was wounded for our transgressions and bruised for our iniquities". How foolish it is for men to try to save themselves — something that they cannot do — when all they have to do to be saved is to accept what Jesus Christ has done for them. May some reader of this article accept Him as Savior and Lord.

LET THE CHIPS FALL BY THE WAYSIDE

The Union-Banner was not at all surprised when some of our neighbors got a little peeved at us for publishing T. L. McKee's letter about the absentees last week. It was no more than we expected for some of those whose names were called to get a little "het up" with us for publishing the letter, and especially so when our esteemed neighbor and contemporary, The Chilton County News, refused to embarrass its friends by carrying it in its columns.

This paper may or may not agree with any or all the things in it, but we could not then and cannot now see any reason why we should have refused publishing Mr. McKee's letter. Some have branded certain of the accusations as erroneous; others have consoled themselves in saying that both sides in that run-off scramble were not without corruption. One thing we do know about it, and that is there cannot be 741 legal absentee votes in Chilton County. That is a fact we defy anyone to dispute; and if there were illegal votes in the box, somebody had to put them in there. Another thing, we know the box was kidnapped; and still another thing, nobody has been arrested for the kidnapping or for the forging of names to the affidavits on the ballots in the box.

Somebody must know something about the crookedness practiced in that Democratic run-off; we'd as soon think Tom McKee has the straight goods on it as anybody.

True, this was a Democratic racket, but if somebody does not take the initiative in curbing this forging, stealing and buying of ballots, it is going to soon be a sad day for the government of Chilton County. If the men who are running our government and our political parties are corrupt, pray how can we expect to keep our populace and general morale among our voters free from corruption and prevent our civilization from rotting in the center and finally being completely consumed?

We are dependent on our leaders to save our county's government, our integrity and honor. Corrupt leaders will not and canot save us. Men who will contaminate the electorate by buying and stealing votes, or who will wink at and sanction such practices by their low-grade cohorts and degenerate lieutenants are not fit to be at the head of a party of swine. The people who stand for decency and who oppose corrupt politics, buying, selling and stealing votes, have held their peace and remained silent in Chilton County too long already. It may be a difficult job now to free ourselves from the grip of these pernicious octopuses, but certainly it will never get any easier.

The Union-Banner has confidence in the citizenship of Chilton County. We believe by far a majority of our people resent what has happened in a political way recently in Chilton County, and that they are ready to turn a new leaf and mete out to the guilty parties their just dues. It was with this view in mind that The Union-Banner concluded to hew to the line and let the chips fall wherever they might. We get no pleasure out of publishing names and relating this and that ugly act committed by the people with whom we associate daily. We had much rather print everything good about them; but we must meet the issues as they are. The searchlight of publicity will help to drive out the vermin, and it is with the view only of lifting our civilization to a higher level that we will join in the fight against those guilty of these malpractices in our elections. You will always find us on this side, and the policies of this paper are not to be swayed by this influence or that.

After this month dogs in Vienna will not have to carry muzzles any more. But how about the newspapers?

Land for cotton production in India, Egypt, and China is prepared by plowing with primitive implements. The crop is planted by hand and the general practice is to cultivate the crop entirely by the use of the hand hoe. Certain uses of power machinery in Russia have developed in the last few years, but the cotton production there still requires more human labor than it does in the United States, according to P. K. Norris, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington, D. C., who will speak at the Farmers and Homemakers Week at Auburn August 5.

Southern villagers spend more for clothing than Northern villagers. This fact was revealed in a recentt survey made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A survey of families living in 33 villages in Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, and South Carolina, showed that 2,083 husbands spent an average of $56 each a year for clothing, while their wives spent an average of $57. A similar survey made in Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin, showed that 2,877 husbands spent an average of $38 a year for clothes, while their wives spent $42 a year.

There are two and a half million farmers growing cotton this year. It is expected they will produce at least 10 million bales, or an average of four bales to each farm.

Remember the good old days when they used to build railroad tracks instead of tearing them up?

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On July 24th we all met at the home of Mr. J. D. Mullins, honoring him with a surprise birthday dinner on his 47th birthday. At 12 o'clock a wonderful dinner was served.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mullins and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Glenn and children, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lee Deavers and children, Mr. and Mrs. Cary Mullins and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Mims and children, Mrs. Lena Cleckler and children, and Mrs. Oscar Cleckler.

Many presents were received, and the day was one of much joy. All left late in the afternoon, wishing him many more happy birthdays. — Mrs. Oscar Lee Deavers.

Mrs. F. M. Cook and daughter, Eleanor Claire, of Florence, Ala., are spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Mims, and other relatives, of Clanton and Birmingham. Mr. Cook is teaching in the college at Florence.

Evils Of Drink

If there is one part of hell hotter than another, it seems to us it must be reserved for those who are not satisfied to make their living from the weakness of the old, but in their thirst for profits are willing to debauch youth.

In a certain city six youths (minors) were arrested for a series of burglaries and hold-ups, and three of them for the crime of rape. Upon examination they told of a saloon or tavern in which they met and bought their liquid courage. In the same city, a saloon entertained a party of high school girls and boys; when the whole party ended in a drunken fight, one youngster was a murderer and another his victim.

Where are the people who assured us that moral conditions would be much improved with the repeal of prohibition? The liquor business is always lawless. It it cannot be suppressed under prohibition, it cannot be controlled under license.

Some of the liquor crowd talk moderation and "temperance", but they do everything they can to break it down. Their profits depend on the amount of liquor sold, therefore there are two evil things they must do — they must get a new crop of drunks out of the young people, and they must serve in such a way as to produce an increasing appetite for liquor. The baker wants to sell more bread. The coal man wants to sell more coal, and don't let anyone tell you otherwise, the liquor dealer wants to sell more liquor, even if he must destroy your son to do it.

Some horrible deaths have occurred in the home community of the writer, and no one will dispute that liquor was to blame.

My door neighbor's son suffered a broken neck in the midst of a horrible auto wreck, right here almost in our yard.

Another young man lay dying right here in this community all night following a dual with his neighbor. His body was in a horrible condition when found. Think of it! Two fine, stalwart young men in the very prime of life having to leave this world, one with a broken neck, and the other with a body riddled with shot.

The writer was called upon to officiate at these funerals. Why should we not raise our voices against this awful evil? God help us to stand, even though some are pleased to criticize.— M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton.

HOMECOMING DAY AT INDIAN GRAVE CHURCH

10:00 — Welcome address, Rev. J. D. Hopper.
10:15 — Response, Judge J. F. Posey.
10:30 — By Y. P. U., Its Purpose and Benefits, George Dickerson.
10:45 — Homecoming and What It Means, Rev. W. A. Goss.
11:00 — Sunday school talk, H. A. Harris.
11:15 — Sermon.
12:00 — Lunch.
1:30 — Singing all the afternoon. — L. F. Askins.

TENT REVIVAL

A tent revival will begin Thursday night, July 28, at 7:45 o'clock near Mineral Springs cross roads at the Frank Paschal place. Everybody invited. — Aaron Parker.

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and daughter, Miss Theda, were in Clanton Tuesday of this week.

SINGING AT CHESTNUT CREEK

The singing at Chestnut Creek last Sunday began at 10:30. Opening song by A. O. Boswell. Prayer by H. J. Taylor. A. O. Boswell was elected chairman for the day.

Directors for the morning session were: Jack Jones, Edward Jones, Mr. Garrett, Audie Brown, Arthur Beard, Bricken Ridge, Lee Grant, Archie Devaughn, Mr. Kendrick, Lawrence Lee, Dewey Hughes, Mr. Briggins. The Stamps Southernaires rendered several numbers during the morning program, which were much enjoyed. Also the Alabama Four and Shaw Sisters sang two songs each.

A good dinner was served to the public about 12:30.

Afternoon session began at 1:30. A song by the chairman, then prayer by D. S. Robinson. Directors: Jesse C. Jones, O. L. Devaughn, P. B. Shaw, Billie Briggins, I. D. Huett, Tom Ezekiel, W. J. Jones, Herman Dubose, Ruth Shaw, J. C. Walker, Arthur Beard, Tom Steel. A bass solo was rendered by Mr. Culberson, which was very much enjoyed. The Burkhalter Quartet, the Alabama Four, the Cooper Quartet, and the Shaw Sisters all rendered several numbers each.

We were fortunate to have the Southernaires put on a concert at Cooper school Saturday night, everyone reporting a fine program. This group was the outstanding quartet for the day following, also.

We had a large crowd present Sunday, even though it rained most of the day. The singing was a grand success.

Pianists for the day were: Lee Grant, Vera Mae Nelson, Mrs. Stamps, Tommie Bristow, Brecken Ridge, and Edward Jones.

Closing song by Rev. J. D. Hughes. — Mrs. Dewey Hughes, Secretary.

F. F. A. MEMBERS VISIT AUBURN

On July 14 a delegation of F. F. A. members representing Shelby, Chilton and Autauga Counties (called Shel-Chil-Tauga) went to Auburn. We left Jemison at 6 o'clock Thursday morning in a school bus. There were six chapters represented, each by six members and an instructor, 36 members and six instructors in all. The six chapters were: Jemison, Columbiana, Isabella, Marbury, Clanton, and Billingsley. On the way back we visited the capitol at Montgomery. Although a bit crowded, everyone enjoyed the trip. — Wyndol Murrah, reporter.

ROCKY MOUNT

Next Sunday, July 31, is homecoming day at this place. Bring your lunch and spend the day with us.

We are asked to announce that Rev. Mansco will have up a tent and run a revival here the following week. He is a Nazarene evangelist and will be able to interest you. Attend if you can do so.

Be sure and come Friday, July 29, with tools to clean off the cemetery. — W. J. Northcutt.

DENIES VOTING ABSENTEE

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please say in your paper that I did not vote an absentee ballot, never have or authorized anyone else to. Also, if I had wanted to vote in the last primary I would have gone to the voting place, and I do not care for anyone knowing how I vote. I want the public to know that I did not sell my vote, and whoever stole my vote, I rather they had stolen corn out of the barn or meat from the smoke house. — Mrs. A. P. (Claudia) Robinson.

Four white men were up before Mayor Jones this week, all four for public drunkenness. One was sentenced to ten days on the street, and the other three were continued to July 30th.

PROTECTION OF RURAL WATER SUPPLIES URGED

With five new cases of typhoid fever reported during the months of June and July, bringing the total incidence in the county for the year 1938 up to seven cases, officials of the local health department this week stressed again the need for more protected wells and sanitary pit privies in rural homes throughout the county. Particular emphasis was laid at this time on the need for a better understanding of "what is meant by a protected water supply" by the public at large. Widespread misconception of "when a bacteriological examination o fwater is necessary and of value in determining sanitary quality was pointed out by the local health department.

"Time after time", remarked Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer, "we receive requests for examination of samples of water from unprotected wells. In many cases the specimen is brought to the health office in a fruit jar, which being unsterile renders the sample unfit for examination. The person submitting the sample is usually dissatisfied with his water but rarely understands the type of service which the health department can render him in this matter. The health department laboratory will examine the water to attempt to find how many germs can be grown or cultured from the sample submitted. No attempt is made to identify the type of germ present, except that fermentation tests are made to determine if any of a group of germs known as the colon-aerogenes organisms are present. These inhabit the intestinal tract of men and animals, and their presence is taken to nidicate that fecal pollution of the water is taking place. It is practically impossible to isolate typhoid germs from water.

"This is exactly what one would one would expect", he continued, "that is, the presence of germs in any open shallow well. So therefore the bacteriological examination of such water is usually a wasted effort and reveals no information of value. If the owner of the well plans to protect his well with a pump, a concrete cover, and a water tight casing, a bacteriological examination preliminary to the installation of the pump might be of value. An examination also may be indicated to check on the effectiveness of the protective measures employed.

Any further information desired on this subject may be obtained at the local health department office.

CHILTON COUNTY CALF CLUB

The Chilton County Calf Club held a joint meeting with the Shelby County Calf Club on Saturday, July 23, on Baker's and Alabama College's dairy farms; 16 boys and girls and two fathers made this meeting with the county agent and assistant county agent from Chilton County.

The group arrived at Mr. Baker's farm at 10 o'clock. After Mr. Baker was introduced to the group, he carried the entire party through his large dairy barn, which has a capacity of 120 cows. He then told how he started in the dairy business, the difficulty he had in building a pasture, the kind of grass he thought was best, and the kind of forage crops he was growing, the latter being alfalfa. The group then observed how he prepared the cows before milking, and demonstrated the operation of the electric milker. A cow was selected which was giving 70 pounds per day, and Mr. Baker then explained what he liked to see in a dairy cow. Afterward, Mr. Fant and Mr. Lauderdale went over the animal, explaining to the boys what they should look for when judging. The group was then carried through the barn, where the calves from a day old to a year old, were raised, and here Mr. Baker explained how he fed and managed the three groups according to age.

At this time the group was getting hungry, so we adjourned to the college dairy at Montevallo, where we ate our lunches together. Mr. Baker, before we left his dairy, gave us plenty of milk to drink with our lunch, which we appreciated very much.

After lunch Mr. Bailey hurriedly showed the group through the dairy and explained how it operated. He then selected four of his Jersey cows, which he tied and numbered. Each of the boys and girls was given a piece of paper and placed the animals 1, 2, 3, and 4, according to which they thought was the best and next best animal. After they all had placed the animals and turned in their slips, one at a time was called on to give his or her reasons why they placed the animals in that order. After all of them completed this, Mr. Bailey told them how he placed the animals, and why.

If it had not been raining throughout the day the group would have been able to see more on the outside of the dairies. However, this meeting was held for the members of the Calf Club and given this lesson judging in preparation for the county and state fairs this fall.

CANE CREEK

Our revival will begin the fifth Sunday in July. We invite all the other churches to come and worship with us. Rev. Ben Dykes will be here Sunday night to begin the meeting. He needs no introduction; he was pastor at New Salem for several years; we are glad our pastor secured him before he passed to the great beyond.

Sunday afternoon we will have a singing in the new books, and invite all singers and quartets to come and and help us. We believe this will be a good way to start our meeting, with a good singing.

We invite all our old members to come and let this be a homecoming meeting for us. Come to Sunday school at 10 o'clock, perhaps preaching at 11 by someone, singing in the afternoon, and preaching at 7:30 or 8 in the evening. You are welcome at Cane Creek.

The W. M. U. will meet Friday afternoon.

WIFE OF ROBERT HAND DIED

Mrs. Mary E. Hand, age 69, wife of Mr. Robert C. Hand, of Friendship community, died at the home at 5:30 last Sunday afternoon. Death came suddenly of heart trouble, from which ailment she had suffered for several years. Burial was at Samaria Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, services conducted by Rev. Wm. E. Robinson. Martin directed. Pallbearers were: Gaither Bryant, Wilbert Hand, Elzie, Barnie, Audie, and Edgar Brown.

Surviving are the husband, two sons — Charlie and Henry; four daughters — Mrs. H. D. Durbin, Mrs. Tom C. Foshee, Mrs. Ben Foshee, and Mrs. Clarence Arant.

CHILTON COUNTY COUNCIL OF HOME DEMOSTRATION CLUBS

The Board of Directors of the Chilton County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs met at the office of the home agent on Saturday, July 23.

At this time Mrs. H. K. Christiansen was elected to serve as voting delegate to attend the annual Farmers and Homemakers Week to be held in Auburn August 1-5.

Since so many women have been busy with their food preservation program, the council thought it wise to extend the time limit on the kitchen contest until August 30.

Officers of the County Council elected to serve 1938-1939 are as follows: President, Mrs. H. K. Christiansen; 1st Vice President, Mrs. J. D. Williams; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. J. H. Goddard; Secretary, Miss Lena Downs; Treasurer, Mrs. W. B. Strock; Citizenship Chairman, Mrs. Stanley Kennedy; Scholarship Chairman, Mrs. H. F. Virgin; Recreation Chairman, Miss Serena Mitchell.

MRS. W. J. GENTRY CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY LAST MONDAY

On July 18th the children of Mrs. W. J. Gentry gathered at her home to join with her in celebrating her birthday. All the children were present except one, Mrs. C. F. Lillie, who is in Pennsylvania.

There was a bountiful dinner spread at 12 o'clock, and enjoyed by everyone.

The afternoon was enjoyed by the gathering, talking, cutting watermelons, and other amusements. About 4 o'clock they began leaving for their homes, all wishing her many more happy birthdays. There were about 25 present. — Mrs. L. E. Gentry.

SINGING AT MT. ZION

There will be an all day singing at Mt. Zion church the first Sunday in August (the 7th). All are invited to come, bring a well filled basket and new song books, and enjoy the day.

Our revival will start Sunday night, August 7. Our pastor, Rev. J. P. Littleton, and Rev. Wiley Davis will do the preaching. All are invited to be with us for the singing and during the next week for the revival.

MATTRESS CAMPAIGN

To encourage farm people to become "mattress conscious" a statewide mattress campaign will begin August 1 and continue through the remainder of the year. In preparation for this campaign, training schools for home demonstration agents have been held throughout the state. More than 50 mattresses have been made at these schools. Home demonstration agents are now organizing their counties in an effort to push to completion a program which will bring the construction of 10,000 mattresses by January 1.

A comfortable mattress can be made of home grown cotton with a cash outlay of about $2.00.

Nearly everyone realizes the importance of adequate and proper sleeep, but few people ever stop to think that the one-third of their lives spent in bed determines largely how much they will get out of the other two-thirds.

Farm families should check on the condition of their beds, decide on the number of mattresses needed, and get in touch with their home demonstration agent for details concerning the county mattress campaign.

J. H. HEADLEY DIED AT PRATTVILLE HOSPITAL

J. H. Headley, age 60 years, died at Prattville Hospital on last Thursday, July 21st, following a pistol shot wound sustained on July 9th. His home was at White City. The remains were brought to Clanton by Martin and prepared, and burial was Friday at Mt. Pisgah. Surviving are several sons and daughters.

FIVE MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

The Origin Of Evil

1. Who was the author of evil and sin?

"O Lucifer, son of the morning! How art thou cut down to the ground . . . . Thou hast said in thine heart . . . . I will exalt my throne above the stars of God . . . . I will be like the Most High". — Isa. 14:12-14.

2. What experience came to Lucifer as a result of sin?

"Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day thou wast created, until iniquity was found in thee . . . . Thou hast sinned; therefore, I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God". — Ezek. 28:15,16.

3. Who joined Satan in his rebellion?

"There was war in heaven; Michael (Christ) and His angels gought against the dragon (Satan); and the dragon fought and his angels". — Rev. 12:7.

4. Where was Satan cast and confined?

"The great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world; he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him". — Rev. 12:9.

5. How did Satan extend his rebellion and disobedience to the earth?

"The serpent said unto the woman, ye shall not surely die; for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as Gods, knowing good and evil". — Gen. 3:4,5.

6. How far reaching and effective has been the work of Satan?

"The whole world lieth in wickedness". — I John 5:19.

7. What is Satan's special object of attack?

"The dragon was wroth with the woman (the church) and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ". — Rev. 12:17.

8. What is the transgression of the commandments of God defined by the Bible to be?

"Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law; for sin is the transgression of the law". — I John 3:4.

9. What is God's purpose to accomplish through His son Jesus?

"For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil". — I John 3:8.

10. What admonition and warning comes to every soul?

"Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil". — Eph. 6:11. "Submit yourselves therefroe to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you". Jas. 4:7.

11. What will determine man's reward?

"Behold I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man as his works shall be". — Rev. 22:12.

12. What will be the final end of Satan and sinners?

"The devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone. Death and hell was cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. And whosoever was not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire". — Rev. 20:10,-14,15.

13. What will a righteous choice accomplish?

"They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righeousness as the stars forever and ever". — Dan. 12:3. — (Arranged by Rev. W. H. Westermeyer, pastor of the Montgomery Seventh-Day Adventist Church; address: 629 So. McDonough St., Montgomery, Ala.)

LITTLE NORVELL SIMPSON CELEBRATES SECOND BIRTHDAY

On Tuesday, July 19, Mrs. Charles Simpson entertained at a delightful birthday party honoring little Norvell Simpson. Those enjoying this affair were: John Ed Scott, Caroline and Donnie Klinner, Christine and Phil Sims, John and Alice Deramus, John Carl Golson, Carol Cox, Sarah Madge Mullins, Fred Thompson, Robert and Ann Spicer, Mary Elizabeth Mullins, Ann Callen, Horace and Comer Nelson, Jr.. Games and contests were enjoyed, and favors given each guest. A beautiful birthday cake was served with ice cream.

Assisting Mrs. Simpson were Mrs. Leo Thompson and Miss Edith Green.

DID NOT VOTE ABSENTEE

Editor Union-Banner:

Like a lot of others, I noticed my name in your paper as being on the list of applications for absentee ballots in the June 14th Democratic runoff. I wish to say that I knew nothing of this thing until I saw the paper; somebody deliberately forged my name to the application (and to the affidavit on the ballot, if the ballot was voted). I have made attempt to find out who signed my name, but on account of the fact that no records are kept at the probate office as to who turns in these applications, I could not find out anything.

But I want my friends to know that I had nothing to do with this affair, and will not the next time. — M. L. Driver, Thorsby Route 1.

MISS EDITH GREEN HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Charles Simpson entertained at her home on Thursday, July 21, with a miscellaneous shower, honoring Miss Edith Green, bride-elect.

The home was beautifully decorated throughout with roses and dahlias, a color scheme of green and white being carried out.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Reese G. Mullins, and in the receiving line were Miss Green, Mrs. Simpson, Miss Ruth Green of Wetumpka, and Miss Jean Richardson of Elba. Mrs. Alma Martin presided over the bride's book.

In the dining room the guests were served an ice course by Misses Ruth Sessions, Nolen Meroney, Virginia Cook, and Mrs. Powell. The table was covered with a hand made crocheted cloth, centered with a large bouquet of white gladioli and crepe myrtle. Crystal candelabra held green candles, and a miniature bride and groom adorned the table.

Mrs. F. H. Spicer and Mrs. Leo Thompson received in the gift rooms, where many beautiful gifts were displayed.

HIGHWAY REVENUES FOR THE ROADS ONLY

The Sixth District Petroleum Industries Committee, a division of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, was formally organized at the meeting held in Tuscaloosa Wednesday, July 20, at which time the following officers were named: J. S. Robertson, Chairman, Tuscaloosa; Clarence Martin, Secretary, West Blocton; J. P. Lawrence, Vice Chairman, Clanton; and Earl Long, Vice Chairman, York.

The general district membership is composed of the officers of the various county committees located in the Sixth District.

At the meeting the general program of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee was discussed, but the greater portion of the meeting was consumed in outlining the method which is to be followed by the various Petroleum Industries Committees in cooperating with the Alabama Motorists Association in carrying on an educational campaign for the purpose of acquainting the public with the provisions of the Constitutional Amendment to be voted on November 8 at the general election, requiring the expenditure of all state gasoline and other special motor vehicle tax revenues exclusively for the construction and maintenance of roads, streets, and bridges, and the retirement of road, street and bridge bonds.

Earl M. Hearne, State Secretary, outlined the procedure recommended by the state committee and the Sixth District committee endarsed the proposed amendment and pledged its support to the Alabama Motorists Association.

R. J. Sumner and J. P. Lawrence were present from this county.

Chestnut Grove

We are looking for a great revival to begin at Chestnut Grove church the second Sunday in August. Rev. Horace Nabors will do the preaching.

Mr. A. M. Jones and family of Jemison, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nabors of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nabors of Bayview, and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Nabors spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nabors.

Miss Betty Denson spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Denson.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Nabors are visiting relatives in Birmingham this week. — Mrs. G. G. Nabors.

VOTE RECOUNT IN CLARKE IS SLATED

Jackson, Ala., July 25. — A recanvass of votes in the May 3 primary today had been announced by Dr. W. W. McCorquodale, chairman of the Clarke County Democratic Executive Committee, after 24 county committeemen submitted a petition urging certification of the "rightful nominee" to place No. 2 in the state House of Representatives.

The petition said, "We are not in accord with the result obtained in a canvass by a sub-committee (of the county committee) held on Thursday after the primary of May 3, and declaring Earle Tucker, Thomasville publisher, as the nominee by 12 votes."

Tucker's contestant, A. P. Williams, Thomasville sawmill operator and the present representative, was refused a rehearing by the sub-committee of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Following dismissal of the contest, Circuit Judge Joe Pelham, of the First Judicial Circuit, ordered the ballot boxes held for Grand Jury investigation, and called the body into special session on June 23 to investigate alleged election frauds.

The inquisitorial body reported June 30 they found several discrepancies, declaring Williams received a majority of 63 votes over Tucker. The Grand Jury recount was not considered official by Tucker's friends.

JURY TO PROBE CALHOUN VOTE

Anniston, July 25. — Irregularities in the June 14 primary, uncovered by a sub-committee of the State Democratic Executive Committee in a contest that saw H. H. Booth replace F. Glenn Propst as Calhoun's nominee for the state senate, will be investigated by the Calhoun County Grand Jury to be organized September 6.

Circuit Judge R. B. Carr announced if the date for the next Grand Jury had not already been fixed for little more than 30 days hence he would call a special session of the Grand Jury to probe election inconsistencies.

The June 14 primary absentee box result, as certified by poll officials, showed Booth with 87 votes and Propst 167, providing the latter with a majority of 39 votes in the county. The state committee, after a contest hearing, opened the box and counted the votes, giving Booth 126 and Propst 124, and declared Booth the nominee of the party.

Meanwhile, Sheriff P. W. Cotton announced his force was investigating the election irregularities, as well as the attempted safe breaking in the office of C. H. Young, chairman of the county executive committee, where the contested box was kept. Burglars drilled through the door, but were surprised by a watchman before opening it last Saturday night.

"I intend to charge the Grand Jury with making the most thorough investigation possible, not only in the absentee box, but in all others in the county if there is any indication that there has been anything wrong", Judge Carr said.

PLEASANT GROVE NO. 2

There was no Sunday school at this place Sunday on account of the rain.

Let's not forget the revival here beginning the second Sunday in August. Everyone is urged to attend.

Mr. Ernest C. Hamrick of Maplesville was buried here Monday, July 18, as this was his old home church. Rev. G. G. Williams of Clanton officiated. His many friends in this community extend to his mother, wife and children their deepest heartfelt sympathy.

Misses Grace and Hilda McAfee have returned from a pleasant trip with relatives at Sprott.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oden from Isabella spent the past week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Oden.

Mr. Lewis Mitchell and Miss Sara McAfee were married recently.

Mrs. Milford Thompson and family from Altoona are aisiting relatives here.

Miss Edna Earle Snead has gone to her home in Centreville, after a pleasant visit with Misses Grey and Blanche Hicks.

Mr. Gordon Adams of Selma visited his sister, Mrs. Emmett Lawrence, last week.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Circle No. 2 of the Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. L. H. Reynolds Monday afternoon, July 25. Mrs. M. A. Gore had charge of the meeting.

Mrs. M. A. Gore gave a reading on "Bringing Korea To Christ", and Mrs. M. L. White on "Rural Life Of Korea." Mrs. John Newell read "School In Korea". All were very educational.

After the business session, the hostess, Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, served refreshments to the following members present: Mesdames Robert Jones, M. L. White, M. A. Gore, G. T. Evans, S. A. Prince, John Armstrong, John Newell, C. A. Sherrod, and visitor, Mrs. J. P. Roper.

SUNSHINE

The revival is in progress now at this place. Services are held each evening at 7:30 under a large gospel tent, Rev. E. J. Orange doing the preaching. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

The regular Fifth Sunday Fellowship Meeting of the Assemblies of God will be held here next Sunday. Services will begin at 9:30 and continue throughout the day. Prominent singers and speakers from different parts of the state will be present. Dinner will be spread at the noon hour. Everybody welcome to come and bring a well filled basket.

NEGRO BASKET-MAKER DIED

John Jones, the negro basket-maker of West End, died at his home on Monday of last week, July 18th, following a long illness. His wife, Dedie Jones, and family wish to extend thanks to white and colored friends for all help extended during the illness and death.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

PROPER CARE OF THE LAWN IS IMPORTANT

Auburn, July 25. — Although the home owner can do nothing but "fuss" about the hot weather that damages lawns at this season each year, there are several practices which, if carried out, can help grass to withstand adverse weather conditions.

In pointing out that fertilizing, mowing, watering, and wetting the lawn will help maintain a carpet of green over the lawn area, Homer S. Fisher, extension landscape specialist, advises that these practices must be carried out with consideration of their effect on the grass.

Grass should be cut regularly and not too low. It should not be allowed to grow higher than about three inches at any time. The clippings should be left on the lawn if the grass is cut regularly, as the clipped grass will settle down on the lawn and help hold moisture to the roots, says Mr. Fisher.

Watering, though not essential, will aid materially in keeping the lawn in good condition during dry months. However, if improperly done, watering will prove harmful. When watered, the lawn should be soaked. A sprinkler of some type is preferable for watering.

Proper fertilizing, mowing, and watering wlil materially aid in developing a good sod which will tend to smother out weeds and undesirable grasses, thereby eliminating much of the weeding, he states.

UNUSUAL INTEREST IN TON-LITTER CONTESTS

Auburn, July 25. — Unusual interest is being shown in the "ton litter" contest which has 613 hogs in 65 litters in 15 counties being fed out this year, states F. W. Burns, extension animal husbandman. Owners of the 65 litters will exhibit their hogs at the Union Stockyards, Montgomery, September 15 and 16. The ton litter test is designed to show that surplus corn can be marketed successfully by feeding it to hogs.

30,000 ALABAMA FAMILIES KEEP CANNING BUDGET

Auburn, July 25. — Canning budgets are receiving a final checking in the homes of approximately 30,000 Alabama home demonstration clu women to be certain that everything needed is included in the canning program, says Lavada Curtis, specialist in food preservation.

"When ou sit down to plan a canning budget for the family you should take into consideration the likes and dislikes of your family, and the correct proportions of foods needed to be canned in order to have a well balanced diet during the winter", Miss Curtis advises club women.

Carrots are very valuable in their vitamin A content, and are as valuable canned as fresh, says Miss Curtis. Families susceptible to colds and similar infections should provide an extra amount of this food for the winter months. Green beans, okra, asparagus, and green peas are next in order as to vitamin content. Beets have some vitamin G and are rich in calcium, phosphorus, and iron. If pickled, however, the mineral content is largely dissolved in the vinegar and food value is lost.

Lima beans, both dried and fresh, are valuable for their vitamin B and vitamin G content, although 25 to 30 per cent of their vitamin content is lost in cooking.

A copy of the Alabama Canning Budget booklet can be obtained from the county home demonstration agent or by writing the Alabama Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

It seems to be coming to the point where if you are a real New Deal senator, you have to be a court packer.

A study of the records of the demonstrators at the Montgomery show last year show that the average age of all hogs was 186 days, average weight 223 pounds, average feed cost was $6.60 per hundred, and they sold for $11.55, a margin of 95 cents per hundred above feed costs.

MORE FALL GARDENS NEEDED IN ALABAMA

Auburn, July 25. — Alabama farmers produce less than half the vegetables needed for home consumption, according to W. A. Ruffin, horticultural specialist of the Alabama Extension Service, who urges that more and larger vegetable gardens be planted during late summer and early fall.

Mr. Ruffin says the under-production of vegetables is due largely to the fact that few succeed with late summer and fall plantings. Some years hot weather and insufficient soil moisture may cause the best gardeners to fail, but those who prepare the soil well by turning under compost and leaving the soil fallow for two to four weeks before planting have little trouble producing good gardens in the fall, he states.

ALABAMA NEEDS MORE AND BETTER PASTURES

Auburn, July 25. — The average Alabama county with 4,000 families and approximately $60,000 available as a soil building allowance can not use the funds more wisely than to devote a liberal amount in establishing and improving Alabama pastures in order to properly supplement crops with livestock, believes P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

"The most reliable figures available indicate that Alabama has 8,356,000 acres of crop land and 1,363,000 acres of open pasture land, or one acre of open pasture land to six acres of crop land", he states. "The United States average is one acre of pasture lands to four of crop lands".

One acre of good pasture in Alabama will support one head of cattle or other like animal units per acre while indications are that pastures in their present condittion will only support one animal unit to every three acres of pasture, the director said, adding that this is due to poor seeding, lack of phosphate and lime, failure to conttrol weeds, bushes and other pasture pests, and general lack of attention to pasture care and improvement.

Alabama farmers are paying more attention to livestock on the farm than ever before but pastures are thte first requirement for any profitable livestock business, whether for home or commercial production needs, states Mr. Davis.

He advises farmers to contact their county agents regarding the important provisions of the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program which makes it possible to do profitable and effective work toward solving the problem of balancing crop land with pastures and crops with livestock.

STATE HEALTH REPORT

Montgomery, July 25. — Chilton County's population has been estimated at 26,031 as of July 1 by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. Its population was estimated as of July 1 of last year at 25,855.

The population of the state as a whole as of July 1 was estimated at 2,910,562, as compared with an estimate of 2,878,522 as of July 1, 1937. The state's estimated population as of July 1, 1938, was divided into three general groups, 891,288 urban, 2,010,106 rural, and 9,161 in institutional districts. There are 14 cities listed as having populations of more than 10,000 each, these being Anniston, Bessemer, Birmingham, Decatur, Dothan, Fairfield, Florence, Gadsden, Huntsville, Mobile, Montgomery, Phoenix City, Selma, and Tuscaloosa.

Lesson for July 17

DEBORAH: EMERGENCY LEADERSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Judges 4:1-9, 12-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?—Esther 4:14.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Deborah Sang.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Why Deborah Sang.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Ready for Emergencies.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Emergency Leadership.

"Every man did that which was right in his own eyes." Such is the divine summary of what was wrong in Israel during the period of the judges (Judges 21:25). "There was no king in Israel," no competent and inspiring leadership. The people lived according to the whims of the day, and, as always, humanity left to itself drifted to lower and lower levels. This was true morally and spiritually and ultimately politically, for they came repeatedly into bondage to other nations and were only delivered as God raised up judges to lead them to repentance and victory, as well as to rule over them.

I. A People in Disorder (vv. 1-3).

Any people that forgets God and begins to live after the dictates of the flesh will at length come to the place where some strong man with "chariots of iron" will rule over them. We, in America, look at the other nations of the world, viewing their plight with sympathy but ever assuring ourselves that "it can't happen here." We ought to arouse ourselves and face the facts lest our own land, happy in its possession of God's great blessings of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," abuse those privileges, neglect the worship of God, spurn the leadership He gives us, and become "lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof" (II Tim. 3:4, 5). If we do not awake and repent the Lord may have to "sell" us, as He did Israel, into the hands of the oppressor.

II. A Leader Called of God (vv. 4-9).

God always has His man ready for the hour of need—only in this case His man was a woman. Glorious indeed is the record of faithful and capable womanhood in annals of God's work on earth. Deborah was a woman of unique gifts—a poetess, a prophetess, and withal "the wife of Lapidoth," evidently a woman who cared well for her own household.

Brains and natural ability are much needed, especially in a time such as ours when few there are who even care to think for themselves and few who have any desire to develop native ability except for the purpose of "making money." But true leadership calls for more than talent and intelligence; it calls for a burning in the soul, a divine zeal, the urge of God in the heart.

Deborah had this fiery touch upon her life. Barak, while undoubtedly a man of ability, evidently did not have it. Many excuses have been offered for the weakness indicated in verse eight. It has been said that he was cautious, or that he wanted to give the place of honor to Deborah as the leader of her people. These suggestions may be true, but somehow one has the feeling that what he really lacked was the "flaming heart." May God give it to us, that in our much doing of His work the divine fire may warm and inspire us!

III. A Divine Victory (vv. 12-14).

God gave Deborah and Barak a great victory, but note that it was God and not man who brought about the defeat of Jabin (Judges 4:15, 23). It was a complete victory and the enemies of Israel troubled them no more for many a day.

Dr. Wilbur M. Smith aptly points out that we should look "upon these conflicts in the book of Judges as certainly symbols of the great conflict that every Christian knows as he wrestles, not with flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers, against the world-rulers of darkness and spiritual wickedness in heavenly places. Victory is certain only when the Lord is with us and only when we walk in His will and contend against evil in His power. We are more than conquerors, but only through the Lord Jesus Christ" (Peloubet's Select Notes).

In closing this lesson the writer of these notes wishes to recognize the blessing of God in enabling him to complete two years of this service to Him and to His people. He also wishes to thank those readers in every state of the Union and in a number of foreign countries who have written to him words of appreciation, encouragement and counsel.

Value of Meditation

It is not he that reads most, but he that meditates most on Divine truth, that will prove the choicest, wisest, strongest Christian.—Bishop Hall.

Attaining Perfection

The warm loves and fears, that swept over us as clouds, must lose their finite character and blend with God, to attain their own perfection.—Emerson.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On Sunday, July 24, at an early hour people began gathering at the home of G. W. Sansom to celebrate with him his 63rd birthday. J. T. Minor was celebrating his birthday with Mr. Sanson, also.

At the noon hour, due to the rain, a bountiful lunch was spread on tables which were placed in the hall. In the afternoon the crowd gathered in groups to enjoy themselves together.

Those enjoying this occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sansom and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Pool and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trammel and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smith and children, Mrs. Daisy Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dawk and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sansom and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith and children, Mr. Sol Sansom, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Deason and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Minor and children, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Stroud and sons, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sansom and children, Mr. Toy Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Scott and daughter.

Those visiting in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Adams, Mrs. A. W. Hayes and daughter, and James Carl Kendrick. At a late hour the crowd departed, wishing Mr. Sansom and Mr. Minor many more happy birthdays.

No doubt when they have nothing else to agitate about, the Reds will agitate for bigger and better soap boxes.

It is rumored that Mr. Farley has advised the presidentt to denounce anti-New Deal Democratic candidates only in the states where the denouncing is good.

REVIVAL TO CONTINUE AT REFUGE

The revival meeting will continue through another week at this place. The pastor and the evangelist, M. D. Garrett, will be on the spot Sunday night, July 31.

The revival services recently closed were the greatest in the history of the church. By reason of the great interest aroused by the church best explains the reason of the meeting continuing through another week. The people on every side are clamoring for this meeting to continue.

As pastor of the church, I would like to say that I am especially glad to see the old home church on the firing line for God once more.

The baptizing was rained out last Sunday afternoon, therefore, we will arrange a later date for this service. We will also decide Sunday night whether or not there will be one or two services daily. The meeting will continue throughout next week, beginning the fifth Sunday night.

We have been requested by the deacons to announce that the church will elect its pastor for the coming year on next Sunday night. All members are requested to be present.—M. Lockhart, pastor.

SENATOR SAYS F. D. R. TO TRY FOR THIRD TERM

But Vandenberg Claims He Will Be Thwarted By Party

Washington, July 26. — Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.), in a letter disclosed today, predicted that President Roosevelt will attempt to run for a third term but will be unsuccessful.

Vandenberg's letter, written to a friend whose identity was not disclosed, answered an inquiry whether he believed Mr. Roosevelt would seek a third term.

"I expect him to try", Vandenberg drote, "but I do not expect him to succeed.

"He may be stopped in his own Democratic convention where the more literal Jeffersonians will cling to their party founder's horror of any such imperial tenure. Even 'Deal Alben' thinks that third terms are 'fraught with peril to our free institutions', and the faithful Wagner (Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y.), called them 'unpatriotic', and Thomas (Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla), recently blessed in Oklahoma, said they were 'unwise'.

"Pro Tem Pittman agress. So does Swanson (Secretary of the Navy Claud Swanson) in the president's official family. Even friend Hugo Black says the habit of retirement at the end of two terms is 'part of our republican system of government'."

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

Louis to Fight 2-Ton Galento?

NEW YORK.—Of wide public interest is the pressing problem of who's going to enjoin or restrain Joe Louis. It has seemed that all they could do would be to match him against a threesome — possibly Farr, Pastor and Baer. But now there is actually serious consideration of launching him against the huge, bulbous two-ton Tony Galento, the Orange, N. J., pub keeper who trains on beer and hot dogs. Tony has never been knocked down, but neither has a hippopotamus or a steam shovel.

Built like a couple of hogsheads, he is a morass in which assailants get swamped, like Japan in China. He fights with his mouth open, as if he were catching flies, which is disconcerting to his opponent, as is his flailing, free-style, generally scrambled attack. His defense consists mainly in his absorbent qualities. They cut him to ribbons, but never cut him down.

Trains on Applejack And Beer

He has had about 70 fights. Dumping Nathan Mann marked his heaviest scoring in the ring. He has flattened Al Ettore, Leroy Haynes, Charley Massey and quite a few not altogether negligible fighters, but, as yet, no maulers of championship specifications. For some of his fights he trained on applejack, but now says he has found beer is best.

In the little family gin mill and spaghetti palace, down by the railroad tracks, he shadow boxes for the customers and yells for a match with Louis. He says he would like to have it barehanded in the cellar, with $10,000 on the doorstep for the man who comes out. They have a two months' old baby, who, says his father, never will be a fighter or a barkeeper.

"Me—" says Tony—"they had to burn down the school to get me out of the fourth grade. I didn't know my strength and one of my spitballs knocked a teacher unconscious. I'll make this new guy behave and he'll grow up to be a professor or doctor."

Lawyer for 'Babs' Wins Big Cases

Sir Patrick Hastings, counsel for Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow in her elaborate and complicated disagreement with her husband, is one of the most interesting front-page lawyers of London, usually a contender in any exciting international wrangle in which London's West End or New York's Park Avenue might be interested. He represented Mrs. Joan Sutherland in the slander suit which grew out of gossip about the Wallis Warfield Simpson divorce suit. It was he who got thumping big damages for Princess Youssoupoff, in the suit over the Metro-Goldwyn Rasputin picture. He won the fight for the Warner Brothers to keep Bette Davis from appearing without their consent.

In court, he has alluded to an episode when, hungry and footsore, he was turning his back on London, but was somehow flagged back again by an indulgent fate. He was trained as a mining engineer, fought in the Boer war and returned to London to precarious years in which he sparred for an opening. He was a journalist, a "leg man" around the grubbiest of the police courts. In his attic lodgings, he studied law and was admitted to the bar—with nice going thereafter. He now has one of the largest professional incomes in England. He was knighted in 1923 and was attorney general in 1924.

He is widely and intimately known in social and literary circles, but draws no class lines in his professional work. One of his most spectacular cases was his defense of the Welsh miners in 1925. He moves into his middle sixties with no letdown in mind or person.

Cagey Job Handed Sir Robert

Sir Robert M. Hodgson is a shadowy but noteworthy figure in Europe's diplomatic underground, about whom a book may some day be written. He is Britain's go-between in delicate negotiations with Generalissimo Franco of Spain about the bombing of British ships. When he is on a government mission, it is an indication that some subtle business is on.

He had retired in 1936, but Neville Chamberlain called him back as a diplomatic pinch-hitter in this ship-bombing embarrassment. He is the son of an arch-deacon, of somewhat clerical mien, and was in the consular and diplomatic service for many years. From 1924 to 1927, he was British charge d'affairs at Moscow. He is usually working quietly off-stage, never in the spotlight.

NEW TOWN

A new town has come into being in Alabama, but strange to relate, it has no living resident.

The town is called Premix, and is situated a short distance from Tuskegee on the Tuskegee railroad, a short line railroad operating between Chehaw and Tuskegee, a distance of less than a dozen miles.

Premix is the home of the Tuskegee Asphalt Company, where a "premixed" preparation is processed for use in paving streets and highways. Bill Baldwin, well known former newspaper man, is an officer of the company. He says the new company is "doing well, thank you", and currently is running behind on orders, due to the increasing demand for the product.

Baldwin says the town of Premix has no inhabitants, explaining that the plant's employees all live in Tuskegee, but a railway station was erected because of the large shipments of the "town's" only product. — Montgomery Journal.

NEGRO POPULARITY CONTEST

A negro popularity contest was sponsored July 19 at the city school. Three clubs were represented. The Progressive Art Sewing Club was represented by Mary Looney, the Ladies of Venice Club by Alice Dickerson, and the Young Men's Club by Martha Moore.

The club which raised the most money was to have a cash prize and have their entry in the popularity contest crowned Miss Clanton. The contest was won by the Young Men's Club, and their entry was honored with a party Wednesday night at the home of George White.

Martha Moore, winner of the contest, wishes to thank all her friends, including her white friends, for their help.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

Well, friends, I have been voting 48 years, but I have never seen just such juggling and twisting about as there was in the last two elections. I guess by the next election they will know how to stuff the ballot box any way.

Just let them go. It is making our ticket grow fast. I wouldn't try to fool the people that way. I don't think a man can accept such votes and be honest. If I could not get an office by the true and honest vote, I would say let the other fellow have it.

What a shame it is for a man to make like he wants the majority to rule, and then go in office with such a load as he will have to carry some day. But it will be sad for him. — Uncle Remus.

Replacing poor cotton and peanut lands with hogs, cows, and chickens means more money and more work. If a farmer expects more money and less work he should stay out of the livestock business, says J. P. Wilson, superintendent of the Wiregrass Experiment Station at Headland.

Mix 100 pounds of charcoal, 100 pounds acid phosphate, 100 pounds lime, and 100 pounds salt and give this mixture to hogs every two days for best results, livestock specialists advise.

High producing dairy herd in Alabama during June was the pure bred Jersey herd of Louis Usry, Attalla, Ala. The herd, fed a grain mixture of 100 pounds crushed corn, 100 pounds cottton seed meal, and 200 pounds of 17 per cent commercial dairy feed, averaged 771 pounds of milk and 38.1 pounds of butterfat. A good pasture furnished all the roughage used. The herd produced milk during the month at a feed cost of 58 cents per 100 pounds of milk.

How can you expect the country to be bullish when Henry Wallace is trying to curtail the raising of corn, which is the one outstanding feed for bulls?

CHILTON COUNTY FAIR AT AIRPORT SEPT. 20-24

$43,000,000,000 IN THE RED

One year from now, the federal debt will be in excess of $43,000,000,000. If relief expenditures continue, which seems likely, it may go far beyond even that stratospheric figure.

In the light of that fact, is it any wonder that business is worried — that the investor is discouraged — and that unemployment is near the record level? Government, like an individual, can spend beyond its income just so long. Then comes bankruptcy.

If the next congress wants to avert that end, it will give thorough and immediate attention to the tax and debt problem. Until an honest start is made toward a balanced budget and regular debt reduction, we can't have good times in this country.

DR. GRAGG WRITES ON COUNTY FAIR

Local Civic Enthusiast Calling Attention Of Farmers To Big Autumn Event

We want to again remind our farmers, and other friends interested, that the time for the county fair is not far away, and they should be ready and on time with their displays and exhibits.

The fair will begin Tuesday, September 20, and run the remainder of that week.

While we had a wonderful fair last year, "jumped up" on three or four weeks notice, we had the entire year to get ready for this fair, and will have a much bigger and better one.

We did not seek the help of the county commissioners last year, but a committee called on them early this year, and they assured the committee of their cooperation and hearty support, and said they were only too glad to make this a permanent move to help our farmers.

Mr. Tom P. Littlejohn, of Troy, the manager, was here this week and assured us that he had secured a fine collection of free acts for our fair that would be a credit to any state fair.

Our secretary and others are now working on a catalog, which will be out in a few days. It will give a list of prizes, as well as a general program of the fair, and will be a first class advertising booklet of Chilton County. About 1,000 copies of this booklet will be mailed out, at the suggestion of our county agent's office.

Get ready! Get your products here on time! Let's make it a profitable and pleasant week for our farmers, their neighbors and friends, to get together for the best time they have ever had.

See the secretary, Mell Martin for full information. — V. J. Gragg, President, Chilton County Fair Association.

Made Trip To Florida

Leaving Clanton Sunday, July 24th, Mr. D. D. Easterling, Dr. and Mrs. V. J. Gragg, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade, set out for Miami, Fla. The trip down was made through central Florida. After spending a day and night there, they returned via Tamiami Trail and up near the Gulf coast. Dr. Gragg reports for the group that they had a very enjoyable trip.

Twelve Arrests By Sheriff And Force

During the past week there have been twelve arrests by Sheriff Hardy and his force of deputies. They include: Bastardy, one negro; insane, one white; Sunday gaming, one white and three negroes; seduction, one white; assault, one white; public drunkenness, one negro; driving while intoxicated, one negro; reckless driving, one negro; abusive languaage, one negro.

It will be noted from the above that the charges include most everything in the catalog — that is, the crimes generally committed in Chilton County.

CHILTON TEACHERS IN THE AUBURN SUMMER SCHOOL

Auburn, Aug. 1. — Among the 159 teachers of vocational agriculture who are enrolled in the graduate school at the Auburn summer session are three from Chilton County. They are: H. H. Denson, Jemison; G. W. Holmes, Maplesville; and J. H. Jackson, Clanton.

Studying toward the Master's degree, these teachers are taking courses in Problems in Livestock Management, Rural Electrification, Nursery Practices, Land Use Planning, and Curriculum II., Eploration of Basic Data.

ANOTHER HAVANA TOUR ARRANGED FOR AUGUST

For those who were unable to join the Alabama Press Association on its third cruise tour to Havana, Cuba, during July, the Roy Brown Tours of Birmingham have arranged another trip offering the same attractive entertaining features that the press group enjoyed. The tour will leave from Montgomery August 21 via A. C. L. special train to Port Tampa, sailing aboard a palatial steamer of the P. & O. Steamship Company to historic Havana.

The price will be the same — $85.70 from Montgomery and return, with every necessary item of expense included. The request for a repeat trip has been so great that this tour is offered those wishing the same trip enjoyed by the Association two weeks ago.

This newspaper will gladly give you all information of the trip — phone or come by to see us and make your reservations early for the best 1938 vacation buy — "a trip abroad" to gay, foreign and fascinating Havana.

Merchants Award Interest Growing

Interest is growing week by week in the trade days being sponsored by the business establishments in Clanton each Saturday morning. At 10 o'clock each Saturday morning $25 in cash is awarded to holders of trade tickets, and the arrangmeent is bringing more and more people to Clanton every Saturday morning and is having a decidedly boosting effect upon the trade coming in from adjoining territory. Customers are urged to call for their tickets.

The awards next Saturday morning will be held at George McCain's stables, at the usual hour.

Yancey Giles Promoted In Shipping Business

Another local boy has made good. Word has recently been received in Clanton that, effective July 1, 1938, Mr. Yancey L. Giles became General Freight Agent in charge of traffic in the Southeastern territory for Universal Carloading and Distributing Company, Overland Package Freight Service, Inc. Headquarters for the Southeastern territory are in Birmingham.

Yancey is the youngest son of Uncle Pink Giles, being a brother of Cleve Giles, chief detective for the Birmingham Police Department. Yancey has been working for this freight company for the past 15 years or longer, and his many friends in Clanton will be glad to learn of his substantial advancement in the business.

Blues Won Over Aliceville 13 To 2

The Clanton Blues trounced the Aliceville club Thursday night by the score of 13 to 2. The Blues were conceded very little chance with the highly rated Aliceville club, whch has one of the most impressive records in the state this year. A short resume of the action is as follows:

Nairhos opened the second inning for the Blues with a triple, and Curlee flied to center, scoring Nairhos. In the third, inning the Blues put the game on ice. Armstrong singled, Cox walked, and Williamson was safe on an error. With the bases loaded, Nairhos singled, scoring Armstrong and Cox. Curlee tripled and Williamson and Nairhos counted. McKee singled, and Thompson, Aliceville pitcher, was replaced by Daniels. "Sparrow" Easterling, sometimes better known as the "Bull", and run-driver-inner extraordinary, greeted the newcomer with a single, then "Stirrups" (the race horse) Tiffin cleaned the hassocks with a triple. This ended the scoring for the Blues until the 8th inning, when successive hits by Golson, "Red" Amos and "Sugar Boy" Easterling scored two more runs.

Easterling, on the mound for the Blues, allowed but one hit in seven innings; Amos allowed four hits and two runs the last two frames.

The Blues play three more games away from home this season; they are: August 4, Independence; August 7, Opelika Mills; August 10 and 11, Pensacola, Fla. A few more games will be scheduled for playing at home.

SHOULD CHILTON COUNTY HELP PAVE LAY DAM ROAD INTO CITY?

The above question has been a rather live one with the Commissioners Court and some citizens of Clanton, as well as the City Council, for the past several weeks.

Without any degree of criticism to any official, The Union-Banner wishes to commit itself on this matter. We believe the county officials would be amply justified in paying just as much toward paving this road inside the city limits as it does that portion of the road outside Clanton.

We want to make ourselves clear. We have said that we did not criticize the county officials; we have always commended officials for protecting the public treasury. Our commissioners and probate judge ought to use every precaution in spending the people's money wisely and judiciously. But we deem this an improvement much needed and one that will be a loss to the county if our officials refuse to put the county's money into it. Refusing or failing to spend money where needed sometimes results in loss just the same as spending unwisely.

The argument has been made clear that the citizens of Clanton pay into the tax fund which would be used for this road just the same as other citizens of the county do, or even more so according to the amount of property owned. Then why should these taxpayers be denied the returns from their tax money just because they happen to live inside the corporate limits of Clanton?

We think we understand that the Commissioners Court fears criticism from citizens in the outward precincts of the county for spending everybody's money on just one road. But if this line of reasoning were followed, we would never have built a road anywhere in the county or even in the country. Some section of the county must necessarily be favored above others, if we ever build anything anywhere. We believe the citizenship of Chilton County is enlightened enough to understand the soundness of this reasoning and not charge any officials with misplacement of public money when spent for such improvement.

The Union-Banner does not propose to tell the Commissioners Court what they ought to do or not do. They know their business; but we believe they will meet with more criticism from letting this paving project fall through and be lost to the county than they would if they paid the part they are asked to pay and thus procure for the county the amount of government and state money that is attached to it and the consequent general improvement to our road system leading to the courthouse from all directions and from our rural districts. By all means this paved road should come to the courthouse, regardless of whose property it passes, and the county should pay at least a part of the cost inside the city limits.

Some people living on other streets in Clanton have objected to the county helping pave that part of Lay Dam road inside the city, saying that the county should help on all other streets as well. That argument is totally without foundation, because certainly the county could be interested in only one paved road to the courthouse from each general direction. These people on other streets are merely saying in substance, like a little school boy: "If we can't get some of the goodie, we will see that no one else gets any". That is just pure meanness, because everyone knows that the county would never be obligated to help on all the paving of the city streets. But the main, original roads leading to the courthouse are different.

TRUCK CAPSIZED LAST SATURDAY

Negro Boy Killed In Spill, And Several Others Injured; Cause Unknown

Last Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, as Willie B. Williams, of Pleasant Grove community, was returning home from Clanton, something happened to his truck out near Baker schoolhouse, and it began skidding and turning over and over. No one knows just what caused it or what all happened, except that a negro boy, Edsel McKinney, was killed, and Mr. Williams suffered a number of minor injuries. He was brought to Dr. Johnson's office where his wounds were dressed, and he was carried home later in the evening. Some other negroes were slightly hurt; one white boy on the truck was not injured at all. The injured and dead were picket up by Martin's ambulance.

MOVED TO WEDOWEE

Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Mastin have moved from Clanton to Wedowee, Ala., where the former will engage in his general practice. Any of his friends and patients here wishing to contact him will know where to find him. Wedowee is in Randolph County, near the Georgia line.

VISITING FROM INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keeslar and son, Donnie, from Chesterton, Ind., are visiting Mrs. Keeslar's father, Mr. J. C. Pattillo, and Mrs. Pattillo, in Verbena. They will be here for about two weeks.

ATTENDING NATIONAL MERCHANTS MEETING

Mr. J. Dewey Rockett, of Rockett Dry Goods Company and Clanton Building Supply Company, is this week attending the annual meeting of the National Merchants Association in St. Louis, Mo. Accompanying Mr. Rockett on the trip is Mrs. Rockett and their two daughters, Nell and Lois. Mr. and Mrs. Rockett are also doing some buying of fall merchandise while they are away. They expect to return the last of this week.

Mr. Raymond Underwood of Spigener Funeral Home carried Mr. J. Lafayette Vines, of Thorsby, to St. Vincent's hospital in Birmingham one day last week.

G-E REFRIGERATORS AT MULLINS & SCOTT STORE

We believe it is useless in this column to call attention to the large flashy colored section of this paper devoted to telling about General Electric refrigerators and other G. E. appliances, because our readers will certainly see that attractive piece of advertising. It will be noticed that Mullins and Scott are the distributors for this line of appliances. Read all about it and see what all is claimed for G. E.

CLANTON MAY HAVE A SWIMMING POOL

In connection with the PWA application for a greater water supply for Clanton, Mayor C. Fenn Jones has placed our name in the pot for a swimming pool. This is something that we are pleased to hear. Some people consider a swimming pool as a mere unnecessary luxury; but it is more than that. It is almost a necessity.

The fact that a movement has been started for a swimming pool is welcome news.

GONE TO KEY WEST

Burnace Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Powell, of Clanton, left Sunday morning for Key West, Fla., the Southernmost city of the United States, to visit his sister, Mrs. Maynard Lowe, who lives there. He is expected to spend about two weeks there.

CIRCUIT COURT APPROACHING

Judge Arthur Glover, of Wetumpka, will be in Clanton Saturday of this week to hear pleas of guilty and make sentences in a number of cases.

Then, the regular non-jury term of Circuit Court will be held on Friday and Saturday, August 26 and 27.

Glenn Messer To Speak To Local Fliers Friday

Mr. Glenn E. Messer, flying ace, of Birmingham, will be in Clanton, at Thomason Hotel, Friday night of this week, August 5th, at 7:30 o'clock, to meet everybody interested in a flying club for Clanton. With Mr. Messer will be Mr. Earle Newman, also a flyer and who has been in Clanton quite a bit recently.

It is interesting to hear Glenn Messer talk about flying, even if one is not interested in joining the club; so, all fans or would-be fans are urged to meet Messrs. Messer and Newman at Thomason Hotel Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

NEW DEALERS SWAMPED IN MISSOURI AND VIRGINIA

Administration Favorites Left Far Behind In Tuesday's Primaries

Dispatches from Richmond Wednesday morning had Howard W. Smith far out ahead of Wm. E. Dodd, 100 per cent New Deal candidate for Congress. St. Louis also reported Bennett Champ Clark substantially leading three opponents for U. S. Senator from Missouri, where the New Deal issue was clear-cut. The primary in Kansas seemed to be more favorable to the New Deal favorite sons.

Voting was heavy in both Republican and Democratic primaries in West Virginia. The issues were not clearly defined, however, in this state, which is often strongly Republican.

Rabid Dog Killed Near Jackson Chapel

A dog, said to have been rabid, was killed near Jackson Chapel last Saturday afternoon. It was said to have bitten several dogs before it was killed, and the public should be careful of their dogs.

The mad dog was a small white and black spotted shaggy dog. It had a copper wire around its neck.

DOWNS ELECTRIC COMPANY TO HAVE LOCATION HERE

Mr. Joe Ben Downs wishes his customers and friends notified that he has rented the place formerly occupied by Lowery's Beauty Shoppe, next to Easterling's Woco Pep Station, and will operate his electric business there beginning next week. Besides his wiring and fixture business, he will do radio repairing; he will be assisted in this work by Mr. Orville Popwell. Telephone connection will be installed, and you are asked to phone your radio and electric troubles in to Downs Electric Company.

Buddy Teague Hurled No-Hit Game Sunday

The Clamps shut out the Irondale team at Lay Dam last Sunday, 6 to 0, with Jones and Clements leading the attack for the locals with triples.

The feature of this game, however, was when baseball's hall of fame opened wide her doors to admit another deserving member of the select group. Baseball legend has it that in baseball's hall of fame, a section is set aside for pitchers who go through a regulation game without allowing a safe hit or a run. No matter if that pitcher is in the majors, the semi-pros, or in amateur ranks, all the same he is pitching in company of his kind, and is entitled to his seat if he can perform the feat.

Buddy Teague won his right to that coveted honor Sunday as he set the Irondale clubbers down, man after man, without so much as a scratch hit. As the game came into the final innings without a hit, and the word got around that Buddy "might" get a no-hitter out of his system, the crowd grew tense, this tenseness increasing with each passing inning. And when that 27th man was retired, and still no hit had been registered by the visitors, the fans gave Buddy his well-earned acclaim.

Teague, a quiet sort of chap, has been taken to the hearts of the baseball fans of Clanton and surrounding territory. They'll tell you: "He's a little wild sometimes, but he can really smoke that onion when he has to do it". He is expected to be one of the mainstays of the Alabama hurling staff next year, and when he toes the rubber next spring, he can rest assured that Clanton fans will be for him, one and all. All the honor in the world to Buddy, our "ace".

Singing At Enterprise First Sunday In August

Concert On Saturday Night, August 6, By Quartet From Columbus, Ga.

There will be a singing at Enterprise schoolhouse, all day, on Sunday, August 7th. Some half a dozen good quartets are expected, one being the Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga. The singers of Chilton and adjoining counties have a cordial invitation to attend. All new books that are on hand will be used, with no partiality shown.

The Muscogee County Quartet, of Columbus, Ga., will put on a concert at the schoolhouse on Saturday night before, August 6th, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Admission will be 10c and 15c — an amount which anyone can raise, and the cooperation of the music loving public is urged. Those who have heard this quartet say it is among the best in the South.

Brittania may rule the waves yet, but trecent events in Spain indicate that she may have to do something about the sky, too.

EAGLE'S STORE HAS NOVEL ELECTRIC SIGN

Passing down Main Street at night and seeing Eagle's new sign flash on and off, first the wings of the eagle, then its body, then the name, makes one feel that he is on Broadway, or something. This is a pretty sign, and the way it operates is quite a novelty. It helps to make Clanton look the part of a real city — which it is.

DOUBLE FUNERAL HELD TUESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Riggins Buried Together At Cedar Grove

A double funeral for Mr. James Washington Riggins, age 81, and his wife, Mrs. Mary Mahalie Riggins, age 80, was held at Cedar Grove Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Enfinger; Spigener directing. Pallbearers for Mr. Riggins were: Elgie Blankenship, Sam Chambers, Luther Mims, Jesse Eiland, Obie Willis, and Andrew Deason. Those for Mrs. Riggins were: Shellie, Charles, Harold, and U. L. Riggins, Arnold L. Charles E. Messer.

Surviving are: three sons — W. A. Riggins of Pensacola, Fla., R. K. and G. G. Riggins of Clanton Route 4; two daughters — Mrs. Martha Lowery of Stewartville, Ala., and Mrs. Jessie Messer of Clanton. There are 33 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Surviving Mr. Riggins is one sister, Mrs. Martha Childress of Sylacauga. Four sisters survive Mrs. Riggins — Mrs. Celia Hayes of Jemison, Mrs. Margaret Caton of Clanton Route 5, Mrs. Sarah Rider of Bay Minette; one brother, Mr. A. F. Collins of Thorsby.

Mr. Riggins died suddenly of a heart attack Saturday night about 8 o'clock. He fell dead caross the bed where his sick wife lay, she having suffered a paralytic stroke about two weeks ago. Exactly 36 hours later, on Monday morning, Mrs. Riggins passed away. Both were at the home of a son, R. K. Riggins of Cedar Grove community.

Mr. Riggins was born in Talladega County in 1850, joining the church at an early age; he has lived a Christian life since. Mrs. Riggins was born near Lomax in 1851. She likewise has been a member of the church since early girlhood. They were married 60 years ago last July 25th.

D. L. Blackketter Caught Big Fish

Mr. D. L. Blackketter and family returned Monday from a week's vacation and fishing trip to Florida. Mr. Blackketter brought back as proof of his angling a 53-pound silver king tarpon caught with rod and reel. This kind of fish is said to be very game, so one that large must have been something to bring to taw.

LOWERY'S BEAUTY SHOPPE MOVES TO NEW LOCATION

We wish to let all our friends and customers know that we are now located on the Montgomery Highway, near the heart of town. We have taken the rooms formerly occupied by Dr. Mastin. The rooms are upstairs and down the hall from Scott's Studio.

We have made this change for the comfort of our customers, and we offer to them the many conveniences that now make our attractive shop one of the most up-to-date in Clanton.

Let us extend to everybody in Clanton and surrounding communities a warm and cordial invitation to come in and see us. Watch next week's paper for our specials. — Lowery's Beauty Shoppe.

New Style Veneering Appears In Clanton

"Inselbric", the scientific insulated brick design veneer for old and new buildings, has this past week been introduced in Clanton, the same having been used on the home of T. E. Wyatt on Second Avenue East. Inselbric came to Birmingham two years ago, it having been first made about ten years ago; is a product of Mastic Asphalt Corporation of South Bend, Ind.

It is a solid encasement siding, with the appearance of natural brick, is non-fading, does not absorb moisture, and is said to remain clean for many years. It is termite proof, reduces noise, insulates against heat and cold, and beautifies.

Inselbric is sold and put on exclusively in Alabama by Jaynes Roofing Company, of Birmingham. This company will advertise Inselbric in The Union-Banner during coming weeks, with the view of acquainting the public with the superior qualities of the product.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We want to commend the children's department of the Sunday school on its attendance last Sunday, and we give the parents the due consideration and credit for their interest in their children and in that department of our Sunday school. We appreciate the good parents of our church.

Indications are that some good work and interest is being put forth in other departments, especially the adult department. We urge each member of each department to be on your toes, create within you and among you some more pep, and let's go for our Sunday school.

Preaching services deserve our every cooperation, too. We could not exist as a church without our preaching services. Let's help Dr. Truett in these by attending, praying, and doing our bit in each service.

The sick and sad of our church are being remembered in our hearts. The blessing of ease and comfort given by our heavenly Father is being sought for [illegible]

SUPREME DICTATOR-ELECT, LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

Mooseheart, Illinois, June 12.—Roy H. Williams, member of the Supreme Court of Ohio, was today unanimously elected Supreme Dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, by the Supreme Council of the fraternity, at a meeting following the close of the 50th Annual International Convention of this fraternity. His one-year term of office begins September 1.

The rise to eminence in his state of Judge Roy H. Williams, member of the Supreme Court of Ohio, and Supreme Dictator of the Moose, is a typical success story so characteristic of this country. He was born September 1, 1874, in Milan, Ohio, birthplace of another great American, Thomas A. Edison. From early life Judge Williams worked hard. He had to. He worked his way through school, and in summer time on the farm. Other activities in which young Williams was engaged were in the Gibson Pie House, and as an employee of the Western Union Telegraph Company, "bucking the reel," stringing wires.

His education began in Milan, where he attended the Milan High School, and the Western Reserve Normal School. He then matriculated at Oberlin Academy at Oberlin, Ohio, and then graduated from the Law School of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Judge Williams has been connected with the administration of justice for thirty years. He began his professional career at twenty-six, as County Prosecutor of Erie County, an elective office. In this capacity he served from 1901-07. In 1915 he was elected to the Court of Common Pleas of the same county, serving until 1924. An election of that year made him a member of the Court of Appeals, which position he held for ten years. In 1934 the people of Ohio elevated him to the office of Judge of the Supreme Court of his State, where he is now serving.

Equally prominent has Judge Williams been in fraternal work. He is a member and Past Dictator of Sandusky, Ohio, Lodge No. 471, Loyal Order of Moose, and has for the past seventeen years been one of the most active workers in the fraternity in the State of Ohio. He has willingly and happily given of his time, energy, and money for the promotion and advancement of the ideals of the Order from the very day of his initiation. He has traveled the length and breadth of the Buckeye State in the interests of the Moose, and without cost to the Order, appearing before civic organizations as well as lodge meetings. He is a member of the Legion of the Moose, the Fellowship and Pilgrim Degrees. He was a member of the Supreme Forum for thirteen years and in 1935 was appointed as Chief Justice. At the Chicago Convention of the Moose in July, 1936, he was unanimously elected Supreme Prelate, and at Cleveland, in 1937, Supreme Vice Dictator. At that Convention he also was appointed a member of the Publications Board. On September 1, Judge Williams begins his duties as Supreme Dictator of the Moose, the highest elective office in the gift of the fraternity. He is a Past President of the Ohio State Moose Association. He was Chairman of the By-Laws Committee of this Association, and was largely responsible for drawing up the finest set of by-laws of any state association of any fraternity.

JUDGE ROY H. WILLIAMS
Newly Elected Head of the Moose

Judge Williams is also a member of the Elks, Knights of Pythias, Scottish Rite, Knight Templar, Kiwanis, Sons of American Revolution, and the Maccabees. His hobbies consist of collecting bottles and reading old and interesting books. In 1898 he married Verna Lockwood at Milan. His home is in Sandusky, Ohio.

RUTH: ADVENTUROUS FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Ruth 1:6-18.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.—Ruth 1:16.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Girl Named Ruth.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Story of Ruth.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Ruth's Wise Choice.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—An Adventurous Faith.

Out of the dark fastnesses of an underground dungeon into the brightness and warmth of God's sunshine—such is the transition we make when we turn from the moral and spiritual failures of Samson to consider the lovely story of Ruth. She lived in the midst of the travails and the sorrows of life, in fact we find her at the beginning of the book which bears her name, a widow who has lost all that the world would hold dear. Yet she, because of her purity of life and devotion to God rises higher and higher, while the one of whom we spoke last week, starting with every advantage, slipped lower and lower because of his sin.

Ruth was the great-grandmother of King David, and thus this Gentile woman became one of the ancestors of Jesus. (See Ruth 4:22 with Luke 3:22.) Many folk are greatly concerned about their ancestry—one could wish that more were concerned about living such lives and developing such characters as will make them good ancestors.

Teachers and classes will do well to read and study the entire book of Ruth—only about three pages long in most Bibles—and give attention to the full story of her life, especially the picture of the kinsman-redeemer, to be later fulfilled in the Lord Jesus Christ. We must confine our comments largely to the printed portion which reveals Ruth first as a loyal and thoughtful daughter-in-law, then as one whose love was not to be denied by sorrow or circumstance, and finally as one so bound to her mother-in-law in unity of spirit that she became one with her and her people.

I. Commendable Loyalty (vv. 6-10).

Tragic misfortune had visited Naomi, who with her husband and two sons had gone from Bethlehem to Moab in a time of famine. Not only had her husband died but also her two sons, who had married Gentile women, leaving three widows in one family to mourn together. Naomi craved the fellowship of her own people in her hour of trial and arose to return to her own land.

Her departure brought out in the two daughters-in-law the expression of kindness and loyalty which should exist in every family, but which is all too often lacking. Her own testimony concerning these girls of Moab is that they had dealt "kindly" with her and with the dead. That word speaks volumes. There is so little genuine kindness in the world. Both Orpah and Ruth went with her on the way—protesting their loyal purpose to go with her all the way. Thus far the two sisters were not differentiated—but the next incident reveals Ruth as the one who had an

II. Undeniable Love (vv. 11-14).

No one could for a moment condemn Orpah for yielding to her mother-in-law's entreaty that she return to her own people. She affectionately kisses Naomi and in tears turns away. "But Ruth clave unto her."

Such love cannot be denied. It is the most precious possession that a man can have, apart from his fellowship with God. The love of a devoted father or mother, of a noble helpmate, or of a little laddie or lassie, these are the things that really make life worth while, that stand out as an oasis in the desert of life, as a light in the darkness.

But Ruth takes one more step. Her kindness and loyalty, her unswerving love lead on to a confession of her faith in the true God, and the declaration of an

III. Inseparable Unity (vv. 15-18).

Literature knows no more beautiful gem than verses 16 and 17. It was the Great Commoner, Bryan, who said, "We cannot hope to contribute to literature a sentence so exquisite and thrilling as that into which Ruth poured the full measure of a noble heart, but we can imitate her devotion."

The story is told of a fine young Englishman who left his betrothed sweetheart to go to California during the great gold rush. He was going to make a fortune and then send for her. He sent her his first gold nugget. But alas, there were none to follow and soon he became not only poverty stricken, but ill. In noble sacrifice he decided to release her from her promise, and wrote to tell her so. She (and one could almost believe her name was Ruth) took the treasured nugget, had it made into a ring engraved as a gift from her to him, with the additional words "Ruth 1:16, 17." In due time it reached the young man with its tender and inspiring message—"Intreat me not to leave thee," and the assurance of her devotion until death.

May this dizzy and bemuddled world have many more characters like Ruth.

STATE TAX COMMISSION HAS MADE RECIPROCAL TRADES

The State Tax Commission officials have recently made reciprocal agreements relating to motor vehicle operation with officials of the states of Georgia, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Arkansas. These agreements permit farmers, truckers, foresters, miners, and producers of other products to haul their own commodities on their own motor vehicle into these other states without having to buy license plates of the other states, or pay any additional taxes of any kind.

It is necessary, however, that anyone hauling his own products into Arkansas, Mississippi, or Tennessee, first secure a permit: if going into Arkansas, from the Motor Vehicle Division, Department of Revenues, Little Rock, Ark.; if going into Tennessee, from the Department of Finance and Taxation, Mileage Unit, Memorial Building, Nashville, Tenn.; if going into Mississippi, from the Auditor of Public Accounts, Automobile Department, Jackson, Miss.

This permit is to be pasted on the windshield of the motor vehicle and to remain there until the end of the fiscal year, only one permit being necessary for the whole year.

SCHOLARSHIP TESTS AUGUST 5th

Birmingham, Aug. 1. — This week high school boys and girls from throughout the South gather on the campus of Birmingham-Southern College to participate in one of the most significant events in the history of high school education.

They meet August 5th to take the Phi Beta Kappa Honor Scholarship Tests and compete for three scholarships valued at $1,400 to be given solely on the ability of hte student to achieve scholarship.

The tests were inaugurated last year by Dean Wyatt W. Hale, Dr. Russell Poor, and Mr. Newman Yielding, of the Administrative Committee of the college, and won such support from students, educators, editors, and those interested in the promotion of human welfare, that they have been made an annual event at the Methodist college.

The tests were thrown open to any high school student in the South who can qualify to enter Birmingham-Southern, and who has not had college work.

The tests themselves are based on current events, and on material of a general nature to determine a student's preparation for and apparent ability to do good college work.

The sole consideration in awarding the scholarships will be ability to do college work, as revealed by the ratings of the tests.

URGES PRECAUTION AGAINST SPREAD OF SCREW WORM

Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, R. J. Goode, requests that all livestock owners use every precaution in eradicating, as promptly as found, the screw worm.

It will be recalled, several years ago this was a very serious pest in Alabama. Due to the efficient work of the state veterinarian and the U. S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry, this pest of livestock was practically eradicated in the state.

Considerable damage is done the affected animal by the larva eating the tissues and muscles.

Commissioner Goode reports limited outbreaks in the following places in the state: Comer, in Barbour County; Hurtsboro, in Russell County; and Cecil, in Montgomery County. According to Mr. Goode, this outbreak will not amount to much if the proper measures are used. The best procedure to follow in controlling the screw worm is for the owner, particularly, during the next 30 to 60 days to keep a close vigilance on all forms of livestock in order to detect the presence of this pest. As soon as it is determined that an animal has the screw worm, an application of either ether or gasoline to be poured upon the infected places in order to bring the screw worm out of the flesh, the wound should then be covered with pine tar.

An animal which has been killed by the screw worm, in accordance with the law should immediately be buried in order to keep this pest from further spreading.

Commissioner Goode requests that the Department of Agriculture be informed of all outbreaks and urges the utmost vigilance on the part of livestock owners, and the use of proper control measures.

Concord-Billingsley

Several from here attended the revival at New Cedron last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Little and baby visited Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Williams of Mt. Pisgah last Friday and Friday night.

Mr. T. J. Deramus attended the revival at Antioch last week.

Mr. J. L. Deramus, Jr., of Selma, is spending the summer with relatives here.

Mr. Keith Dickinson of Birmingham spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week with relatives here.

Mrs. Emma Williams and daughter, Eula Belle, returned to their home in Pleasant Grove community Sunday, after spending two weeks here with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Little.

A hen belonging to a farmer near Spencer, Iowa, laid an egg the size of an ordinary marble. That is taking crop control too seriously.

According to Deputy Director Williams of the WPA, now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the smarties.

ROAD FUNDS FOR ROADS ONLY

Montgomery, Aug. 1.—Committees of motorists and other highway users will be organized in every county of the state to work for the adoption of the square deal road funds amendment at the November election, Alex C. Montgomery of Birmingham, Vice President of the Alabama Motorists Association, and campaign director, announced this week. Campaign headquarters have been set up at 21 Adams Ave., Montgomery. The county committees will seek to coordinate activities of various groups of citizens and taxpayers interested in the development of the state's highways, and also interested in insuring that taxation of highway transportation will be placed upon a fair and equitable basis.

"Millions of dollars which the motorists, farmers, and other highway users have paid in the form of special road taxes have been diverted to purposes other than highway financing", said Mr. Montgomery.

IT COSTS NO MORE TO BUY A GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

First Choice of Millions—Now Popularly Priced!

Now you can buy a genuine G-E—the refrigerator with an UNSURPASSED 12-YEAR PERFORMANCE RECORD—at prices no higher than those of other standard makes.

General Electric is the ONLY completely sealed refrigerating mechanism backed by a dozen years of field experience. Years and years of actual kitchen operation under all kinds of conditions in thousands of homes throughout the country have made it the truly time tested and performance proved refrigerating mechanism. And YOU PAY NO MORE to enjoy the security of G-E's unequalled record for performance, because 1938 models are NOW POPULARLY PRICED.

As far back as 1927 General Electric introduced the first completely sealed refrigerating machines. Yet thousands upon thousands of these first General Electrics are still giving satisfactory refrigeration to their owners . . . and 1938 G-Es have a potential life approximately three times that of their 1927 predecessors!

In recent years other manufacturers have recognized the superiority of the sealed type of mechanism and have adopted it. But the General Electric mechanism is far beyond the experimental stage. Its quality and lasting performance has been proved in over 2,000,000 homes.

Here is a straight-from-the-shoulder statement backed by the largest electrical manufacturer in the world—the General Electric Company:

• In your home no other refrigerator at any price can produce more cold . . . preserve more food . . . freeze more ice and give more convenience for the little current cost of a General Electric.

Get a Genuine General Electric Save the Difference!

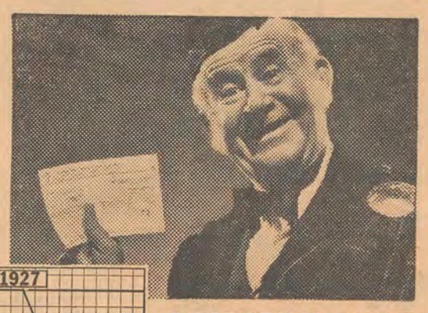
A Dozen Years of Constant Development of Consumer Benefits!



Triple-Thrift REFRIGERATORS

Naturally, more than a decade of field experience, factory development, and engineering research has led to many improvements—improvements so extensive that 1938 General Electric Refrigerators freeze ice more than three times as fast for almost one third the operating cost of their 1927 predecessors —and are priced approximately $100 lower.

And the purchaser of a 1938 Triple-Thrift refrigerator PAYS NO MORE for the Plus benefits of G-E's dozen years of continued improvement.

PRICE REDUCED 50%
After a dozen years of increased values today General Electric's prices are 50% less.

OPERATING COST REDUCED 60%
Today's six cubic ft. G-E has 60% less current cost than the comparable 1927 model.

COLD CAPACITY INCREASED 56%
Less current to produce more cold is the result of General Electric's 12 year improvement.

OPERATING SOUND REDUCED 78%
Quiet in 1927, today General Electric's operating sound is reduced to a whisper.

FREEZING SPEED 3 TIMES AS FAST
Plenty of ice cubes in a hurry—three times faster than in 1927—quietly and easily removed.

★ VACUUM SEALED AND OIL COOLED ★ GENERAL ELECTRIC MONITOR MECHANISM

SEALED IN AN ARMOR OF STEEL, HUSHED IN A BLANKET OF OIL

Safely protected by a casing of sturdy steel from air, dirt and moisture, the precision built General Electric refrigerator mechanism is cooled in a permanent bath of oil and at all times receives the additional protection of pressured lubrication.

Since 1927 the now famous and widely imitated General Electric Monitor Mechanism has been sealed-in-steel with a permanent supply of oil. 1938 General Electrics have the added advantage of

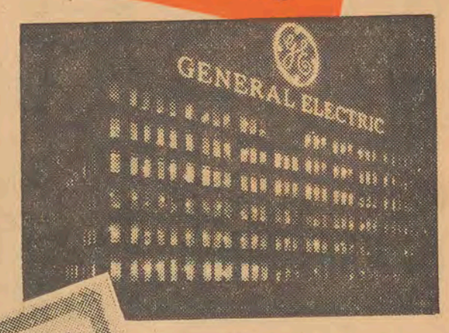
FORCED-FEED LUBRICATION

Probably the most important advancement of recent years in household refrigeration is General Electric's Oil Cooling and Forced-Feed Lubrication. By this ingenious method the permanent supply of oil is pressured to every bearing surface—circulated under pressure at the rate of three quarts per minute—so that at all times the bearing surfaces are separated by a fine film of oil. This means a minimum of friction.

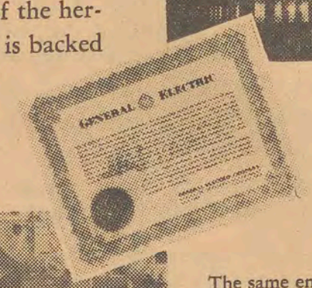
Of most importance to you is the dollars and cents savings Oil Cooling and Forced-Feed Lubrication effects. Not only do they contribute to General Electric's recognized high efficiency and low operating cost but they mean years and years of added life to the mechanism. They have been important factors in increasing the potential life of present models almost three times those of a dozen years ago.

Something you'll never see (yet extremely important) in your G-E Refrigerator are the metal glass leads shown above. Through these leads power is introduced into the G-E mechanism. They create a truly hermetic seal—a seal as air-tight and permanent as that of the canned foods you purchase at your market.

LIKE A RAISE IN PAY!



"A Penny Saved is a Penny Earned"



The purchase of a 1938 General Electric Triple-Thrift Refrigerator will be like a raise in pay the moment you start taking advantage of the multiple savings which it can effect for you. That's why budget minded people, people who have to watch their pennies, have purchased G-E refrigerators—for the money you pay for a General Electric is invested, not spent.

5 YEARS PROTECTION

Behind the ingenious design and skilled workmanship in a General Electric Refrigerator stands the now famous 5 Year Protection Plan—a plan originated by G-E to protect the purchaser for five full years against failure of the hermetically sealed mechanism. And this protection is backed by the reputation and vast resources of the world famous General Electric Co. G-E knows from experience that its sealed mechanism can "take it."

The General Electric Company has been manufacturing electrical products for the past sixty years. The splendid reputation it enjoys is based upon quality products.

The same engineers who more than a dozen years ago were designing the refrigerating mechanism which revolutionized the industry are even today seeking new ways to still further improve the General Electric monitor mechanism. Over 40% of all General Electric employees have been with the Company for over ten years.

HERE ARE A FEW OF GENERAL ELECTRIC'S MULTIPLE SAVINGS

LEFTOVERS

LEFTOVERS: An average of 10% of the food budget can be saved by avoiding food spoilage.

ICE

ICE: Plenty of ice cubes—quickly—at an average cost which is less than the price of ice.

QUANTITY PURCHASES

QUANTITY PURCHASES: An average savings of 23% can be made by buying in quantity and storing in a General Electric.

TIME

TIME: Fewer trips to the market, fewer steps in the kitchen, no waiting for ice delivery.

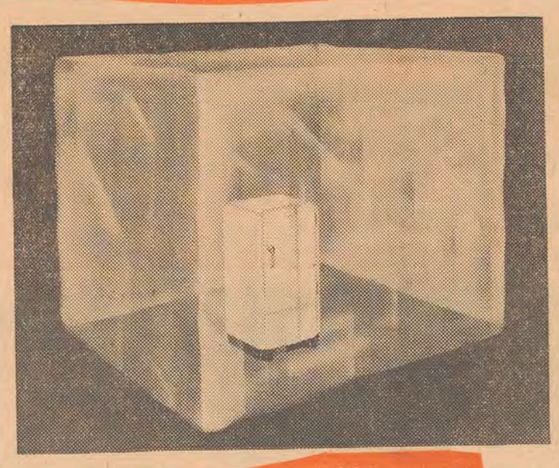
SPECIAL PRICES

SPECIAL PRICES: 20% can be saved by taking advantage of bargain prices and storing the food for future use.

CONVENIENCE

CONVENIENCE: No hanging up of the ice card, no ice tickets to buy, no drain pipes to clean.

LONG LIFE



LONG LIFE: No other sealed refrigerating mechanism has a record for long life equal to that of General Electric.

OPERATING COST: No other refrigerator can produce more cold, preserve more food, or make more ice under actual kitchen conditions for the low operating cost of a General Electric.

YEARS AND YEARS SUPPLY OF ICE in a SINGLE DELIVERY

480 ICE CUBES EVERY DAY

The moment your 1938 General Electric Refrigerator is installed in your kitchen you can throw away your ice card forever! Years and years supply of ice is made to you in that single delivery.

Not only does it assure you of years of adequate, dependable, and economical refrigeration; not only does it assure you of crisp salads and frozen desserts; not only does it assure you of plenty of ice in the shape of convenient cubes, instead of odd-sized chips or hunks; but it gives you all of this at a cost far below that of old fashioned and undependable refrigeration.

48 POUNDS IN 24 HOURS!

Of course, you'd probably never need 480 ice cubes in a single day, but if you ever did, any 1938 Triple-Thrift refrigerator over 5 cu. ft. capacity would be ready, willing and able to supply them to you. It indicates the vast reserve capacity of a General Electric Refrigerator—reserve power to give ample refrigeration and plenty of ice even in the most torrid heat of midsummer's most scorching weather.

2 CUBES PER SECOND from the New G-E QUICK TRAY!

REVOLUTIONARY IN DESIGN

The new General Electric Quick Tray—quick in freezing, quick in tray release, quick in cube removal—banishes the inconvenience and waste of the old fashioned tap water method of ice cube extraction. The entirely new and entirely different linked cube dividers and the Triple Purpose Lever enable you to release two cubes at a time—and a trayful of twenty can be emptied in less than ten seconds! The Triple Purpose Lever also fulfills the function of easy tray release—and even has a bottle cap remover . . . out of the way, yet handy when you're most likely to need it.

*Ice cube removal from the G-E Quick Tray is simple, easy, convenient—and there's no fuss, no muss, no waste.

Time, Trouble, and Temper Saving Tray Release.

Tests indicate that 20% of the ice which has been frozen in ordinary metal trays is melted when cubes are released by the usual method of splashing trays under tap water.*

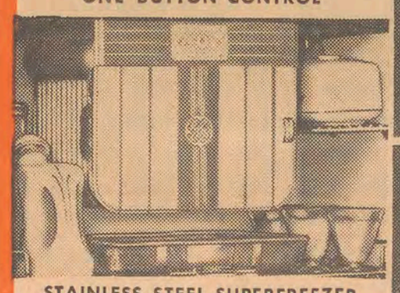
DRAWER ACTION SLIDING SHELVES

EVEN THE TOP SHELF SLIDES

You'll find a whole cabinet full of convenience features the moment you open the door of your 1938 General Electric Refrigerator. One convenience that you'll surely appreciate is the sliding action of the shelves. Shelves glide in and out with an easy drawer action making foods even at the rear of the shelf readily accessible.

And an important feature is that on G-Es even the top shelf slides—and that's the shelf that usually has the large and tippy bottles in the front . . . bottles which block access to foods stored at the rear unless you have a top sliding shelf.

Not only do most G-Es have sliding shelves, but shelves are adjustable in height. This gives you flexible food space which can be varied to meet practically any storage need.



Even bulky foods such as turkeys, roasts, watermelons and foods in large containers are easily accommodated in a 1938 Triple-Thrift refrigerator.

AT LAST—AN ELECTRIC SINK!

WASHING DISHES SAVING GARBAGE

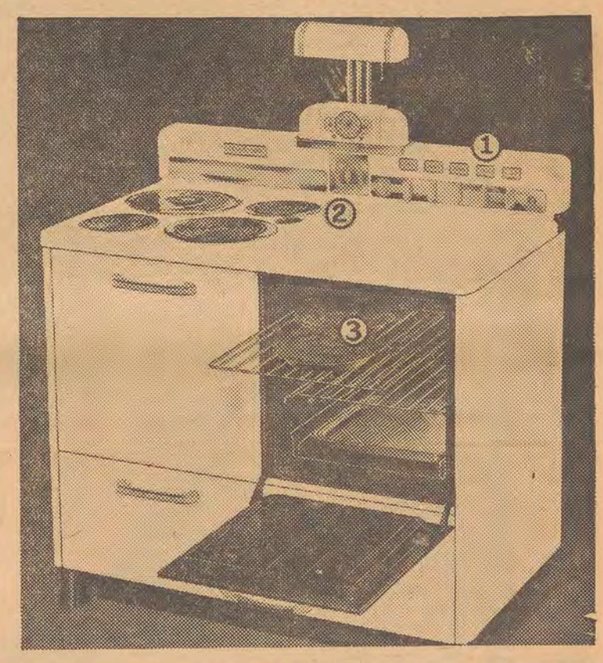
The G-E Electric Sink banishes the two most disagreeable tasks of all housework—washing dishes and handling garbage. Now, simply by turning a switch on the General Electric dishwasher all the dishes used by the average small family in one day can be washed in less than ten minutes. And they will be washed hygienically clean—cleaner than it is possible to do by hand!

Every scrap of food waste—scraps, parings, yes, even bones, are instantly disposed of right at the sink. Down the drain into the Disposall they go, where they are quickly reduced to a thin pulp and flushed away like water. No odors, because the Disposall cleans itself—no clogging, because of the scouring action of the pulp the drain lines keep clean.

THE G-E DISHWASHER
With the G-E Dishwasher you can throw away your dishpan. Dishes, glasses, silverware—even pots and pans—can be washed all at one time faster, easier, and much better.

THE G-E DISPOSALL
With the G-E Disposall you can throw away your garbage can. So simple a child can operate it. Users say that it costs less than a dime a month to operate.

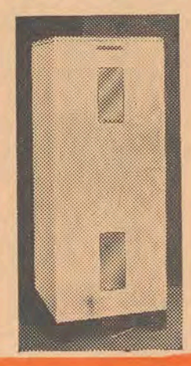


ONLY THE NEW GENERAL ELECTRIC RANGE HAS ALL THESE THRIFTY FEATURES

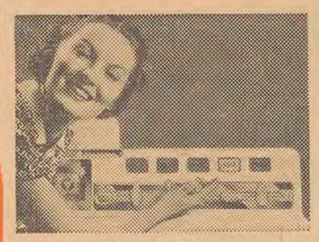
You will want for your kitchen a range that is completely modern. Here it is—the new 1938 G-E. It is the only range—at any price—that has all these new Three Thrifty Features: 1. TEL-A-COOK LIGHTS. 2. FIVE SPEED CALROD COOKING UNIT. 3. TRIPL-OVEN. These three features alone make General Electric a great buy, but there are many more features that permit you to cook foods better with less time, less effort, less cost.

General Electric—Today's COMPLETELY Modern Range—Has All These Features

Tel-a-Cook Lights ✓ Select-a-Speed Calrod Cooking Unit ✓ Tripl-Oven ✓ Porcelain Unitop ✓ No-Stain Vent and Oven Moisture Control ✓ Adjustable Non-Tip Sliding Shelves ✓ Automatic Interior Oven Light ✓ Automatic Oven Timer ✓ Built-In Minute Minder Chime ✓ Generous Sized Thrift Cooker ✓ Electrically Welded Steel Bodies ✓ Large Storage and Warming Compartments ✓ General Electric Hi-Speed Calrod Units for both surface and oven cookery.



All features are found in some General Electric models and some in all General Electric models.



GENERAL ELECTRIC WATER HEATER

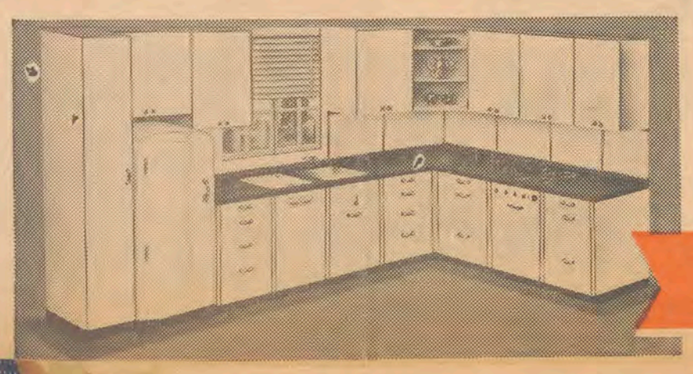
Once you install a G-E Water Heater you can forget it—and enjoy an abundant supply of hot water at all times quickly and economically. The Calrod Heating unit is immersed directly in the water for efficient, low cost operation, the Thermosnap temperature control maintains a constant temperature, and the heavy insulation keeps the water hot.

Choice of three styles, rectangular, round, or table-top, with heavy galvanized or monel tanks—and fourteen different sizes from five to one hundred and forty gallons.

1. TEL-A-COOK LIGHTS. Inform you instantly when and where the current is on, and indicate the degree of heat being applied. Save electric current by eliminating needless waste. A new exclusive G-E feature for extra thrift.

2. SELECT-A-SPEED CALROD UNIT. Five cooking heats from one unit, with one switch! Hi-Speed, Half-Speed, Quarter-Speed and Thrift-Speed; for keeping foods warm, a new Low-Speed.

3. TRIPL-OVEN. Three ovens in one! 1—Speed Oven for single shelf cooking . . . 400° in 5 minutes. 2—Extra-large Master Oven. 3—Generous size Super-Broiler.



Everything a Modern Kitchen Should be

GENERAL ELECTRIC UNIT KITCHEN

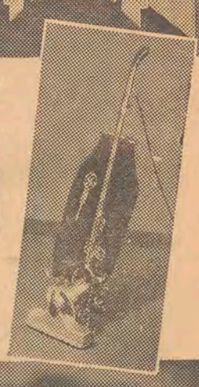
G-E kitchens are complete in every detail—everything from major electrical appliances even to the nuts and bolts! In shape, color and size each section matches every other section to give an over-all effect of harmonious unity. Complete G-E Unit Kitchens include Electric Refrigerator, Electric Range, Electric Sink (which includes both Electric Dishwasher and Electric Disposall) in addition to all steel cabinets with adjustable shelves and interior illumination, wall panels, lumiline sub-cabinet lights and chrome trim.

These six sections are the basis of a complete General Electric Unit Kitchen. They are interchangeable, and can be adapted quickly and inexpensively to any kitchen regardless of size or shape. It is only necessary to attach each section to the wall in the position desired. Additional sections such as an all-steel broom closet, utensil cabinet, three- or four-drawer base sections are also available.

A TRULY MODERN HOME LAUNDRY

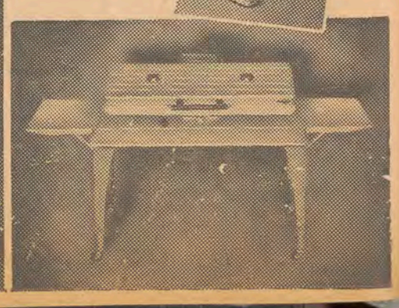
Now you can have a truly modern home laundry! General Electric has developed an amazingly efficient line of Washers and Ironers, beautifully styled and conveniently priced, to fit every pocketbook.

General Electric Washers operate so quietly that washday nerve strain becomes a thing of the past. The General Electric Activator washes clothes whiter, cleaner and without tangling.



The One-Control Wringer, used exclusively on General Electric Washers, is a feature that you will enjoy. One control starts the rolls, reverses them, tilts the drainboard in the proper direction, and releases all pressure.

Your ironing can be done in less than half the usual time (and economically, too) with G-E Ironers. And think of the effort saved! Simply sit in front of the Ironer, smooth out the fabric to be ironed, and the rest is done automatically.



WAR ON MOTHS AND DIRT WITH G-E CLEANERS

A new moth-proofing power sprayer has been added to the cleaning attachments of the General Electric Cleaner. Now housewives throughout the country can clean their rugs better, easier, and faster and protect them from moth damage.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

AAA SOIL PRACTICES NEEDED BY DAIRYMEN

Auburn, Aug. 1. — Six soil building practices which Alabama dairy farmers need and for which they can receive pay have been listed by F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service. Too many dairy farmers, he says, have the idea that the soil building practices and the payments the AAA will make for these practices are for the cotton and general farmer, and have no connection with dairying.

Mr. Burns is advising dairymen to take advantage of the opportunity to build a good permanent pasture or to build up the yielding capacity of the lnad by planting winter legumes. Although there are many practices that the Alabama farmer may receive payment for putting into operation, Mr. Burns says he believes that six are the most needed by the Alabama dairymen.

He lists the following practices which are counted as one unit in the soil building allowance for the farm:

(1) A full seedling of permanent pasture mixtures on one-half acre of pasture land.

(2) The application of 1,500 pounds of ground limestone to one acre of pasture.

(3) The application of 500 pounds basic slag or 300 pounds of superphosphate on one acre of pasture.

(4) The construction of 200 linear feet of terraces with proper outlets.

(5) The use of 10 pounds of good adapted seed in reseeding depleted pastures.

(6) Seeding of biennial, perennial, or winter legumes on one acre of crop land.

Each of these units will entitle the farmer to payments of $1.50, according to Mr. Burns.

An agricultural chemist is displaying a woman's dress spun from cottage cheese, and he says that clothing can be made from other forms of cheese, too. No doubt the loud ones can be made best out of limburger.

HOGS SHOULD GO ON PEANUTS IN AUGUST

Auburn, Aug. 1. — The fattening hogs should be removed from Otootan soy beans to Spanish peanuts in August, advises F. W. Burns, animal husbandman, Alabama Extension Service. Hogs that weigh over 180 pounds should be marketed as early as possible in order to take advantage of the high price prevailing in September.

As soon as the Spanish peanuts are cleaned out, the remainder of the fattening hogs should be moved to runner peanuts and finished there. It will pay us to use temporary fences so the hogs may be kept on fresh peanuts every two weeks. This eliminates what farmers call "standing still" of hogs.

In general, there should be from 800 to 1,200 pounds of hogs per acre of solid runner peanuts. It will also pay to graze the peanuts nearest water in September, October, and November, and then haul water to the hogs in December and January while grazing peanuts that are over ¼-mile from water. A general mixture of equal parts of charcoal, slaked lime and salt should be kept before the fattening hogs at all times, according to Mr. Burns.

One acre of oats should be planted for each sow in October and sows and fall pigs should be turned on these oats in November. This green feed, together with the peanuts which remain in the field after the fattening hogs have been moved, will usually provide sufficient feed for the sows and fall pigs.

ADJUSTMENT PAYMENTS TO BE STARTED SOON

Auburn, Aug. 1. — Distribution of cotton price adjustment payments on cotton produced in 1937 will be started as soon as a sufficient number of farm operators make application on the prescribed form, certifying that they have not knowingly planted or permitted to be planted cotton in excess of the 1938 cotton acreage allotment, and such applications can be approved and certified for payment, announces A. W. Jones, administrative officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in Alabama.

"The issuance of these adjustment payments probably will not get unedr way before late August with most of the payments going out in September, October, and November", Mr. Jones says, adding that every effort will be made to handle the distribution as promptly as possible.

The maximum rate of payment on any eligible cotton is three cents a pound. All eligible cotton sold prior to September 10, 1937, will carry a rate representing the difference between 12 cents and the average of the 10 spot cotton markets on the day it was sold. All cotton eligible for payment and not sold prior to September 10 (the day that cotton frist fell below 9 cents a pound during the 1937-1938 marketing season) will be considered as sold on a date when the 10 spot market price was less than 9 cents, and producers will receive 3 cents per pound on such cotton.

Under the ruling, cotton does not have to be sold to entitle a producer to payment. Cotton held by a producer on the farm or in warehouses, whether or not under the CCC loans, will be on the same basis as cotton sold during the marketing season.

INCREASE IN FARM IMPORTS

Official government figures on the imports of competitive farm products for 1937 as compared with 1932 was mailed this week to the 60 members of the Farm Products Marketing Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce. Members of the committee are requested by Chairman J. C. Hodges to give careful consideration and study to these figures and to give the state organization the benefit of their thoughts and comments and any suggestions they might have that would be helpful to the committee in its efforts to increase the income of Alabama farmers.

In commenting on these figures, the state chamber officials point out that this tremendous increase in imports on farm products has come about during the same years in which the Southern farmer was losing the world market for his cotton. They point out in particular that practically all of these products listed, with very few exceptions, can and should be produced by Alabama farmers. Attention is called to the thousands of acres of American farm land that could have been profitably utilied in the production of these products, and also to the millions of dollars by which the income of American farmers could have been increased had they produced these products that were imported.

Here is the difference between the Old Deal and the New Deal. In the horse and buggy days the congressmen sent you a package of garden seeds and you had to raise your own vegetables. Now they send you a peck of beans or a bushel of potatoes from the surplus commodity stock.

FARMERS URGED TO SEND OATS EARLY

Auburn, Aug. 1. — Alabama farmers who have seed oats for sale and plan to send them to the State Department of Agriculture to be tested should do so early, advises L. N. Allen, seed analyst of the State Department of Agriculture at Montgomery.

Mr. Allen states that it will be practically impossible for his department to handle samples with any speed after September 15. Samples coming in after that time usually interfere with control work, and, and a result, are shunted aside until inspection samples have been handled.

The state department offers this service free of charge to all farmers. The samples should consist of about two pounds of large seed and one pound of small seed, and should be as nearly representative of the entire lot as possible. The sender should also state the variety and kind and how much he has on hand, together with his name and address.

STATE SHIPS MORE POTATOES, PEACHES

Auburn, Aug. 1. — New records in car lot shipments of Irish potatoes and peaches have been made this year by Alabama, announces the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Up through July 16 a total of 6,084 cars of potatoes had gone out of the state, and 13 car loads of peaches had been shipped by the above date.

In potato shipments the state is surpassed only by California, Florida, Virginia, and North Carolina. Last year Alabama shipped 5,617 car loads of potatoes all season, and shipped only five cars of peaches, according to the Bureau's records.

HEART DISEASE IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Aug. 1. — Although heart disease attacks those of all ages, it is particularly fatal among old people, Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, points out this week, in calling attention to vital statistics figures showing that approximately one Alabamian out of every 33 over 74 years of age succumbed to this disease, the chief cause of death in this state, during the year covered by the study.

"The heart disease rate for those of this age group was found to be 3,031.7 per 100,000 population, or more than 20 times the rate of 149.0 per 100,000 population shown for the entire population of the state", he said. "The rate among those less than one year of age was shown to be 8.3 per 100,000 population, while among those between one and four years of age it was only 2.3 per 100,000 population, the lowest shown for any age group. From that low point it was shown to increase rapidly from one age group to another until it reached its peak among those over 75."

Dr. Baker urged that actual and potential heart disease sufferers do everything possible to curb the rapidly mounting mortality from this disease by obtaining as much rest as possible and avoiding worry and anxiety.

The One and Only Quebec on Its Historic Heights, Has New and Old World Charm for Summer Guests

QUEBEC AND CHATEAU FRONTENAC

MONTMORENCY FALLS

THE CITADEL

OLD FARMHOUSE ISLE OF ORLEANS

THERE is only one Quebec! No City in the world resembles it. So quaint, so French and bi-lingual, so hospitable and beautiful, so rich in historic spots, it charms thousands of visitors all through the year and especialy in summer. Curious, narrow, rambling streets like Sous-le-Cap hidden from all except the knowing, up which Champlain's soldiers are said to have swaggered, two-wheeled caléches seen nowhere else in Canada, odd little shops filled with habitant handicraft, Dufferin Terrace and towering Chateau Frontenac overlooking the mighty St. Lawrence River 200 feet below and its scenic grandeur for miles up and down stream—such is fascinating old Quebec, founded by Champlain 330 years ago! The hand of Time has modernized Quebec somewhat, but has left it still unspoiled, a picturesque city of Old France in the New France which is Quebec. The Plains of Abraham where Wolfe and Montcalm fought and died, Little Champlain Street up which Gen. Richard Montgomery of New York marched to his death, Notre Dame des Victoires, the little Church in the Lower Town bombarded by Wolfe's cannon from Levis, Wolfe's Cove where Wolfe's army scaled the Heights of Quebec to surprise Montcalm, the Indian Lorette, the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupré, the Isle of Orleans, and Gaspé Peninsula where life today is as simple and primitive as it was centuries ago—all of these bid for the visitor's interest.

By caléche, bus, motor and rail they are within easy reach. Center of all Quebec activities is the Chateau Frontenac, notable both as hostelry and as landmark in Quebec's skyline, a Norman castle on the heights of the Ancient Capital. It stands on the site of Frontenac's Chateau St. Louis, part home, part fort, and is named in honor of the fiery French governor. Up river 300 feet above the St. Lawrence looms the Citadel, the Plains of Abraham are near by and Wolfe's Cove is the berthing-place of the famous Empress of Britain. Among Quebec's numerous attractions are the Quebec Bridge, one of the engineering wonders of the world, and Montmorency Falls, 100 feet higher than Niagara.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—The British lion has been taking kicks from all-comers lately, but it stiffened up and began looking a lot more heraldic when the ancient bill of rights seemed to be infringed. It was no rubber-stamp parliament which reacted angrily to the army's summary action against young Duncan Sandys, conservative member, who had revealed undue knowledge of air defense secrets. The government was embarrassed and backed up considerably.

Parliament Shows Spunk In Army Row

The swift parliamentary kick-back was an instance of the latent staying power of the British democratic tradition, as the representative body rattled the bones of its late and great libertarians in telling the executive where it got off.

The row overflows into important political by-ways, as the tall, handsome, loose-geared Mr. Sandys is both a son-in-law and political ally of Winston Churchill who is pot-shotting the government just now in a political no-man's land.

There is a threat of conservative defection to the side of the still ambitious and powerful Mr. Churchill, with labor and liberal recruits, and, according to close observers of British politics, some important new alignments may result.

Sandys Is Freshman In Politics

Mr. Sandys, thirty years old, is still just a rookie in this league, and, like Mrs. O'Leary's cow may not have intended to start anything in particular. He is, however, an energetic and capable young politician and there are those who say he may be another Anthony Eden in a few years. Running for parliament in 1935, he was assailed by the comely young Mrs. John Bailey who was leading the fight for the opposition. She is a daughter of Winston Churchill.

He won the election in a rock-and-sock battle and then, in the chivalrous Eton and Oxford tradition which is his background, he married Mrs. Bailey. She, incidentally, is a granddaughter of the Jennie Jerome of New York who became Mrs. Randolph Churchill and the mother of Winston Churchill. Jennie Jerome's father was one of the fighting editors of the New York Times in the 1860s.

Mr. Sandys, studious and somewhat ministerial, was with the diplomatic service until 1933. He is a second lieutenant in the London anti-aircraft force, a son of the late Capt. George Sandys.

GREECE never had any luck in trying to get the Elgin marbles back from England. Judging from this precedent, American aviators have a long fight ahead in trying to bring back from the Kensington Science museum in London the Wright brothers' airplane of the historical Kitty Hawk crow-hop of December 17, 1903. Such will be the endeavor of the newly formed association of men with wings.

Wright Plane Sought by U. S. Flyers

They will appeal to Orville Wright, who let the plane go to England in 1928, after the Smithsonian institution had tagged the Samuel P. Langley plane as "the first machine capable of flight carrying a man." There is as yet no word from Mr. Wright, who lives and works somewhat aloofly in his office and laboratory at Dayton, Ohio.

That twelve-second flight put him in the history books, brought him a string of honorary degrees and gathered more medals than his plane could lift, but all this was marred by the misunderstanding about who flew first.

He had been trained in science at Earlham college when he and his brother made their plane in a bicycle shop. He continued his studies in aerodynamics and his later contribution was the stabilizing system which has made modern aviation possible. Wilbur Wright died of typhoid fever in 1912.

STIFF-NECKED, hard-boiled General Alexander von Falkenhausen, German sparring partner and coach for the Chinese generals until recently, stirs excitement in Shanghai by predicting Chinese victory. He says, "I feel sure that China is gaining a final victory and that Japan will fail in both war and peace."

China Will Win, Says Strategist

The general and all others of the German military mission to China are homeward bound, suddenly recalled by their government, although their contract, with $12,000 a year for General von Falkenhausen, was to have run until 1940.

Annual Association Meeting

The annual meeting of the Centrar Association of the Congregational Christian Churches of Alabama will be held in Thorsby August 11-13, with the United Protestant Church serving as host.

Upon the program of the meeting, the general theme of which will be "Ministering", will appear a number of Chilton County residents. Visiting delegates and ministers of member churches will contribute other parts of the program. The Rev. Fred P. Ensminger, D. D., Superintendent of Congregational Christian Churches in Alabama, is scheduled for an address.

The membership roll of the Central Association includes the following churches: East View, Route 2, Clanton; Mt. Springs, Route 5, Clanton; Liberty, East Tallassee; Union, Route 1, Eclectic; Watson's Chapel, Eclectic; Union, Mt. Creek; Balm of Gilead, Seman; Community, Seman; First, Shelby; Mt. Olive, Tallassee; and United Protestant, Thorsby.

Pastor Accepts Position

The Rev. W. Adelbert Redfield, who is serving as summer supply for the United Protestant Church at Thorsby, has announced his acceptance of the position of dean and teacher of social sceince at the Southern Union College at Wadley, Ala.

The Wadley institution is one of the so-called "opportunity schools", and is sponsored by the Congregational Christian Churches of Alabama. Its curriculum covers junior college work, the method of presentation being according to the "University of Chicago Plan" of survey courses. The examinations are given and corrected by professors of other institutions, in this case from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, at Auburn, thus insuring accurate and impartial awarding of marks.

Southern Union College was established to meet the needs of many young people who graduate from high school without any opportunity to attend a college where costs are high. By its program of minimum expense to students, plus the opportunity for some to exchange their labor or produce for tuition costs, it has enabled many young people to take the first two years of college who could not otherwise have done so. Practically all of its graduates who desire to do so find themselves financially able to complete their college work at some nearby institution.

Mr. Redfield, who has been engaged in educational work for the past four years in Tennessee and Alabama, will move with his family soon after the first of September so as to be ready for the opening of the fall quarter of the college on September 13.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Yesterday I had a telegram from Miss Harriet Rader of Los Angeles, Calif., telling me that her father, Paul Rader, the great preacher and evangelist, had gone on to heaven. Paul was my personal friend. He was one of the distinguished members of the Board of Trustees of the Bob Jones College. His messages on our chapel platform will be remembered as among the greatest ever given. Last year a young man, who was converted under the ministry of Paul Rader and is now in the ministry leading many souls to Jesus Christ, was graduated from our college. In my wide experience I have never known a more gifted or fascinating personality than Paul Rader. I do not think this nation ever produced a greater evangelistic preacher than Paul Rader was at the height of his power. He preached the gospel all around the world. Multiplied thousands of people are Christians today because Paul Rader heard God's call to the ministry. Paul was a prize fighter before he was converted. He was chosen by a group of sportsmen as the "white hope" to beat Jack Johnson. They were getting him ready for the big fight, but Paul met Jesus just about that time. Jesus won Paul's heart and Paul entered the ministry. For years he had a great ministry in Chicago. Two or three temes he has gone around the world telling the gospel story. Paul never had any money. He was always broke. But I never knew a man who could pray or preach better than Paul Rader could when he was at his best. I have just sent his daughter the following telegram: "Your Daddy was a thoroughbred. He was my buddy. I loved him. He was one of the world's greatest preachers. When he went to heaven he did not need to be introduced to Jesus. He already knew Him".

"The fool hath said in his heart, 'there is no God'." Of course, only a fool is capable of making any such statement. However, the underlying thought in this Bible quotation is this: "Oh, well, there is no God anyhow. Let's do as we please". The fool says in his heart, "There is no God". He doesn't say it in his head. Even a fool, who looks up at the stars at night, is bound to know that some personality greater than himself created this universe. A man can believe there is a God and still be a fool in the Bible sense. Jesus called a man a fool. He said he was a rich man who had a great harvest. He had to build new barns to house his crop. He sat down and said he had everything he needed for many years and he was going to enjoy himself and eat all he wanted. And that night, Jesus said, the fool died. Jesus here in this story paints the picture of a fool. A fool is a man who does not properly appreciate the highest values. A man may make millions of dollars and live and die a fool. The richest man who reads these lines who does not recognize God and trust Him and depend on Him and reverence Him is just as big a fool, from a Bible standpoint, as the poor, blundering man who cannot make a living and lives a sensual, sinful life and dies without God. We read of the wisdom of this world and also of the wisdom of God. How diametrically opposed to each other they are! Some day over on the other side of the river of death we will find that a great many people who thought they were very wise down here were mighty big fools. Others whom the world considered poor and ignorant and unsuccessful, but who in simple faith trusted Jesus Christ as a Savior, will be recognized as having been the wise men of the earth. May God save us from being fools!

"RELIEF BUMS"

A news item tells of a negro taxi driver who was unable to work for a time because of illness. He obtained $50 from a government relief agency to tide him over. Now he is back at work, and is trying to return the money. When it was pointed out to him that he was not legally obligated to do this, he observed that "that was the way I was raised — and that's the way I'm raising my child".

A great many other Americans can learn a lesson from this negro taxi driver. One of the most ominous portents on the horizon is the fact that thousands of people have apparently come to look on relief as a "profession". They plan to make it their "life work". Productive jobs in private industry hold no attraction for them, when they can take it easy at the taxpayers' expense. They figure someone owes them a living.

This isn't a criticism of those people who have turned to relief only as a last resort, and are eager to get off the rolls as soon as opportunity for a real job comes along. Nor is it a criticism of relief per se. The hungry must be fed, the homeless sheltered, the clothesless clothed. Honest beneficiaries of relief aggressively seek real employment. Professional relief bums are a new menace to democratic government.

The negro's statement was news because his attitude was so unusual today. It should be printed on every relief check and public grant.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Glasscock of Chavies, in DeKalb County, are visiting relatives at Jemison for several days. They came down last Friday and will be here for two or three weeks. Mr. Glasscock says that crops are fine on Sand Mountain this year.

IMMUNIZATION CAMPAIGN

The summer immunization campaign of the local health department will be concluded this month, local health officials disclosed early this week. The program for August includes only six clinics, a majority of the community centers having been visited in June and July. Both typhoid and diphtheria inoculations will be offered as usual.

The schedule for August is as follows:

Minooka school, Tuesdays, August 9, 16, 23, and 30, from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Free Springs church, Tuesdays, August 9, 16, 23, and 30, from 11:15 a.m. to 1:15 p.m.

New Convert school, Tuesdays, August 9, 16, 23, and 30, from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

Vacant house near home of A. K. Morgan, R 2, Maplesville, Tuesdays, August 9, 16, 23, and 30, from 12 to 1 p.m.

Refuge school, Thursdays, August 11, 18, 25, and September 1, from 9 to 10 a.m.

Chilton Belle school, Thursdays, August 11, 18, 25, and September 1, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A plea for parents to begin early in having children who are to enter school this fall protected against smallpox was voiced by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer. "We have found", said he, "that it is especially advantageous to vaccinate the child early in infancy, the reaction both local and systemic being so much milder when the child is about one year of age than it is after the child enters school. Even then, with the multiple pressure method being used by modern health workers, the sore is very small and the child suffers but little discomfort. There is certainly no need for parents to dread and fear smallpox vaccination as it is today".

Parents who wish to have their children receive this protection may refer or bring them to the health department any Saturday morning.

REFUGE

The revival at this place is still going strong. The meeting will likely go through Friday night of this week. Souls are being saved every service; about 30 have been added to the church, more than 20 for baptism. We will baptize Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock August 7, at Mims' Pond, two miles east of Clanton.

Come and hear evangelist Garrett. You will not regret your trip. — M. Lockhart, pastor.

Mr. Joseph Boyd, of Montgomery, is spending this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Boyd, of Enterprise community. Joseph Boyd works for Alabama Power Company, where he has been for several years.

THE OLD LIQUOR SERPENT

Not many days ago we read of a rattlesnake being killed right in the heart of a city. The reptile had hibernated under an old vacant building during the winter, and the warm summer sun caused him to crawl from under the building up on the sidewalk of the front street.

But you know crawling out of his hiding place in the back alley and up on the sidewalk of the main street had not changed the old snake the least bit. He was the same old snake, had the same old rattles on his tail, the same old spots on his back, the same old fangs in his mouth, and the same old poison in his fangs. Had he struck anyone passing by on the front street it would have brought suffering and sorrow and death just as quickly as if he had struck them out in the back alley.

When America repealed the 18th Amendment and for the consideration of a license fee let the bootleggers crawl out of the back alleys and up on the front streets and start selling their beer, wine and whiskey in the cafes, filling stations, drug stores and grocery stores along the front streets, it didn't change the bootleggers. They are still the same old bunch of snakes. And the booze they sell in a cafe with a plate of beans or in a filling station with a tank of gasoline will make a man beat his children, abuse his wife, forget God and go to hell just as quickly as would the liquor they sold in a fruit jar in the back alley after dark.

The writer believes the Christians are faced with the greatest challenge in the history of the world. Our great task is not to convert the wet soaks, but to enlist and arouse the dry forces. We lost the 18th Amendment, not because there are more "soaks" in this country than there are dry people, but because the wet soaks got up and fought for what they wanted, and the ministers and church people (some of them) sat around home, kept quiet, and didn't go to vote on election day, and this booze business will be cleaned up and put out again when the preachers and church people get in the harness and make this fight.

Frequently people will say, "Well, this booze business doesn't bother me, I never go around it". Yes, and I could say that about every horse race, every case of immorality, every crooked politician, every home that has been burned, and every river that goes out of its banks. But that is not the issue. The fact is that booze is now wrecking other homes, degrading other mothers' sons and daughters, blighting other families and damning other souls.

We speak of the man behind the gun—
Of the terrible work that he has done;
But a more terrible work by far
Is done by the man behind the bar.
—M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton.

Maynard's Chapel

Our Sunday school was off some last Sunday, but we hope everyone will come back next Sunday.

Remember that our revival will start on Saturday night before the second Sunday in August. Our preaching had to be postponed Sunday night on account of rain.

Mr. Jack Maynard and family spent lost week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Maynard.

Mrs. W. G. Maynard had as visitors from Birmingham Sunday, Miss Sadie Horton, formerl yof Thorsby, Mr. John Allison, Mr. Frank Laney, and Miss George.

Alabama Press Association Visits Maine Monument In Havana

The more than 290 members of the Alabama Press Association's third convention cruise-tour to Havana, Cuba, are shown above at the beautiful Maine Memorial Monument, one of the major stops on an extended tour of the city. The trip was arranged and conducted by Roy Brown Tours of Birmingham and a second tour will leave on August 20th for those that could not join the July group. Receptions and official entertainment made the vacation tour one of the best ever enjoyed by the association and similar features will be offered for those going this month. Those comprising the press tour can agree that "no one ever spent a dull moment in Havana"—The Paris of the Western World.

J. N. SCOTT WRITES MODERN POLITICS

Editor Union-Banner:

Here I come again after so long a time, for another space in your good old paper. I want to say a few things that have come to my mind. I have wondered for a long time why it is that Democrats cannot run our political business successfully like the Republicans do — I mean office-holders from constable to president. Everybody in the nation knows that the most and greatest prosperity we have ever had came while the Republicans were in power. This is undeniable by everyone who wants to be honest and fair with themselves and others.

Just look at the condition of even Chilton County. Is it in better condition now than it was four years ago when the Republicans were in charge? The answer of everybody must be—No! That being the case, why would it not be sensible for the voters to come together next November and turn the affairs of our county back into the hands of a party that can run it successfully? And still better, but I guess that is impossible, if the voters of Alabama would lay down prejudice and vote their conscientious beliefs, they would elect a Republican as Governor and some representatives and senators. We would see things change in old Alabama. It is a known fact that counties going Republican have fared better than those solidly and hopelessly Democratic; so, why would not the state do the same under Republican rule? Is 75 years not long enough for the Democrats to prove their ability to run our state if they ever expect to? Well, they have certainly made a pretty mess of things, if I am any judge.

I have been told that wise men change their minds once in a while, but fools never. We need a change, and until we get it we will never be any better off. These Democratic politicians and office-holders have gotten so rotten and corrupt that timetimes I think I can smell carrion as I pass by. Just think of the dirty tricks they have pulled here in our county during the past four years. The first low-down trick was when they stole the offices away from the Republicans by stealing and voting illegal ballots in 1934. The Lord said, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap". Well, some of the Democrats are now gathering what they sowed four years ago. They are being fed some of their own medicine by their brother Democrats. It is now Democrats against Democrats, and they are treating one another just like they treated us four years ago; and it is making them sick enough to puke.

I am glad the thing has come to light at last, and I am told that the Republicans have never been charged with such doings among themselves or against their political enemies. If the Republican leaders ever get that low down, I want to drop a bombshell in and never have anything else to do with politics at all. I cannot see how anybody could have voted for either Mr. Hardy or Mr. McKee in the last Democratic run-off, since conditions were shown up as they were. Do you not believe that both of them indulged in illegal practices to undermine the other, and that any man who will do such is not fit to hold public trust? Can Christian men and women vote for men of that stripe? God's word says that if we vote for such things we become accomplices and partakers of the same evil deeds. I have not been to college and gotten a diploma, but I know that if we ever have better government we will have to go to voting for clean men for office and stay clean ourselves. Our politics are never any worse than our people.

I do not know, but it is probable that both Mr. McKee and Mr. Hardy belong to the same church, as well as lots of others who helped to pull those dirty stunts; so, you see, even the churches are not free from sorry people. Have you heard of Baptist preachers, holiness preachers, deacons, school teachers, and even lawmakers indulging in these low-down practices? Again I say, politics is no better or worse than our people. When the people want clean politics and good government, they can have it; and not until people wake up and come to their senses will we ever be any better off. Yours for clean churches, clean politics and good government. — J. N. Scott, Jemison, Ala.

Under the "trial and error" dispensation, the administration commits the errors and the country suffers the trials. — Detroit Free Press.

GEORGE CLARK POLK

Funeral services for George Clark Polk, age 47, were held from the home in Clanton Thursday morning, July 28th, at 11 o'clock, Dr. R. P. Cochran, of Montgomery, and Dr. J. M. Truett officiating. Burial was in Clanton cemetery, Martin in charge. A heart attack was said to have caused his death early Wednesday morning.

Pallbearers were: V. J. Elmore, W. W. Wingard, Grady Reynolds, J. Lee Smith, M. A. Gore, J. P. Lawrence, and Hance Alred. Honorary pallbearers were: Dr. T. H. Neighbors of Goodwater, C. E. Stapp of Selma, Eric Hart of Greenville, Grady Heflin, Frank Callen, Dr. J. P. Hayes, J. R. Hardy, H. F. Downs, and J. R. Mullins.

George C. Polk was born in Coosa County in 1891, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark Polk, near Bradford Academy. He received his schooling in the public schools and at Sylacauga; was married to Miss Mae Williams, of Vincent, in 1910. He worked with his father in the cotton business in Sylacauga, also with a cotton firm in Columbiana for one year. Shortly after he married he moved to Clanton and went into the cotton business for himself, later, 1912, being joined by his brother, W. M. Polk. The two entered the automobile business in 1923, and have continued that business as well as cotton brokers ever since.

Besides one brother, W. M. Polk, surviving are three sisters — Mrs. Henry Jones of Clanton, Mrs. James Neighbors of Corvallis, Ore., and Mrs. S. E. Jones of Eufaula. The wife survives, as well as two daughters, Mrs. Corinne Parr, and Miss Alice Polk, both of Clanton. Mr. George Polk was a Mason.

Since coming to Clanton in 1911, George Polk has occupied a prominent place in the business life of Clanton, always commanding the respect of those with whom he associated.

Fortunately this year's graduates have no illusions. They know life is waiting for them around the corner with a stuffed club. — Torrington Register.

ONE-MAN RULE

The fact that Secretary Ickes is known to his intimates as "Honest Harold" does not make any more palatable the prospect that in his hands alone is to be lodged a life and death power over public utilities in various parts of the country. As PWA administrator, Mr. Ickes will have authority to allocate federal funds to communities which may want to erect municipal power plants. Already, in fact, he has made conditional grants totaling more than $6,000,000 but they will not become final until he is convinced that the private companies already serving the district have refused to sell their properties at a "fair and reasonable" price.

No public official, honest or otherwise, should be asked or permitted to carry on his lone shoulders the judicial burden which this policy embraces. He should not be asked to do it, because it is more than a one man job. He should not be permitted to do it, because it violates the American tradition and is contrary to the public interest. If it is necessary to have decided the question of what is a fair and reasonable offer by the government for private assets, the judgment should be rendered by the courts. That is what courts are fo rand that is the only way to make sure that even-handed justice will be done — justice to the purchaser as well as the seller.

The idea that any buyer, public or otherwise, shall have exclusive right to set the price of a commodity, upsets every American business practice. That it should be adopted by a government which noisily insists on the most rigorous adherence to trade codes by individuals is a development which the average citizen can hardly view with unconcern. — Boston Transcript.

CANADA'S ADVANTAGE

In Canada, according to the National Industrial Conference Board's report for April, business continued to improve as in the month before. The business index rose to almost the 1928 level. Metal production, iron and steel output, and automobile production registered gains. Employment improved for the second consecutive month.

Canada is contiguous to the United States on our entire northern boundary. The line between the two countries is only one drawn on a map. The people are much the same and the resources do not differ greatly for long distances on either side of the line.

Why, then, is Canada forging ahead in prosperity while this country gropes in the depths of depression? Canada has no New Deal. Canada is not trying to spend itself rich. Canada is not subjecting itself to vast and hastily devised experiments.

Is it possible that this is the reason why Canada is beating us? — San Francisco Chronicle.

RE-DISTRIBUTING WEALTH

All the devious devices of our political medicine men to re-distribute the wealth we have are nothing more or less than economic cannibalism. Cannibals eat each other, instead of going out or porducing food. And that is what a civilized people do when they turn all their attention to devouring what they have, rather than trying to create more and thereby have more for everybody to consume. — Nation's Business.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

We have heard a great deal in recent months of the amount of additional burden being placed on the people of the country in the way of increased taxes. Since many of these taxes came to the average consumer, disguised in the higher cost of living, a majority of us have not yet become tax conscious and possess neither the material nor the time for making an analysis of the tax situation. A careful analysis was made recently, however, when the American Federation of Investors, Inc., surveyed the reports of 150 of the leading industrial concerns of America. The list includes such gigantic business as the United States Steel Corporation, the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, and the General Motors Corporation. The results figures are in some cases startling. For example, in 1937 these concerns paid out the sum of $1,631,000 in taxes, an average of $2.62 on each share of common stock. On the other hand, the dividends on the common stock amounted to $1.92 per share, so that the taxes exceeded the dividends by 34 per cent.

Total taxes paid last year averaged $291 per common shareholder, and in the case of 143 reporting companies, taxes increased 19 per cent in 1937 over 1936. The economists making the survey were unable to get tax records from all the companies back to 1932, but such records were obtained from 124 corporations. In 1932 these companies paid in taxes $681,648,286, while in 1937 they paid out $1,422,670,853, an increase of 109 per cent in taxes since the New Deal began.

It must not be taken that this is a tax on the "plutocrats". It is paid by the small shareholders as well as by the public in general in the way of higher prices. The American Federation of Investors says:

"The capital of these 150 companies is furnished not by a few wealthy citizens, as many suppose, but by 6,490,000 stockholders of preferred and common stock, the vast majority of whom are small investors. The average number of common shares held by each investor is 111. More than three-fourths of the shareholders have less than 100 shares in which they have invested their savings.

"The total number of employees of these companies in 1937 is reported as 3,171,000, or about one-half the number of investors.

"Another important fact shown by this study is that the total taxes paid by these 150 companies in 1937 averaged $291 per common shareholder, or $514 per employee."

Here are some interesting and startling facts. In addition to the taxes passed on to the public in the way of higher prices, by hidden taxes, it is shown that the small investor in American business is taxed in a greater amount than his dividends, while the millions of employees of the companies have their wages necessarily held down because of the great overhead in the way of taxes. The Federation points out too that more than 50 billions of dollars invested in American business is owned by 64 million life insurance policy holders and 44 million savings bank depositors. We cannot escape taxation by trying ti shift the burden. The only wise and sensible plan is to reduce taxes by practicing economy in national and local governments. There is no other way out except repudiation and general disaster.

FORCES FOR RECOVERY

What are the permanent forces for recovery? To this question economic theory and practical observation give the same answer. The forces making for permanent recovery are the forces of private investment — investment in new plants and equipment for the mills and factories making consumption goods; in new equipment and replacements for the railroads; in new equipment and extensions for the utilities; in new housing to replace the accumulated deficiencies of 10 years, in whch little residential construction has occurred; in new stores and office buildings in the nation's cities and towns. The failure of private investment to revive was the distinguishing characteristic of the so-called recovery which we had in 1936 and 1937. Had there been even a moderate acceleration in the pace o finvestment in these and other fields in those years, there would have been no such collapse as we have seen during the past 12 months. — Baltimore Sun.

WHO ARE THEIR FRIENDS?

"We've got to keep our friends in power", Deputy Administrator Williams told a group of WPA men. But are they actually friends of the unemployed?

The policies of the administration steadily are making it more and more difficult to provide permanent employment. These policies are condemning those who are unemployed to permanent WPA work — as long as the money holds out.

They are not helping those on WPA, they are harming them. Surveys made throughout the country show that a majority of the unemployed are anxious to get off of relief and go back to work in private industry.

But private industry can only provide employment when there is demand for goods. Deman for goods is slackening because the policies of "our friends" are forcing costs higher on the one hand and cutting down buying power seriously on the other. They are making it more and more difficult for private enterprise to function normally and for America to provide full employment. — Syracuse Post-Standard.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our husband and son. We deeply appreciate the beautiful floral offerings, and especially do we thank Dr. Pickering, our deputy sheriff, and Mr. Martin. — Mrs. Ernest Hamrick and family, Mrs. G. M. Hamrick and family.

ERNEST C. HAMRICK

On July 16 God saw fit to call our dear friend away. He was in ill health for several months. He was carried to the veterans hospital and stayed three weeks, where the doctors found they could not do anything for him. He was brought to his mother's home in Maplesville and lived one week and one day. He said before he died that he was ready to go to a better world.

The funeral was conducted at the Maplesville Baptist church by Rev. G. G. Williams; the burial was in Pleasant Grove community, with Martin in charge. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and five children, Mrs. Ruby Hamrick, and R. L., Louise, Lester, Olen, and Frank; his mother, and several brothers and sisters. — Earl Bray.

HUETT FAMILY REUNION

On last Sunday, July 31, the children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett, of Enterprise community, gathered at Enterprise schoolhouse for their annual family reunion.

The morning was spent in talking of childhood days, and of happenings at Enterprise school, where all the children of Mr. and Mrs. Huett attended. About 11 o'clock there was a watermelon cutting, which was thoroughly enjoyed. At noon a bountiful dinner was spread under the trees, and enjoyed; 59 people were present, including all of the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Huett, except three grandchildren. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Huett and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morris and family of that community, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Patterson and family of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Elland of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Huett and family of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Huett and family of Coosada, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moody of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bishop and baby of Chattanooga, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Billingsley and family of Prattville, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cagle, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wyatt and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Huett, Miss Lorene Huett, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Jones and family of Sylacauga, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Morris, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Huett of Floyd, Mrs. N. D. Dees and granddaughter of Sylacauga, Mrs. Mary Williams, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Boockholdt and family, Miss Mary Clark of Coosada, and Mr. Wesley McGowin of Elmore.

Late in the afternoon all departed for their respective homes, hoping that we may all meet again next year.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Mrs. W. F. Glenn had as her visiting friends last Saturday night Mrs. J. R. Mitchell and son, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Harris and son of near Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jones and daughter are visiting Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. Willie Glenn, this week, attending hte revival at this place.

Some few from here attended the singing at Green Hill school, in Coosa County, last Sunday.

The singing school at this place was just fine. It was taught by Mr. Audie Brown, and closed last Friday.

Dr. Wilson and Mr. Hollis from Birmingham were in this community on business last week.

Mr. J. L. Lansford made a business trip to Birmingham last week.

Mr. Chester Clark from New York is here visiting his kindred in Chilton County, also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark, of Coosa County.

The homecoming at Maple Springs last Sunday was a great day, with the church full and the church ground covered. There was preaching, speaking, and singing by a number of directors, and several good quartets. Come back next Sunday to Sunday school at 10 a.m.

On last Sunday, July 31, the children of Mrs. Mart McKee celebrated her birthday; she was 74 years old. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis and children, Mr. and Mrs. Gaddis Deloach and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Glenn and children, and many others.

Messrs. Reese Roland and Jim Mitchell have been on Coosa River fishing for several days, and report good luck.

Mr. Wiley Jones made a trip to Tennessee last week with a load of watermelons.

CEMETERY CLEANING AT BETHANY CHURCH

There will be a working at Bethany church on Wednesday, August 10, for the purpose of cleaning off the cemetery. Everybody come and bring tools to work with.

PATES CHAPEL

Sunday school was quite small Sunday on account of the weather. Let's all come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

Remember, the second and fourth Saturday nights and Sundays in each month are our regular preaching days. Everybody is welcome any time at Pates Chapel.

G. A. girls, remember we have changed our program to the second Saturday evening in every month.

MARINES TAKING ON MORE MEN

Macon, Ga., Aug. 2. — The quota of enlistments for August assigned to the United States Marine Corps recruiting district of Macon, headquarters for Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee, has been set at 40, Major J. M. Tildsley, district recruiting officer, announced.

The Marine Corps offers a variety of duty, and upon the completion of initial training at the Parris Island, S. C., Marine base, the newly enlisted Marine is selected for further training in aviation, radio, sea service, or advanced naval and military studies. Marine serve principally aboard battleships and cruisers, and ashore beyond the seas.

Young men in this area between the ages of 18 and 28, ranging in height from 64 to 74 inches, in good physical condition, single, without dependents, with at least an 8th grade education and of good moral character, who desire information of the opportunities afforded by service in the Marines may procure same by writing to the Marine Corps Recruiting Station at Macon. Application forms will be sent on request.

A quart of milk for each child and a pint of milk for each adult daily, together with a sufficient supply for making butter, should be provided on every Alabama farm. Usually two good milk cows, one freshening in the fall and the other in the spring, will be required to supply the family's needs.

Purchases of farm commodities which were distributed to relief families by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation totaled over $45,500,000 during the 1937-1938 fiscal year, and more than a billion pound of foodstuffs diverted from the rgeular commercial channels, says A. W. Jones, administrative officer of the AAA in Alabama.

Alabama farm people will make up a farm forum discussion which will be broadcast from Auburn over the entire network of the Columbia Broadcasting System on Sunday, August 7, at 2 p.m., according to P. O. Davis, director of the state agricultural extension service, who invites Alabamians to listen to the program "The Farmer Takes The Mike".

Alabama farmers need to grow $20,000,000 worth of vegetables more than they are now producing, states W. A. Ruffin, state extension horticulturist. To do this it is necessary for the garden to receive more attention than any other area on the farm. Some of the things that can be put into the fall garden during August are lima beans, bush snap beans, English peas, beets, carrots, Irish potatoes, squash, turnips, and corn.

WPA workers building a highway in Idaho are reported making rapid progress. They unearthed a cache of pre-prohibition liquor on the right-of-way, and it is rumored that there is more somewhere around. — Jamestown Post.

Did you know that automobile license tags are higher in 15 states than they are in Alabama? That gasoline taxes are higher in 7 states than they are ni Alabama? That cigaret taxes are higher in 37 states than they are in Alabama? That corporation income taxes are higher in 35 states than they are in Alabama? That personal income taxes are higher in 46 states than they are in Alabama?

In 1919 the average price of gasoline in the United States, paid by the consumer, was a fraction less than 30 cents per gallon. At that time only a few states had placed a tax on it. In 1936 the average price at filling stations was a little less than 19½ cents per gallon, and the average tax in the United States was a fraction less than 5½ cents per gallon. The present average daily consumption of gasoline in the United States is more than 50 million gallons.

In comparing taxes in the United States with taxes in England, Harold M. Grove, professor of public finance at the University of Misconsin, says the average license fees on cars in England are over $53.00, while in this country they are $8.50. The taxes on gasoline in that country are 15.6 cents per gallon, while the average in this country is 5.5 cents.

Hundreds of members of congress were in a big hurry to get away from Washington when congress finally dragged itself to adjournment. They wanted to get home and start on their arrangements to get back to Washington. — Pittsburgh Headlight.

SINGING AT MT. ZION

There will be an all day singing the first Sunday in August, the 7th. All are cordially invited to come, bring your lunch and new song books of all kinds, and help us enjoy the day. We are expecting some good singers and quartets from Oak Grove, Center Hill, Cane Creek, Pleasant Hill, Mineral Springs, and others. Everybody is invited. Come one, come all!

61 Newspapers Represented In Trip To Havana, Cuba

Montgomery, Aug. 1. — Serving in the dual role of vacationists and unofficial good will ambassadors, 300 Alabamians — including representatives of 61 newspapers — spent a glamorous three days and four nights in Havana, Cuba, last week as members of the Alabama Press Association's third convention tour to the Cuban capitol.

The week's 2,000-mile vacation tour — which included a 300-mile overnight boat trip from Port Tampa to Havana and return — ended early Saturday evening when the Atlantic Coast Line's special air-conditioned train pulled into Montgomery's terminal station, where the tour began on the previous Sunday morning.

After leaving Montgomery Sunday morning, July 17, the party's special train arrived late that afternoon at Port Tampa, where the Peninsular and Occidental Steamship Company's S. S. Cuba was waiting for the over-night sail to Key West. Upon arrival at Key West at 10 a.m., on Monday, an hour of sight-seeing was enjoyed in this southernmost city of the United States.

That afternoon at 4 p.m., the party sailed up the harbor past Moro Castle. At the docks to greet the visitors were officials of the Cuban Tourist Commission and Adolph Valdez, owner of the Hotel Plaza, where the Alabamians made their headquarters throughout their delightful visit in Havana. So complete was the hospitality of Mr. Valdez that officials of the Alabama Press Association and each member of the party were unanimous in their designation of him as a "perfect host".

The Alabama delegation was royally entertained on numerous occasions by the highest government officials in Cuba, who spared neither expense nor time in showing their cordial hospitality. On Tuesday afternoon, after visiting the offices of Havana newspapers, the party attended a reception given by Mayor Antonio Beruff Medieta at the City Hall. As did the other officials, Mayor Mendieta spoke in glowing terms of welcome, and the reply was made by C. L. Walton, Lafayette, president of the Alabama Press Association. On display at the reception was an elaborate exhibit of sewing and other articles made by Cuban school children.

On Wednesday morning an official reception was tendered the Alabamians by President Laredo Bru in the magnificent presidential palace. By speaking through an interpreter, President Bru cordially invited the party to return to Havana for a fourth time in the near future, and termed their visit one in a chain of similar friendly gestures calculated to cement bonds of friendship which have always existed between the people of Cuba and the United States.

On behalf of the entire party, Mr. Walton thanked President Bru for the many courtesies extended the party by Cuban officials, and as a token of the cordial feeling of Alabama and the United States, presented him with a gift set of handsome towels manufactured at Fairfax, Ala. Mr. Walton the nread letters of greeting from Gov. Graves, who had expected to make the trip, Senator Lister Hill, Speaker William D. Bankhead, and Senator John H. Bankhead. Assembling in the beautiful rotunda of the Cuban capitol Thursday morning, the party was received by the president of the Senate and the speaker of the House of Representatives.

The activities each evening in Havana began with an elaborate dinner-dance on the Plaza Hotel roof garden. After dinner on Tuesday evening the party looked in for a time on a jai-alai game, one of the three types of gambling authorized by the Cuban government — the others being cock fighting and the national lottery. As in tennis, both singles and doubles can be played in jai-alai, which requires a court about 30 feed wide, 100 feet long, and three walls about 25 feet high. The ball is hurled by the players from a narrow basket type of wicker glove about 18 inches long. Visits followed then to two of Havana's gay night clubs, Sans Souci and the summer Casino LaPlaya.

On Tuesday morning the party visited the La Corona cigar factory and took an extended motor trip over both new and old sections of Havana, including visits to the Merced church, where a service was in progress, the Maine monument on the beautiful gulf shore drive, and other historical points of interest. The party then drove through the Colon cemetery up Havana's Fifth Avenue where many of the best residences are located, and then to the famous Tropical Gardens for a luncheon given by the National Tourist Commission.

Following the reception at the presidential palace no Wednesday morning the party was entertained by the Bacardi Co. That afternoon an inspection trip was made to Camp Columbia, headquarters of the Cuban military forces. Here they were greeted by Major Jaime Marine, in the absence of Col. Fulgencio Batista, army chief of staff. That evening after dinner the party visited the Spanish Club, the Garden of Eden, and Kursall night clubs, and several sidewalk cafes.

While at Camp Columbia, Marjor Marine informed the party that Col. Batista, who had been detained in Santiago, had sent an urgent invitation that the entire party visit the new Civic-Military Institute. Mr. Walton explained that provision for a trip to the Institute was not included in the tour. Major Marine then informed the Alabama officials that he would arrange the tour without expense to the visitors.

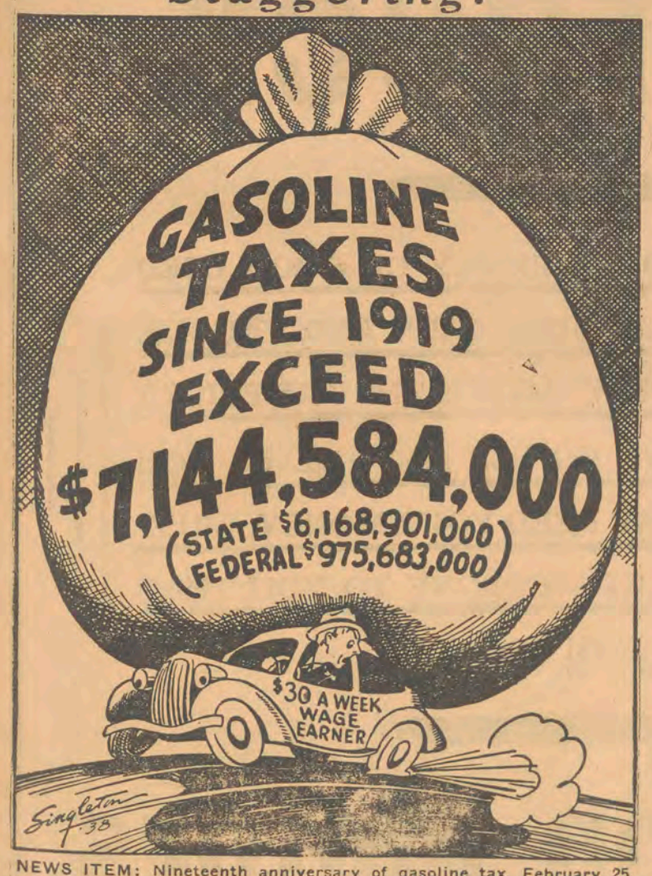
As a result of this extreme courtesy on the part of Col. Batista, extended through his personal representative and chief aid, Major Marine, the itinerary was immediately changed to include a visit to the Civic-Military Institute on Thursday morning after the reception at the Cuban capitol. Located at Ceiba del Agua, this excellent institution gives the best in classical, practical and military education to Cuban boys from the age of 6 to 17 years whose fathers have died in municipal or government service. Prior to the luncheon served there, a special review was staged by the young cadets in honor of the Alabama visitors. Heading the reception committee at the Institute was its president, Dr. Juan Abascal, who extended evedy courtesy and entertained the party in a most delightful manner to make the visit one of the outstanding features of the tour.

Late Thursday afternoon a cocktail party was given by the Reporters Association of Havana at its clubhouse. The music featured torrid Cuban, Spanish, and African rhythms. As a token of appreciation from the newspaper people of Alabama, Mr. Walton presented a handsome engraved gavel set to the president of the association. The inscription read: "To the Reporters Association of Havana from the Alabama Press Association, July 18, 1938".

The visit to Havana came to a delightful climax when a gala farewell banquet and dance was given Thursday evening on the Plaza Hotel roof garden by the Hotel Association of Havana under the auspices of the Cuban Tourist Commission. Music was by two superb orchestras — one an all-girl band, and the other a costumed band which featured native Cuban rhythms. Also, there was a colorful floor show which included much of the best talent of stage and radio in Havana. Cuban guests of honor included E. L. Dardet and Dr. Luis Machado, president and executive secretary, respectively, of the Tourist Commission; Mayor Mendieta's personal representative; president of the Havana Hotel Association; and many other ranking government, military, and civic officials. Charles A. Fell, of The Birmingham News, spoke on behalf of the Alabama Press Association.

While in Havana a courtesy call was paid by Messrs. Walton, Giles, Bryan, Stanley, Hall, Langrebe, and Russell, to the U. S. Ambassador J. Butler Wright, at the American Embassy.

Other Press Association officials who accompanied President Walton on the trip were M. C. Giles, Sheffield, Vice President; R. C. Bryan, Elba, secretary; and the following members of the executive committee: Cody Hall, Alexander City; F. W. Stanley, Greenville; Miss Clara Burleson, Hartselle; Jesse Adams, Ozark; and W. W. Bateman, Wetumpka. The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce was represented by its president, Benjamin Russell, Alexander City, and the industrial committee of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce was represented by Manager L. E. Foster, Karl Landgrebe, and Ed LeMay.



"Alabama and Cuba now enjoy a profitable trade relationship", said Mr. Walton in one of his Havana addresses. "Commerce across the Gulf is now greater than at any time since 1929, and recent devolpments pave the way for an even greater industrial and business expansion between our respective business interests. The free port at Mobile will open up to the islands of the Gulf unprecedented avenues for extension of commerce in the markets of Alabama and throughout the mainland. Trade barriers on exports and imports are being measured by men of both governments, and around the council table of both nations barriers are to be lifted to guarantee economic salvation and greater prosperity for all of us."

The trip was arranged through Roy Brown Tours, Inc., Montgomery. Accompanying the party also was Walter Wharton, traffic manager for A. C. L. Railroad, and Austin Williamson, of the P. & O. Steamship Company.

Attending on the tour from Clanton was Mrs. Alpha Wyatt, representing The Union-Banner. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Doster, Miss Clara O'Donnell, and others from Prattville attended.

Staggering!

NEWS ITEM: Nineteenth anniversary of gasoline tax, February 25, 1938, reveals motorist taxpayers, largely $30-a-week wage-earners, have paid grand total of $7,144,584,000, of which $6,168,901,000 represents state gasoline taxes and $975,683,000 is in payment of duplicating federal levy, imposed "temporarily" in 1932. First gasoline tax was levied by Oregon in 1919 at rate of 1 cent a gallon.

To Conduct Revival

FIVE MINUTES WITH YOUR BIBLE

Salvation Through Christ!

1. For what purpose did Christ come into the world?

"This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners". — I Tim. 1:15.

2. Why was He named "Jesus"?

"Thou shall call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sin". — Matt. 1:21.

3. Is there salvation through any other?

"Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name given among men, whereby we must be saved." — Acts 4:12.

4. Through whom are we reconciled to God?

"All things are of God, Who hath reconciled us to Himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation, to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them". — II Cor. 5:18,19.

5. What has Christ been made for us, and for what purpose?

"For He hath made Him to sin for us Who knew no sin, that we might be made righteous of God in Him". — II Cor. 5:21.

6. How dependent are we upon Christ for salvation?

"I am the vine, ye are the branches; without me ye can do nothing". — John 15:5.

7. What three essentials for a Savior are found in Christ?

(a) Deity. "But unto the Son He saith, Thy throne, O God, is forever and forever". — Heb. 1:8.

(b) Humanity. "When the fullness of the time was come, God sent forth His Son, made of a woman, made under the law". — Gal. 4:4.

(c) Sinlessness. "Who did no sin, neither was guile found in His mouth". — I Pet. 2:22.

8. How did Christ show from the scripture that the promised Savior must be both human and divine?

"While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, saying, What think ye of Christ? Whose son is He? They said unto Him, the son of David. He said unto them, How then doth Christ in spirit call Him Lord, saying, the Lord saith unto my Lord, sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool? If David then call Him Lord, how is He his son?" — Matt. 22:41-45.

(Note — Another has aptly put this important truth concerning the union of the human and divine in Christ thus: "Divinity needed humanity that humanity might afford a channel of communication between God and man. Man needs a power out of and above himself to restore him to the likeness of God. There must be a power working from within, a new life from above, before man can be changed from sin to holiness. That power is Christ".)

9. What two facts testify to the union of divinity and humanity in Christ?

"Concerning His Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh, and declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead." — Rom. 1:3,4.

10. How complete was Christ's victory over death?

"I am the first and the last; I am He that liveth, and was dead; and behold, I am alive forever more, Amen; and have the keys of hell and death". — Rev. 1:17,18. "Whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death, because it was not possible that He should be holden of it". — Acts 2:24.

11. How complete is the salvation obtained in Christ?

"Wherefore, He is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them." — Heb. 7:25.

12. What should we say for such a Savior?

"Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift." — II Cor. 9:15. — (Arranged by Rev. W. H. Westermeyer, pastor of the Montgomery Seventh Day Adventist church, 629 So. McDonough St., Montgomery, Ala.)

NOTICE TO SHARE CROPPERS AND TENANTS IN CHILTON COUNTY

Monday, August 1, is designated as official opening date for receiving applications from farm tenants, share croppers, and farm laborers under the provisions of the Bankhead - Jones Far Tenant Act. The closing date for receiving applications will be Wednesday, August 31.

Farm tenants, share croppers, laborers and other families who live in this county and who can qualify under the provisions of the Bankhead - Jones Farm Tenant Act may make applications for federals loans to finance purchase of family sized farms this year, said Marvin Durbin, county FSA Rehabilitation supervisor.

This county was designated to have the tenant purchase-loan program in addition to the other services of assistance to low income farm families included in the FSA Rural Rehabilitation program.

Families in this county who wish federal aid to purchase a good farm may visit the local FSA rehabilitation offices in the Potts building in Clanton. Information and application blanks may also be secured from the county agent, J. W. ant, in the Potts buildin. Application forms and information may be secured from the vocational agriculture teachers at Isabella, Jemison and Chilton County High Schools, or R. M. Foshee, L. G. Posey, or O. R. Lawrence, county FSA advisory committeemen. The application period will be open for a short time only, so all who are interested are advised to act without delay. Applications made in this county are submitted for examination of the local FSA advisory committee, composed of residents in this county. Approved loans will be certified by this committee within the limits of the funds available for the present fiscal year's program.

Land must be bought at reasonable prices and must be capable of affording an abundant living for the family and margin of profit necessary to meet loan payments. FSA will not list land for sale. Options may be taken for lands only after the application period is over. The FSA will recognize no obligation to buy until after appraisal of land and official approval of the purchase proposition. Farm and home plans will be made out for each farm considering the available family labor and the production possibilities of the farm to be bought. o loan will be approved in this program where the farm and home plan does not reveal sufficient probable income to justify adequate farm buildings. All services of the Rural Rehabilitation program will be made available to farm families who acquire land in this program, concluded Marvin Durbin.

ALABAMA TRUCK OWNERS WILL SUPPORT DIVERSION AMENDMENT

Selma, Aug. 1. — The Alabama Motor Truck Operators Association, with members in all parts of the state, announced this week that it will support fully the efforts of the Alabama Motorists Association to bring about the ratification of Amendment No. 1 to end the diversion of highway funds.

In announcing the support of the truck operators, C. A. Wicker, president, said the members of his Association pay a substantial part of the millions of dollars of special automotive taxes collected each year by the state, and that the over-all tax burden on a truck in Alabama amounts usually to several hundred dollars, some trucks paying as high as $3,000 a year.

SEVENTY MILLION TREES FOR SOUTHERN LAND

Farmers and landowners in the South will shortly have available approximately 70 million seedlings for planting on eroded or non-productive farm land, according to Regional Forester Joseph C. Kircher, of the U. S. Forest Service. These seedlings range from slash pine to black locust, and are produced by the various state forest services in state owner nurseries, and will be distributed to the public at cost of production.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

The Democrats done swarmed, and now the boll weevils are at it — just one family of insects after another — I wonder what is coming next. If it ain't one thing, it's somep'n else. It's a good thing we don't know the future. If we did, I guess we would go crazy, and maybe some of us wouldn't have far to go, at that. Yessom. — Uncle Remus.

DR. PARRISH THANKS COUNTY DOG OWNERS

I wish to thank the dog owners of Chilton County for their wonderful co-operation. Also, I wish to request them to continue their cooperation if they wish to see all other dogs vaccinated, for without your aid the deputy inspector will not be able to find all unvaccinated dogs. If the deputy inspector asks to see your vaccination certificate, please show him, as it is his duty.

I also wish to advise that these deputy inspectors will be clothed with authority from state and county to carry on their work, so do not let anyone vaccinate your dog who does not give you a state certificate or who cannot show his authority from the county health officials. Please let me advise that all who have not and do not have dogs treated will be guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject to fine of from $1 to $10 in each case. I will still vaccinate your dog at my home; the charge will be $1. — W. L. Parrish.

G. O. P. Will Make New Deal "Audit"

Forum On Current Problems Will Cover Phases Of Economic Changes

Chicago, Aug. 1. — An unusual forum on current problems will mark the Republican program committee's first step in charting a course it hopes will bring a party victory in the 1940 elections.

Labor, agriculture, social security, finance, relief, civil service, and political liberty were listed as the principal subjects to be covered in sub-committee reports and "round table" discussions from Monday through Saturday.

"We are not engaged in petty and vindictive fault finding with the New Deal", said Chairman Glenn Frank, former University of Wisconsin president.

"We are not a sneering squad. We are in the midst of an honest effort to formulate policies that will actually advance the well being and happiness of the American people. This is a moral obligation, we feel, and it is the best politics a truly responsible party can play".

Frank said, however, the administration's "pump priming" would come up for critical study at the sessions, as well as "the plight" of the unemployed on relief rolls, the marketing problems of the American farmer, and "the proper scope of governmental responsibility for medical care".

The forum, new in American politics, is part of the committee's "audit" of the New Deal, to be followed by a report of policy on national issues and a restatement of the party's political and economic philosophy in the light of current conditions.

The program committee was established last fall by the Republican National Committee to do research work on basic national problems and ascertain the views of the rank and file and party leaders.

The committee's recommendations, which headquarters said would be ready within 12 to 18 months, may be used as the basis of the party platform in 1940.

Seeking a cross section of views on national problems, sub-committees in the nine geographical regions have been sounding public opinion for the past four months.

The full committee will consider the reports and results of discussion at the closing sessions of the conference on the Chicago campus of Northwestern University. Approximately 240 committee members and 25 technical advisers planned to attend the forums.

That was a bit of luck which, in Miss Sullavan's career, offsets embarrassing entanglements in some of the most elaborate flops in current stage history. Today, she is at the peak of her career as critics turn cartwheels and back flips over the new film, "Three Comrades," and Miss Sullavan's performance therein.

Her story has none of the up-from-poverty success routine. She is the daughter of a prideful family of Norfolk, Va., a descendant of Robert E. Lee. Her journey to Boston to study dancing was indulged as a passing whim, but there was considerable family eye-rolling when she switched to the theater and began adventuring in summer stock, on Cape Cod and way points.

Her father got her home once, but only for a short time. It is to be hoped that her story won't be widely circulated around Hollywood. It would start all the extra girls sleeping in a draft.

The Average Month

We are apt to think of our present months as having four weeks apiece, but that is not true. The average month contains just about four and one-third weeks. The only month with four weeks in it is February, and in leap year even February has one day over four weeks.

A woman writer (not Mrs. Roosevelt) says that whenever she feels in the dumps she always goes out and buys a new hat. And that, of course, puts the old man in the dumps.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Miller, of Lay Dam, was carried home from Central Alabama Hospital Wednesday of last week. The little child was hit by a car in Clanton Saturday afternoon, July 16th.

Ray Miller was carried home by Martin's ambulance Thursday of last week from Central Alabama Hospital, where he had been treated for a few days for a .22 rifle bullet wound.

THREE-YEAR-OLD CHILD BURIED AT MT. PISGAH

Gladys Delene Hayes, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hayes, of Billingsley Route 1, died at Central Alabama Hospital Monday night. Burial was at Mt. Pisgah Tuesday at 11 o'clock, services conducted by Dr. S. J. Ezell; Martin in charge. Pallbearers were: Gene and Leon Aldridge, Harvey Chandler and Obie Patterson. The mother and father survive, as well as three brothers and one sister. It is a grandchild of Mr. Elbert E. Edwards, who also survives.

The little girl contracted blood poisoning from another child squeezing a pimple on her nose three days before she died.

CHILTON COUNTY FAIR AT AIRPORT SEPT. 20-24

"Democratic primary number three has just been held in Chilton. One or two more and we might find out what became of that absentee ballot box".—Chilton County News, August 4, 1938.

It appears to this humble scribe that what we are interested in is not how many primaries the Democrats or any other party holds, or what became of the absentee ballot box, nearly so much as it is to the interest of the good citizens of the county to have insight into what was in that absentee box that made it necessary for those honest and courageous citiizens to take the box and thus prevent its contents from being counted as legal votes. Also we believe the people would like to know, and have a right to know, why there have been no arrests. Will someone furnish the voters this information?

'PHONE COMPANY DOES TREE WORK

C. David Bauer, Specialist, Afforded Expert Advice To Property Owners

During the past month Southern Bell Telephone Company has been engaged in doing some very badly needed and most commendable work on the shade trees of Clanton. The primary purpose of the company was to clear their lines and cables, but they have done considerably more than that. All of the dead limbs and unsightly branches on the trees have been removed and the trees doctored up in different ways. Loads upon loads of dead wood has been taken from the trees and hauled off, and the trees have been made to present a much finer and cared-for appearance.

This work of the telephone company is in charge of a tree expert, Mr. C. David Bauer, who has had many years of training and service in tree surgery. After finishing his course in a recognized school, Mr. Bauer spent 16 years in actual work with trees in the East; in recent years he has worked his profession in the South. He takes his work seriously and seems delighted to help people with their trees and do whatever he undertakes in the best manner possible. He knows trees and he enjoys working with and beautifying them.

To say that the work of Mr. Bauer and the telephone company on Clanton's shade trees is appreciated is the mildest way of expressing the feeling of the citizens and officials of the city. He has done immeasurable good to the trees of Clanton. This service was worth much to the property owners along the phone lines and cables. Mr. Bauer appreciates the cooperation extended him by the people of Clanton, who have shown that they are interested in the care of their trees.

Mr. Bauer points out that one great service he has rendered is in reducing the raising places for Clanton's large armies of ants. Dead wood in trees is where lots of them bed and raise — most of such places have been removed by Mr. Bauer and his workmen. Further information about destroying ants will be gladly furnished by the county agent's office.

The telephone company has done this work on the streets in conjunction with rebuilding the lines for the new central office and the installation of a modern system in the city. The general work is under the supervision of Mr. Gus Henderson, of Montgomery, who has charge of construction for Southern Bell in the Montgomery territory.

The company expects to open for business in the new building on Seventh Street about the last of August. It will require rushing the work some, but they will be ready by that time or a short while later.

Definite announcement of the exact opening date of the new service will be made at a later date by Mr. T. E. Harris, district manager, of Montgomery.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM OLD CHILTON COUNTY CITIZEN

In connection with a request for the publication of an account of the 13th annual reunion of the Creel family at Corner High School, near Birmingham recently, The Union-Banner received the following interesting note from a former Chilton County citizen, who now lives at Cullman:

"Editor Union-Banner:

"Please publish the enclosed account of our reunion when you have space. I taught school in the northern part of Chilton County in 1895, 1896, and 1897, and was licensed to preach by Providence Baptist church, Beat 13, in December, 1896. I have many friends in Chilton County, and I am hoping that old Chilton will elect a full Republican ticket in November. Fraternally, J. E. Creel".

SIDEWALKS WOULD HELP ON WEST FOURTH AVENUE

Travelers out Maplesville road notice the absence of sidewalks on either side of Fourth Avenue from the home of Mrs. W. J. Fiquett on west. It appears that there should be sidewalks on both sides of this avenue out as far as the intersection beyond the home of Green Retherford. This improvement would greatly enhance the appearance of this thoroughfare as well as make it safer for pedestrians and traffic. One man was killed out there by an automobile not long ago, which might have been avoided if there had been sidewalks all along there.

Mayor C. Fenn Jones points out that if the property owners want sidewalks on that street, or any other street as for that matter, WPA help may be procured for the same. It might be well for the people out Fourth Avenue to look into this matter while Santa Claus is offering assistance.

EDWARDS-COPPOCK

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Edwards of Clanton announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucille, to Ernest Coppock of Jacksonville, the wedding to be an event of early fall.

GLASSCOCK - ROBINSON

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Glasscock of Jemison announce the engagement of their daughter, Charles Frances, to Aubrey R. Robinson, of Verbena, the wedding to be an event of August.

WILLIAMS - MANNING

H. H. Williams, of Thomasville, Ga., announces the engagement of his daughter, Mary Alice, of Thomasville and Clanton, to Clifford Mitchell Manning, of Maplesville, Ala., the wedding to be an event of August 24.

ROPER - TEDDER

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Roper of Clanton announce the engagement of their daughter, Gladys, to Milton Tedder, of Birmingham, the wedding to take place the latter part of August.

Miss Cook Married To Mr. Rummel

A wedding of wide interest took place at the First Baptist Church of Clanton Sunday morning, August 7th, at 9 o'clock when Miss Virginia Cook became the bride of Mr. Joseph Rummel. The beautiful ring ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. Oscar Davis.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. I. Cook, of Roanoke, Ala., and has been a popular teacher and head of the Domestic Science department of Chilton County High School for a number of years, so Clanton is happy to claim her as our own.

Mr. Rummel, originally from Arkansas, has been with the Alabama Power Company for several years. Clanton is delighted to welcome these young people, who come to make their permanent home with us.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of garden flowers and tube roses. The bride and her only attendant, her sister, Miss Mary Jo Cook, were becomingly attired in traveling costumes. They were met at the altar by Mr. Rummel and his best man, Mr. John Powers.

The organist, Miss Grace Ezell, rendered Liebestraum, by Liszt, before the ceremony. The Bridal Chorus, by Wagner, was used for the processional, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the recessional. Ave Maris, by Schubert, was played softly during the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Rummel left immediately for a wedding trip to several points in the South. About September 1st they will be at home in the Mrs. Hugh Foshee apartments.

Many friends attended this wedding, lovely in its simplicity and dignity. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Snuggs, Mrs. J. I. Cook, Miss Mary Jo Cook, and Dr. W. F. Lane, all of Roanoke, Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis and family of Mitchell Dam, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Powers and family of Lay Dam, and many others.

CLARDY QUALIFIES TO OPPOSE DIXON

W. A. Clardy, of Roanoke, Republican candidate for governor, Wednesday filed acceptance of his nomination with Secretary of State Howell Turner. Clardy will oppose Frank M. Dixon, Birmingham, the democratic nominee, in the November 8 general election.

NEW HARDWARE STORE TO OPEN

Murray-Bell Company To Open Maplesville Store About August 15th

The Murray-Bell Hardware Company is spreading out. Somebody said: "You can't keep a good man down", which fact is borne out by the energetic and persistent Jimmie Bell. This young man came to Clanton three and a half years ago and opened up the Murray-Bell Hardware Company, which business has grown by leaps and bounds ever since. Mr. Bell has proven himself to be a hustling business man, who knows how to make friends and keep them — and customers too.

The new hardware store in Maplesville will be located in the Crumpton building next to Cal Foshee's store, and will be just another Murray-Bell store. Mr. Bell assures everyone that the same bargain prices will prevail in Maplesville as do at the Clanton store, and the same high grade merchandise will be handled.

Mr. Hymon Atchison, who has been working at the store in Clanton, will be manager of the Maplesville store, which will open for business on or about Monday, August 15th. The many friends of the company are asked to bear in mind the opening date, and visit Murray-Bell in Maplesville.

Read the announcement of the opening in a large adv. elsewhere in this issue of your Union-Banner.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT SAMARIA ALL NEXT WEEK

REV. E. U. CALVERT
Of Shawmut, Ala.

Who will assist the pastor, Rev. M. I. McLeod, in revival services at Samaria Baptist church, near Clanton, beginning Sunday, August 14th, and continuing through the following week and closing Sunday, August 21st. Services twice daily — at 11 a.m., and 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

HUGH THOMPSON BUILDING NEW BIG WAREHOUSE

Workmen are engaged in building for Mr. Hugh Thompson, near his gin above Selma Highway bridge, a large new warehouse for cotton. It is north of the gin house, and is constructed of sheet iron — siding, roof and all. It is large enough, Mr. Thompson says, to care for the cotton he will be asked to store this coming season. Mr. Thompson's old warehouse is full of government cotton.

A causeway is being built around the rear of the gin house, on which the bales of cotton will be trucked into the new warehouse.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOPPE GIVES HINTS TO THE LADIES

When the heat gets to be too much for you, and you begin to doubt your own charms, a trip to the Modern Beauty Shoppe will do wonders in bolstering your morale. A lazy hour spent in our comfortable shop with one of the assistants doing lovely things to your hands, or a fresh shampoo, and an enchanting coiffure that makes you look cool and mysterious, will send you home in such a pleasant frame of mind that you will feel like the queen of beauty. But then those Modern Beauty Shoppe girls just naturally know how to make your appointment pleasant and restful.

G. O. P.'S FILE FOR NOVEMBER RACE

Montgomery, Aug. 9. — W. L. Longshore, Birmingham, had filed with the Secretary of State today acceptance of the Republican nominatioin for lieutenant governor in the November general election.

Longshore will oppose Attorney General Albert A. Carmichael, who defeated two other candidates in last spring's primary for the Democratic nomination.

Ten other Republican candidates, including a full legislative slate, qualified from Jefferson County. They were:

T. J. Kennamer, for Congress from the 9th District; J. Howard McEniry, Solicitor for the 10th Judicial Circuit; J. G. Bass, State Senate from the 13th (Jefferson County) District; and Frank R. Hurst, A. P. Longshore, Jr., H. H. Grooms, C. O. Vardaman, Grady Miller, C. A. Wiegand, and U. S. Holliman, for the State House.

REPUBLICANS WILL HOLD STATE RALLY

Constitution Day Selected For Start Of Fall Campaign

Birmingham, Aug. 9. — Alabama Republicans will join party organizations throughout the nation in celebrating Constitution Day, September 17, W. L. Longshore, chairman in charge of arrangements, announced today.

Mr. Longshore, who is opposing Albert Carmichael for lieutenant-governor, declared plans are being mapped to have an outstanding Republican address a state-wide rally here. Mr. Longshore formerly was assistant U. S. District Attorney here.

The rally will formally launch the G. O. P. state campaign, he said. Concerted action will be taken in an active campaign against Speaker William B. Bankhead in the 7th District, and Congressman Joe Starnes in the 3th District. Approximately 10,000 Alabama Republicans have been invited to the rally.

EASTERN STARS TO MEET

Clanton Chapter No. 271, O. E. S., will meet Thursday night, August 11, at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to attend, and members of other chapters have a cordial invitation.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We shall be happy next Sunday to have a 100 per cent increase over last Sunday in number preseent at our Sunday school, at each preaching service, and at the young people's service. There was a good number in attendance at the evening preaching service, and each one present heard good singing and a wonderful sermon.

Do you think it is good to attend Sunday school and preaching services? Do you think it is good to get others to attend each of our church services, whether it be the Sunday school, the preaching services, or the young people's organization?

"Therefore to him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin".

That's Bible!

Sunday school 9:45 a.m., preaching services 11 a.m., and 7:30 p.m., and young people's organization 6:30 p.m.

TIFFIN OFFERS SPECIALS IN RADIOS AND REPAIRS

Tom and Gabby Tiffin, of Tiffin Furniture Company, are this week telling the world about their radios and repair service. They are carrying a large adv. in The Union-Banner, and bringing this message to the public.

Tom Tiffin has proven himself to be a radio salesman of considerable merit, having won a nice trip from the Philco compnay some months ago, due to the record that he made. Besides carrying Philcos, he also handles the RCA-Victor. These are two of the leading brands. This department of the company usually has a stock of used battery and electric sets, as well as new ones.

Gabby Tiffin looks after most of the radio repair jobs coming in. This company put in among the first radio service shops in Clanton, and has maintained the same ever since. If anything goes wrong with your set, Gabby will come very near locating the trouble and fixing it.

The adv. carries a few furniture special close-outs also. It might pay you to look into what is offered.

G. O. P. EMBLEM IS STREAMLINED

Chicago, Aug. 3. — Te Republican party has streamlined its emblem — the elephant. A rampant, charging pachyderm, with trunk aloft and tusks thrust forward, has replaced the gentle, docile animal of yesteryear. John Hamilton, national chairman, was presented yesterday with a model of the new type emblem by members of the Republican program committee. The base bore the words: "Let's G. O. Places".

FLOYD IRVIN AT TAYLOR GROCERY AND MARKET

Mr. Floyd Irvin, the groceryman, is back at his old stand — with Taylor Grocery and Market, next to Alabama Power Company. Mr. Irvin is a veteran at the grocery business, and he will be glad for his friends to come to see him at Taylor Grocery and Market.

BLUES DIVIDE TWIN BILL WITH OPELIKA LAST SUNDAY

Junior Team Boast Fine Record For Year; Won 9, Lost 6, Against Stiff Competition

The Clanton "Blues", junior baseball club, went to Opelika last Sunday and divided a wtin bill there. The Blues won the first game 5 to 3, but lost the nightcap 8 to 2. Easterling and Williamson were batteries for the Blues in the first, Baggett and Williamson working the second.

The Blues have played 15 games this season, winning 9 and losing 6, for a won-lost percentage of .600. Individual batting averages for the sesaon are given below:

Player	AB	H	Pct.
L. D. Easterling	56	24	.428
J. E. Easterling	37	15	.405
Curlee	57	19	.333
Nairhos	18	6	.333
Tiffin	60	18	.300
Cox	42	11	.261
Armstrong	66	16	.242
Williamson	46	11	.239
McKee	65	15	.230
Roper	35	7	.200

ATTENTION VETERANS!

There will be a meeting of vital importance to every white ex-service man in Chilton County at the courthouse in Clanton on Monday night, August 22nd, at 8 o'clock.

All ex-service men are urged to attend and bring their discharge if possible.

Whiskey Taken From Courthouse Tuesday

Deputies Sheriff Ira Crowe and Earl Leary took two one-gallon jugs from a locker on the main floor and at the rear of the courthouse Tuesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock. One of the jugs was full of yellow, ripe-looking corn whiskey, and the other was about three-fourths full.

The officers report that a certain man, known to them, was seen to go to the locker and unlock it twice and go in. The janitor at the courthouse was asked for the key, and he reported that Guy Roberts, the man who had been seen to enter the locker, had the only key to it. The above party was arrested an hour later and placed in jail, charged with violating the prohibition law.

FIRST BALES FROM THREE COUNTIES SOLD SATURDAY

Three counties of Alabama — Montgomery, Pike and Geneva, reported having sold their first bale of 1938 cotton last Saturday, August 6th. The Montgomery bale brought 15 cents per pound; the other two were less.

FAKE DOCTOR WAS NABBED LAST WEEK

H. C. Chappelle, Negro, Charged With Violation Of Medical Law

H. C. Chapelle, negro "herb" doctor, residing near Jemison, was arrested Saturday morning on warrants obtained by the county health officer, Dr. S. D. Sturkie, a health department bulletin disclosed early this week. The charge was made that the negro had violated the State Medical Practice Act by diagnosing and treating human beings without possessing the qualifications of a doctor of medicine.

Numerous complaints have been received from health officials of neighboring counties to the effect that persons are leaving the care of legitimate practitioners to seek treatment from the Jemison quack, Dr. Sturkie declared. This resulted disastrously for one diabetic patient who died later in a Selma hospital, according to a statement made by a Bibb County health official.

"Upon visiting Chappelle's place", said the local health official, "I found his premises thronged with a huge crowd attracted by tales of fancied miracle cures. This, I was told, has been a common occurrence for the past several months. Such flagrant violation of a law in a matter affecting human life is certainly undeserving of public sympathy. As the county health officer, I feel it my duty to work toward the eradication of such harmful malpractice".

DAVENPORT-DESHAZO REUNION HELD AT HOME OF H. R. ODEN

A gathering which proved a most enjoyable occasion was that which was held at the home of County Commissioner Howard R. Oden, in the Mulberry-Isabella community, on August 8, the occasion being a family reunion of the members of the Wilson Davenport family and the Wm. Deshazo family. Not all the members of either family could attend, however; all except one of the living children of Wm. DeShazo were present, the missing member being John W., who lives at Milford, Texas. There is only one living member of the immediate family of Wilson Davenport, this being Mrs. Darthula Gipson, who was present; Mrs. Gipson is 81 ears old.

The occasion was also significantly marked by the fact that the two living daughters of Wm. Deshazo were both present, this being the first time these two had been present in the old home community at the same time in approximately 30 years. These daughters are: Mrs. George R. Calaway of Mt. Calm, Texas, who will be remembered as Miss Lona Deshazo, and Mrs. Henry D. Champlin of Ft. Myers, Fla., who will be remembered as Miss Florence Deshazo, formerly of Cincinnati and Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Calaway was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Florema, and Mrs. Champlin by her husband, Dr. Henry D. Champlin.

The descendants of Wilson Davenport were represented by numerous members of the family of Aaron Davenport, including the Franklins, Veazeys, Spiveys, Childresses, and numerous others, together with a number of friends of both families, and spent a most enjoyable day reminiscing over joyous childhood days and renewing family ties which have waned through the passing years.

At noon a bounteous picnic dinner was spread with various families supplying baskets of food after the manner of true Southern hospitality.

The day was voted a complete success by all, and there is no doubt that each and every one attending went away with a brighter outlook on life in general, thankful that they had been spared to meet their kith and kin once more.

GOP CANDIDATES NAMED OFFICERS

Central Campaign Committee Is Perfected; Units Will Be Set Up In All Beats In Near Future

The Republican candidates of Chilton County met in Clanton Monday night, August 8th, and set up a central county organization to wage their campaign and present their cause to the voters of the county this fall. Named as campaign manager was T. E. Wyatt; secretary-treasurer, W. J. Billingsley. A central committee was named, consisting of: T. J. Littlejohn, Sam M. Pate, Clifford M. Manning, J. N. Dennis, and W. A. Reynolds.

Tentative lists, consisting of four to eight voters in each voting precinct, were made, to constitute a nucleus for a local organizatioin in each precinct. These lists will be worked out thoroughly within a few weeks and the local units perfected and placed in working order.

The Republican candidates and the campaign committee plan on waging the broadest and most intensive campaign during the coming three months that the party has put on in recent years. They expect to reach every nook and corner of the county and place the issues, our problems and their solutions squarely before the voters. It is not the intention to wage a hot, scathing campaign against the opposing candidates, but to place squarely and plainly before the voters the facts regarding our county's governmental and economic problems. The Republican organization believes the people of the county are ready for some political action, and it hopes to give them ample opportunity to express their feelings.

DAVISES IN MOUNDVILLE

Rev. Oscar A. Davis and Mrs. Davis are in Mountville, Ala., this week conducting revival services. They will return to Clanton in time for services at Clanton Baptist church next Sunday.

TWENTY-SIX SNAKES IN ONE PILE KILLED

Two Clanton boys — Willie Claude Baker and Austin Mims — uncovered a bed of snakes near Bell Hole below Gowan Addition last Sunday. There was one grown moccasin about 2½ feet long, and 25 small ones about 5 inches long. They were all killed by the boys.

This reminds us of an incident related to us last week where an average size green snake was found with 62 small ones. It seems that the whole country will soon be infested with snakes, if they are permitted to multiply at this rate.

NINE ARRESTED

A total of nine arrests have been made by Sheriff Hardy and his deputies during the past week. They include: assault and battery, one white man; driving while intoxicated, two whites; public drunkenness, one white and one negro; burglary, two negroes; practicing medicine without license, one negro; violating prohibition law, one negro.

JODIE W. LITTLEJOHN WITH TAYLOR GROCERY & MARKET

In the capacity of meaet cutter, that veteran groceryman, Jodie W. Littlejohn, is now connected with Taylor Grocery and Market. Mr. Littlejohn has a host of friends in Chilton County, he having spent a number of years in the grocery business here.

Mr. Littlejohn and the management of Taylor Grocery and Market invite you to come in and see your old friend, renew the acquaintance, and buy some meats and groceries from him.

VERBENA BOY WAS KILLED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Robert S. Williamson, age 10, was instantly killed Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock when struck by an automobile said to have been driven by W. K. Hatcher, of Jacksonville, Fla. The accident occurred in front of the boy's home a few hundred yards south of Verbena.

Patrolmen Earl Henley and Wallace Waites, after talking with witnesses, and examining the scene, agreed the accident was unavoidable, and did not prefer charges.

Funeral services were held at Verbena Sunday morning at 10 o'clock with Rev. Ware nad Rev. G. G. Williams officiating; Martin in charge.

The boy is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Williamson, and a younger brother, Sam.

WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE

Some modernists scoff at the idea of dreams; others think they are rather accurate forecasts of approaching events. Some minds seem to be more susceptible to the impressions than others.

Last Sunday morning little John Ed Scott, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott, told a dream, wherein he was in a crowd of people. All was quiet, when all at once there was shooting and popping and general commotion and disorder.

At Clanton Baptist church Sunday morning, while preaching was going on, all at once a bright flash of lightning set an electric fan on fire, and those people near it became panicky for a few seconds. Probably that was young Scotty's dream realized.

CLIFFORD M. MANNING WRITES ABOUT CHILTON COUNTY FAIR

In last week's paper you noticed the piece about the fair written by Dr. Gragg. The committee has been working on plans concerning your county fair. It is time to begin collecting articles for exhibition. A fair is to show the progress and building of the county, so you should start collecting your articles and produce.

It has been said that this fair is for the upbuilding fo Clanton alone. I beg to differ with this statement, because it is for the entire county, so, therefore, the people of the county as a whole should help to make it a success.

The committee has been working on plans and arrangements for the fair, which will be held this year at Gragg Field. There will be arrangements for parking all cars. Lights and telephones will be installed on the fair grounds. There will be one day dedicated to aviation, one for farmer's day, one for merchant's day, and one for school day. The catalog is being published, and will be in circulation as soon as can be managed. It will be good for each of you, if possible, to see one of these catalogs.

There will be plenty of amusements and rides, under the supervision of the Littlejohn management. If there is any information you would like to have concerning the fair, see one of the committeemen, or contact the secretary, J. Mell Martin.

As I have stated before, the committee cannot put on the fair by themselves, and we are asking the help of all clubs, organizations, and all the people. Watch your local paper for further announcements.

Yours for a better and permanent Chilton County Fair. — Clifford M. Manning.

LIBERTY HILL

A party from here, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Littlejohn and Nina Fay, Mr. and Mrs. Zack Lowery and Margaret, visited our pastor, Rev. J. S. Holland, and family at Pepperell last Friday. They report Bro. Holland is much improved in health, although he cannot get about so lively yet. Bro. Holland will be with us for our regular preaching services the third Saturday and Sunday. Don't forget the date, and attend both of these services, as you are sure to hear two good sermons. We all thank God for renewing Bro. Holland's strength so that he will be able to be with us again. Bro. Oscar Davis, from the Clanton Baptist church, will attend our services Saturday. We are always glad to have visitors.

Don't forget our regular singing next third Sunday. Make your plans now to be with us. 8-11-2t

SERVICES AT LOMAX

The Church of Christ at Lomax will hold a series of meetings, beginning Monday night, August 15, at 7:30 o'clock. Elder R. L. Huffman and others will be doing the preaching. All subjects discussed during this meeting will scriptural, and all songs will be spiritual and edifying. The program will be announced at the first service. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these services. — Elder J. T. Daniel.

Lesson for August 14

THE RELATION OF TEMPERANCE TO CHARACTER

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 4:10-23; I Thessalonians 5:6-8.

GOLDEN TEXT—Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.—Proverbs 20:1.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What a Wise Man Said.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Wise Man's Way.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How the Use of Liquor Affects Character.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How the Use of Liquor Affects Character.

Childhood remembrances are commonly sweet and precious—but some of them are vivid on the pages of memory because they relate to dangerous and distressing things. Among the things decent people avoided like the pestilence when the writer was a boy was the saloon. To be seen entering such places was to mark one's character, and to be a frequenter of them was to be lost to all that was good and holy.

High sounding and very pious were the assurances that when prohibition was repealed we would never see the return of the saloon, but we have them in multiplied number, and with a shameless appeal to women as well as men, to our growing girls and boys as well as to adults. Clever advertising has sought to make it "smart" to drink, and "manly" to be able to "carry" liquor. It is for that reason that it is of the utmost importance that we develop strong and intelligent character in our boys and girls—so that they may not only appraise the vicious "booze business" for what it really is, but also have the strength of character to fight it, not only for themselves, but for their weaker brother. They should know and proclaim that the saloon, whether it be called an "inn" or a "tavern," is always a "bar"—"A bar to Heaven, a door to Hell; Whoever named it named it well."

I. Developing Strength of Character (Prov. 4:10-23).

Solomon, the writer of many of the Proverbs, constantly stressed the importance of gaining wisdom. A man may be a perfect encyclopedia of information and yet may lack the wisdom to apply that knowledge to life. Dr. Hight C. Moore, in Points for Emphasis, provides a most helpful outline of this portion of Proverbs 4, which will assist the reader and teacher. He suggests that we must (1) "accept the challenge of a worthy goal, v. 10," by listening as a son to a father to the words which shall give us a long and happy life. Then we must (2) "follow the way of wisdom, vv. 11-13." It is a way that has been tested by those who have preceded us, and they have found it to be the right way. This will enable us to (3) "avoid the way of the wicked, vv. 14-17." Note the dreadful picture of those who not only do wickedness but delight in leading others into their evil paths, in fact they cannot sleep unless they have misled some poor soul. Shun that path, and (4) "irradiate the path to the larger life, vv. 18, 19." The way to life is a light path "that shineth more and more." The way of the wicked is stumbling and darkness. The devil and his followers are trying to make young people believe just the opposite. Let us teach them the truth that they may (5) "heed every syllable of all the words of God, vv. 20-23." Give attention to God's Word, listen to it, read it, keep it hidden in your heart. The heart in Scripture stands for the very center of man's spiritual being, out of which are all the issues of life. Evil thoughts, unholy desires and ambitions hidden there will ultimately be revealed in overt acts of ungodliness. Even so the Word of God hidden there will bring forth life in all its abundant beauty and strength.

The young man or woman who is thus taught God's Word in the home and the church will have an impregnable defense against the wiles and temptations of the world, the flesh, and the devil.

II. Exhibiting Strength of Character (I Thess. 5:6-8).

The Lord is coming again! Paul was constantly looking forward to the day of His coming. It was not his lot to live until the Lord came, but he was not mistaken in looking for Him. The Lord has tarried, why only He knows, but it is the judgment of many excellent Bible expositors that the next great event to take place in divine history is His return. What a glorious hope!

But while we await His coming we are not to sleep as those round about us. Watchfulness, sobriety of life, these become the Christian. Certainly nothing of the drunkenness of our day is to enter into the life of the Christian. He who belongs to Christ does not drink of the devil's "fire-water." But far more than that is in mind here, for the Christian is to go on in faith, love, and hope until he becomes "on fire" for God, burning with the passion of the Holy Spirit, not only for his own life, but for the salvation of the lost and for the development of true Christian character in those who have taken upon themselves the beautiful name of "Christian."

FIVE MINUTES WITH YOUR BIBLE

"Christ, The Way Of Life"

1. What does Jesus declare Himself to be?

"Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father but by me". — John 14:6.

2. In what condition are all men?

"But the scripture hath concluded all under sin". — Gal. 3:22. "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God". — Rom. 3:23.

3. What are wages of sin?

"The wages of sin is death". — Rom. 6:23.

4. How many are affected by Adam's transgression?

"Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed unto all men". — Rom. 5:12.

5. What is the gift of God?

"The gift of God is eternal life". — Rom. 6:23.

6. How many may receive the gift of God?

"And the spirit and the bride say, come; and let him that heareth say, come. And let him that is athirst come, and whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely". — Rev. 22:17.

7. In whom is the gift?

"This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son". — I John 5:11.

8. In receiving the Son, what do we have in Him?

"He that hath the Son, hath life". — I John 5:12.

9. In what other way is the same truth stated?

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him". — John 3:36.

10. After one truly receives Christ, whose life will be manifested in him?

"I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me, and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God who loved me, and gave Himself for me". — Gal. 2:20.

11. In what condition are all before they are quickened by Christ?

"God, Who is rich in mercy, for His great love wherewith He loved us, even when we were dead in sin, hath quickened us together with Christ". — Eph. 2:4,5.

12. What is this change from death to life called?

"Being born again, not or corruptible seed, but of incorruptible seed, by the Word of God which liveth and abideth forever". — I Pet. 1:23.

13. When man first transgressed, what was done for him to prevent him from living forever in sin?

"And now, let he put forth his hand and take also of the tree of life, and eat and live forever . . . so He drove out the man; and He placed at the East of the Garden of Eden cherubims, and a flaming sword, which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life". — Gen. 3:22-24.

14. What is declared to be one purpose of Christ's death?

"Forasmuch as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, He also likewise took part of the same; that through death He might destroy him that hath the power of death, that is, the devil". — Heb. 2:14.

15. Through whom will Abraham receive the promise of the future inheritance?

"The Lord appeared unto Abram nad said, unto thy seed will I give this land". — Gen. 12:7.

16. How many are embraced in God's promise to Abraham?

"And in thy seed shall all the kindred of earth be blessed". — Acts 3:25.

17. Tom whom does the "seed" in these promises refer?

"Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, and to seeds, as of many; but as one, and to thy seed, which is Christ". — Gal. 3:16.

18. What would make the death of Christ in vain?

"If righteousness came by the law, then Christ is dead in vain". — Gal. 2:21.

19. Why have all been reckoned under sin?

"But the scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise of faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe". — Gal. 3:22.

20. How then do all become the children of God?

"For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus". — Gal. 3:26.

21. With whom are the children of God joint heirs?

"If children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ". — Rom. 8:17. — (Arranged by Rev. W. H. Westermeyer).

IN MEMORY OF MRS. R. C. HAND

On Sunday afternoon, July 24, about 7 o'clock, God, in His righteous wisdom, saw fit to call from our midst our dear mother.

While in this world she was our stand-by and guide. Mother always believed in honest, upright living. She was a kind and loving friend to all who knew her, and to know her was to love her. We can't understand why she had to leave us, we loved her so; but God needed her presence to make heaven more perfect, for she had said many times she was ready to go. We know that only God knew the suffering she had endured these past few years, but Oh, how sad and lonely without her presence. Our hearts will never be healed, but one consolation is, we know Mother will be waiting where parting is no more, and we pray to meet her on that bright and shining shore. — The Children.

WALNUT CREEK

The revival will begin at Walnut Creek the second Sunday in August. Rev. J. L. Thomas of Birmingham will do the preaching. We are expecting a great revival. Everybody is invitde to come and take part in the services. — J. W. Enfinger, pastor.

13th ANNUAL HOMECOMING OF HAND FAMILY NEXT SUNDAY

The Hand family's 13th annual homecoming will be held at Poplar Springs church, 3 miles south of Clanton, on next Sunday, August 14, and all kin by blood or marriage are requested to be present. We extend an invitation to one and all to come and enjoy the day with us. We are expecting a good time together. We had the best reunion last year that we have ever had, but we are expecting one still better this year. I am sure if you come you will enjoy the day.

We will have with us this year a visiting minister from Birmingham, Dr. H. L. Tully, pastor of Wylam Baptist church, who will leave his church after the 11 o'clock service Sunday to come and bring us a message at 3 p.m. His subject will be "Security of the Believer". If you fail to hear this humble servant of God, who is a noted scholar on Bible doctrine, Greek and theology, you will miss a wonderful opportunity to hear a subject so important, and upheld by the Baptist faith.

We invite all churches and pastors in other communities, with a special invitation to the church at Mulberry, to come and bring their pastor, Bro. Oden. This one message is worth going many miles to hear.

Just a word to the singers who are Christians at heart. If you are hungry for spiritual food for your souls, leave off your afternoon singings and come to Poplar Springs and hear this sermon. Bring your quartets and classes and be with us from 1 to 4 p.m. Also, remember, we will have our regular homecoming sermon at 11 o'clock by our old pastor and friend, Rev. J. D. Hughes, or J. L. Hand, which we always feast on. — J. W. Hand, chairman.

Following is the program for the day:

10 to 10:15 — Two or three songs directed by Bro. Louis Chastain.

10:15 to 10:30 — Devotional, led by Bro. Chastain.

10:30 to 11 — Regular business meeting of the reunion.

11 to 12 — Homecoming sermon, by Rev. J. D. Hughes or Rev J. S. Hand.

12 — Dinner will be spread, and all are invited.

1 to 3 —These two hours will be the informal part of the day's program. We are expecting some good singers and song directors in the afternoon, and we will sing, pray, and talk as the Holy Spirit directs.

3 to 4:15 — This period will climax the day's program, with a sermon by Dr. H. L. Tully; subject, "Security of the Believer".

DISTRICT CHAMPIONS OF HIGH SCHOOL CIRCUIT

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL'S 1938 CHAMPIONSHIP "TIGER" BASEBALL TEAM

Above is a picture of the Chilton County High School baseball team, district champions and winners of the district trophy for the spring of 1938.

Captain Bill Armstrong and his colleagues went through the season of high school competition without a loss in their league circuit. According to their coach, J. B. Varnell, the boys of Chilton County High showed eagerness and willingness to work together for the joy of play and efforts to excel in the national pastime.

The outstanding play of the team as a whole was the secret of their success. The timely hitting of Bucky Armstrong, James Roper, alternate captain Durwood Williamson, Guy McKee, Morris Johnson, and Ted Reynolds kept the Chilton County boys out in front throughout the season.

The team's efforts were well rewarded by the masterful pitching of Captain Armstrong and Cecil Baggett, a newcomer and first year man, neither of them losing any of their games.

The season was a success and a tribute to the passing of one of Chilton's great teams. Several of the boys received their diplomas and will pass on, giving room for newcomers for another season.

At no time did the Chilton boys weaken in their efforts to lead the league in individual play and as a team. The supporters and their coach should always look to the season of 1938 as a real success from many angles, and the season record should be a mark for other teams to equal as time marches on.

Following is an itemized record of the season's games:

March 18, Chilton vs. Jemison, at Clanton. Chilton, 12 runs, 10 hits, 2 errors; Jemison, 3 runs, 5 hits, 3 errors. Batteries: Chilton, Chambers, Baggett and Sides, Williamson; Jemisson, Cleckley and Cobb.

G. O. P. Told States Should Guide Better

Pennsylvania's Former Administrator Of Aid Raps "Politics"

Chicago, Aug. 4. — Robert L. Johnson, former relief administrator of Pennsylvania, told the Republican program committee tonight "relief must be kept out of politics".

Contending the administration of aid to the needy should be returned to the states, and that counties and cities should assume their share of the responsibility and expense, he set forth in a prepared address:

"Until this is done there will be no end of the present wastefulness and corruption. It is of the greatest importance that each state and county carry as much of the burden as possible. For, once the individuals in each town realize that it is their money that is being used to support the people on relief i ntheir own towns, the relief program will be run more efficiently".

Johnson said town and county leaders in many states built strong political machines among relief workers and intimated to "many a person on relief that unless he votes right, his only means of livelihood will be taken away".

To solve the nation's "biggest problem", he offered a program embracing:

1. Adequate relief to all deserving unemployed, pending reemployment.

2. Local bi-partisan committees given the responsibility for its administration.

3. Frequent and careful checks on operating efficiency by qualified state and federal inspectors.

4. Gradual development of local work programs with local funds under local supervision.

5. Local contributions for materials and appropriation of sufficient funds to be added to the "direct relief dole" so that the workers receive living wages.

Speaking on the merit system in public service, Charles P. Taft II, of Cincinnati, said in a prepared address:

"The Republican party has two tasks. The first is to show the people exactly what the spoils system means to them in money and in government service they do not get. The second is to demonstrate their own good faith and to convince the people that when they get into power they are going to enforce the merit system".

J. T. Stoudemire, one of Lowndes County's test demonstrators, has sold between 15 and 20 Polled Hereford bulls for breeding purposes during the past year. He states he has sold the bulls from his pasture as fast as they are ready for service. His complete plan of pasture improvement includes terracing, contour furrowing, seeding, and fertilization. He says his pasture is his main feed crop.

MILK FACTS

Alabama's growing importance in the dairy industry is strikingly illustrated in the new "Milk Facts" booklet issued by the Milk Industry Foundation. "Milk Facts" shows that Alabama dairy cows produced $7,574,000 cash farm income from milk in 1937.

Charts show that the United States is one of the ranking nations in the consumption of dairy products. With per capita consumption of fluid milk at 153 quarts a year, America tops all other countries except Switzerland with 232 quarts.

Annual per capita milk consumption in quarts for other nations is: Denmark 144, Czecho-Slovakia 136, Netherlands 120, New Zealand 112, Great Britain, France and Germany 92, Australia 88, Belgium 68, and Italy 28.

"Milk, in one form or another, comprises over 25 per cent of the 1,500-odd pounds of food used each year by the average American", says the booklet. "It requires about 10½ quarts of milk to make a pound of butter, and 4½ quarts to make a pound of cheese. Approximately 350 million new milk bottles are purchased annually".

The booklet contains pictorial charts and figures showing the importance of the milk industry to the country's economic picture. Diagramatic charts illustrate how the United States utilizes its milk supply of some 48,777,000,000 quarts of milk a year.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Jemison, Ala., July 28, 1938.

To the Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Chilton County Masonic Conference:

We, your Committee on Memorials, beg to make the following report on our deceased brethren:

Since our last conference we have learned to our deep sorrow that the following brothers have laid down the working tools of the craft forever: Bro. W. H. Sartor, Bro. Geo. C. Polk, and Bro. W. H. Smith of Clanton Lodge No. 423, and Bro. T. J. Hubbard of Jemison Lodge No. 411.

And, whereas, the long and intimate relations held with them in the faithful discharge of their duties in their respective lodges make it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of them,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which they have exercised in the aid of our organization by service, contribution and counsel, will be held in grateful remembrance.

Be it further resolved, that the removal of such lives from our midst leaves a vacancy that will be realized by all the members of the respective lodges.

Be it further resolved, That with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased, that we express a hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him Who doeth all things well.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the conference, a copy sent to each of the bereaved families, and a copy given to each of our county papers for publication. — Committee, J. D. Hopper, Howard Roper, J. A. Peterson.

LONG REUNION IN COOSA COUNTY

The annual reunion of Longs, held each 5th Sunday after the 4th Sunday in July, at Holly Springs church, in Coosa County, was held Sunday, July 31, with more than 500 people present. The services were conducted by Rev. James Roberson, pastor of Holly Springs church, assisted by Rev. A. P. Long, of Gardendale, Ala.

Services were conducted in scheduled form as follows: Songs by choir; short address by pastor of the church; testimonial service and prayer by Rev. A. B. Long, who preached the reunion service. Intermission for dinner, which was furnished by the people of the community, and was enjoyed by everyone present.

All members of the Long family who were present held a short conference with the pastor of the church and all interested persons who live at or near Holly Springs and decided to hold next year's reunion at the same place and date, which will be the 5th Sunday after the 4th Sunday in July, 1939. Anyone who likes good singing, preaching, and old time testimonial meetings, make your plans to come and be with us next year, where everybody is made welcome by the fine people who live at Holly Springs. — The Long Family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation and thanks to our friends throughout Chilton and Autauga Counties for their kindness shown us in helping during the illness of E. C. Puckett. May God's richest blessings rest on each and every one, is our prayer. May God bless all. — Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Puckett, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Owen and family.

FRIENDSHIP CONFERENCE CALL

There will be a special conference of Friendship church next Sunday, August 14, at 11 o'clock, for the purpose of calling a pastor for the coming year. All members are urged to be present. — E. J. Vinson.

CANE CREEK

Our revival closed Saturday morning. There were over 30 conversions, but only 15 additions to the church. It was one of the best meetings we have had in a long time. It seemed like old times, with prayer meetings, altar calls and mourners' benches. Everyone seemed to enjoy it. We are so glad that our pastor, Rev. Norris, secured the services of Rev. Dykes before his death. Mr. Orene Wyatt led the singing; that was also arranged by Bro. Norris. All who missed this meeting missed a good one. We had visitors from man different churches, and were glad to have them from everywhere. We thank the Liberty Hill quartet for singing for us the last night of the meeting. Bro. W. E. Robinson preached for us Sunday and Sunday night, until Bro. Dykes could get here. We were glad to have him, Mrs. Robinson, and everyone who came. We always welcome visitors. Come again, one and all.

The singing on the 5th Sunday was good. We will sing again the 4th Sunday afternoon in August, and invite singers to come and help us.

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. were well attended Sunday and Sunday night. We want to keep working, as there is so much to be done.

ERADICATING DODDER

Many farmers who are planting lespedeza in the Soil Conservation Service program have a considerable amount of dodder in these plantings. This pest should be eradicated where possible before it spreads and matures seed, accroding to Mr. James H. Wood, of the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton.

Wherever dodder is confined to small spots it is advisable to cut the infested plants out with a hand blade, knife, or shears, and carry all infested plants and small pieces of dodder out of the field in a sack or box and burn them. This method of eradication has been found about as effective as burning in the field, Mr. Wood said.

Where a general infestation occurs in lespedeza sericea meadows, it is advisable to mow the meadows frequently during the summer . Tihs will eradicate most of the dodder before it matures seed, since the bulk of the dodder will be taken out in mowing. The remainder can be cut out as described above.

Where lespedezae seed are to be harvested for expanding the acreage in the soil erosion control program, special care should be used to eradicate all dodder from areas where seed are to be harvested.

Several methods of eradicating dodder are used and farmers are advised to consult their county agent about the best method to use in a particular case.

On the streets of Clanton the past few days we have noticed a face more or less familiar looking. It would look more natural, however, behind an old fashioned grocery store counter. If you have not already guessed, it is Jodie W. Littlejohn. He was Clanton's only exclusive grocer for a number of years; he once said: "When church folks sing 'Jesus Paid It All' some evidently think it included their grocery bills". Of course, none of our grocery men now would say such a thing.

CHILTON BOY HAS FINE RECORD

Sometimes it takes a youngster to pave the way. W. B. Crowe, 15-year-old Chilton County boy has been so successful as a farmer that he was asked to discuss his results during Farm and Home Week at Auburn, before many older and more experienced farmers.

In 1933, young Crowe's father gave him a grade heifer. Since that time he has sold $75 worth of calves, in addition to furnishing milk for the family. From the sale of cream his income last year amounted to $150.

He also has a brood sow from which he sold six hogs last year.

In addition to his livestock, young Crowe looks after a 40-acre farm while his father works in town. He has 6 acres of cotton, 15 acres of corn, 4 acres of hay, 12 acres of pasture, and 3 acres in vegetables and fruits.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—England pioneered the businessman - diplomat—shrewdly and effectively, it would seem. Many of her best fixers and negotiators throughout the world have been men who had a personal stake in the outcome of their operations. They were not disinterested, perhaps, but no more were the traditional diplomats who knew protocol, perhaps, but nothing about oil.

Best Fixers Have Stake In Deals

America followed with Norman H. Davis, a financier who became an effective European swing man under five Presidents, and then came Spruille Braden, engineer and industrialist who was our ambassador-at-large in Latin America until he became minister to Colombia last April.

President Roosevelt, agreeing to act as an arbitrator in the Chaco dispute, picks Mr. Braden to represent him. In his own private industrial diplomacy throughout South America, the husky and gregarious Mr. Braden has proved himself an excellent pacifier and trouble-shooter.

He knows the score in oil, copper, rubber, minerals, hides and what not, and this materialized and particularized diplomacy has made him useful in diplomatic representations at various South American conferences. He has been working on the Chaco settlement for the last three years.

Braden Wise In Latin Diplomacy

In his youth, he did a short turn in the mines near Elkhorn, Mont., his native town, and then went to Yale and became a mining engineer.

He was a second-string halfback at Yale, but a first string engineer and promoter from the start, electrifying Chile for Westinghouse, organizing the Bolivia-Argentina Exploration corporation, branching out widely in South American development and finance. He desperately wanted to be minister to Chile, but was consoled with Colombia.

He is forty-four years old, remembered in New York as the fastest and hardest-working handball player around Jack O'Brien's gymnasium, in which he combated a tendency to plumpness, creeping up on him a bit in late years.

He was married in 1915 to the beautiful and socially eminent Senorita Maria Humeres del Solar of Chile. They have three daughters and two sons. Their New York residence is the former George W. Perkins estate at Riverdale-on-the-Hudson.

CARL J. HAMBRO, burly president of the Norwegian parliament, is in America for a lecture tour. There is an interesting cutback in his career.

Predicted Collapse Of League

At Geneva, in 1927, he staged a spectacular debate with Austen Chamberlain, in which, speaking for the small states, he vehemently insisted that the league must find a way to restrain strong aggressors, or else find itself impotent and discredited in a few years.

With equal vehemence, Mr. Chamberlain proclaimed the trustworthiness of the strong states and their humanitarian aims. Warning Mr. Hambro against overt restraints by the league, he said, "Along that road lies danger."

Mr. Hambro was the most distinguished recruit of the Oxford group movement in 1935, and has since been a leader of the movement in Norway.

Returning from a luncheon attended by Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the movement, in Geneva, he told of the mystic exaltation of the company and later announced his adherence to the group.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

A PICTURE A DAY—

Indoors . . . Outdoors . . . Washday . . . Birthday . . . family history is being made.

NOT long ago a young friend of mine married. He is a camera fan, like the rest of us, and he told me:

"My family history is going to be kept in pictures. I plan to take at least one roll of pictures a week—many more whenever possible. Whenever we do anything—move to a new house—go on a week-end trip—plant flowers—celebrate a birthday or an anniversary—add a new member—whatever it is, the story will be told in pictures."

His plans go further than that, too. His picture record is to be kept in handy, useful form. "There will be a new picture book for every year," he told me. "I plan to have the best shots enlarged, and mount the others contact size. Everything goes into the book, where we'll always be able to find it and recall—from our own snapshots—what we did in past days."

There, now, is an idea for all of us. In every family, things happen each day that we would like to remember. We buy new furniture, plant gardens, build a trellis for roses, put new screens on the back porch, take vacation trips. Children are born, grow up, change year by year. We change, too. And a true day-by-day picture-history of all our everyday activities, as well as activities not-so-everyday, would greatly enrich our memories in later years.

Let's make a mental note—make it a household ritual, and abide by it. "A picture a day keeps the family history up to date. And a complete picture-book each year keeps it permanently."

John van Guilder.

Each family picture-book becomes more treasured as the years roll by.

COMPLIMENTARY TO COMMISSIONER JOHN P. BEAN

The Union-Banner wishes to publicly commend Mr. J. P. Bean, County Commissioner from the First District, for the unequivocal manner in which he has expressed himself time and again regarding the county paying toward paving Lay Dam road inside the city in the same proportion that it is to pay beyond the city limits. Mr. Bean has stood foursquare for the county bearing the same part of the load within the city limits. He spoke favorable toward it before interested parties in conversation, and he has expressed himself the same way at every meeting of the Court when the question came up. Mr. Bean is to be commended for taking the right view of the question in the first place and for staying with his convictions under all circumstances.

We would not fail to mention Mayor C. Fenn Jones and the City Council for their persistent fight for the rights of the property owners on this first mile of Lay Dam Road.

GARNER'S WARNING

The fact that Vice President Garner has taken the trouble to inform the nation by effective if indirect means that he will not join President Roosevelt in a third term campaign tends to confirm the nation's suspicion that the president would like to smash the third term precedent.

Various members of the president's family have from time to time deprecated the third term idea, rather faintly, but from the president, himself, there has never come any statement on the subject. This in itself is significant; it is quite possible these occasional outgivings from the "kin" are in the nature of trial balloons, intended to test public sentiment. — Los Angeles Times.

RECIPE FOR RECOVERY

The longest speech in congress on the issue of government or private spending for recovery contains less meat than Rep. Bruce Barton's summing-up in two sentences:

"Put one man to work on the WPA and you have given one low-priced job. Put one man to work on the automobile assembly line and you have created 10 or 15 or 30 well-paid jobs".

Industry will employ more men when it is freed from confiscatory taxes, government competition, and oppressive, hostile, destructive regulation.

When will that time come? Only the administration in Washington can supply that answer. — Philadelphia Inquirer.

HE MADE IT SO

"The South", says President Roosevelt, "is right now the nation's No. 1 economic problem".

He, himself, was instrumental in making it so.

The South primarily is an agricultural region. It does have factories and mills, but it depends mostly upon its sale of cotton, naval stores and minerals for its prosperity.

But during the last six years, because of crop restrictions and price pegging, the South has seen its foreign market for cotton declining steadily. Its income from this product and others has declined, but the prices it must pay for goods have gone up. — Syracuse Post-Standard.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

A great many Americans nowadays are asking the question: "What is the matter with the British Lion?" They read of incidents in Europe in which the British Empire, according to press reports, is being needlessly insulted. There are glaring headlines to the effect that Mussolini has figuratively slapped Chamberlain in the face, and that Franco's German and Italian birdmen are sinking British ships in Spanish harbors with impunity. They are beginning to believe that the British King of Beasts has become a helpless, hapless, toothless old animal who cannot defend himself, but must depend on France. Some maintain that he is humbly bowing to every insult and feverishly arming for the time when he can do something.

Some of this belief in the impotency of the British Empire may be wishful thinking, while most of it is a mistaken interpretation of the news of the day in the first place. Chamberlani is not being flauntingly insulted as much as appears on the surface. It must be realized that these reports are often exaggerated for propaganda purposes by forces in Europe that are anxious to get Britain tangled up with Italy and Germany, just as there are propaganda forces which are seeking to put us into the European mess. In the second place, we must remember that Great Britain has changed during the past generation or two. The English lion is now a satisfied animal, so far as territorial ambitioins are concerned. In the days gone by he was hungry for more territory. During the days he was building up his empire in Africa, in Asia, in America, and on the isles of the sea, he was a raging, roaring king of beasts, who would permit no other power to step on his toes. But now the empire has been completed. He doesn't have to do any more conquering. He has all the territory he can digest. Consequently what he wants most to do is to hang on to what he has, developing for the sake of his economic future. He can afford to let the have-nots like Hitler and Mussolini do the roaring. A hungry man is always more easily excited in a physical or a political way than one whose appetite has been surfeited.

This cacounts for the present complaisant attitude of the British crown. It sees no reason why the lives of young Britons should be sacrificed "to make the world safe for democracy" or in attempting to carry out any similar impractical slogan, when at the same time there are no rich and desirable new territories to be taken over. Furthermore, while John Bull does not like, in the least, Hitler and Mussolini, he is not desirous, either, of building up communist Russia, which he rightly feels may become a menace to his welfare in the future.

This is the prevailing view of the saner British statesmen, according to men who have interviewed them. Therefore they will go along with the hungry powers as long as possible, even throwing them an occasional morsel if this can be done without coasting Great Britain too much. But if the British Empire is ever endangered by Hitler or Mussolini, and there is nothing left to do but fight, then it will be discovered that the British lion is no toothless, helpless mongrel. And he will be found diplomatically "perfect", as usual. His long time principle has been divide and rule, or divide and strike. He will wait until the moment arrives when Hitler and Mussolini are no longer the buddies that they are today, and then he will line up a combination of power which will defeat those nations which constitute his enemies at that particular time. It is the knowledge of this fact which is keeping Mussolini and Hitler in harness together even now. They undtrstand British policy much betttr than most of us do.

The lesson for America is plain. When the time for war comes, every effort will be made to line us up in the conflict. Our close relationship with Great Britain will be used as a basis for a new barrage of propaganda. It is good to know that our friendship with England is as cordial as it is. We should not, however, permit this cordiality to go to the point of using our boys and money to preserve the British Empire. Let us look after our own interests as John Bull always looks after his.

"MY FRIENDS"

On a tour wholly designed to put the Indian sign on Democratic candidates who have refused to lick his boots, and to bestow public blessing upon those who obligingly closed their minds to personal conscience and conviction, the head of the Democratic party has taken pains to deny that the President of the United States is "in any shape, manner or form" interfering in the primary campaigns.

What is the purpose of his tour if it is not to interfere in the affairs of local governments by influencing the electorate for or against a particular candidate? What else is he doing but just that when he emphatically approves or disapproves by name or nod? — Springfield Union.

BY FAIR MEANS OR FOUL

Aubrey Williams, second in command of all the WPA forces in the United States, says no political implications were intended in his appeal to white collar workers organizations to "keep their friends in power". Only the poor blind New Dealers will believe this statement. Only a pharisaic New Dealer would have made it or expected intelligent men and women could be fooled by it.

The audience at which the open bid for votes was directed was under no illusions. It showed by its applause and comments that it knew exactly what Mr. Williams meant when he declared that "it is important to maintain in office those who have your point of view". Clearly the speech already has had its intended effect. No matter what happens now, and regardless of any censure which will follow the incident, the deputy WPA administrator may rest in full confidence that his message was carried to the right ears.

The whole episode is another in a long series of disgraceful attempts to buy the electorate with its own money. It is all of a piece with the wholesale distribution of relief funds as a preliminary to the primaries in Florida, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky, with the public support accorded by Harry L. Hopkins to a New Deal candidate for the senate in Iowa and with the recent increases in pay to selected groups of WPA workers in doubtful states.

Obviously the administration, by fair means or foul, means to stay in the saddle. With the entire United States treasury behind it, the job ought not to be difficult. — Boston Transcript.

MAPLE SPRINGS

We had a grand revival at this place the past week, with large crowds attending each service. Bro. B. C. Wilcutt, of Birmingham, helped in the revival, and all enjoyed the messages brought by Bro. Wilcutt.

The Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are still progressing nicely. Everybody come back Sunday and Sunday night with a well prepared lesson.

Mrs. Curtis Jones and baby spent last week with Mrs. W. F. Glenn and family, and attended the revival.

Mrs. Merritt Wilson and daughters of near Poole's Croos Roads were in this community last week attending the revival.

Mr. Carlos Ratliff of Selma was in this community the past week end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ratliff.

Dr. O. E. Wilson and Mr. Hollis from Birmingham were here on business last Saturday.

Mr. O. L. Devaughn is teaching a singing school at Enterprise, and Mr. Audie Brown is teaching one at the cotton mill above Clanton. Both report good schools.

A LOSS WE CANNOT REGAIN

In its history during the past three decades Chilton County has fought many a political battle to preserve its sovereignty; attempts have been made to legislate men out of office, to foist upon us by means of local legislation statutes offensive and objectionable to the general citizenship. The confidence of our people has been betrayed. A few of such attempts have materialized and have born their bitter fruits, but most of them have been curbed — to our everlasting satisfaction and general good.

At different times, the credit of the county has been endangered. At one time a certain administrtion, contrary to the wishes of the people, plunged the county into debt over $200,000 dollars. Although that has been a quarter of a century ago, yet we are still paying interest on over half of the original indebtedness.

The voters of Chilton County have erred in selecting their public officials at times, and have had to pay for their mistakes in the form of wasted tax money.

All of the above mistakes of the voters of Chilton County have been costly and regrettable, but they are not so bad but that they are corrective. There is one thing, however, that is gradually slipping into the political and governmental life of Chilton County that is not corrective. It is something that will sap our life-blood from our veins and leave us a pallid, helpless, dependent corpse. That thing is

COERCION AT THE POLLS.

Other errors may prove costly, and it may require time to correct them; but they can be corrected and will be corrected by the voters. But when freedom at the polls is lost by the voters of Chilton County, we have let something slip from our grasp that we can't regain — that most precious heritage of a people claiming freedom and liberty.

It matters but little how this coercion comes about. If a paltry sum of money does it, if a job on the road does it, if working on the WPA does it, if relief money, acreage or parity checks do it, or if this string or that is pulled, it matters little. The fact that it is done is where the destruction comes in.

In Chilton County of recent years, the buying of votes with cash money has become the most common means of denying the voter the right to register his or her true convictions at the polls. To pay a man two dollars for his vote is just as bad as taking a club and making him vote against his convictions — even worse. The voter would not want the club next time, but he will likely look for the two dollars at the next election, and will hang around the voting place like a sick buzzard until some candidate's lieutenant makes him an offer. Such is a deplorable condition, and it is gaining more and more ground in Chilton County every year.

If the men running for office in Chilton County do not quit this buying of votes, and permitting others to buy votes for them, we are going to have a worse condition in Chilton County than they have in Russia and Germany. They have elections over there, but there is never but one man on the ballot, therefore he is always elected. This principle does not suit us over here, but if we do not mend our ways and protect the sanctity of the ballot, we WILL eventually drive up to that or worse. This barter of votes in Chilton County MUST cease, and the people of honor and propriety, of whom there are still many in both political parties, MUST see to it that this racket is stopped.

The Union-Banner appeals to the citizenship of Chilton County with all the sincerity at our command to arouse your patriotism, appeal to your better judgment, and for the sake of our children and oncoming generations, let's trample under foot this nefarious practice of vote-buying and vote-selling, and thus preserve to ourselves and the future

FREEDOM AT THE POLLS!

Please believe us when we say this appeal is made NOT for any PARTISAN FAVOR; the question is infinitely bigger than any political party. Unless the practice is curbed, candidates for public office might as well adopt as their slogan: "I am the biggest crook in Chilton County — I am in position to buy and steal the most votes; I am going to have the office one way or the other". The time is fast approaching — probably already here — when a good, honorable man might as well not run for office in Chilton County. Now, read this editorial again and see if there is not an element of reason in it.

CREEL FAMILY REUNION

The 13th annual meeting of the Creel Reunion Association was held at Corner High School, in Jefferson County, Wednesday Aug. 3. It rained much of the day, but very early in the morning cars and trucks began to arrive, bringing hundreds of kinfolks and friends from all over Alabama, and from two or three other states.

Special speakers for the day were Judge J. Fritz Thompson, Prof. Felix Self, Judge E. M. Creel, Prof. W. R. Crumley, and Prof. J. E. Creel. Short talks were made by Rev. A. J. Creel, Rev. J. S. Caddell, Rev. A. B. Creel, Judge James M. Creel.

Music was furnished by The Trafford String Band, and the J. F. Creel Sacred Harp Choir. Prof. W. R. Crumley sang the song entitled, "Some Fifty Years Ago", which the people enjoyed very much.

It was decided to hold the next meeting next year at this same place, there being plenty of good water, and a very large auditorium here.

The following officers were elected for another year: Rev. A. J. Creel, president, Trafford, Ala.; Judge E. M. Creel, vice president, Birmingham; Rev. J. E. Creel, Secretary-Treasurer, Cullman, Route 1; Rev. A. B. Creel, chairman Research Committee, Slemp, Ky.; Rev. J. I. Caddell, chairman Local Committee, Empire, Ala.

We thank our many friends who helped to make our picnic a success. — J. E. Creel.

REFUGE

Our church closed the greatest revival in its history last Friday night, with more than 40 additions to the church, 28 of which were for baptism. Rev. M. D. Garrett did the preaching, and a more forceful and truthful preacher has never been here before. Rev. Garrett is helping Bro. Lockhart in another revival at Liberty, in Autauga County, this week. Around 100 people from this community visited the services at Liberty Sunday night.

Although the weather was bad, a large crowd attended the baptismal service at Mims Pond Sunday afternoon.

Everybody come to church next Sunday, as there is some important business to attend to after service. Bro. Lockhart will preach at 11 o'clock.

If you do not have another church to go to and wish to get into a live church, come to Refuge. You are always welcome. — Mrs. J. R. Connell, reporter.

PATES CHAPEL

Everybody remember next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching dates, and everybody is welcome.

All Pates Chapel G. A. girls are requested to meet at the church next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Attendance at B. Y. P. U. Sunday night was small. Remember, we still have B. Y. P. U. here, and want everyone to come back Sunday night with a well prepared lesson.

Mrs. B. W. Patterson is spending a few days in Wylam with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Burble Price and little daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Maddox at Thorsby last Friday.

Mrs. C. A. Maddox of Thorsby spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hayes.

Everybody make it a point to be at church next Saturday night.

PLEASANT GROVE NO. 2

Our B. Y. P. U. is improving. Come on, folks, and let's make it better.

Rev. Carpenter preached at this place Sunday night.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Denson Sewell is recovering, after an operation in a Selma hospital.

Mr. J. M. Walker left for his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., this week, after a pleasant visit with his brother, C. T. Walker.

Miss Mossie atham spent the week end in Randolph.

Mrs. Walter Lawley is seriously ill.

Mrs. Ida Moore, Mrs. Birdie Latham, Miss Lucy Walker, Mr. Lawley and Mr. Crit Oden enjoyed a pleasant trip to Auburn Wednesday.

Allan, Jr., and Floyd Seeley left for their home in West Palm Beach, Fla., recently.

Luman and Layden Hicks, from the Clanton CCC camp, visited relatives here Friday.

Mrs. Floyd Lewis of Birmingham visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint McGee, last week end.

Miss Victoria Young has returned from a visit at Brent.

Mr. Willie Smitherman and family, and Mrs. Ellen Shoults, from Plantersville, visited relatives here Sunday afternoon.

BARBECUE AT NEW CEDRON

There will be a barbecue at the New Cedron ball ground Saturday, August 13. Everybody is cordially invited to come and spend the day with us. The proceeds will go to the ball club.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

A reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Williamson Sunday, August 7, to celebrate the 66th birthday of Mr. Fayette Ellison. The morning was spent in greeting old friends.

About 1 o'clock a bountiful dinner was spread under the shade trees. There were 114 present, including:

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willis and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Frances Elligon, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Caton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Ellison and children, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Minor, Mrs. Maggie Jones and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Retherford, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Little and son, Mr. and Mrs. Rennie Robinson and children, Mrs. Lee Caton and children, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Weldon and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sloyd Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Ester and children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, Ed Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ellison and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fayette Ellison, Mrs. Adell Hancock, Mrs. Mahalia Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Misseldine and Mrs. Emma Callahan from Tarrant City, Mrs. Martin Giles, Fayette Ellison, Jr., Hubert Ellison, Malcolm Smith, Misses Frances and Lois Baker, Mary Agnes Boswell, Verma and Evelyn Collins, Alice Parr, little Gene Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jones and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williamson and children, and Kermit Collins.

All enjoyed the day, and parted, wishing the honoree many more happy birthdays. — A granddaughter, Mae Delene Williamson.

REVIVAL TO BEGIN SATURDAY AT CLANTON GOSPEL TABERNACLE

The revival at Clanton Gospel Tabernacle will begin Saturday night, August 13. Rev. J. J. Dubose and an unannounced evangelist will hold forth forth until the arrival of Rev. Stevens, who will have charge.

You are urged to attend these services.

Alabama Crop Reporting Service estimates that there were 9,158,000 bushels of old corn on farms in Alabama on July 1. This is 40 per cent above the 10-year average.

L. B. BROADHEAD CELEBRATES HIS 79th BIRTHDAY

On August 7, 1938, many friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Broadhead, honoring him on his 79th birthday. Pleasant memories of a very enjoyable day will linger in the minds of the many who were present for the occasion.

At the noon hour the table beneath the big oaks in the yard was filled with good eats, including the pretty birthday cake, and everyone was invited to help themselves.

Quite a little time was enjoyed in the afternoon in opening and looking at the many nice and useful gifts received by Mr. Broadhead. Music was enjoyed throughout the afternoon.

The children and grandchildren present were:

Mrs. J. L. Malone, Azile, Yvonne, and Joe Max, of Selma; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Broadhead, Dorothy and Emogene; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Adams of Birmingham; J. H. Broadhead and Patty of Clanton; Miss Cleo Broadhead of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. Garland Smith of Wilsonville; Wilda Lane, Olga, and Fay Broadhead of Maplesville; Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Keltner of Birmingham; and Sherwood Crosby of Clanton.

Others present were:

Mrs. Ola Edwards and son, Charles; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Popwell and sons, Delphin and Dolphin; Mr. Evan Popwell and sons; Odis Ellison and Arnie Littlefield of Clanton; John Allen, T. L. Teel, Chas. B. Aycock, and K. A. Fischer of Birmingham; J. J. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Smith and children, Mrs. H. Davis and Allie, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Davis and Doris, Sam and Louise Bone, Kyser Trott, Martin Giles, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and children, George and Vera Atchison, all of Maplesville. Two daughters, Mrs. J. L. Lambert of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. Tom Pennington of New York City, N. Y., were unable to be present.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Rev. Parker has been running a tent meeting for about two weeks, and meetings have been announced for this week. There has been some good preaching. Rev. Mrs. Prickett is helping him preach.

Our meeting at this place will start Sunday. Rev. Grady Williams will do the preaching after Sunday, with Rev. Hughes of Jemison to deliver the message Sunday. We invite all neighboring churches to come and help us in our services. — M. Gore.

My Trip To Auburn

It was a great pleasure for the four 4-H Club girls, Mary Pearl Griffin, Rolene Kelley, Bonnie Guy, and Alice Gilmore, who represented Chilton County at the short course held in Auburn July 5-9. Miss Mattie Joe Barbour, assistant home demonstration agent, accompanied.

Tuesday morning, July 5, we left Clanton filled with enthusiasm over the interesting things we expected to hear and see. We stopped in Montgomery to eat lunch. We went through Tuskegee and took a good view of the Institute. It was then getting near 2 o'clock, the time that we were to be at the leadership hall in Auburn. On arriving in Auburn, we had a few minutes left; we rode around town to look at the college and other interesting places. When 2 o'clock came, we were at the leadership hall, enjoying a hearty welcome to Auburn by Miss Elizabeth I. Deloney, state girls 4-H Club agent.

We registered, at which time we were given the program for the short course . The theme of the program was: "Self Development Through Community Opportunity". Our 4-H motto is: "To Make The Best Better". We then had from the time we registered until 4:30 to go to the cabin that was assigned to us, and to meet the girls which represented other counties from the eastern part of the state.

At 4:30 everyone went on a campus tour, and later the Lee County girls surprised us with a tea.

Mrs. J. E. S. Rudd, Clay County home demonstration agent, and chairman of the all-vesper services, introduced all counties which spoke to us at that time.

As the time passed on to 7:30, Mr. I. A. Sims, commonly known as Dad Sims, state 4-H Club leader, presided at the assembly in the leadership hall. We sang several songs, and music was sponsored by Miss Mary Jim Enloe, St. Clair County home demonstration agent, and chairman of the Music Committee. The pledge was given by everyone, and then we received greetings from Mr. P. O. Davis, director of Alabama Extension Service. Dr. L. N. Duncan, president Alabama Polytechnic Institute, gave a welcome address. Following two songs, Miss Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent, gave a talk on "What To Get Out Of A Camp". Miss Johnston says: "A person gets out exactly what he puts into it".

Announcements were made next, and Dad Sims asked for introduction of all guests and delegates. Following a social hour, presented by two of the counties, everyone went to their cabin, and the lights were out at 10:30.

Wednesday morning everyone had to arise at 6 o'clock, and some of us had to be waked, so our agents sat with us during morning watch, held at the amphitheatre at 6:45, to shake us if she caught us nodding.

At 7:15 we ate breakfast, and at 8:30 Randolph County presided at a general assembly in the leadership hall. During this time, Rev. R. B. Hay spoke to us on "Good Sportsmanship".

All the girls who were in the judging contests went to Duncan Hall at 9 o'clock, and those in the health contest went to Brown Hall. The chairman of the Health Committee was Miss Bennie Celia Slaughter, Bullock County demonstration agent. The others stayed at the leadership hall and listened to a very interesting talk on "4-H Club Honors", given by Mr. T. W. Lumpkin, state boys 4-H Club leader.

We all like to listen to Dad Sims talk, so at 10 o'clock he gave us important points on joint 4-H projects, and Mr. John E. Ivey, extension poultryman, talked to us about "4-H Poultry Work". Mr. Ivey said it would take 100 bushels of corn to feed 100 chickens per year. He also showed us how a person could make a great profit by raising chickens.

Everyone was beginning to feel like resting about this time. Some went to our cabins to return at 7 o'clock, when Shelby County presided and Randolph County gave a play, "4-H Club Work" We ate dinner at 12 o'clock.

The programs for the days following were outlined practically the same as the morning and afternoon before, excepting several different contests, and several different people speaking to us on various subjects.

At 2 o'clock Mrs. Pearl B. Crawford spoke on the subject of "Parliamentary Law". After Mrs. Crawford's talk the dress review was at Duncan Hall.

Mr. Donald Robertson, extension agricultural enitor, gave us a few important notes on "News Writing".

Mrs. Annis Snondy, Calhoun County home demonstration agent, and chairman of stont night, showed every girl how to cooperate and how to play new games.

Thursday morning Miss Dorothy Dean talked to us. Miss Dean is extension specialist in clothing and handicraft. Today we were to work on the camp crafts. It was dicided into different groups. Earh girl was plared in one of these groups by her agent. This was done in order that each girl could tell her project to the other, and they could bring new ideas back home to their clubs. Later during the day Miss Velma Owen, health nurse supervisor, brought to us some interesting points on "Self Improvement".

Miss Anne Watson, Shelby County home demonstration agent, and chairman of the Recreation Committee, rendered her service to the girls, and Dad Sims made it possible for us to see the agricultural extension picture which was made in Washington.

The costume party given by Mrs. Vergie W. Gunn, home demonstration agent, to her assistants, was highly enjoyed.

Friday afternoon Miss Nelle Pickens, extension economist, spoke on the subject of "Home Management".

eLadership recognition was held on the lawn of the home of Dr. Duncan, the college president. Miss Irby Barrett, home demonstration agent, was chairman of this event. It was a beautiful scene. The college boys were shooting skyrockets through the air over the president's home.

We left Auburn Saturday morning, July 9, at 8 o'clock, and bade our friends goodbye. On our way home we came through Tuskegee, and went out through the veterans hospital. Leaving there, we came on to Montgomery and Warden Boswell gave us permission to go through Kilby Prison. We also went out to Oak Park, then to Huntingdon College.

We brought home with us three ribbons which were won by Mary Pearl Griffin. Two were awarded for health and one for the costume that she wore to the costume party. This unique costume was made of newspaper.

I wish everyone could have had the privilege of being at the 4-H short course. There were four outstanding values gained from the short course: (1) A greater knowledge of 4-H Club work; (2) Association and cooperation with other workers; (3) More interest developed in other parts of our state; (4) How to make the best better. — By Alice Gilmore, Verbena, Ala.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY FALLING

University, Ala., Aug. 8. — Without exception, every single field of industrial activity in Alabama in June, 1938, fell below records for the same month in 1937, according to a release from he Bureau of Business Research, University of Alabama. Only electric energy consumption and the number of square feet of building contracts were ahead of June, 1937. Only five fields for which figures were avalable were ahead of 1926, the year selected as representing calculated normal.

The industries or activities still ahead of calculated normal (1926) with percentage of increase are: bank debits, 64.4; building contracts awarded per foot, 44.4; value of building contracts, 22.8; auto sales, 36.7; department store sales in Birmingham, 81.9; and gasoline sales, 168.9.

WATCH OUT FOR SNAKES

Montgomery, Aug. 8. — Summer campers were warned today by Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, to beware of snakes while in the woods.

"A camp site should be selected with a thought to the danger that lurks in brush, rock piles and other spots that might attract snakes", he said. "If it is necessary to cut underbrush, this should be burned or removed to a place at a safe distance from the camp. Bed clothing and wearing apparel that has been hung over bushes or spread on the ground to sun should be carefully examined before being used. Campers and others who pick berries or flowers should make enough noise as they walk along to give prowling snakes full warning of their approach so that these reptiles may have time to get away before their potential victims step on them or get close enough to be bitten. After selecting a log or rock upon which to sit down and rest, those in the woods should examine it carefully to be sure a quick-striking rattler or copperhead is not lying on or near it. And they should be particularly careful about moving large rocks. Underneath many of them are beds swarming with snakes."

Mr. Baker added that six deaths were caused in Alabama by snake bites, or one each in Clay, Bullock, Chilton, Houston, Clarke, and Conecuh Counties.

STATE COTTON ACREAGE REDUCED 19 PER CENT

Auburn, Aug. 8. — Acreage of cotton in cultivation in Alabama on July 1 was estimated to be 2,191,000 acres by the Alabama Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. This is 19 per cent less than the 2,705,000 acres in cultivation July 1 last year, and compares with the 10-year (1927-1936) average of 3,014,000 acres. For the United States the acreage on July 1 is estimated by the Crop Reporting Board to be 26,904,000 acres. This is a decrease of 18 per cent from the 34,471,000 acres in cultivation on July 1 last year, and is the smallest since 1900.

Of the $839,183.15 recently released by Comptroller Lee for education, $674,000 was from the special educational trust fund. The sales tax accounted for $225,000 of this educational trust fund, the gross receipts tax $4,000, tobacco tax and similar taxes $370,000, and the general fund appropriation $370,000.

Roosevelt Faces More Opposition

Washington, Aug. 7. — A prediction of firmer opposition to administration legislation in the next session of congress came today from Sen. Burke (D) of Nebraska, often a critic of Roosevelt policies.

Burke said that administration efforts to prevent renomination of some Democratic senators, who at times opposed legislation, suggested by the White House, had failed.

"The purge has collapsed", he declared in an interview, "and when this fact becomes apparent I think the effect will be to stiffen the opposition of some of those who were on the border line before, as well as those who were marked for elimination".

The Nebraskan said he believed this opposition likely would force modification of the government reorganization bill if it is revived in the next congress. The bill passed the senate last winter, but was pigeon-holed in the House.

"If the bill is redrafted to eliminate some of its bad features, I think that it will be passed", Burke said.

Opponents of the measure raised the cry of "dictatorship" against the bill last session, contending it would give the president great powers in reorganizing federal departments.

Burke expressed the opinion that a "working bloc" of about 40 senators might be enlisted in opposition to any "ill considered" legislation, but said he believed the administration would retain the strength to force passage of "must" bills.

POWER OF ATTRACTION

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you accept a letter written on the power of attrtaction? We have discovered that there is an attraction to every earthly thing, according to its nature, and there are thousands of phases of nature in the earth and out of it, as well as many different noises and sounds. All of these noises can be picked up and carried by a wire into a radio receiver, and our ears will attract these sounds. We can analyze each sound and each word.

Now, would it be unreasonable to think that the same rule would work in holding a wire and that the power of attraction will pick up the different pases of nature as the wire comes in contact with those phases of nature?

Natural attraction rules tell us that all phases of nature are alone to themselves, and one phase will not attract another, so we see there is a rule, or a power that holds every natural phase to itself. It would have been too bad for all nature to have no law to hold each phase to itself. Was not our God wise to fix it so? We have found that those natural phases or elements can be located by the wire, picking them up and showing us where they are and what they are. An attraction shows us the limit of distance we have to go, how large the vein of water or oil or gold or other mineral is; it shows us how much a vein contains.

Attraction has showed us that the paralyzed side of a man will not attract the other of sound flesh, as there is no electricity in that side, showing us there is a possibility of detecting by attraction the diseased part of a body, and where it lies. So, when a man has a paralyzed side he has two natural phases. It has been thoroughly tried that the sound flesh will not attract the unsound, as one natural phase will attract only one other phase at a time.

I will stop, as I can't put much in this letter. — (Paid adv. by S. N. Wallrop, Jemison, Ala.)

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES

Col. Harry M. Ayers, well known publisher of the Anniston Star, a civic leader who has been long interested in the development of good roads, tourist travel, park and recreational facilities of the state, as chairman of the newly formed Recreational Development Committee of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, has much to say about the recreational opportunities of Alabama.

Col. Ayers, aware of the varied recreational facilities offered by mountain and seaside, fishing and hunting grounds, fresh water and salt water is urging the citizens of South Alabama to acquaint themselves with the natural beauty and attractions of the North Alabama mountain area, and the citizens of North Alabama to familiarize themselves with pleasurable pursuits offered by the Gulf Coast.

There are many recreational advantages in every section of the state, according to Col. Ayers, who is advising people of every community to take an interest in developing the possibilities near at hand.

Chairman Ayers, speaking of the objectives of his committees, says: "The State Chamber Recreational Development Committee will first attempt to tell the people of Alabama on the opportunities offered in their own state for recreation and enjoyment, and then present these opportunities and advantages of other sections of the country by means of constructive publicity".

Alabama has spots of scenic and historic interest, mountain and coast resorts that will appeal to the tourist passing through the state, as well as to the Alabamian seeking diversion and vacation fun at reasonable cost.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

A few weeks ago the writer needed an outstanding, scholarly teacher to head the Department of French in the Bob Jones College. I quote part of a letter which was written to more than 200 college presidents: "I want a man with a Ph. D. degree in French to head the Department of French in the Bob Jones College. I want a man with 'old time mourner's bench religion', and common sense. Can you help me locate such a man?" I could write a volume on the replies I received. "There is no such animal", one distinguished college president said. "I have been looking for a man like that for four years and have not been able to find him", another replied. Before I forget it, let me say we were able to locate the right person, but we had to search the entire United States in order to find him. This gives the orthodox Christians of America an idea of how difficult it is to run an old time fundamental, orthodox Christian college. It has been necessary for the Bob Jones College to train most of its own teachers and direct them in their graduate work. The early school teachers of America believed in "the old time religion". The Christian philosophy dominated the thought life of the old time American school teachers. The trouble with our nation is we have substituted in the schoolroom the satanic, behavioristic philosophy of "do as you please" for the old time, evangelical, orthodox, Christian philosophy of self control. There are many consecrated Christian school teachers left, but in the higher educational realm there is much atheism, rationalism, behavicrism, and agnosticism. What this country needs is a graduate school with a mourner's bench in it and a good old time exhorter to train the right type teachers for orthodox Christian colleges. Some time ago we made up our mind that, God helping us, if we could not find a consecrated Christian to head our French department, or any other department, we would simply let that department go until the right kind of teacher could be found. It was a great test. However, since meeting it God has in a wonderful way supplied the needs of the Bob Jones College. As I write these lines my heart is filled with joy at the thought that the students who come to the Bob Jones College this fall will sit at the feet of well trained scholarly teachers, but at the same time teachers who believe in the Bible and have had a Christian experience, and teachers who put first things first.

The Psalmist said, "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty". In other words, he says if we dwell in the secret place — that is, stay there — we are living or abiding under the shadow of the Almighty. That means we wall ourselves about with omnipotence. It is my respnosibility to dwell in the secret place. When I do that, it then becomes God's responsibility to take care of me. When I was a boy, I used to go walking with my father at night. I would reach up and take hold of his hand. In other words, I put myself under his protecting power. He was responsible to see to it that I didn't fall down and that nothing would hurt me. As a father he was glad to protect me. God delights in having us look to Him for protecting care. We are passing through a world filled with pitfalls, dark valleys, slippery roads, and a world filled with many enemies. The wisest of the wise is not able to find his way along or take care of himself. We all need God. The Psalmist knew God and he said, "I will say of Jehovah, He is my refuge and my fortress; my God, in Whom I trust". What a refuge! What a fortress! The God Who made this world and created flaming suns with which to light the universe is willing and eager to walk through the darkness of this world with His own children, protecting them, sheilding them, taking care of them, enfolding them in the arms of protection, overshadowing them with His presence. Years gao a railroad train wrecked in a Southern state. The cars all piled up on the embankment. People began to cry in pain and terror. An old, gray haired preacher stood up in the midst of the rubbish and above all the noise he said, "I am trusting God. Who are you folks trusting?" The world is well nigh wrecked. There are wars and rumors of wars. There is a chaotic condition in practically every nation. Some trust dictators. Some depend on kings. Some rely on democracies. Some are turning to communism, and others are looking elsewhere for help. We Christians in the midst of all the uncertainty while men are clamoring for protecting power from human leadership and human genius, should cry unto God and say, "We trust You. You are our refuge. You are our strength. You are our fortress. In Thee, O God, do we trust".

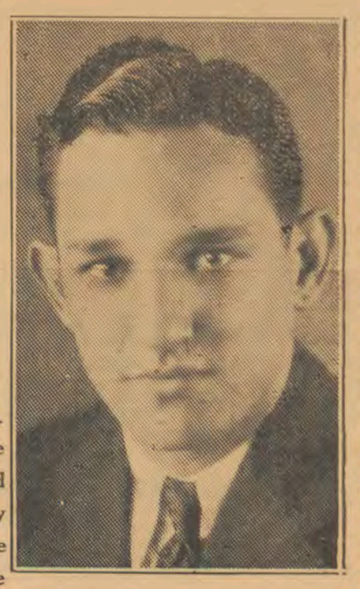
RADIO SERVICE

James (Gabby) Tiffin has completely remodeled his Radio Repair Shop. The very latest of equipment has been installed. Also, the most complete line of radio parts, tubes, and radio batteries to be found in Alabama are in stock — a shipment of 500 new 1939 model RCA Tubes have just arrived. The highly efficient PHILCO Tube will continue to be carried. Agreements with some of the largest parts stores in Alabama, and several large factories, have been completed, whereby prompt shipment of parts will be made. One-day service can be given on 90 per cent of radios left for repairs.

Mr. Tiffin is a graduate of Coyne Electrical School, located in Chicago. He is the only graduate of a radio school now doing radio service work in Chilton County. He will guarantee every set brought in for repairs, and will give prompt service on each set. He hopes to build his shop into one of the best in the South. He assures you that his every effort will be put forward to please the customer, and give a brand of radio service that will meet with the approval of radio owners.



The New PHILCO FARM RADIO has seen the greatest improvement ever made in Radio. The complete set of batteries (including A, B and C) only cost the customer $5.50. Prior to the 1939 models, the lowest priced set of batteries on the market cost over $7.00. This amazing new Radio operates on 1½-volt A Battery. This is the key to the low, ECONOMICAL OPERATION. NO OTHER SET IN AMERICA CAN BE OPERATED FOR SUCH LOW COST. This New Battery gives you 750 guaranteed hours of sensational performance WITHOUT CHARGING OR REPLACING OF BATTERIES! Price of Complete set of Batteries is $5.50. Above pictured Economy set is

NEW PHILCO & RCA Models

Tom Tiffin has just announced the arrival of the New 1939 RCA-VICTOR and PHILCO Radios. After very careful study of EVERY line of Radios on the market, he has come to the conclusion that these two occupy the highest place in the radio world. This year has seen many big changes in the radio industry, one of the biggest changes being the price reduction. Every radio manufacturer has reduced prices on their sets. The PHILCO and RCA companies have reduced their prices as much as 50 per cent. Every radio sold will be delivered, an aerial and ground installed, and guaranteed for a period of three months. The keynote of this firm will be "SERVICE".

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

IMPROVED PASTURE FOR CATTLE PAYS

Auburn, Aug. 8. — Value of improved pasture for growing beef cattle has been clearly demonstrated as the result of a project which has been operating at Grove Hill in Clarke County for three years, states R. S. Sugg, extension animal husbandman.

The project is a 52-acre pasture demonstration conducted by O. C. Helms, Clarke County agent, and C. C. Webb, prominent farmer of Clarke County.

In the fall of 1935, Webb started by planting 40 acres of oats on the 52-acre tract. In the spring of 1936 common lespedea and Dallis grass were sown on the oats. They were cut in the late spring, and 52 cows and yearlings and a good Hereford bull were grazed from June to October, 1936. Two tons of finely ground native limestone, and 450 pounds of triple superphosphate were applied. A mixture of 5 pounds of black medic, 2 pounds of white clover, and 1 pound of hop clover per acre were sown in early November, 1936.

His first crop of calves from the Hereford bull and the 52 hea dof cows and yearlings was grazed during the spring and summer of 1937. The spring calves which had been born and raised on this pasture without other feed were sold during the summer and fall for $607. Two year-old cows were also sold off the pasture for $43, making a total of $650 worth of beef, or a cash return of $12.50 per acre. In addition to the cattle sold, 18 heifers were grown out on the same 52 acres and kept as replacements.

Webb reports an excellent stand of lespedeza, Dallis grass, black medic, and white Dutch clover, and if seasons are favorable, expects to get equally as good results this year.

FARMERS WINNING FIGHT ON CHOLERA

Auburn, Aug. 8. — American farmers seem to be making progress so far this year in their fight against the nation's No. 1 swine destroyer, hog cholera.

Reports this week from the 10 largest hog producing states show that, in spite of an increased swine population this year, actual losses from cholera are being held to less than they have been in several seasons.

Th survey shows the normal number of spring and summer outbreaks in all states but a much closer control of the disease.

More widespread vaccination of hogs against cholera, and greater precautions in isolating outbreaks, are given as two of the main contributing factors in holding down 1938 losses. More pigs have been immunized against cholera this summer than in many seasons past, according to Dr. I. S. McAdory, state veterinarian, and the disease has not had the opportunity to make such headway as it did formerly.

"Much hog cholera is spread at threshing time", says Dr. McAdory, "the infection being carried on shoes, wagon wheels, mules' feet, etc. Farmers should be careful about driving wagons through neighbors' hog lots, or coming into contact with neighbors' hogs which might be carrying the virus of the disease. At first signs of a cholera outbreak in a neghborhood a veterinarian should be called immediately".

USE DERRIS TO CONTROL FLEAS

Auburn, Aug. 8. — Are you bothered by fleas that have been rought into your home by the favorite cat or dog? Most everyone is, and wants to find some way to kill the pests that bother both pets and humans.

W. A. Ruffin, entomologist of the Alabama Extension Service, says that derris dust that is used in the garden to kill insects is equally as effective in ridding the canine or the kitty of those pesky fleas that make life during the summer most unpleasant.

For treating cats and small dogs a tablespoonful of derris is sufficient. Rub the powder into the fur around the head and ears first, then along the back and under side of the animal. An application every 10 days or two weeks will keep the fleas away. Large dogs will require two or three tablespoonsful. The druggist has derris for sale.

Alabama's peach crop this year is 14 per cent above the 10-year average, and is almost double the 1937 crop.

Federal tax laws brought into the treasury $6,241,000,000 during the fiscal year that closed June 30.

The cotton producers pool established in connection with the first AAA program is ready to start buying up all outstanding participation trust certificates in order to liquidate the pool's activity, the Department of Agriculture announces. Printed forms to be used by certificate holders are being forwarded to agricultural agents in all counties where they are outstanding.

A total of 59 leading young farmers, representing as many counties, are at Auburn taking part in a 4-week course in applied agriculture, made possible through the cooperation of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The course will close August 14. Classes are being held in entomology, terracing, forestry, livestock, dairying, fertilization of crops, and other agricultural subjects.

FARM AND HOME WEEK MEETING IS SUCCESS

Auburn, Aug. 8. — Hundreds of Alabama farm men and women concluded last Friday their annual meeting here for Alabama Farm and Home Week. The session began Monday, August 1, and ended at noon on August 5.

Highlights of the 5-day program were: Bankers Day on Tuesday, August 2, when Mr. Roland Adams, vice president, Alabama Bankers Association, addressed the farm meeting; Bankhead Day, Wednesday, August 3, when both Sen. John H. Bankhead and Speaker William B. Bankhead spoke; and Agriculture - Industry Night on Thursday, at which Mr. Benjamin Russell, president, Alabama Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Donald Comer, president, Avondale Mills, gave addresses.

Other outstanding speakers during the session were Gov. Bibb Graves, Edward A. O'Neal, president, American Farm Bureau Federation, Dr. Woodbury Willoughby, Department of State, Washington, D. C., Congressman George Grant, W. M. Landess, TVA, Knoxville, Tenn., Jesse B. Hearin, president, Production Credit Corporation, New Orleans, La., Miss Willie Vie Dowdy, Georgia Extension Service, Miss Lola Dunn, Alabama Commissioner of Public Welfare, P. K. Norris, Foreign Agricultural Service Division, Washington, D. C., and Walter L. Randolph, assistant director, Southern Region, AAA, Washington, D. C.

Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs held its annual session Wednesday during the Farm and Home Week. With Mrs. John H. Lee, president, presiding, reports of work for the past year and plans for the coming year were made.

Farm men and women spent much time in discussion groups in which a number of subjects of vital interest to both groups were discussed. Discussions followed instruction on the following subjects: development of farm home grounds, mattress making, livestock on Alabama farms, cropping systems for soil improvement, pasture development, soil conservation, clothing, food preservation, poultry, and a host of other phases of farm living.

FARMERS MAY SUFFER FROM FARM PROGRAM

University, Ala., Aug. 8. — Poorly considered agricultural reforms for the farmer of Alabama may have the unforeseen result of forcing many of this state's tillers of the soil away from their present farms without providing a place for them, according to Dr. H. H. Chapman, of the Bureau of Business Research of the School of Commerce and Business Administration, University of Alabama.

"In Alabama", Dr. Chapman writes in the August issue of the University of Alabama Business News, "we suffer from a combination of unfavorable conditions — dependence on a crop that requires hand labor and consequently small producing units, cultivation of lands unsuitable for any kind of field crop, use of a minimum of capital equipment, and a tenant system which tends to break down rather than to encourage initiative. Back of these the pressure of population on the land looms as a primary force tending to perpetuate the present system and as a fundamental obstacle to desirable changes.

"Relief from this pressure must precede or at least accompany any significant improvement in the lot of the Alabama farmer. I can see only two alternatives — find economic opportunities in other occupations or allow a considerable portion of our population to go elsewhere. I hope that the first can and will be made effective, but I fear that poorly considered reforms will have the unforeseen result of forcing many away from their present farms without providing a place for them".

Lying Prophets

"Behold, I am against them that prophecy false dreams, saith the Lord, and do tell them, and cause my people to err by their lies, and by their lightness; yet I sent them not, nor commanded them; therefore they shall not profit this people at all, saith the Lord". — Jer. 23:22.

Jeremiah lived and prophesied 600 years before Christ. His was a wicked age. He was God's true prophet. It cost him great sacrifice and suffering to stand out against the lying prophets of his day.

Every past generation has had its lying prophets, false prophets, telling "false dreams" and making the people promises they knew were untrue.

It was the power, influence and persistent efforts of lying prophets that brought about the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

They cried out from the house tops that if the people would repeal the 18th Amendment it would end the depression, end unemployment, end so much drunkenness, end bootlegging, end youth delinquency, end lawlessness, and in fact, they influenced thousands to believe it would be a cure-all for about all our misery and wants. They "caused" the people to commit the tragic error in the repeal of one of the most powerful laws is the Constitution, which was proving a bulwark of defense for the American home, for the protection of youth from drunkenness and prostitution, and for the safeguarding of our economic interests, and the defense of human life and property. Greatest of all, it was keeping the nation out of the liquor business, and blood money out of our public treasury, saving our country from the disgrace and shame of the legalized liquor traffic.

These lying prophets knew the repeal of the 18th Amendment and flooding the country with poison liquor could not and would not work for the best interest of the people. From Noah's day until the present hour, the liquor traffic has cursed every nation which has given it right-of-way.

God said, "They shall not profit this people at all". The record for the past four years since repeal has proved the legalized liquor traffic a curse rather than a blessing. They have spent 11 billion dollars for booze, we have had hundreds of thousands of automobile wrecks, thousands have been killed, other thousands wounded and maimed, many for life.

The great horde of evil that has followed has proved those "false dreamers" have misled the people, and truly "they have not prospered thereby". — M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton.

GRADE A MILK IN CLANTON

Grade A milk, according to health department standards, is at last available to Clanton milk consumers, officials of the local health department announced this week. Within a few days, Grade A caps will appear on the bottles of milk produced and sold by the Miller Dairy. Having installed a steam sterilizer and made other necessary improvements, this local dairy has finally brought its equipment up to health department standards and qualified as the only producer of Grade A milk in Clanton.

"While the health department", said a local health official, "does not want to assume the position of sponsoring the sale of the milk of a particular dairy, we must give our recommendation to Mr. Miller's milk, as we believe our supervision, with his cooperation, will make his a safer product to consume from a health standpoint. We hope that this will stimulate other local milk producers to bring their dairies up to the Grade A standard. Clanton needs at least one more such dairy".

The Miller Dairy will receive henceforth routine inspections, and should the sanitary quality of the milk itself or the conditions in the barn or milk room fall below the standard required, the milk will be promptly degraded.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO HOG PRODUCERS

We have been advised that the state fair has added hogs as another livestock exhibit to be shown in Birmingham September 26 through October 1 It is listed as the Fat Barrow and Gilt Show and Sale.

This show and sale offers a good opportunity for you to sell your spring 4-H market pigs at a good price, as they should be weighing around 200 pounds by September 26. This show and sale is open also to fathers of 4-H boys, and other farmers in this county.

Mrs. Grady Harris, of South Clanton, was carried to a Birmingham hospital for an opertaion Tuesday.

CHILTON COUNTY FAIR AT AIRPORT SEPT. 20-24

STOCK SHOW BIG PART OF CHILTON COUNTY FAIR

According to Dr. W. L. Parrish, in charge of the stock department of Chilton County Fair, this will be made one of the leading attractions at the county exposition this fall. Chilton County has as fine stock as can be found in any ordinary place, and they will be shown off at the Fair. Fine cattle, fine horses and mules, hogs, sheep, goats, and what have you, will be well represented. There will even likely be some horse races arranged this time, says Dr. Parrish.

Those farmers and live stock specialists of the county wishing to place exhibits should contact Dr. Parrish or some other of the Fair committee at an early date, and get everything lined up for instructions and the best possible showing.

YOUNG MAN KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

M. J. Johnson, 19, Identified As Mangled Body Found At South Clanton Sunday

Last Sunday morning about 5:30 o'clock the body of a young man was found dead on the railroad tracks at the south switch near the planing mill in Clanton. Deputy Sheriff Ira Crowe was notified, who in turn notified Coroner J. Mell Martin. The two went to the scene and made investigation. The body was brought to Martin's undertaking parlors, where after being cleaned up was identified as that of M. J. Johnson, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Esau Johnson of Cnocord community.

Burial was at Walnut Creek Monday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. J. W. Enfinger officiating; Martin directing. Pallbearers were: Walter Hoffman, B. G. Johnson, Jr., Revis Patterson, Flem Thomas, Curtis Smitherman, and Jesse Bice.

It is thought that the young man was killed by a freight train that went through Clanton about 11 o'clock Saturday night. He was last seen alive sitting on the tracks about 10 o'clock Saturday night, near where the body was picked up the next morning.

PROMINENT CITIZEN OF BILLINGSLEY DIED SUN.

J. F. Culp, age 68, died at his home near Billingsley Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Funeral services were held from the residence Monday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. G. G. Williams. Burial was in Billingsley cemetery at 2:30, Spigener in charge.

Surviving are the wife and three daughters — Mrs. E. B. Mills of Billingsley, Mrs. L. J. Kast of Baldwin, Fla., and Mrs. J. M. Robertson of Tallahassee, Fla. There are two sons, J. B. Culp of Tallassee, and D. C. Culp of Mt. Creek.

Pallbearers were: N. H. Harrell, Joe Williams, P. L. Donohue, Henry Apperson, H. A. Askins, and Ervin Golson. Flower girls were Mrs. Marvin Kimbrough, Misses Dorris and Johnnie Jones, Grace Hall, and Anna Liza Culp.

Mr. Culp was a retired merchant of Billingsley, having operated a business there for the past several years.

BEAT 5 CITIZEN DIED

Tom G. Lake, age about 67 years, died at his home near Graphite Mines Saturday at noon. Burial was at New Harmony Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Spigener directing. Services were conducted b Elder J. A. Raines.

Mr. Lake was a prominent citizen of his community. He made an unsuccessful race for county commissioner from the Fourth District a few years ago; he always took a keen interest in the civic and religious matters of his community and county.

MRS. ALFIA HAYES DIED

Mrs. Alfia L. Hayes, age 81, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Eiland, of Cedar Grove community, Monday at 2 p.m. Burial was Tuesday at Cedar Grove at 2 p.m., services conducted by Rev. J. W. Enfinger and Rev. Wooley Nix; Spigener directed.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF THE BETHSALEM SINGING SCHOOL

Prof. O. L. Devaughn's singing school at Bethsalem church will come to a close next Friday afternoon, August 19th, with singing and special music from 1 o'clock until about 4. The public is invited to attend. Prof. Devaughn wishes to thank all the people of that and adjoining communities for their cooperation in the work of the school.

PASTOR CHOSEN AT FRIENDSHIP

A special conference of the members of Friendship church was held last Sunday at 11 o'clock, for calling a pastor; the result was the selection of Rev. W. P. Lowery as the pastor for the coming year. There were no other nominations for the place.

FLOUR DEMONSTRATION AT SOUTH CLANTON SATURDAY

A baking demonstration, using "Best On Earth" flour, will be given all day at R. W. Lowe's store in South Clanton, with a mill representative in charge. Flour will be given as prizes, and Mr. Lowe invites all housewives of Clanton and surrounding territory to call by, witness the demonstration, and investigate about the prizes. Remember, housewives, this event is for Saturday, August 20, and will last all day. You are invited.

LARGE RATTLER KILLED

A 4½-foot rattler, with 15 rattles, was killed last week by E. O. Littleton and Opal Garrett, both of Thorsby. The snake was killed on Mulberry, and was found in the middle of the public road.

New Road To The Airport Under Way

The new road, or street, to Gragg Field, which is to join the southwest corner of the field to the street at Judge Reynolds' barn in Reynolds Addition, is benig built right along. This route to the airport will be at least half a mile shorter from the city than the present road around by Mr. Ed Miller's place.

The road is being built by WPA labor and is under the supervision of Mr. T. G. Wyatt.

P. A. VANCE CELEBRATES EIGHTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY

On Wednesday, August 3, Mr. P. A. Vance was honored with a birthday dinner at the home of his son, G. C. Vance. A large table was arranged in the yard at noon, and filled with good thing sto eat.

This delightful occasion was enjoyed by Mr. Vance and the following children and their families: Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Vance, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Henley, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Headley, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Bean, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Vance, Mrs. Tom Gandy. Visitors were: Rev. Dykes, Rev. Cassaday, Rev. Tidwell, and Rev. Deramus.

LAWRENCE-SMITH

Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Lawrence of Clanton announce the engagement of their daughter, Sara, to Dan C. Smith of Clanton and Birmingham, the marriage to be in September.

SOMETHING NEW IN DEEP SEA FISHING

Something new in the way of an aid to deep sea fishing will be used this year in the Baldwin County Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo to be held August 23 and 24. Airplanes equipped with smoke bombs will fly over the Gulf, and when a large school of fish is sighted a smoke bomb will be dropped. Boatmen, experienced in these waters, will be in charge of the boats, and on sighting the smoke will steer to the "discovered fishing ground" — and so the largest catch in the history of the rodeo is expected.

Another important and convenient feature of the Baldwin County Deep Sea Rodeo is the choice between deep sea and fresh water fishing. Of course, prizes are to be offered in both classes.

FOURTEEN ARRESTS BY SHERIFF AND FORCE

During the past week, there have been fourteen arrests by Sheriff J. R. Hardy and his deputies. They were for the following offenses: Assault with intent to murder, one white man; assault and battery, one white man; violating prohibition law, one white man; public drunkenness, seven white men and one negro; adultery and fornication, two whites; abusive language, one white man.

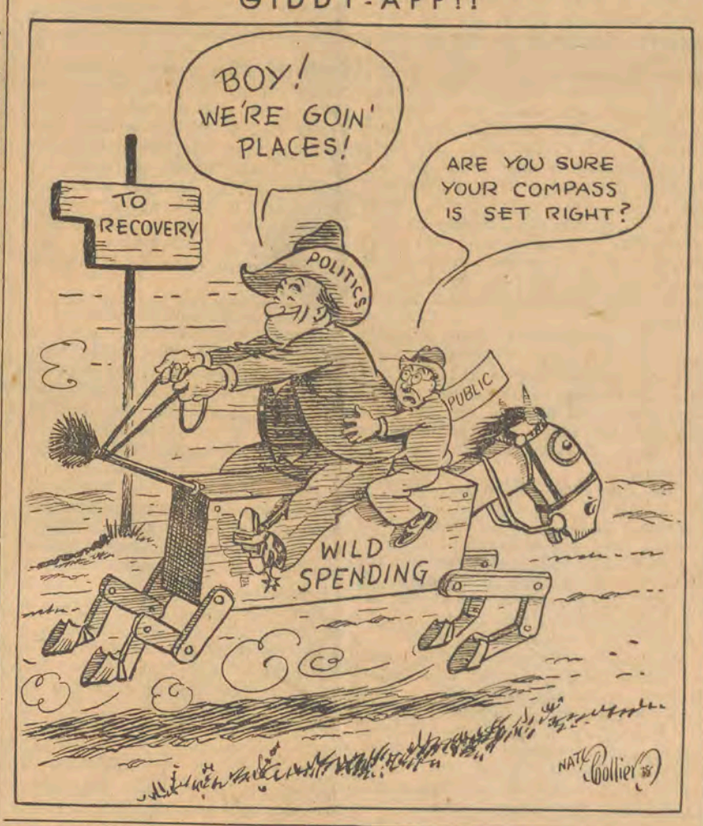
BLUES GONE TO FLORIDA ON BASEBALL TRIP THIS WEEK

The Clanton Blues baseball club left Tuesday for Pensacola, Fla., where they will play the Pensacola Naval Base Wednesday and Thursday. The team will return Friday. The following players made the trip: J. E. Easterling, L. D. Easterling, Tom Tiffin, Curlee, Neihos, Cox, McKee, Armstrong, Williamson, Roper, Baggett, Wallace.

Clamps Lost Pair To Muscoda Last Sunday

The Clamps lost a double-header Sunday to the Muscoda team of Birmingham.

Teague lost the first one, 5 to 0, although turning in a 4-hit pitching performance that should have won any game, but his mates couldn't come through in the pinches. The Clamps left 11 men stranded on the bags. The visitors were able to get only 9 runners on the bases, but five of them scored. The Clamps gathered a total of 7 hits, "Sugar Boy" Easterling rapping out 3 of these; Dock Baker got a pair, and Tatum and Clements 1 each. Teague struck out 5 and walked 2, having 2 errors chalked up behind him. Beavers struck out 4 for the visitors, and allowed no walks.



In the nightcap, a 5-inning affair, "Killer" Ellison was nicked for 8 hits, including 2 triples and a double, while the Clamps had to be satisfied with 3 against Bush. This game went to the visitors, 4 to 2.

MURRAY-BELL AT MAPLESVILLE

The Union-Banner has been informed that the new store of Murray-Bell Hardware Company, which opened for business on schedule time Monday of this week, is well pleased with the reception received from the people of that section and the western part of the county. According to the management, the new store has started off with a bang, and it looks as though business is going to be most gratifying even from the beginning.

Mr. Jimmie Bell, the co-owner, as well as Mr. Hymon Atchison, the manager, extends thanks for all the visits from frends and customers. They invite you back ever so often.

GIDDY-APP!!

FIVE INJURED IN CAR CRASH FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds In Hospital After Wreck; Three Teachers Hurt

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds, of Clanton, and three young women residents of Birmingham, suffered injuries Friday afternoon near Jemison when their cars crashed head-on.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were removed to Central Alabama hospital, where their conditions were said to be quite serious. Mr. Reynolds was just getting where he could get about again, after a serious wreck some several months ago.

The Birmingham residents, all school teachers, were Miss Robena Evins, Miss Tena Barker, and Miss Mary Jane Wing. Miss Barker was taken to Central Alabamal Hospital, Miss Wing to her home, and Miss Evins to West End Baptist Hospital.

The front ends of both cars were completely demolished.

FORMER CLANTON BOY IS WORKING FOR ELECTRIC

In last Sunday's Montgomery Advertiser appeared hte picture of Mr. L. C. Henley, former Clanton young man, son of Uncle John Henley, lumber man, together with a write-up. The young man is proprietor of the Henley Appliance Company, which is observing its second anniversary.

The company is dealers in that territory for General Electric appliances. Young Mr. Henley is a natural-born booster, and he is very optimistic regarding his business and the Montgomery territory.

Aged Lady Died Last Monday A.M.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crumpton Merchant Died At Thorsby; Was Over 90 Years Of Age

Mrs. Elizabeth Crumpton Merchant, age 91, wife of the late D. Z. Merchant, died at the home of her son, John Merchant, in Thorsby, Monday morning at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Merchant was born near Macedonia church, Chilton County, June 24, 1848, which made her more than 90 years old. She was a member of one of the pioneer families of Alabama. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Crumpton. Her brothers, C. C. Crumpton, John Crumpton, and Monroe Crumpton, died some time ago. Of the family only one sister, Mrs. Matt Gibson, who lives at Macedonia, survives. More than 70 years ago she was married to D. Z. Merchant, who died 15 years ago. To that union were born 7 daughters and 2 sons. W. M. Merchant and Mrs. Frances Atchison died some years ago. The surviving children are: Mrs. D. H. Hodgens, Mrs. J. M. Nix, Mrs. Ed Lenoir of near Jemison, John Merchant and Mrs. B. T. Franklin of Thorsby, and Mrs. W. B. Washburn of Birmingham. There are also surviving 33 grandchildren, 48 great-grandchildren, and 3 great-great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at Macedonia, eight miles west of Jemison. The service was conducted by her grandson, Rev. Woolley Nix of Birmingham, Rev. Howard S. Higdon, and Rev. M. I. McLeod; Spigener directing. The honorary and active pallbearers were the grandsons; the flower girls were the granddaughters and great-granddaughters.

At an early age she united with the Macedonia Baptist church, and remained a member of that church until her death. Throughout her life she, in her quiet, unassuming manner, let the world see Christ radiated in her life. She was a mother whom her children could "rise up and call her blessed".

SCHOOLS TO TAKE PART IN CO. FAIR

Committee Appointed To Make Plans For Schools' Part In County Event

At the last meeting of the Chilton County teachers last spring, a committee of 12 was appointed to arrange for the various schools of the county to participate in the exhibits and activities of the fair. Mr. B. E. Evans of the Chilton County High School faculty is chairman of this committee. Mr. Evans will be glad to have suggestions with reference to his duties and responsibilities in making this fair a genuine educational program for the entire county.

All the schools of the county will not be in session during fair week. However, we would like to urge that every child of school age be given an opportunity to attend the fair, especially on "school day".

The management of the fair has already indicated to you through the columns of the county papers the many advantages of holding a fair at Clanton. I wish to emphasize the educational value to every citizen of the county in such an endeavor. In this fair we expect to have the privilege of seeing the best products of the farm homes and school shops of this county. We expect to have on display the accomplishments of the home demonstration and 4-H Clubs of the county. We expect to have cattle, horses, mules, hogs and poultry.

It is highly important that every citizen of Chilton County work together in making this the most helpful and educational project of this kind that has ever been held in Chilton County. — Luther E. Little.

GROUP OF CLANTON PEOPLE WENT FISHING ON THE GULF

Leaving Clanton last Saturday evening, a group of 31 Clanton men went down to Mobile Bay for three days of fishing in the bay and the Gulf of Mexico. They went to Bayou LaBatre for camp and went out from there in fishing boats.

There were two boat loads, one group going in the "Dorris White", as follows: John Armstrong, Jimmie Taylor, W. M. Polk, Dr. J. P. Hayes, M. R. Lancaster, Ralph Bryant, Dick Hayes, Homer Roberts, Dr. C. O. Lawrence, T. L. Williams, J. Hance Alred, John Deramus, W. E. Huddleston, Rucker Sims, Loren Smith, and Luther Foshee. The "Dorris White" was in charge of Captain Earl Bryant.

The other boat, the "Sweetheart", in charge of Captain Clarence Bryant, carried the following Clanton men: Lester Jones, Leroy Martin, John Hancock, Kermit Cobern, Sunshine Chism, Clarence E. Hand, Bonnie Hand, Bill Hampton, Ed Cooper, Doodle Gore, Benson Sims, Louie Smith, Rube Wyatt, Washie Mims, and Evon Mims.

The crew returned to Clanton Tuesday night, with the report of having a wonderful time, but of not having such abundant luck. A storm on the Gulf prevented going on the deep sea until Tuesday, and fishing was not so good then. However, no one seemed to regret the trip.

R. B. JOHNSON TO FINISH NORMAL SCHOOL THIS WEEK

A card from R. B. Johnson, who has been studying at Florence Teachers College this year, informs us that he will take his diploma on Thursday night, August 18. He will serve as head of the grammar school department at Thorsby Junior High School this year.

He says he is anxious to be back in Clanton and "rattle off" on politics, the ballot box, etc.

PAVING STILL GOING FORWARD

Mayor C. Fenn Jones reports that the ragged ends are rapidly being pulled together for the paving of Clanton's streets in the near future. Some committees have reported in full, and others expect to complete their surveys this week.

The signing up for the paving of Second Avenue from the courthouse to the cemetery is practically completed, and the same will be paved, even though the county officials cannot see fit to lend assistance. Some construe it a part of Lay Dam and thus due help from the county. Any way, Second Avenue will be paved right along with the remainder of the city paving program.

MRS. L. C. ROSS TO OPEN KINDERGARTEN SEPT. 12

Mrs. L. C. Ross will open her kindergarten for the coming year on Monday, September 12. All who have children to take first grade or kindergarten work should see Mrs. Ross as early as possible.

LETTER TO GINNERS

To all ginners:

Your cooperation last year in advising your customers of the losses which would be incurred by the ginning of wet seed cotton undoubtedly saved them considerable sums on the crop.

Since the ginning season in Alabama is opening during wet weather, we wish again to call your attention to the service which you may render in connection with saving the quality of the lint and the seed by ginning only dry cotton.

We know of no way by which cotton will dry quicker than on the stalk, and you would be doing your customers a favor to suggest to them that they let the cotton dry in the field before picking. Also, cotton which has been picked during dry weather and before the rains should be kept separate and ginned separately from that which has been damaged by rain.

It is impossible to gin cotton without damaging the lint, and the quality of the seed is also greatly impaired. You could hardly do a greateer service at the present time and throughout the season than to urge your customers to gather their cotton dry and gin it dry. — R. J. Goode, Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries.

Mass Meeting Here Friday, August 19

There will be a county-wide mass meeting, for the purpose of developing a huge rural electrification project, in Clanton at the court house, at 2:30 p.m., on Friday, August 19.

This meeting will be under the auspices of County Agent J. W. Fant, and Gordon Persons, Chairman of the Rural Electrification Authority, will be present to explain the whole program. Also with Mr. Persons will be Joe L. Coleman, one of the engineers of the Authority.

It is the purpose of the Authority to combine Autauga, Chilton, Coosa and Elmore Counties into one large project, and Mr. Persons states that, in his opinion, from 400 to 600 miles of lines are feasible in these four counties. There are ample funds available to build every mile in every county on which a sufficient number of customers are interested.

Rural electrification will mean a great deal to Chilton County, and every rural resident who does not now have electric service available is urged to attend this county-wide mass meeting, which will be held at the court house in Clanton at 2:30 p.m., on August 19.

WOMAN MURDERED IN WEST CHILTON

Mrs. Pearl Scott Found Dead From Throat Wound; Was Assaulted

ARREST MADE WEDNESDAY

The pages of Chilton County's history have been smeared with another brutal and merciless murder. The assaulted and bruised dead body of Mrs. Pearl Scott, a widow woman of Beat 14, was found in the woods near her home, two miles northwest of Macedonia church, Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock. A search had been made for her since she had failed to return to the house after going to the garden for vegetables shortly before noon that day. When the body was found, a bucket of okra, tomatoes and beans was found near by. The body lay in a puddle of blood.

The garden was some 150 yards from the home at the edge of a swamp. The body was found in a marshy place some fifty yards inside the woodland. There was evidence of a terrific struggle, officers state, the bushes, grass and weeds having been broken and trampled down over quite a large spot.

The victim's right hand clutched a thorny vine, and her bonnet and a shoe were found a short distance from the body.

Coroner J. Mell Martin investigated, as well as Dr. V. J. Gragg and members of the sheriff's force. There were wounds about the head and face, and the arms were scratched, reports say. The report of assault was verified by those conducting the autopsy.

Some barefoot tracks were traced from where a 19-year-old young man had been pulling fodder that morning a quarter of a mile to the scene of the crime. The same barefoot tracks were followed down a branch a short distance, then taking out west about four miles to the vicinity of Cox Station on the Southern railroad. The tracks could not be found leading away from there.

Deputy Sheriff White of Autauga County picked up Ben Wallace, the suspect, at Frenmont, near Jones Station, on the Autauga-Dallas county line Wednesday morning. Officers here were notified, who went and brought him to Clanton and placed him in jail, about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, charged with rape and first degree murder.

Mrs. Scott, the widow of Edgar Scott who died some ten years ago, was 54 years old, and is survived by three sons and one daughter, Joe, Steve, and Eugene Scott, and Mrs. Louvella Rhodes. There are two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Lovie Barnhill of near Clanton, Mrs. Angie Barnhill of Arkansas, and Joe Jones. Funeral services and burial were at Pleasant Hill cemetery Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Paul Oden and Rev. M. Lockhart; Martin directed.

Reports are that James, Junior, Meldon, and Mary Ella Wallace, and Charles Jones, all under 10 years old, and neighbors of the slain woman, were first to see the body.

They noticed a pail of vegetables left in the little used road on which they were pulling a little express wagon on their way to a favorite play spot.

The children coasted down a slight hill, and at the bottom, 150 yards into the woods, they saw the body.

Child-like, they attached no particular significnace to it.

Later they returned home, and when relatives expressed concern that Mrs. Scott had not returned from the garden, they reported having seen her "lying in the woods".

A searching party was quickly organized. Led by the children, they went to the spot. Mrs. Lovie Barnhill, sister of the victim, was first to see the body. She hurriedly called other members of the searching party and said she was afraid to go closer, but she was sure she had seen the body of her sister.

Investigation disclosed Mrs. Scott's attacker had cut her throat and beaten her.

PROMINENT ALABAMIAN DIED

Last week occurred the death of a man beloved to many people in Chilton County, Mr. Thomas J. Scott. He has spent quite a bit of time in our county, and is no less nor favorably known over the state than here. We extend our heartfelt sympathies to the members of his family scattered out over Alabama. Our commonwealth has lost one of its best citizens in the passing of Thomas J. Scott, in Montgomery last week.

Another New Dealer Loses At The Polls

In Idaho, Sen. James Pinckney Pope, 54, who never opposed an administration bill and who was spoken well of by Postmaster General Farley and Secretary of State Hull, conceded Wednesday that Rep. D. Worth Clark, 36, had beaten him. Clark had campaigned for the senatorial nomination as a conservative Democrat. He opposed the New Deal court and reorganization bills, and was blessed by Idaho's Townsend clubs.

Clark's uncle, Gov. Barzilla W. Clark, fell behind ex-Gov. C. Ben Ross in the Democratic gubernatorial race.

NEWS FROM RUTH MAHAN STEWART

Aug. 11. — The Alabama W. M. U. office has recevied a copy of the European Evangelistic News Bulletin edited by Rev. James A. Stewart. It contains the following paragraph:

"My Hungarian campaign finished on the 22nd day of May in the second largest city, Szeged, on the Yugoslavian frontier. So great was the interest in this Roman Catholic intellectual center that the messages had to be radioed to large numbers outside the building. You will be interested to know that during my six months' stay in Hungary, an average of 3,000 heard the Word of God daily. Re-read that sentence — it is a statement that can be substantiated by the Christian leaders in Hungary. This is the mass evangelism to which God called us in the little island of the Orkney group. This is the vision which God gave us of bringing the Gospel to Europe for 'the outgathering of a people for His name'. We follow the vision, that is all.

"The day following the closing of my meetings in Szeged, I was married to Miss Ruth Mahan, of Alabama, U. S. A., the directress of a Bible school for young women in Budapest. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. L. Langston, of the Keswich Convention Council. It was a most impressive service. It was a solemn time of rededication of our lives to the Lord for the great work of bringing the Gospel to Europe's needy millions. In the evening the Christian leaders of Hungary bade us farewell, Rev. E. L. Langston giving the closing message. Another meeting followed in a nearby town, at which I had the joy of leading some precious souls to the Savior. Four meetings on one's wedding day is quite a good record. How good of God to give us precious souls on the first day of our united life! Surely an earnest omen of good things to follow! I love my Savior more than ever, and my desire is deeper than ever to bring the Gospel to tempest-tossed Europe".

Rev. and Mrs. James A. Stewart leave Europe on August 6 for America, arriving August 13. They will be in Alabama for several days and will then be engaged in an evangelistic campaign in the states. — Alabama Baptist.

Mrs. Stewart will be remembered as Ruth Mahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zed Mahan, of Clanton and Montgomery.

MRS. JOHN S. CATTS DIED AT VERBENA

Mrs. John Smyly Catts, age 80, died at her home at Verbena Friday after a short illness.

She was the second daughter of Jerushia May Rives and Dr. Hugh William Caffey, a Confederate surgeon and one-time probate judge of Lowndes County. She was born at Collirene and educated at Hollins College, Va. In 1876 she was married to Mr. Catts of Pleasant Hill.

Surviving are three sons — Samuel W. Catts of Montgomery, Hugh W. Catts of Birmingham, and Col. Gordon R. Catts of the U. S. army, now stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.; two sisters — Mrs. Francis G. Dudley of Pleasant Hill, and Mrs. G. R. Buford of Verbena; three brothers — G. H. Caffey of Verbena, and twins, W. H. Caffey of Virginia, and Judge F. G. Caffey of New York; also two grandsons.

She had lived at Verbena for almost 50 years. Funeral services were held from the Verbena Baptist church Saturday at 4:30 p.m.

FLORENCE TEACHERS COLLEGE OPENS NEW SESSION SEPT. 12

The fall quarter of Florence State Teachers College opens September 12, and all frsehmen should be on the campus at 9 a.m., of that date, according to announcement from the office of President J. A. Keller.

Extensive plans, involving social, religious and health activities are being formulated by the faculty, assisted by the Student Council, for the entertainment of freshmen students.

The arrangements include a general assembly, presided over by Dr. J. A. Keller, group singing by Mrs. Hugh G. Porter, head of the department of music, and an address of welcome by President-Emeritus Henry J. Willingham. President Keller will also introduce the members of the faculty, and deliver a message to the student body.

There will be a motor trip over the Muscle Shoals area, sponsored by the faculty; a picnic supper at the barbecue pit; a recreation hour in the college bowl, conducted by Miss Laura May Hill and Mr. E. B. Baldwin.

On Tuesday there will be another assembly, with Mr. Baldwin presiding, and an address of welcome by Ben Brenneman, president of hte Student Council, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Hugh G. Porter, who has a beautiful dramatic soprano voice.

Miss Myrtle Emerson, librarian, will tell freshmen how to use the library, and H. A. Flowers, head of the department of physical education, will discuss health points with them.

Judas And The Liquor Problem

"Why was not this onitment sold for three hundred pence and given to the poor? This he said, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and had the bag, and bore what was put therein". — John 12:5,6.

Six days before his death, Jesus was the honored guest at a supper in the Bethany home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus. Mary broke a box of very precious ointment over Him and anointed His feet with it. Then Judas, the double-dealing traitor, raised an objection at such waste, and wanted to know why the ointment was not sold and given to the poor. He said it, not because he was interested in the poor, but because he was a grasping, greedy, avaricious crook, and wanted to get his filthy hands on the money that it could be sold for. He pretended to be interested in the poor in order to cloak his covetousness and greed. His duplicity shamed Satan himself.

I never hear these advocates of legal liquor talking about the revenue that is wasted by bootleggers under prohibition, and which can be conserved by legalization and used to pay old age pensions, but that I am reminded of this story of Judas and the box of ointment.

They, like Judas, plead for legalization of liquor, not because they are interested in the poor old people, but because they are a bunch of greedy, grasping, avaricious crooks, seeking to cloak their greed behind a mantle of charity. They are interested only in the "rake-off" they can get by selling the booze to the youth of the land.

There is this vital difference between the booze barons of today and Judas of 1,900 years ago: After Judas had sold the Lord for thirty pieces of silver, he did not have enough manhood left to suffer remorse, and compunction of conscience to the extent that he returned the money and committed suicide, but these booze barons of today know no remorse of heart or compunction of conscience for their betrayal of the youth of the nation. — Rev. M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton.

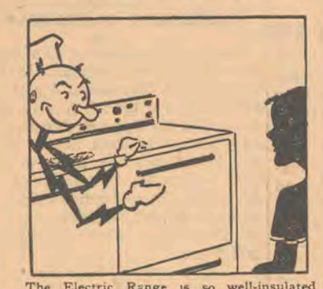
NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION TO SELL LAND TO PAY DEBTS

The State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court, August 15, 1938.

In the matter of the estate of P. D. Wilson, deceased.

This day came Evie Crumpton, Administratrix of the estate of P. D. Wilson, deceased, and filed her petition in writing under oath in this Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts.



It is therefore ordered that the 16th day of September, 1938, be appointed a day for the hearing of said petition, when any persons interested may appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

HANNAH: GODLY MOTHERHOOD

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 1:9-18; 2:1-5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Her children arise up, and call her blessed. Proverbs 31:28.

"Godly Motherhood" — All the power and grace of the infinite God working in and through the most tender and at the same time most potent human relationship—motherhood! There indeed is the solution of many of our national and social problems. For we agree with the poet that man, who regards himself as being mighty, ruling over land and sea, must defer to a mightier power.

"For the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

Hannah was the mother of Samuel, who became one of Israel's outstanding leaders—a priest, a prophet, and "the maker of kings." God needed a great man, so He chose for him a great mother.

Our study for today will be topical rather than textual and extended to related portions in chapters 1 and 2. We consider Hannah as a mother who was spiritual and sacrificial, but at the same time practical in her daily life and service.

I. Spiritual.

Many are the tributes offered to mothers, but none has deeper significance than the testimony of a boy or girl that their mother has led them both by precept and example to have faith in God. Though other advantages may be beyond the reach even of the most self-denying mother, this most important of all benefits she may bring her children, but only if she herself is an earnest and faithful follower of the Lord.

1. Hannah trusted God in her hour of trial and sorrow (1:10). Although her husband was a man of good qualities, he had followed the custom of his times and taken a second wife. Hannah, childless in the presence of Penninah and her children, was in deep sorrow. But she knew where to take her burdens; she brought them to the Lord in prayer.

2. She prayed—fervently and effectually (1:17, 18, compare James 5:16b). Mother's prayers have followed many a wayward boy and girl and brought them back to God. When every other influence for good had been swept aside, they have been unable to forget mother's prayers. One wonders what will happen to boys and girls who go out to face a wicked and bewildering world, with the memory of a prayerless, worldly mother to blight rather than to bless them.

3. She recognized children as a gift of God (1:11). And surely they are. Christian men and women should protest by both word and deed against the vicious modern theory that children are a sort of biological accident to be avoided

II. Sacrificial.

The most precious possession a woman can have is a child of her own. It was, then, the deepest and finest sacrifice of a noble motherheart when she

1. Dedicated her boy to God, even before his birth (1:11). Yet this act so fine and commendable was in reality only an intelligent recognition of the fact that children are a gift of God. Your children and mine belong to God. Let us not stand in His way (or their way) as He graciously leads them out into service for Him.

2. She kept her promise (1:24-28). Many parents have solemnly dedicated their children to God before their birth, and then later the prospect of separation from them has been too much for the parents, and the promise to God has been thrust aside. The writer has on many occasions seen young men and women weep with brokenhearted dismay because a mother or father has forbidden them to go to China, Africa, or elsewhere at God's call. Mother, have you kept your promise to God regarding your boy, your girl?

III. Practical.

Hannah not only promised her boy to God; she made the completion of that promise certain.

1. By guiding her boy in the right way (1:24). As a matter of fact, she went with him to the temple. A mother who "sends" her boy to Sunday school or church will never help him like the mother of whom it may be said "she brought him unto the house of the Lord."

2. By providing for her boy (2:18, 19). There is no more tender and meaningful story in all literature than that of Hannah bringing her boy his "little coat." It is still true that the best "support" a missionary of the Cross can have is a home that "stands by."

The story is told of a missionary candidate who had no "board" back of her but the "washboard" of a godly mother, and who made a valiant and useful servant in the foreign field. Such an arrangemen may not be the most desirable and it really should not be necessary if God's people would give, but it has its glorious advantages.

Such a mother as Hannah would have such a son as Samuel of whom it is said that he "was in favour both with the Lord, and also with men" (2:26).

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

I have just returned from Michigan where I was "guest speaker" on a Bible Conference platform. One of the speakers of the Bible conference was Rev. M. S. Charles, a converted atheist. Mr. Charles was reared in a Christian home. He went away to an educational institution to prepare for the ministry. This institution, which was supposed to turn out preachers, made Charles an atheist. Mr. Charles became an anti-religious leader, lecturer, organizer, writer, and an active propagandist for the American Association for the Advancemnet of Atheism. He became the first general secretary of the American branch of the International League of Militant Godless; editor, owner and publisher of the Godless World Magazine, and manager of the Godless Age Printing and Publishing Company. Mr. Charles said that his atheism was no good when his wife died and sorrow came to his heart. He planned to commit suicide. Darkness filled his soul. He was led to Jesus Christ by a minister of the Gospel and is now an outstanding lecturer and Gospel preacher. Mr. Chrales said that the leading atheist in America went to a denominational college to prepare for the ministry and came out of college an atheist. I, personally, have met in America hundreds of young people who are atheists, and they were made atheists by their college professors. An institution is not necessarily Christian because it belongs to and is supported by some religious denomination. I have met more atheists from supposedly religious colleges than I have met from other type institutions. When a college claims to be Christian and is not, it is the most dangerous place in the world to educate a boy or girl. Fathers and mothers owe it to their children to protect them from the atheistic influences at work in many of our educational centers.

There have always been atheists in the world. There were atheists in the day of David, because he said, "The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God". However, it is a significant fact that atheism was never really recognized in the world until 21 years ago. In March, 1917, a group of 70 men and women who called themselves "The Godless", met in Petrograd, Russia. They organized the first unit of what has become "The International League of Militant Godless". The organization is sometimes known as "The World Atheist Union". The purpose of the first convention of "The Godless", according to Mr. Charles, was "to organize and set in motion a world crusade of propaganda against what they called the supreme superstition of the ages — namely, belief in the existence of God". During the first convention of the league, a constitution, platform, and set of rules were adopted looking to the formation of the international organization of dues-paying members. Mr. Charles says that since this first historic conference, the league has grown and spread until now, at the end of 21 years, there are approximately 100,000,000 people who pay dues. About 50,000,000 of these live in Russia, 20,000,000 in China, and the other millions are scattered throughout Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, America, and other parts of the world. Men talk about academic freedom in the school rooms of America. There is no academic freedom in Russia. It is said that every school teacher in Russia has to sign an atheistic pledge before he is permitted to teach. There are modernistic school teachers in America who condemn the Bob Jones College because it insists upon every teacher signing an orthodox Christian creed on the opening day of school each year. Christianity is not intolerant. Atheism is intolerant. This nation and the world sleeps upon an atheistic volcano. This nation must get back to the God of our fathers or march on toward an atheistic revolution.

PATES CHAPEL

Remember, next Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, in charge of our pastor and Bro. Junkins, from Fairfield, Highland Baptist church, Ensley. Come to Pates Chapel and hear Bro. Junkins preach. We hope to have a fine revival at this place, and everybody is welcome to come.

Last Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching services, with our pastor, Bro. Nix, in charge. Both services were well attended.

The G. A. girls met last Saturday afternoon and elected new officers as follows: Miss Zelma Hayes, president; Miss Athale Price, secretary; Miss Ivye Hayes, treasurer; Miss Lois Robinson, mission study chairman; Miss Alpha Robinson, program leader.

Remember the revival beginning on August 22, which will run a week or 10 days.

Concord-Billingsley

The barbecue and ball games at the New Cedron ball ground Saturday were a grand success.

Mr. Willie Deramus, of New Orleans, La., visited Mrs. J. P. Williams and family Thursday night and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Moore and baby of Bethsalem spent the week end with their mother, Mrs. J. P. Williams.

Mr. Keith Dickinson is suffering from a sprained ankle, sustained while playing ball Saturday.

Mrs. C. A. Moore and baby, Misses Florence and Lucile Ledbetter, Miss Bertha Williams, Mr. Willie Brown, Mr. Willie Deramus, Mr. Norris Ledbetter, and Mr. Charlie Williams spent a short while with friends and relatives in the Adams community Friday night. Mr. Deramus stayed over for a visit of a few days.

Mrs. C. L. Dickinson is still in Montgomery under a doctor's treatment for a growth on her eye.

Mr. T. J. Deramus is visiting relatives at Vida this week.

Several from Independence were visitors in this community Saturday.

Williams - Jones

A wedding of much surprise to their friends in this community was that of Miss Bessie Williams to Mr. W. E. Jones of Independence. The wedding ceremony was performed at the home of Judge Posey near Prattville Sunday, August 7, at 6:30 p.m., after which they returned to the home of Mr. Gene Deramus, where a big surprise supper was awaiting them. After supper 48 people came in to congratulate them. The crowd enjoyed two hours of music by Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Deramcs, Mr. Lowell and Robert Poole.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home at Independence, where he has been a life-long resident. The newlyweds visited the bride's mother, Mrs. J. P. Williams, Saturday.

Everyone wishes for them all the happiness and prosperity that life can hold in store for them.

REFUGE

Our Sunday school was well attended Sunday, with more than three-fourths of the total enrollment present. Bro. Lockhart preached after Sunday school. After preaching service, the church held a conference for the purpose of appointing committees to begin planning for our new church building. Prayer service was held at the church Sunday night, followed by a sermon by Bro. A. C. McMinn.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody is invited to come.

There will be another baptismal service next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Mims Pond.

Prayer service will be held at the church next Saturday night. Be sure to come.

Bro. Lockhart is conducting a revival at Macedonia No. 1 for Bro. Paul Oden this week. — Mrs. J. R. Connell.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

GOOD COTTON DEPENDS ON FARMER AND GINNER

Auburn, Aug. 15. — The farmer and the ginner both share in the responsibility of carefully handling cotton for improved quality that will be more attractive to both domestic and foreign buyers, believe J. C. Lowery, agronomist, and J. B. Wilson, agricultural engineer, of the Alabama Extension Service.

Picking the cotton clean and dry and preventing the mixing of improved varieties with other varieties is the first responsibility of the grower, the specialists emphasize. The grower who picks and hauls wet cotton to the gin and expects it to come out in first class condition is only losing money for himself.

If the cotton has to be picked wet it should be spread out to dry or piled loosely in sheds to dry out for several days before it is taken to the gin.

When the cotton reaches the gin it is the responsibility of the ginner to see that the best quality lint possible comes from the ginning of the farmer's cotton. Machinery in good condition, and drying and cleaning equipment will aid him in doing this, according to the extension advisers.

The improved cleaning and drying machinery is the result of several years of study by the United States Department of Agriculture. It has been demonstrated that drying enhances the bale value of short staple cotton by about 70 cents, and up to $2.50 a bale for long staple.

Modern equipment will provide higher grade lint from either damp or moderately trashy cotton, but no machinery is available which can dry extremely wet cotton or remove enough of the foreign matter to give lint equal in quality to that ginned from dry, clean picked cotton.

SURVEY FOR BEETLE IS BEING MADE IN AUGUST

Auburn, Aug. 15. — A final effort to ascertain if the white fringed beetle is to be found in any other sections of Alabama is the order of business for 4-H Club and FFA members during the remainder of August, F. E. Guyton, state director of the beetle survey, announced here today.

Discussing the survey which has resulted in the finding of three new areas, Mr. Guyton said that county and assistant agents and vocational agricultural teachers have requested their club and FFA members to bring in every kind of insect they can find during August.

The adult beetle does most of its feeding and egg laying during July and August, and leaders in the fight against the pest believe that if any other infested areas are discovered this year it will have to be during August, when the beetles are easily found.

Mr. Guyton pointed out that the finding of the new area in Monroe County, an area that extends for 25 miles along the railroad between Peterman and Beatrice, was directly due to the efficient survey organization of Wilber Kelley, assistant county agent at Monroeville.

Other areas include three city blocks in Mobile, Conecuh County, and the old area around Florala in Geneva and Covington Counties.

"By having farmers, club boys and FFA members send in all insects and bugs they find, the federal laboratory officials at Gulfport believe that great progress will be made in determining just what other insects are damaging Alabama's crops", stated Mr. Guyton.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED BY WOMEN

Auburn, Aug. 15. — Heading the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs during the coming year will be Mrs. C. T. Butler, New Hope, Madison County, who went from school teaching to home making, with success in both. She succeeded Mrs. John H. Lee, Hamburg, at the annual meeting held during Farm and Home Week here, August 1-5.

Other officers named for the coming year were: Mrs. J. S. McEwen, Rockford, Coosa County, first vice president; Mrs. T. P. McClinton, Leroy, Washington County, second vice president; Mrs. Wilson Robertson, Enterprise, Coffee County, secretary; Mrs. Alma Williams, Akron, Hale County, treasurer; Mrs. T. E. McGee, Florence, Lauderdale County, reporter; and Mrs. J. W. Morris, Shorter, Macon County, parliamentarian.

Directors chosen were Mrs. W. F. Jeffers, Glencoe, Etowah County, District 1; Mrs. J. J. Whiddon, Dothan, Houston County, District 2; and Mrs. Louis Traweek, Forest Home, Butler County, District 3.

Outstanding public speaker among Alabama's home demonstration club members is Mrs. S. J. Chandler, Guntersville, Marshall County, who was declared winner in the sixth annual state contest. Winning second and third places in the contest were Mrs. Willis Bell, Grady, Montgomery County; and Mrs. Charles Smith, Empire, Blount County.

From the annual report of the State Comptroller for the year ending September 30, 1934, and the annual report for the year ending September 30, 1937, we ascertain these facts: It cost less to operate the office of State Treasurer in 1937 than it did in 1934. The expenditures of the Secretary of State were less in 1937 than in 1934. The same is true of the State Tax Commission, the Department of Archives and History, the Special Judiciary, the Military Department, the Banking Department, the Mining Department, the Highway Department, and the Educational Department. Less was also spent for the maintenance of the Confederate Soldiers' Home, the registration of voters, and the arrest of absconding felons.

LEGUMES SAVE AND BUILD FARM LAND

Auburn, Aug. 15. — The planting of winter legume crops will protect the land against erosion during the late fall, winter, and spring — a period of heavy rainfall — and increase the yieeld of the crops that follow, points out S. R. Doughty, soil conservationist of the Alabama Extension Service. Much progress has been made in Alabama with winter cover crops, and most farmers agree that it is a good farming practice.

Mr. Doughty says many people have wondered why a larger agreage of these soil conserving crops are not plante din Alabama. Agronomists say that the cost of the seed is the major factor. Farmers with small incomes have been unable to purchase sufficient seed to protect enough of their land with these crops.

In many counties over Alabama this difficulty is being overcome on many farms. By planting small seed patches and saving the seed, increasing the area devoted to legume cover crops from year to year, the farmers soon get a sufficent acreage of legume cover crops established with only a small initial outlay for seed.

The 1938 farm program makes it possible for a farmer, who might otherwise be unable to do so, to adopt and carry out a cover crop program. Mr. Doughty advises farmers to contact their county agents for further information on how they can get started on a cover crop program by using the soil building allowance which has been established for the farm.

4-H CLUB TRIP TO FLORIDA

The annual Chilton County 4-H Club camp for boys and girls was held August 11-13 at Camp Timpcoche, the Florida state 4-H camp, located near Villa Tassa, Fla., on Choctawhatchee Bay.

Attending this camp were 39 boys and 9 girls. These club members were some of the most outstanding in the county, all of whom had met the requirements for eligibility to attend camp, as set up by the county 4-H council. A great many other club members had met these requirements and it is regretted that they were unable to attend.

The camp was under supervision of Mr. J. W. Fant, county agent, B. N. Ivey, assistant county agent in 4-H Club work, Miss Mattie Jo Barber, assistant home demonstration agent, and Mr. D. C. Hanks, director of the camp grounds. Other official chaperons were: Miss Orr and Miss Daughtry, who are connected with state 4-H Club work, Mrs. J. W. Fant, Mrs. Barber, Mr. G. W. Walker, Mr. P. M. Eckler, and Mr. C. L. Wilkins. Mrs. Klinner and Mrs. Griffing, mothers of club members, and Miss Arra B. Jones, also attended the camp.

The boys and girls met at the county agent's office in Clanton at 7 a.m., on Thursday, August 11. There they boarded a school bus which carried them to the camp. The bus was driven by Mr. G. W. Walker.

The trip to camp proved to be a very pleasant one. Everyone brought his lunch and enjoyed a picnic at Elba, Ala. The party arrived at camp about 4 p.m.

Immediately upon arrival, a mass meeting was held. At this time Mr. Hanks, the director of the camp grounds, set forth the rules of the camp. Mr. Fant made a brief address, telling the boys and girls how they could be good campers. Before the meeting adjourned, Mr. Ivey and Miss Barber assigned the boys and girls to their respective cabins and explained to them the schedule they were to follow while at camp.

As soon as camp was set up, the campers enjoyed a refreshing swim in the bay. After a delicious supper the group met in the recreation hall and enjoyed a series of games until 10 p.m., at which time they sang "Taps" and bade each other goodnight.

On Friday morning everyone arose at 6 a.m., and had a nice swim before breakfast. Aftre breakfast an impressive flag raising ceremony was held. Later the campers busied themselves with the several camp duties assigned to the various squads. Later in the morning the boys and girls enjoyed games of baseball and volley ball.

After lunch and a rest period, the campers assembled in the recreation hall for "Kangaroo Court", which proved to be most amusing to everyone. At 2:30 p.m., all members of the party donned their swim suits and went to Fort Walton and spent the remainder of the afternoon surf bathing.

Friday night the campers in each cabin put on an original stunt before a general assembly in the recreation hall. All of these stunts were very clever, and afforded a great deal of amusement to everyone. At ths assembly two distinguished guests were introduced — Mr. Scott, of the Florida Rehabilitation Commission, and Miss Blackshire, Director of Girls 4-H Camp for the State fo Florida, both of whom greeted the campers. Mr. Fant, Mr. Ivey, and Miss Barber made brief talks to the boys and girls at this time and expressed to the camp management their sincere appreciation of their courtesy in lending to Chilton County their camp. Several other members of the camp staff made brief talks at this time also.

Anohter swim in the bay was enjoyed early Saturday morning. Immediately after breakfast each squad was assigned duties to perform toward breaking camp. As soon as camp was set in order the campers said farewell to Camp Timpoochee. A picnic lunch was enjoyed on the return trip at Andalusia, Ala. Everyone arrived safely in Clanton about 5 p.m., Saturday, August 13.

The directors of the camp wish to express their sincere appreciation to Mr. Walker and Mr. Wilkins for their kindness in carrying their trucks to transport the boys and girls.

This was the most successful camp held for Chilton County in several years. All of the boys and girls proved to be A-1 campers. They were truly a credit to their parents and their county.

It is the hope of the county agents and all others who attended camp that next year Chilton County will have a much larger representation of club members at the annual camp. This is one of the high lights of club work throughout the year, and is truly something worth working toward. Such camps are not only splendid forms of recreation for boys and girls, but from them they derive many benefits as well — among these being the all-inclusive trait, good sportsmanship.

MT. CARMEL

The singing which we failed to have on the third Sunday in July will be on the fourth Sunday in September. All singers and others are invited to come and spend the day.

Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are still good, but there is room for improvement.

120,000 SPIES ROAM NATION, WRITERS CHARGE

THE tombstones of millions of men of war are the heritage of the modern spy.

When war rages, if he is successful, men die because of the information he has sold their enemy. If he is unsuccessful men die because he failed to provide ranking army officers with the plans and information they so desperately needed.

Never in the history of the world has espionage reached the height it enjoys today.

There are 120,000 foreign spies working in America as you read this.

U. S. Navy Lieut. J. S. Farnsworth, convicted spy.

In the August issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine, for the first time, are the real facts of the underground attack being made upon the United States. A retired Marine Corps officer, Donald E. Keyhoe, and John Jay Daly, formerly with the military intelligence division, have completed an investigation of spies covering several months.

On a night in 1937, Federal agents discovered and raided a secret Japanese radio station high in the Wasatch Mountains, a short distance from Salt Lake City, and three Japanese operators were apprehended at the well hidden base.

But not one arrest was made!

In Berlin three heads would have rolled. In Russia a firing squad would have prepared for three quick volleys. In Japan itself, and in a dozen other countries, death or long prison terms would have resulted.

Von Bernstoff, he headed Germany's famed spy system.

"The amazing leniency of our laws together with our recent "hush-hush" policy of espionage, explains the vast armies of foreign-controlled agents which have overrun the United States and its territories," say the writers of "Web Over Washington" in August Cosmopolitan.

"There are more than 120,000 spies in the United States alone according to a high Washington authority and this figure includes agents of several nations, which are bitterly hostile to each other," the authors charge.

"At the center of these webs are such varied groups as agents of the Ogpu and the Cheka, Nazi storm-troopers with Gestapo connections, spies linked with the Kimitsu Kyoku, 'observers' of an unofficial system extending to Rome, and agents of other nations. Under the master strategists are thousands of organizers, propagandists, informers, 'message boxes' and potential saboteurs," they write.

"To fight this horde America has only a skeleton force," Keyhoe and Daly maintain. "Foreign spies and their sub-agents are outnumbered by counter-espionage by at least twenty to one."

"Known foreign agents are allowed to work in the United States undisturbed principally because our counter-espionage allotments would not finance a third rate WPA project."

"There is a second reason, our peace-time rule," the writers say.

"Watch known spies and learn their contacts. With skeleton organizations, our intelligence men would rather spot agents than arrest them—and have to search for inevitable replacements. A number are under surveillance—certain files at the War, Navy and Justice departments would dismay spies of various countries. But our few agents cannot keep track of the ever-increasing thousands."

In their sensational article the writers of "Web Over Washington" point out:

Mati Hari, most famous of World War spies.

"Washington is popular with spies—it is notoriously prodigal with information for which they would risk their lives abroad. For a small sum, copies of Committee hearings may be had, giving valuable data on our army, navy, air services and defense plans."

The problem is simple when diplomatic immunity is used as a cloak. Some time ago, an intelligence officer observed a furtive meeting between a traitor-suspect and two attaches of an Asiatic power. He followed, and a wild automobile chase developed. But by the time he caught up with the other machine, the traitor had escaped and the attaches were entering the grounds of their Embassy. By international agreement, all Embassy grounds are "foreign soil" and immune from search. So the officer was helpless, though positive that precious navy documents were within a few yards of him.

Violation of privileges is far from the rule, but when an Embassy does overstep, it has every advantage. Sealed Embassy pouches, though suspected of containing stolen secrets, are inviolate.

But the greatest peril from these spy armies is that of sabotage, huge scale destruction of factories, transportation and communication in the event of war.

It is time to destroy these webs —before it is too late!

LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK. — When Charles Maurras came out of the Sante prison last year, he was met by a committee of distinguished Frenchmen, who nominated him for the Nobel peace prize and said they would make him a member of the Academy. They have just fulfilled the latter promise, and M. Maurras becomes an immortal by a majority of one vote.

Leaves Jail To Get Bid To Academy

He had spent 250 days in jail on a charge of having urged the assassination of 140 members of the chamber of deputies who had voted for sanctions against Italy; also on a charge of inciting the French people to "sharpen up their kitchen knives" for use against certain proscribed politicians.

In the 250 days he had written five books, swelling his vast collection of books on biography, politics, economics, literary criticism, history and what not to probably well over 100. I talked to him once in the Cafe des Lilas, a fragile, deaf, bearded old man with a contentious, blazing mind which makes one think of a sizzling battery running an automobile without any engine.

In 1923, he was in jail for four months in a somewhat anti-climatic adventure for one who was to be garlanded as an immortal. Three members of the chamber of deputies were kidnaped and fed castor oil—Mussolini is said to have got his broad prospectus of Fascism from Maurras—and the bald head of one of them was painted with violet ink and glue.

Showed Duce Technique Of Terror

In 1925, M. Maurras was sentenced to two years in prison, the charge being that he had threatened to kill the minister of the interior. Among the causes of his incarceration in October, 1936, was conspiracy evidence in the assault on Premier Leon Blum, in which he was severely beaten, while attending the funeral of a friend.

His books and virulent editorials against democracy in the Royalist, paper, translated into many languages, are the fount of Fascist doctrine all over the world. His hatred of democracy is savage and vitriolic. He is witty, learned, brilliant and he has the most excoriating and corrosive vocabulary in France.

A FOOTNOTE to the main text of the world discussion on Japan bombing babies is the interchange between Avery Brundage, chairman of the American Olympic committee, and William J. Bingham (Bill the Plugger), Harvard athletic director. Mr. Brundage says it has nothing to do with sports, and Mr. Bingham says it has—with sportsmanship, at any rate—and he withdraws from the committee and the 1940 games.

Jap Bombs Cause Rift In Olympics

The sports writers are becoming almost metaphysical in weighing and appraising the moral values of the argument. Bill the Plugger says, in effect, that he won't play with baby-killers.

He became Bill the Plugger by losing 19 races at Harvard and winning the twentieth. Thereafter, he was Harvard's crack miler.

He started out plugging at the age of fourteen, leaving school to work in a mill and help support his five younger brothers and sisters. He saved $30, went to Exeter and worked his way through Exeter and Harvard.

He came out of the war a captain with appropriate decorations, did a turn in the banking business in Texas and became Harvard graduate supervisor and track coach in 1921. On the side, he is president of a concern which imports rubber goods.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PICTURES ON THE FARM

Everywhere on a farm there are pictures—simple, pleasing snapshots that will give your albums new appeal.

THE man who says "nothing ever happens on a farm" certainly isn't talking about pictures. On almost any farm, if you keep your eyes open, you will find enough snapshot material to keep the camera busy from early morning to late at night—and still not exhaust the supply.

Farm animals offer scores of picture chances—woolly lambs in the sun, a hen fussing over her brood of chicks, cows being driven in for milking, pigs at the trough (or their owner summoning them with a lusty shout), horses drinking, ducks waddling in a line about the yard or taking an afternoon "cruise" in the pond.

Work scenes in the field make excellent pictures, and fresh-plowed land with long deep furrows is good for pattern snapshots. The orchard in bloom is a scene of beauty, and all around the house and barn lot there are details which make pictures.

Get a snap of Grandfather whittling, mending a single-tree, or busy at a whirling grindstone. Picture shady fence corners, old-time zigzag fences of laid rails, the battered wooden bucket at the well and the worn saw-horse or chopping block in the woodlot. Look for snaps down by the shady spring-house and brook. And watch the special seasons—such as hog-killing time later on—when there is some unusual activity to picture.

Yes, there are plenty of farm snapshots—everything from a calf being fed from a bottle to corn-husking shots at harvest time and footprints in the snow in winter. You can point your camera in almost any direction, and find something. Try it, every chance you get, and watch your picture albums grow!

AMERICA MUST SAVE CIVILIZATION SAYS PRIESTLY

The daily action of each of us may help mold the civilization that Europe shall eventually adopt, the noted English writer says in an article in August Cosmopolitan Magazine.

"Not only is the United States the richest and most influential country in the world today," says Mr. Priestly, "But it is the only great power that can be considered reasonably secure."

"If the rest of the world went up in flames, the United States could shift for itself," says Mr. Priestly.

While European countries are warding off the destruction of their cultures, Americans "are deciding the pattern and color of our new twentieth-century civilization," according to Mr. Priestly in sincere words which should be taken to heart by every American.

He believes that Americans should not sit back and let the rest of the world go by. Nor should they relax now that the job of pioneering America is finished. He thinks we dealt in "quantity" long enough.

With the future of the next civilization in our hands, it is Mr. Priestly's belief "That the American who accepts this responsibility must now begin to think sharply in terms of quality."

THORSBY SECTION

MRS. TOM LESSLEY, Manager

We extend sympathy through this column to the bereaved ones over the death of Mrs. D. Z. Merchant, which occurred Monday morning at 3 o'clock at the home of her son, Mr. John Merchant, in Thorsby. Funeral services were held Tuesday at 11 o'clock at Macedonia church.

Mrs. C. C. Lewis, of 430 Tenth St., S. W., Birmingham, entertained Wednesday, August 3, honoring Miss Ruby Connatser, of Thorsby, with a tea shower.

Another tea was given in honor of Miss Connatser Sunday afternoon, August 7, by Miss Clemmie Traywick, which proved to be a delightful occasion. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received; 25 guests called; punch with sherbet and cake, sandwiches, nuts and mints were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hayes entertained at dinner Sunday, celebrating the birthdays of four members of the family, and also celebrating their anniversary, also celebrating the anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merchant, all coming this month. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Hayes and children, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hayes and children, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hayes and baby, Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Hayes, Misses Lois Williams, Mabel Brown, Lodene Hayes, Mr. C. D. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sims and children, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes of Jemison.

Mr. and Mrs. Macie Jones and son, Dick, and Mrs. Charles Robinson of Birmingham were guests of Mrs. J. H. Goddard Sunday afternoon.

The J. O. Johnson family is having a reunion last week and this week. Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Johnson and sons, Bobby and Billy, and Mrs. Emil Petersen arrived from Gary, Ind., Monday, August 8. Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson's niece, Dorothy Dee Hill, arrived from Dallas, Tex., Tuesday, August 9. Esther Johnson has been home since June. Edith Johnson was the last to arrive. She came Saturday, August 13. The gang met Edith at the train with a song, "Hail, hail, the gang's all here; we are here from Texas, we are here from Gary; hail, hail, the gang's all here; we are here to meet you now". Bobby and Billy made up the words. Then Edith was ushered over to the Thorsby Garage wrecker and hauled home in that. This is the second time the family has been together. The other time was 20 years ago, before any of the children were married. This is the fourth time that Edith and Verdie have ever been together. Verdie hasn't been at home for 12 years. Sunday a number of childhood friends of the Johnson family met in Conrad Carlson's grove for a picnic. It was a real get-together.

Mrs. W. E. Langford of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mrs. Lloyd Howard and Mrs. Lillian Deason.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Reinhardt and Mary Louise left Saturday morning for a vacation in Garniers, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Johnson and son, Bryan, returned to their homes last week after a visit with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Littleton, and family, in Dothan.

Mr. Newt Minor, Phares Raybon, scoutmaster, and the Boy Scouts left Monday morning for a few weeks' vacation in Georgia and parts of Tennessee and North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hosey spent Sunday with friends at Jordan Dam.

Mr. and Mrs. Theron South and son, Forrest, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. G. W. Freeman.

Miss Edna Raybon is visiting in Birmingham for two weeks with Miss Kathryn Lenoir and Mrs. Joe Hines.

Miss Edith Carelton of Dadeville is spending several weeks with Mrs. Frank Thompson.

The following enjoyed a picnic dinner at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Franklin on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cox of Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Houston, Billy Houston, Marie Each of Noble, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pate and daughter, Roma Lee, Mr. and Mrs. William Each, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Each, Mrs. Lester Pate and son, James Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Pate, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Tapscott, and Peggy Mims Franklin.

Mrs. W. B. Washburn and daughter, Willie B., of Birmingham, have been spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. John Merchant.

Mrs. S. M. Connatser and daughtres left Sunday for a few weeks visit with relatives in Tennessee and North Carolina.

Mrs. L. C. Lowery and son, Jimmie, visited friends in Birmingham last week.

Miss Hattie Davenport and Mrs. Shaw of Chattanooga, Tenn., spent from Saturday until Monday with Mr. nad Mrs. Ben Davenport.

Word has been received from Mrs. Chas. Lucas that Mr. Lucas is very ill in a hospital in Clio, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Lucas formerly resided in Thorsby for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Villadsen had as their guests for the week end Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Toole and son of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Henley spent Sunday in Montgomery attending the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henley .

Mr. and Mrs. Norman James of Birmingham spent part of their vacation here last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marcus left last week for Athens, Ala., where he is now working.

Mrs. V. N. Jones of Union Springs, Ala., spent last Wednesday and Thursday with her mother, Mrs. Hester Ann Merchant. Miss Helen Merchant returned with her Thursday to spend two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Villadsen and family of Bessemer spent Sunday in Thorsby with relatives.

Mr. Macon Ogletree, Jr., of Jacksonville, Ala., is spending some time with Mr. Leander Jackson.

Mrs. Marshall Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sharpe of Birmingham spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Thompson.

Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels left Monday for a week's vacation in Tallassee and Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Houston, Billy Houston, Marie Each, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cox returned to their home in Oklahoma Monday, after visiting with Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Franklin.

Miss Helen Lowery spent from Wednesday until Sunday in Birmingham.

Thorsby Institute News

Mrs. Emily Harding, a graduate of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, will be the librarian at Thorsby Institute this year. Mrs. Harding has been connected with the Oberlin library for some time.

Thorsby Institute, a senior high school, offering the 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grades of work, will open on September 14 at 10:30 a.m. Since its opening in 1906, it has run for nine months each year. Its teachers are all college grdauates, three holding Master's degrees.

Thorsby Institute has a library of about 4,300 volumes, and has 24 current magazines and papers. It has a librarian who devotes her full time to the work.

ENCHLEY, THE FUNNY MAN?

WHO'S the funniest man alive? "Robert Benchley!" cheers Franklin P. Adams in the August Cosmopolitan Magazine.

F.P.A. has known the hilarious Mr. Benchley since 1915 when he offered the young Harvard graduate a job on the New York Herald Tribune at $40 a week.

Mr. Benchley makes $1,500 a week just from his movie shorts in Hollywood. F.P.A. quotes Mr. Benchley, "As the blue vault of heaven is my witness, I don't have any more than in the forty-two-fifty-a-week days. It goes so much faster."

Mr. Adams tells how Benchley once impersonated a salesman at a publishing company banquet. With a "dead pan" he mildly attacked the editorial policies of a nationally known magazine with its owner among the listeners.

After the speech, when Benchley pulled off a fake wig, the magazine owner said: "I think it's funny now, but I didn't think so while it was going on."

F.P.A. traces Benchley's humorous career from his halcyon days, a column writer on the Tribune; to the evening when Benchley came into his own with his first recital of the now famous "The Treasurer's Report." This was made into a movie comedy in 1928 and since then Mr. Benchley has made a fortune from his fun.

HEALTH EXHIBIT PLANNED

Local health workers were drawing up plans for an exhibit at the county fair to be held in September according to the weekly news bulletin of the Health Unit. Posters, microscopic slides, etc., depicting outstanding phases of the work of the health department and hte chief health problems of the county are to be shown in the health unit booth. Dr. Sturkie stated he was especially interested in presenting a display of slides of typical disease organism for miscroscopic examination in order to make these enemies of health more realistic to the general public.

We want everyone to appreciate the fact that germs are not mythical creatures but are "actual forms of life," he declared. Every possible effort to make the exhibit interesting and enlightening will be made.

Other features of the exhibit will include a demonstration layette and incubator for premature infants by the! county health nurse, Miss Margaret Rumbley, and a model privy and sepitc tank and a mniature protected water supply by the county sanitation officer, Fred H. Buckelew.

FLORENCE TEACHERS COLLEGE HOLDS CLOSING EXERCISES

Events of the 24th annual summer commencement of Florence State Teachers College included the baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening by Dr. L. G. Sturdivant, of the First Methodist church of Florence, whose subject was "Education of the Soul".

Also the commencement address by E. B. Norton, Superintendent of Education of Covington County, who spoke on "Leadership" Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

This event was preceded by the investiture service, which took place on the terraces of O'Neal Hall at dusk Thursday evening.

The graduate breakfast, with which the faculty entertained the two large classes, was a happy occasion of Saturday morning in the dining room of O'Neal Hall.

In the large diploma class was Robert B. Johnson, of Jemison.

CEDAR GROVE ANNOUNCEMENT

A SHORTER ROUTE TO BIRMINGHAM

Since the agitation about paving Lay Dam Road has become so rife, fertile and interested minds have become active and done some figuring. First, it appears that there should be another highway into Birmingham, since traffic on the pike through Calera is often quite congested; then in order to connect the county seats of this nad Shelby County with a graded paved road, there should be a direct road from here to Shelby and on into Columbiana. By extending this same road on a straight line north it would go to Chelsea. There it would hit the Florida Short Route that goes from Birmingham to Sylacauga, thus making a road from Clanton to Birmingham four miles nearer than the present cement highway.

Would that not be a feasible proposition, inasmuch as we are in the middle of a road building spree in Alabama? Besides making a second thoroughfare to Birmingham, and thus lessening the congestion of traffic, a vast territory in Chilton and Chelby Counties untouched by any highway would be opened up and placed on the map of the state.

As stated in the outset, there is already a program under way for paving a part of Lay Dam Road, which would constitute a part of the new Birmingham route mentoined. Maybe probably this will be the first link of a new state highway into Birmingham via Shelby, Columbiana and Chelsea, which will be a farm-to-market road serving a host of planters and marketers from thickly settled sections of three productive counties.

WAR DEBT PROPOSALS

When war clouds in Europe become threatening there is always one thing which comes to us — and that is a proposal on the part of the debtor nations over there to pay what they owe Uncle Sam. Just now the situation seems acute all the way from unhappy Spain to Manchuria. That the situation is serious is proved by the fact that anohter proposal has come forward for paying the debt. This one is from Great Britain. Of course, it is gently suggested that, being among friends, we ought to forget such a little thing as the interest.

The reason proposals to pay the debt always follow the threat of war is the Johnson Act. For it provides against the making of new loans to nations which have already defaulted. Now these debtor nations well realize that, in case of war, they will want some financial assistance from the United States — some credits so that they can buy munitions of war produced on this side of the Atlantic. Thye know, too, that because of the pecky Johnson Act it may be difficult to get the necessary loans here until the old ones are paid up. Hence the more or less generous offers which come occasionally to settle the war debts.

Of course, we will be glad to accept the money even if they do pay us just so that they can make suckers out of us again. But we hope they won't try to borrow any money until the ink gets dry on the receipt we give them for payment of the old debt. They ought at least to consider our feelings.

An old Guard Massachusetts Republican has enrolled in a Harvard summer school of politics. When we think of what Harvard is accused of doing to those New Deal economists we shudder to think what might happen to him. Next thing you know, he'll be trying to increase the number of G. O. P. votes by plowing a third of 'em under.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Not in many years have political scandals growing out of primaries haunted any party so much as is now the case with the Democrats, so-called. The list is almost too numerous for detail. Three of the bitterest examples are Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Tennessee. There are budding possibilities which may or may not develop into any sort of scandal in Georgia, South Carolina, and Maryland. In the latter state the New Dealers, anti-New Dealers and what not are laready girding their loins for the struggle between Sen. Tydings and Congressman Lewis.

Trouble in Pennsylvania is of long standing and developed from a primary held weeks ago. A grand jury investigation of charges against Gov. Earle was about to be put under way. The Governor, who is now his party's candidate for Senator, charged that there was "politics in it", and that the Republicans were behind the proposed probe. He therefore summoned the state legislature, which is directly under his control, and had a bill passed intended to stop a grand jury investigation. As a result of these moves the political griddle in Pennsylvania is sizzling.

It is scarcely necessary to dwell upon the more recent primaries in Kentucky and Tennessee. The scrap between Sen. Barkley and Gov. Chandler wsa historic in its bitterness. There were charges and counter charges of bribery, political pressure and political manipulation of hte unemployed and of federal and state workers. The Senate Election Committee condemned the contest in unmeasured terms.

In Tennessee the charges were fully as serious and all sorts of threats were heard. It was charged that money had been forced from federal employees, even those on federal relief work and there were dire threats of what could have amounted to civil war.

Other states have not been devoid of bitterness so far as the Democratic primaries are concerned. Much of the trouble has been started by alleged New Deal interference in the primaries, and this has developed into bitter war in the ranks of the Democracy between the New Dealers and the so-called Jeffersonian Democrats.

It is generally believed that the fight is the opening gun of a battle for control of the Democratic party in 1940, and for the naming of the next presidential and vice presidential candidates of the party. It is assumed that President Roosevelt and his New Deal followers desire to name the next candidates and write the 1940 platform, while many of the old fashioned Democratic leaders are determined that they shall not. Three are some prophets who predict that Mr. Roosevelt himself may be a candidate for a third term if the New Dealers can control the party in no other way.

Be that as it may, it is worth recalling that in former years any such civil war in a party's primaries would have spelled defeat at the next general election. Yet the New Deal Democrats do not feel perturbed at the amount of heat they are engendering. They seem to assume that they will win the election in 1940 hands down if they can only control the convention. There should be a reason for this, and there is. It is money. The New Dealers control the biggest fund in the history of the government. They can keep millions on relief or at relief jobs. They can help in the financing and building of public improvements in practically every city and town in the United States. They can pay bonuses to farmers and help the homeseeker to build a home. Small wonder then that they are not disturbed by the trouble they are stirring up. Relief money has served to create political landslides since 1934. Will it be able to surmount all dificulties and win again? On the answer to this question rests a great deal of the future political history of the country.

WHAT AMERICANS FORGET

Too many Americans seem to have forgotten that government is dependent upon business for the money it spends with so free a hand. Too many Americans are viewing without protest the efforts of visionaries and demagogues to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs — a preliminary step to doing away with the traditional system and substituting for it something radically different. It is as true of Texas as it is of other states that many people look upon business as something foreign to them and upon business men as a group set apart and operating within definite boundaries.

Straight thinking will convince any Texan that he is concerned very directly by what happens to business in Texas. Indeed, straight thinking will convince him that he is business in Texas — he and his fellow Texans. The consumer is just as much a part of business as is the producer; the worker is just as much a part of business as is the investor. For it is the literal truth that "American business is an entity the parts of which are interdependent and interrelated".

What affects business affects everybody. That is axiomatic, and the truth of it cannot be changed by the rantings of the demagogues. Many of the people of America must be made to understand that all over again. The task of making them understand it is one which American business must perform. — The Texas Weekly.

SWATTING BUSINESS

There is something wrong with a country when hundreds of thousands of capable men are without jobs. It is not the fault of the individual, but of the government which prefers to swat business and industry and penalize it for employing labor. The whole New Deal lot of legislation against the employer belongs in the trash heap, and therein lies the best solution to the unemployment problem. The editor knows what he is talking about, for this newspaper has more taxes than there were colors in Joseph's celebrated coat. — Carrollton (Ohio) Journal.

REAL ENEMY OF DEMOCRACY

The conviction of a few Nazis in Suffolk County doesn't mean a thing.

America's task is to prevent the conditions which lead men to think more highly of another system of government than of our own.

Little organizations like the one which broke the laws of this state, whether they be fascist or communist, will never threaten American institutions.

The threat is from a breaking down of our own system, leading to absolute centralization of power in a frantic effort to cope with the situation. — Syracuse Post-Standard.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S POWER

There is one great difference between Franklin D. Roosevelt and other presidents who have undertaken, as party leaders, to have a hand in party primaries in the states.

Mr. Roosevelt has the power to bestow or withhold cash benefits affecting millions of people. We should like to believe that he will use his power without regard to politics — that he will keep his presidential right hand in ignorance of what his partisan left hand does.

But belief becomes exceeding difficult. — New York World Telegram.

ALL CHANGED NOW

While the change may not provide much comfort for them, congressmen and senators who will be returning home soon to campaign for reelection, will find a situation somewhat different from that which confronted them in previous campaigns. Instead of being called upon to say specifically what they intend to do FOR the farmer at the next session, they are going to be asked to explain what they did TO him at the last one. — Robert Reed, in Garden City (Kan.) Telegram.

She was delighted. "Honestly", she said.

The government's administratiive organizations at Washington were denounced the other day before the American Bar Association as "alphabet boards". We had been under the impression that some of them must be "weegie" boards.

There is too much competitioin in modern baseball. When the New Dealers have time to socialize the game they can arrange it so that one team can win as many victories as the others.

"GRITS, GREENS AND GRAVY"

We of the South should be inured by now to Yankee meddling, fault-finding. If we are not, we ought to be, for we have had it administered in unbroken doses for nigh on to a hundred years. The modern Yankee is a far-sighted individual; he looks clear over, around and beyond his own slums, squalor and sordidness, and with eagle eye never fails to detect anything amiss down South in Dixie. Like the Pharisee of Holy Writ, he can see the mote in his neighbor's eye, but not the beam in his own.

Now, don't get us wrong on this Yankee question. There are plenty of fine, splendid people up North, but we do wish that they were not so painfully conscious of their superiority, or at least that they would stop telling us about it. Fortunately, we Southerners have a saving sense of humor. We have become accustomed to letting the Yankee revel in his orgy of self-love, and commiseration for others, to his heart's content. It seems to do him a lot of good, and it certainly does us no harm.

There are limits, however. And this limit was recently reached, and exceeded, by Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator (the head boss of all these "slow men working" that you see around about), who took a fling at Southern diet. Mr. Hopkins specifically denounced "grits, greens and gravy", and extended his condolences to us unfortunates who subsist thereon.

We have borne other provocations calmly and with dignity. We kept our shirts on when Dame Perkins launched her memorable crusade to acquaint the Rebels with the wearing of shoes. We have remained silent when pious governors of Northern states refused to allow extradition of criminals wanted in the South. In fact, if we endeavored to reply to every one of these infallible jackasses who pops off, we would have space for nothing else. We reckon we outght to just go ahead and ignore this fellow Hopkins, like the rest of them, but we just can't refrain from a few comments.

Hopkins, of course, is a Yankee — a New Deal Yankee — and has never partaken of grits, greens and gravy. He hails from the hot-dog and hamburger belt, where the daily diet of millions is synthetic pork of uncertain ancestry camouflaged with mustard; where a favorite light repast is a couple of greasy doughnuts and a cup of muddy, tasteless liquid masquerading as coffee. Like most Yankees, fed from youth on a diet as artificial as the rest of their existence, Hopkins no doubt suffers from chronic bellyache. He is a typical specimen of the meddling, patronizing, supercilious Yankee who has done more to mar harmonious relations between North and South than anything from Bull Run to Appomattox.

The simple truth is that the Southern menu of grits, greens and gravy, with a slice or so of country-cured ham, and biscuit, is a vastly more palatable, and also a better balanced, ration than the corresponding bill of fare up North. Many of the best minds, the outstanding leaders that this continent has produced, were nourished on the food that excites the horror of the august Mr. Hopkins. We will not attempt to enumerate them; to do so would be a roll-call of Southern statesmanship. Also, men who were raised on Southern grits, gravy and turnip or collard greens, proved not lacking in either physical or moral stamina in 1861-1865, in the little brush with the Spaniards, and again in 1917-1918. True, all who are fortunate enough to be so fed do not attain greatness; but we are quite willing to stack up the average humble grits and gravy product of the South against the patrons of sidewalk hot-dog stands in Northern cities. Compare the percentage of gangsters, thugs, and degenerates, North and South. The record shows that grits, greens and gravy show up pretty well when judged by results — turning out men and women.

The grits and gravy menu of Dixie has one peculiar virtue that we especially commend to Mr. Hopkins and his fellow uplifters. It instills in those who feed upon it a peculiar faculty for minding their own business, a balanced viewpoint of the scheme of creation, and their own proper role therein. No man who has eaten his fill of it ever arises from the table and goes buzzing forth like a dyspeptic gadfly, seeking whom he may annoy. On the contrary, it leaves in its wake a feeling of peace and good will toward mankind, a tolerant viewpoint that enables one to endure even Harry L. Hopkins, and all the other Hopkinses, big and little, with which this country is afflicted.

After all, Hopkins is more to be pitied than censured. He is just one of millions of luckless Yankees, doomed to go through life on food that knows no pride of preparation, no pleasure in partaking, and that leaves the diner unhappy and discontented. We might get that way, too, if sujected to the same standards of living.

If Harry L. Hopkins wishes to really do something for the uplift of the submerged element of our population, we have a suggestion. He might import some Southern cooks into the benighted bailiwicks of our Northern cities, and open free kitchens for serving grits, greens and gravy to the millions whose only food comes from cans and cold storage. By doing so, he would take a great forward step in quieting the unrest and indigestion rampant in the hot-dog and doughnut zone. He would contribute to the establishment of a modern "Era of Good Feeling", in restoring peace and harmony to a nation sorely distracted and at odds.

For ourselves, we intend to stick to grits, greens and gravy, right on. That is, unless Administrator Hopkins and his fellow Rooseveltians should establish the post of Federal Director of the Diet, and put our favorite vitamins on the blacklist. In which unhappy event, we hereby serve notice that we are going to unlimber the old musket and start something that will make Bull Run and Gettysburg seem like a flash in the pan.

University News

The most successful summer session in the history of the University of Alabama will come to a close next Saturday morning when President Richard Clarke Foster confers degrees upon approximately 250 candidates for degrees. Dean Lee Bidgood of the School of Commerce and Business Administration, will delicer the commencement address. Miss Emmett Lewis, of the music faculty, will play the University March, by Pfister, and Mrs. A. A. Evans, violinist, and John Olvera, on the clarinet, will play a duet.

The 1938 summer school enjoyed a record enrollment of 2,503 students for the two terms. In addition to consistent and fine work by dhe student body, the University has extended its services more than ever to the non-student population of the state during the current session.

Educators must be ready to take a more alert and aggressive stand in regard to world affairs, Dr. James Lindsay, professor of Education in the University of Alabama, told a joint meeting of Phi Delta Kappa, national men's honorary education fraternity, and Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education fraternity, at a joint meeting at the University of Alabama Thursday. Eighteen were initiated into Kappa Delta Pi, and four into Phi Delta Kappa.

"The elapse of time works to the advantage of those nations striving for self sufficiency", Dr. Lindsay continued. " The specific responsibilities our educators bear include seeing to it that our people understand more clearly what democracy means. In addition, the entire educational program must be geared to the powerful forms of modern communication and all interested groups enlisted in facing world problems".

TYPHOID FEVER

Montgomery, Aug. 15. — Residents of the state who wish to protect themselves against typhoid fever may obtain such protection by means of typhoid vaccine, which is furnished without charge by the laboratory of the State Department of Health to county health departments and physicians requesting it. Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, declared today in urging those who have not been inoculated within the past two years to take advantage of the almost complete immunity which this vaccine affords.

"There were only 1,529 cases of typhoid fever in the entire American army of more than 4,000,000 men during the World War, and only 227 of these cases resulted in death", he said. "Most of these cases and deaths, small as they were in number, are said to have been due less to the efficacy of the vaccine than to careless exposure. There is no doubt that the decrease from 898 deaths in Alabama in 1917 to only 84 in 1936 was partly due to the use of this vaccine; although, of course better supervision of water and milk supplies, greater protection of food products against contamination, and other improved sanitary conditions also played a considerable part in this gratifying decrease".

The biggest accomplishment in the past year in behalf of agriculture was the enactment by congress of the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment Act. With this law serving as both a foundation and a background there is being built a sounder and richer agrisulture in Alabama and in the nation, according to P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

Almost half of the cast iron pipe produced in the United States is made in Alabama.

Were You At Church Sunday?

Were you at Sunday school and two preaching services, and, if you are the right age, the young people's organization, last Sunday? Were you glad?

We appreciate the good and faithful teachers and other workers in our Sunday school and church. We regret that Mrs. Macey Jones has been compelled to be away from her class. Each of us hopes for her early return. We regret also that Mr. W. A. Reynolds is still being kept away from his class. Mr. Will, we hope to have a class of which you can be extra proud upon your return, which we hope will not be so very long. How about it, men? We can have all your cooperation in making this hope a reality, can't we?

You ladies of the Philathea and Phillips Willing Workers classes: We rejoice in the good number of faithful and urge them and the ones who have been absent for any reason to strive to make your classes the pride of our Sunday school. We belive t can be done, don't you? IiI short, we have a whole Sunday school of which we like to think and in whch we like to work and which we enjoy, don't we? Let's work with a vim for our whole school and let others know we are proud of our Sunday school, and let's win others to our Sunday school so they can be proud of it and call it theirs, to.

And how about our preaching services? Have you heard the Sunday night choirs of late? They have been good and so has all of our pastor's sermons. Last of all, but not least, let me suggest that we lifht up our pastor at all times with our pryaers. Then we, as well as he, will be blessed.

Lest we forget: Sunday school 9:45 a.m.; preaching services 11:00 and 7:30 p.m.; Young Peoples Organization 6:45 p.m. each Sunday.

CITIZEN WRITES ABOUT THE CONDITIONS AT COURTHOUSE

Editor Union-Banner:

Much has been said about the absentee ballot box and it being taken from the courthouse a few weeks ago. In this regard, I wish to say that the men who went after the box were seen and their identity was known, yet no one has been arrested. Why is this, will someone tell me? Was there too much dirty work to it?

Then just last week, there were two jugs of whiskey taken into the courthouse, and no one saw it come in. A man was seen go into the locker and he was arrested for it. They saw the men take the ballot box; why don't they arrest them?

If my wife is hungry and I go in a store and take a sack of flour, they would put me where they did the man who was seen to go in where the whiskey was.

I hope our people will think about where this buying and selling vote business is taking our county. A man who will offer to buy your vote or permit anyone else to buy it, will sell out when he gets into office. Let's put a stop to this vote buying racket as well as that of voting dead people. Yours for better government, — J. N. Davenport, Maplesville, Ala., Route 2.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—The playing fields of Eton have been given due credit for Britain's power and durability. We seem to have overlooked the playing fields of West Point. A sweeping technical reorganization of the army is news this week. It might not have come off had it not been for a certain incident on the West Point football field. Gen. Malin Craig, chief of staff, is the reorganizer. He is preparing the army for the open game—swiftness, mobility, adaptiveness, as in modern football.

Army to Ape Strategy Of Football

It was an instant of inspired open football, back in the juggernaut days of the guards back and the side-line buck, that saved young Malin Craig for the army and the current reordering of tactics and equipment.

Just before the game with Trinity college in 1897, the West Point scholastic command had decided to retire Cadet Craig. Of an ancient army line, with many relatives in the service, he had been visiting around army posts. His marks had suffered. The ax was to fall just after the game.

Craig was a brilliant backfield player, but somewhat given to unplanned maneuvers. Carrying the ball at a critical turn of the game, he lost his interference in a broken field. He shook off several tacklers, but, somewhere around the 35-yard line, a stone wall of Trinity players loomed ahead.

Ducking a hurtling body, scarcely checking his stride, he booted a perfect field goal—winning the game, with appropriate Frank Merriwell trimmings. Of course, the faculty couldn't fire a hero. The ax was put away, a tutor was found, and Cadet Craig finished creditably—to establish the open game in the American army.

Young Craig Boots Goal On the Run

He was a baseball star, also, and old Pop Anson tried to sign him for the Chicago National team. Born in St. Joseph, Mo., he was the grandson of a Civil war general. His father was a major and he has a son recently out of West Point.

In the Spanish-American war, the Philippines, France and in minor mixups, he was a quick thinker and a self-starter, heavily garlanded from the first and known as a "progressive" tactician.

* * *

A FEW years ago, Richard Strauss was in trouble with the Nazis. The libretto of his opera, "The Silent Woman," had been written by Stefan Zweig, a "non-Aryan." The opera was a flop and Herr Strauss was ousted as president of the Reich Culture chamber and chairman of the Federation of German Composers. He is now restored to official favor.

Strauss Is Restored to Nazi Favor

His librettist for his new opera, "Der Fridenstag," is a certified Aryan, Joseph Gregor, a Viennese poet, and its world premier at Munich is a brilliant success, with new garlands for the seventy-five-year-old composer.

So apparently all is forgiven, and the traditional rebel of the musical world is rebelling no longer. He had decided to save the world at any cost, but turning sixty, he concluded he was doing well enough by merely keeping out of jail.

When "Salome" was presented in 1905, puritanical New York was shocked, and the mere idea of its being given here caused a row. Its presentation in New York in 1921 was taken calmly. Strauss' "Murky Psychographies," as the critics called them, didn't bring any riot calls. These muddy phantasmagorias of his earlier years got him into many battles, but he settled down to writing and—being a good business man—to money making. Once, when he was quarreling with Berlin, he was asked if he would play there. "I would play on a manure pile if they pay me for it," he said.

'Salome' Was Cause of Famous Row

He is no kin of the famous waltz family of Vienna. In mellow and beery old Bavaria, his father was a horn-blower and his mother a brewer's daughter. He has prospered through his later years, the owner of a castle in Vienna and an estate in Bavaria.

In 1930, German cities were fighting for him as their leading citizen, with chambers of commerce competing and making offers. Then came the brief eclipse over the "non-Aryan" associations, and now the full effulgence of his restored career.

FIVE MINUTES WITH YOUR BIBLE

"Christ In All The Bible"

1. Of whom did Christ say the Scriptures testify?

"Search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life; and they are they which testify of me". — John 5:39.

2. Of whom did Moses and the prophets write?

"Philip findeth Nathaniel and saith unto him, we found Him of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph". — John 1:45.

3. From whose words did Christ say the disciples ought to have learned of His resurrection and death?

"O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken; ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into His glory?" — Luke 24:25,26.

4. Ho wdid Christ make it clear that the Scriptures testify of Him?

"And beginning at Moses nad all the prophets, He expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself". — Luke 24:27.

5. What did He say a little later to the eleven?

"These are the words whch I spake unto you, that all things must be fulfilled which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the Psalms concerning me". — Luke 24:44.

6. Where in the Bible do we find the first promise of a Redeemer?

'And the Lord God said unto the serpent, I will put enmity between thee and the woman, between thy seed and her seed; and it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel". — Gen. 3:14,15.

7. In what words was this promise renewed to Abraham?

"In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed". — Gen. 22:18.

8. To whom did this promised seed refer?

"No to Abraham and his seed was the promise made. He said not, and to seeds as of many, but as of one, and to thy seed, which is Christ". — Gal. 3:16.

9. Whom did God promise to send with Israel to guide them in the promised land?

"Behold, I send an angel before thee, to keep thee in all thy ways, nad to bring thee into the place which I have prepared". — Ex. 23:20.

10. Who was the rock that went with them?

"And did all drink the same spiritual drink, for they drank of that spiritual rock which followed them, and that rock was Christ". — I Cor. 10:4.

11. In what prophecy are Christ's life, suffering, and death touchingly foretold?

In the 53rd chapter of Isaiah.

12. Where is the price of Christ's betrayal foretold?

"So they weighed for my price thirty pieces of silver". — Zech. 11:12. See also Matt. 26:15.

13. Where in the Psalms are Christ's dying words recorded?

"My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" — Ps. 22:1; Matt. 27:-46. "In thine hand I commit my spirit". — Ps. 31:5; see Luke 23:46.

14. Where in the Psalms is His resurrection foretold?

"For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thin Holy One to see corruption". — Ps. 16:10; see also Acts 2:25-31.

15. What is Christ to every person renewed after God's own image?

"Christ is all, and in all". — Col. 3:11. — Arranged by W. H. Westermeyer).

Our F. F. A. Trip

Monday morning, August 8, the Jemison chapter of F. F. A. left Jemison about 8 o'clock to go to Pensacola. We arrived there about 6 o'clock Monday evening. On the way we saw fine pastures, poultry, farms and reforestation areas. As only one member of the party had been to Pensacola, we were all filled with enthusiasm for seeing the town and the sights near there. As soon as we arrived, Mr. Denson began looking for a place to camp; the naerest place we could find to town that had running water was the fair grounds, located about two miles out of the business section. It was a good piece to walk, but a city bus ran by our camp grounds, and charged only a nickel to ride to town, so we didn't walk except each night after the bus stopped.

Tuesday morning we began the day by going swimming at Sanders Beach, from about 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. By then most of us had a nice sunburn, so we went back to camp and a late lunch. President Roosevelt was scheduled to arrive in Pensacola about 4:30 p.m., so we went to town to see him, waiting until about 8 o'clock, however, before he arrived. It was estimated there were close to 100,000 people there, and the population of Pensacola is about 33,000. Afterward, we went to a theatre, then to a ball game.

Wednesday morning we went to Gulf Beach, about 18 miles from Pensacola, where we stayed until about 2 o'clock, then back to camp and to town.

Thursday we went to Pensacola Beach, crossing a 5-mile bridge to get there; it was the longest bridge most of us had ever been across. Pensacola Beach is very pretty; the water is green, and the waves sometimes get to be more than six feet high. That afternoon we left Pensacola and went to Biloxi, Miss., where we saw the site of the first French settlement. We spent Thursday night in Biloxi.

Friday morning we left, going by way of Gulfport, to Laurel, Miss. We camped at Stafford Springs, Miss., on Friday night, and came home by way of Meridian Saturday, arriving in Jemison about 1 p.m. — Wyndol Murrah, reporter.

"Home is the place my father is proud to support, my mother is glad to keep, and my friends are happy to visit", stated Miss Willie Vie Dowdy, extension economist, Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, at the annual Farm and Home Week at Auburn.

MT. CARMEL — THORSBY

All the ladies of this community are requested to be at the church next Friday, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Grant and helper will be there to give a study course in Missions. Bring a small lunch. All vsiitors are cordially invited to come and be with us. You have a welcome at our church at all times. — Mrs. Tom Sims, President of W. M. S.

HIGHLAND

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. We had a good crowd out last Sunday, and invite them back again.

We closed a successful revival here August 5, with 22 additions, 12 for baptism and 10 by letter. We welcome the new members into our church.

Bro. Paul Oden will preach here next Sunday at 11 o'clock, and Sunday night will show his pictures on "The Power of the Gospel". We invite all who will to come and be with us at both services.

Sore Throat Gave Start to Screen Ace

AN ATTACK of laryngitis gave Margaret Sullavan her big start. Lee Shubert saw her in "Three Artists and a Lady" at Princeton, and rushed back-stage with a contract.

"You have a voice just like Ethel Barrymore," he said.

She explained that it was merely laryngitis, but the excited Mr. Shubert wouldn't listen. There was nothing to be done about it, so the helpless girl was signed for five years.

Although a conservative, Mr. Hambro is the president of the Labor party of Norway. For many years, he has been leading the fight of the smaller nations in the league. Arriving in New York, he remarks dryly that Norway is old-fashioned —she has a surplus in her budget.

Platinum Once of No Value

Old prospectors like to tell how they picked "native lead" out of their pans and sluiceboxes, and what they said as they threw it away. They are still saying things, for this much despised substance was actually platinum, which had little value years ago. Counterfeiters used it extensively because of its heavy weight, and gold-plated platinum coins are still in existence. In 1828-45 Nicholas I of Russia issued platinum 3, 6 and 12 rouble pieces that are highly prized by the coin collecting fraternity.—Detroit Coin Club.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday was our regular preaching date. Bro. John Connell, formerly of Elmore County, filled Bro. Carroll's appointment. Everyone enjoyed the sermon which Bro. Connell delivered.

Sunday school was well attended Sunday. Let's everyone come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

Mrs. Jack Jones of Isabella community spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Glenn; she returned to her home Saturday afternoon.

Several from here attended the singing at Poplar Springs Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims and daughter, Hazel, of Montgomery, were in ths community Sunday visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Jean Ratliff spent a few days in Selma recently, visiting her brother.

Some from here are attending the meeting this week at Samaria. Rev. M. I. McLeod, pastor, is assisted in this revival by Rev. E. U. Calvert, of Shawmut, Ala. Reports say they are having a great meeting.

Many from here attneded meeting lsat week at Chestnut Creek, Cooper. Also, a number went to the baptizing at that place Sunday.

CHILTON COUNTY FAIR AT AIRPORT SEPT. 20-24

T. J. ARLEDGE WILL ACCEPT POSITION WITH THE P.W.A.

Is Offered $5,200 Per Year By An Assistant To Mr. Ickes

A telegram to Mr. T. J. Arledge, county road supervisor, from Mr. Edgar F. Puryear, executive assistant to the Administrator of PWA, dated August 15th, closes a deal with Mr. Arledge to become resident engineer inspector for that department of the government at a salary of $5,200 per annum.

Mr. Arledge has accepted the assignment, and will take up his new duties on September 1st; he will be stationed at Montgomery.

Mr. Arledge states that he will get a 30-day leave of absence from Governor Graves from his present position of county road supervisor, until his resignation from that position can be made permanent. The county road supervisor job pays Mr. Arledge $2,000 per year.

WELL KNOWN LADY DIED TUESDAY P.M.

Mrs. Ed Wagoner Succumbed After Extended Illness; Buried Wednesday

Mrs. Annie Wagoner, age 60 years, wife of Ed Wagoner, the veteran barber of Clanton, died at the home here Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock, following an extended illness. Funeral services were held at Clanton Baptist church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Revs. Oscar Davis and J. M. Truett; Martin & Sons directing.

Surviving are the husband, two sons — Lester (Red), and Ed Junior; one daughter, Mrs. Maude Cowan of Bessemer. There are four brothers — H. A., Grover and Grady Harris of Clanton, and Cecil E. Harris of Mississippi; three sisters — Mrs. John M. Parrish, Misses Ressie and Dolly Mae Harris, all of Clanton.

Mrs. Wagoner was born in Coosa County in old Providence community; the family moved to this county when she was a small girl.

Serving as pallbearers and honorary pallbearers at the funeral were nephews of the deceased, and members of Clanton Fire Department, of which organization the two sons of the deceased were members.

GOOSE POND CREEK TO HAVE HEAVY CONCRETE BRIDGE

Representatives of the state and federal road building agencies have recently conferred with local city and county officials regarding the proposed concrete bridge across Goose Pond Creek in northeast Clanton, and Mayor Jones reports that prospects are good that everything will materialize soon and that the bridge will be a certainty.

The proposition is to construct a heavy type, broad concrete bridge down there, similar to the bridges used on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway.

VISITED FROM PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Poole and little daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Spillane, of Pittsburgh, Pa., have been spending several days with relatives in Chilton County.

Caught With 8 Gallons Of Whiskey Monday

Monday morning about 11 o'clock, Deputies Nivens, Crowe, and Leary gave short chase of a Ford V-8 down near the bridge across Cargyle Creek between Providence and Coopers. The car soon headed in between a tree and an embankment and was forced to stop. The officers took charge of the car and its occupants — Henry Culver of West End, Clanton, the owner of the car, and Tom Wright, negro driver of the car. Before the car smashed, officers say, it contained eight gallons and a quart of moonshine whiskey; all but three gallons and three pints were broken.

The men and the car, together with the unbroken whiskey, were brought to Clanton, the men being jailed on the charge of transporting more than five gallons of whiskey.

GEORGE WORKER GIVES UP JOB

Successor Assumes Position Vacated By "Request" Dismissal

Atlanta, Aug. 20. — William J. Hobbs of Wilmington, N. C., today became Georgia counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, succeeding Edgar B. Dunlap, of Gainesville, who said he was forced to resign because of his political activities for Sen. Walter F. George.

Dunlap, connected with the agency since July, 1933, was presented a silver platter by employees of the Atlanta office "as a token of their love and esteem, and as an evidence of their admiration of a man who places loyalty to friends and personal independence above financial gain and political expediency."

After the ceremony, Dunlap turned over duties of the office to Hobbs, and urged employees to continue their cooperation with the new attorney.

"It is true the employees should not engage in politics", Dunlap said in a brief address, "but I did not consider myself an employee".

"I was retained as counsel for the RFC, not on full time, and the RFC was my client, similar to the client of any other attorney. The RFC dictated all activities regulating operations of the legal department, but it had no control over my personal or political affairs."

Dunlap added that "there is no ill feeling or malice — nothing but regrets at having to leave you."

DATES ANNOUNCED FOR GRAND JURY AND COURT

Judge Arthur Glover, of Wetumpka, issues the following announcement as regards the holding of Grand Jury session and circuit court during the next few weeks:

The Grand Jury will convene on Tuesday, August 30th. Settlement of pleadings of civil cases. Arraignment of defendants in capital cases will come up on September 2nd.

Jury criminal court will convene on the week of September 19th, and jury civil cases the week of October 3rd.

All parties interested are asked to take due notice of the above dates.

FIRST BOLL OF COTTON PICKED ON AUGUST 9th

The first boll of cotton reported to The Union-Banner was picked on Tuesday, August 9, but came in too late for publication that week. The Banner staff forgot to print it the next week; so here we are with the belated report this week.

The boll came from the farm of Bob Connell of Refuge community, and was said to have been one of many open bolls at that time. Another boll was brought in a few days later by F. D. Arthur, also of Refuge community.

FIRST BALE COTTON GINNED MONDAY

Leonard J. Easterling Brought In First Bale; Bob Connell Sold First One At 10c

Chilton County's first bale of 1938 cotton was ginned here Monday by Hugh Thompson, it having been brought in by Leonard J. Easterling of Sunshine community. This bale was not sold.

Bob Connell, of Refuge community, brought in the second bale Tuesday morning, and it was ginned by Mullins & Popwell. Mr. Connell sold his bale, it being the first to be placed on the market in the county. The bale was bought by J. R. Mullins for 10c per pound — just two cents above the market price. The bale weighed 468 pounds.

Southernaires Here On Night Of September 2

The Clara Mullins Circle of Clanton Methodist church will sponsor the Southernaires in a concert at the courthouse in Clanton Friday night, September 2nd, at 7:30 o'clock. Admission will be 15c and 25c. All are invited to hear them.

PILOT CLUB WELCOMES FIVE NEW MEMBERS

On Thursday evening, August 11, the Clanton Pilot Club met at the Methodist church for their regular monthly business luncheon. They were proud to welcome the following new members: Misses Ruth Esco, Lois Foshee, Myra Johnson, Merle Brown, and Mrs. Homer Roberts. Miss Gertie Fiquette, past president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Olive Fiquette, president. Plans were made to spend the week end of August 27 at Pilot Lodge, Prattville, which is the property of the Montgomery Pilots. The following members and visitors were present: Gertie Fiquette, Millie Maude Kelly, Mamie C. Smith, Zora Guy Smith, Delilah Grant, Nolen Meroney, Sophia Jones, Gertrude Calloway, and Mrs. Madge Mullins.

LETTER FROM SOUTH ALABAMA

The Union-Banner has received the following letter from a reader in South Alabama:

"Editor Union-Banner:

"Find enclosed $1.00. Send me The Banner. I have missed a few issues, and it is almost like one of the family gone.

"We are having some hot weather; the thermometer reads around 96 to 100 most every day for the last week.

"We have some fine crops; are almost done gathering corn. I have four acres of rice ready for harvest; it sells here for $1.00 per bushel.

"We are doing some good fishing on the canal now. Our rodeo is next week. I am only 10 miles from the Gulf.

"Thanking you for the good old Chilton County paper in the past, and hoping to receive one next Thursday. — Lonnie Gore, Box 57, c|o J. W. Vine, Foley, Ala."

B. Y. P. U. TRAINING COURSE

A B. Y. P. U. training course will be conducted at Clanton Baptist church every night next week, beginning at 7:30 each evening. There will be classes for adults, intermediates, juniors and seniors.

TOO MANY HITCHHIKERS

PIGGLY WIGGLY OFFERING MANY GROCERY BARGAINS

Mr. Paul Locklear, who is in charge of the Piggly Wiggly store in Clanton, is making the food buying public sit up and take notice this week end. This popular store is offering a great variety of items, and as per the large adv. elsewhere in this paper, the prices are not to be passed up unnoticed. Piggly Wiggly always has bargains, but this week Paul Locklear is going one better than is his usual custom.

Turn to the Piggly Wiggly adv. and get an eye full of the special prices offered, then go to the store Friday or Saturday and fill your pantry with the fresh, crisp groceries with which their shelves are always packed.

A four-foot velvet-tail rattlesnake, with eight rattles and a button, was left at The Union-Banner office Wednesday morning by Calvin Miner; the reptile was killed in the woods near Refuge. This variety of rattler is said to be rare.

AGED LADY BURIED AT MAPLESVILLE

The body of Mrs. Annie Vines, age 89, was shipped here from Flomaton, Ala., last Friday night. It was taken in charge by Spigener, and buried at Maplesville cemetery Saturday morning, services conducted by Rev. Paul Oden.

Mrs. Vines died in Pensacola, Fla. She was a resident of this county, in Mulberry and Maplesville communities, up until 22 years ago.

FARLEYS VISITED IN GADSDEN

On last Friday Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farley, together with Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Crowson and Mrs. Bob Randall, went up to Gadsden to pay a visit to Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Farley. Dr. Farley has recenly bought out the Snellgrove Drug Company of Gadsden.

Mrs. Randall, nee Esther Farley, was to join her husband in Gadsden for a few days stay, then they were going on to their home in Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Farley reports a most enjoyable visit to the new home of his son, and says that Dr. Leonard Farley and his family are very well situated in Alabama's valley city.

OFFICER NORRIS ARRESTED DRUNKEN DRIVER SUNDAY

Answering an emergency call from West Point officers Sunday, Chief Larry Avera and Officer Robinson rode to the highway in search of a negro drunken driver who had passed through West Point driving at a high rate of speed and driving in a reckless manner.

The negro eluded Avera and Robinson, however Officer W. A. Norris, patrolling the highway near the sub-station, saw the car coming toward him swerving from side to side. Norris immediately gave chase, and with drawn pistol forced the driver to stop the car; he had previously refused to stop when requested.

The negro, whose name was Coleman, hailing from Anniston, and another negro passenger, were bruoght to Lanett jail. Coleman was booked with drunken driving, and the other was charged with drinking. The former was assessed a fine, while the judge released the latter. — Chambers County News.

FINE BUNCH OF TOMATOES

As well as other crops, tomatoes have made well around Clanton this year. Friday, Mr. Riley Scott brought in a bunch consisting of nine tomatoes. They were all well developed, and of ordinary size.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Sampey Davis, of Clanton, left here a prize bunch; three were nine tomatoes on his bunch and they all together weighed six and a half pounds. Several people got seed from Mr. Davis's specimen.

BLUES BROKE EVEN ON BARNSTORMING TOUR

The Clanton Blues, junior baseball team, went on a barnstorming trip to Pensacola, Fla., playing the Naval Base team there two games, winning the first 5 to 4 and losing the second 11 to 0.

In the first game Williamson and Baggett let the Fliers down with six hits and four runs, while the Blues were banging out 13 safeties. The relief mound work of Baggett received high praise of the Blues management, the young forkhander breezing through the last 2 2-3 inning with only one hit registered against him.

In the second game the youngsters were routed 11 to 0, the hits being 13 to 3. Easterling started this game, although it is reported he was suffering with a sore hand — though that is no alibi. The Fliers had been surprised by the fine showing of the "little high school boys" in the first game, and were out for blood. Reports have it that numbers of fellows about the base were kidding the Naval Base team unmercifully for losing to the Blues, and — well, they just went to war.

People about the base liked our little Blues so well that they extended a hearty invitation to return next year. Various individuals on the Blue team received high praise from the team at Pensacola, also giving them a great hand for their fine sportsmanship and team play.

PHONE TREE SPECIALIST IS PLEASED WITH CLANTON WORK

Mr. C. David Bauer, the man who has been in charge of the tree work in Clanton for Southern Bell Telephone Company, informs The Union-Banner that he will finish up his work here Friday of this week. Before he leaves Clanton, Mr. Bauer wants to express his appreciation to the people here for their splendid and cordial cooperation with him in his work here for the telephone company.

Mr. Bauer says that through the help of the property owners he has been able to put the trees along the lines in the city in the best possible shape, and that it has been a distinct pleasure to work here.

State G. O. P. Meeting In Birmingham Today

The Republican State Executive Committee meets in Birmingham today, Thursday morning, at 10:30 o'clock. A campaign committee will be named to wage the fight for the Republican ticket in the state this fall.

CITY TO VOTE ON BONDS FOR WATER WORKS WORK

On another page of this issue of The Union-Banner appears a legal notice by officials of the City of Clanton, calling for an election on September 27th, to determine whether or not the qualified voters of the city wish for the city to issue bonds in the amount of $39,000.

The money obtained from the sale of these bonds will be used to construct a sewage disposal plant, extending and enlarging water mains, and other various improvements to the city's water and sewerage systems.

The government, through the PWA or WPA or both, will participate in the construction of these projects, the exact extent of which cannot be determined right at this time.

STREET MEETING

Announcement is made of a street meeting at the court house square in Clanton on Saturday afternoon, August 27, at 3 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the service, conducted by R. L. Sturdivant and H. J. Gandy.

Mr. and Mrs. Obie Delcach and family are in Florida this week taking a vacation. Mr. Delcach is manager of Clanton Cash Store and Piggly Wiggly.

GEORGIA IS STIRRED UP OVER ROOSEVELT SPEECH

"New Dealers are nothing more nor less than plain Communists," are the words of Senator Walter F. George in an address at Macon last Friday.

From all appearances, Mr. Roosevelt stuck his neck out pretty far when he went into the Georgia primary a few weeks ago and told those Georgia crackers how to vote in the Senatorial race. And that act of the president does not seem to stop at the Georgia boundary either. People in all sections of the country seem to think Mr. Roosevelt bit off a pretty big wad when he condemned Walter F. George and recommended the election of Mr. Camp, a real New Deal yesman. That Georgia episode may bust in the president's face before it is finished with.

"The Pines" Is Newest Lake Mitchell Project

For the past few weeks Mr. E. L. Parker, of the Lake Shore Company, home office in Washington, D. C., has been in Clanton conducting the development of "The Pines", a pretty lake shore site on Lake Mitchell, across Cargyle Creek from Dixie's new camp. A new road has been built by the county to the site, and Mr. Parker says that when the development proceeds a little further it will be the Miami Beach of Chilon County. Lots are being sold down there, and the demand for them seems to be getting greater right along. A number of letters have been sent out about it.

FIRE AT DIXIE CAFE SUNDAY

About 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon fire was discovered at Dixie Cafe in Clanton. The fire whistle went off, and many gathered to see it extinguished.

The fire was coming out all around the sky light, which was said to have caught from the stove flue. The flue goes through the roof near the sky light. The damage was only slight.

Another Big Rattler

Another huge rattlesnake, measuring over four feet, was killed by Doyl Liveoak in the road at the place of Silas Oden, near Isabella last Sunday afternoon. The first one was killed several days ago near the same spot.

'PHONE SYSTEM TO SWITCH THURSDAY

New Service Takes Up Load At 9 O'clock Tonight; Kiwanians Celebrate

The Clanton Kiwanis Club will dedicate its program Thursday night of this week to Southern Bell Telephone Company, when a special program will be arranged in honor of the cut-over from the old magneto system to the new battery system. Mr. T. E. Harris, of Montgomery, district manager for Southern Bell, will be the speaker on the special program.

After the Club, the members and guests will repair to the new office of the telephone company on South Seventh Street, where the cutting in of the new system will take place about 9 o'clock. Some Clanton citizen, and very likely a prominent Kiwanian, will make the first long distance call over the new system.

New Clanton Directories Out

A brand new telephone directory, with only Clanton phones, has been published and distributed. There are full directions for the operation of phones under the new system in this new directory. Phoneholders should read carefully all instructions and acquaint themselves with the instructions by the time the cut-in of the new system is made.

The old boxes will be taken out and new ones installed just as rapidly as workmen can get to them.

CLANTON MOTORS SAYS ITS TIME TO BUY USED CARS

Mr. Tom Littlejohn, manager of Clanton Motors, is attempting to impress on the people of this territory that now is the time to buy that good used car or truck. This progressive and industricus firm believes in keeping the trading public informed as to what they have to offer, and they are consistent users of newspaper space.

So, if you are going to be in the market for a good used car or truck in the near future, it might pay you to take time to look over the stock at Clanton Motors.

A few of the most outstanding items are listed in their adv. in this issue of The Union-Banner; but these are not all. See what they offer in the adv., and if you do not find what you want there, call around and let their courteous salesmen show you all they have on their lot. They will be glad for you to come to see them.

THIRTY-SEVEN PINE BURS IN ONE CLUSTER

A cluster of pine burs, less than the size of a quart bucket, was left at The Union-Banner office last week by Mr. Robert Crumpton of Randolph, Ala., Route 1. The cluster contained 37 small burs, all completely formed.

NEW MACHINE SHOP FOR CLANTON SOON

Specialists From Selma Open New And Needed Service For Clanton

Clanton is going to have a new and different machine shop and motor and engine repair establishment. The business is coming here from Selma, and is now partly installed in the old Dodge-Plymouth place across the highway from Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company.

The owners and promoters of the new business are: H. J. Harper, Jack Campbell, and Charles Bibbie, all coming here from Selma. These gentlemen are well experienced in this kind of work and business, some of them having followed it for 18 years.

Only a small part of the machinery has been installed and put into operation, but when fully installed, they will do welding of all kinds, machine work, radiator repairing, rebabbitting, axle and frame straightening. They will also do piston and cylinder grinding — in fact, anything in the mechanical and automobile line of work, but not general garage work. It will be essentially a machine shop, doing welding, straightening of heavy frames, and such like.

The company has not been named yet, but as soon as all the machinery is installed and put in operation, the place will have a formal opening, and the public made acquainted with the operators as well as the style and nature of work they expect to do. Watch this paper for further announcement from Messrs. Harper, Campbell, and Bibbie.

Ford Truck Burned Near River Saturday

A Ford V-8 truck belonging to D. L. Wright, of Birmingham, was burned up on Lay Dam road, three miles from the dam, Saturday night about 9 o'clock. A tire blew out and the truck turned over, causing the combustion.

There were six people in the truck, all white men. One man's hip was dislocated. The remains of the truck were dragged in by Spurgeon Calloway and Herbert Newell.

Relief Cost Too High Say G. O. P. Chiefs

New Deal System Attacked As Most Expensive in The World

Washington, Aug. 20. — The Republican National Committee charged Saturday that the Roosevelt administration's work relief system was the most expensive in the world.

The average cost of each relief case has "sky-rocketed", the committee said, from $15.15 a month in May, 1933, to $30.66 in 1935, and currently under the Works Progress Administration to $82.00 a month.

The committee reported that the national administration had spent over $16,000,000,000 for relief and public works in little more than five years. At the end of six years, relief and attempted "pump priming" of business will have increased the figure to over $20,000,000,000, it said.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION MEETING AT MULBERRY

There will be a meeting at Mulberry church Saturday night of this week, August 27th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing rural electrification. County Agent J. W. Fant will meet with the citizens of Mulberry and Isabella communities at this time.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH NOTICE

Next Sunday is Mission Day at our Sunday school. In the auditorium, during the Sunday school hour, an interesting, instructive, and inspiring program will be given. It will be worth your while and for the good of our church for you and yours to attend, then stay for preaching service, and come back again at 7:30 p.m. to the preaching service with the Leaguers, fater they have met at 6:30 for a good program and a wide-awake meeting.

C. C. H. S. Will Open Monday, September 5

The local high school opens for the 1938-39 session Monday morning September 5, at 9 o'clock. There will be a brief informal program, to which the public is cordially invited. All high school students moving into the community during the summer should see the principal before the opening day of school to arrange their program of studies for the year. The principal will be at the high school each day of the week of August 29 to September 3 to assist any student in making plans for his work for the year.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. J. T. Searcy has been filled by the appointment of Mr. R. M. Snuggs, of Hartford, Ala. The vacancy of Mr. J. B. Varnell will be filled by Miss Rosa Strawbridge, of Sullligent, Ala.

The principal takes this method of extending to all the patrons of the high school an invitation to visit the school at every opportunity during the year.

Prophecies Relating To Christ

1. Whom did Moses say the Lord would raise up?

"The Lord thy God will raise up unto thee a prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto thee, unto Him ye shall hearken." — Deut. 18:15; see also verse 18.

2. What use of this prophecy by the apostle Peter shows that it refers to Christ?

"For Moses truly said unto the fathers, a prophet shall the Lord God raise up unto of your brethren, like unto me. . . . Yea, and all the prophets from Samuel and those that follow after, as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these days." — Acts 3:22-24.

3. In what language did Isaiah foretell Christ's birth?

"Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." — Isa. 7:14.

4. In what event was this prophecy fulfilled?

"Now all this was done (the birth of Jesus of the virgin Mary) that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Behold a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Immanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us." — Matt. 1:22,23.

5. What was prophecied concerning the birthplace of Christ?

"But thou, Bethlehem Ephrateh, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall He come forth unto Me that is to be the ruler in Israel." — Micah 5:2.

6. Where was Jesus born?

"Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king." — Matt. 2:1.

7. What prophecy was fulfilled in the slaughtering of the children of Bethlehem?

"Then Herod, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem, and all the coast thereof, and from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently inquired of the wise men. Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying, in Rama was there a voice heard, lamentation, nad weeping and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and wuold not be comfroted, because they were not." — Matt. 2:16-18.

8. How was Christ's first advent heralded?

"The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God." — Isa. 40:3.

9. By whom was this fulfilled?

"And this is the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, who art thou? He said, I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet Isaiah." — John 1:19-23.

10. How was Christ to be received by His own people?

"He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrow, and acquainted with grief; and we hid as it were our faces from Him; He was despised, and we esteemed Him not." — Isa. 53:3.

11. How is the fulfillment of the prophecy recorded?

"He was in the world, and the world was made by Him, and the world knew Him not; He came unto His own, and His own received Him not." — John 1:10,11. — (Arranged by Rev. W. H. Westermeyer, pastor of the Clanton Seventh-Day Adventist church.

SEALS REUNION

On Sunday, August 21, a few of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Seals met at their home in Maplesville for the annual reunion.

The morning was spent in conversation, with some attending church services at Maplesville. At noon a bountiful lunch was spread under the shade treees.

Those enjoying this day were: Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Seals, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keen and children, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Keen, E. O. Keen, J. N. McKee, Misses Willie Nell and Evelyn Owen, Carlos Owen, R. N. Billingsley, and Oncie Garner. The faternoon guests were: Charlie Haggard, Miss Annie Haggard, Mr. Arthur, and Mrs. Supportice.

Late in the afternoon all left, hoping to meet again at the reunion next year.

MRS. SARAH JANE MIMS

Mrs. Sarah Jane Mims, age 76, died at the home of Ely Moates at 10:30 o'clock Sunday night. Burial was Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Walnut Creek, services conducted by Rev. G. B. Golden, Rev. J. W. Enfinger, and Rev. P. A. Lynch. Martin directed.

Surviving are three brothers — Tom Baker of Birmingham, Jodie A. Baker of Clanton, and Willie E. Baker of Verbena Route 2. There are two half sisters — Miss Emily Baker of Birmingham, and Mrs. Rosie Jones of Verbnea.

Pallbearers were: Jesse Teel, Irvin P. Kennedy, Ed, Jesse, and Tom Frank Moates, and Lindsey Thompson.

Lesson for August 28

ELI: RESPONSIBILITY FOR OTHERS

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 3:11-14; 4:12-18.
GOLDEN TEXT—Train up a child in the way he should go. Proverbs 22:6a.
PRIMARY TEXT—When God Spoke to a Boy.
JUNIOR TEXT—When God Spoke to a Junior.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Should We Do as We Please?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Challenge of Christian Fatherhood.

The responsibilities and privileges of fatherhood need special emphasis, and the lesson of today gives excellent opportunity for such consideration. Too often the rearing of children, which is almost inevitably largely in the hands of the mother, is entirely delegated to her, and the father becomes the man who pays the bills, occasionally carries out a severe act of discipline, but otherwise is almost a stranger to his children.

Girls as well as boys appreciate and respond to the loving and understanding fellowship of a father who really improves the opportunity to build himself into the lives of his children.

Eli is a striking illustration of a man who had attained an honorable position in life and who had discharged his public duties with success, but who failed his own boys, because of weak indulgence. Not a few Christian workers have followed in Eli's path.

I. A Weak Father and Vile Sons (3:13).

The sons of Eli were wicked men who dared even to use the service of the temple for the gratification of fleshly appetites and lusts. (See 2:12-17,22.) Eli protested against their most flagrant sin (2:23,24), but evidently he had lost his influence over them, for they did not hearken.

It is not always true that the wickedness of a son is the result of weakness in the father, nor is it always the case that weak fathers have vile sons. Often the sons live far better lives than their fathers, and frequently a godly and faithful father suffers the heartbreak of having a wayward son. But usually "like father, like son" is true. Boys learn from their fathers—not so much by words of admonition, as by deeds. Let us tell our boys how to live by first living a consistent Christian life, and then lovingly but insistently requiring of them during their days of irresponsibility conformity to the standards of God. We need to build moral fiber into American youth of our country if it is not to fall into the decadence of the civilizations of the past.

II. Judgment—Personal and National (3:12, 14; 4:17).

Sin brings a horrible harvest of sorrow, suffering and judgment, not only to the individual but to his family, and ultimately to the nation. No man can ever divorce himself from his relationship to his family. His people will suffer for his waywardness, perhaps more than he suffers himself. The nation is made up of homes, and consequently when the family suffers the nation will suffer too.

There is a strange theory current that social and political entities have an existence apart from the people who make them up, that our people can drink and gamble and steal and kill, and yet somehow we will still be the "land of the free and the home of the brave." America is what the families in your community and mine are, and our families are what we are. May God help us to be better fathers, mothers, brothers, and sisters.

III. Responsibility and Opportunity.

This division of our lesson is drawn from no special portion of the Scripture lesson, but is presented to place squarely before us the fact that we (and we are speaking specifically to fathers) have a plain and inescapable responsibility for our family life, as well as to emphasize the fact that this is not a responsibility of which we should be afraid. It is God's gift of glorious opportunity.

Eli was a personal success as a priest. He had many commendable qualities, not the least of which was his gracious recognition of the ministry of Samuel, who had grown up in his presence and yet who was recognized by Eli as the messenger of God. (Compare Mark 6:4 and I Tim. 4:12.) But he missed life's greatest opportunity by losing his own boys. Sad to say, many a father has followed him, yes, even we are sorely tempted to make our business (and it may be the "business" of the Lord) the thing of primary concern, and let our children fit in where they may, or not at all.

Let us look on the brighter side in closing our study and recall the inspiring contribution that has been made to our national life, to our spiritual life and our social advancement by those who have come out of the most humble of homes, with the most meager worldly advantages, but with the rugged characters—physically, morally, and spiritually stalwart—which have been nurtured in a true Christian home. It pays, not only for the person and for the family, but also for the nation, to have Christian fathers.

The Union-Banner — 1 Year, $1.00

What Is The Status Of Your Subscription To The Union-Banner?

x x x x x x x x x x x x

It is nearing the fall of the year and cotton picking time. There will likely be a few dollars passing around here and there; and this is the time NOW when you should begin to check up on how much longer before your subscription to The Union-Banner expires.

The management of this paper realizes full well that it is hard to get hold of a spare dollar. There is always a gasping, hungry hole awaiting for it to be deposited therein; but we believe there is scarcely anything you can spend one dollar for that will bring you as much genuine satisfaction as a year's subscription to The Union-Banner.

It is probable that you will receive a card within the next month or so announcing that you will receive only a few more copies of the paper unless you renew your subscription. The purpose of this advertisement is a kind of forewarning to the approach of this notice to you. If you have already paid up, then pass this by; on the other hand, if your paper has not expired but will during the next few months, then begin now to arrange to take care of it when the card comes to you announcing the expiration date.

We are perfectly frank with you — we want you to give us that dollar and let us continue sending your paper for another twelve months. And we are equally as frank when we say we believe you could not spend a dollar any more advantageously. You are surely interested in Chilton County, its progress, its political and economic problems, the community happenings, and the many other homely and personal features of the paper which you are as accustomed to and as acquainted with as the publishers are themselves. Many are continuously referring to The Union-Banner as seeming like one of the family. We like for you to feel this way about our paper. We want it to serve the interests of Chilton County, and at the same time we want to give our readers the kind of paper they want and the kind they have a right to expect. We feel that we have at least partly succeeded in this in the past, and we have every expectation of continuing it.

Help us give you and Chilton County a better Union-Banner by renewing your subscription when it expires this fall. Don't lay the card aside when you get it, but attend to it right then.

SHILOH SINGING HELD

The Shiloh singing society met at this place on Sunday afternoon, August 14, for its regular singing. Officers were elected for the coming year, as follows: Chairman, Carlos Owen; Vice Chairman, Woodrow Deason; Secretary, Eloise Keen.

Directors for the afternoon were: Carlos Owen, Sam Henley, Clint Billingsley, Vester Bice, Evelyn Owen, Louise Keen, William Henderson, Corell Williams, Annie Mullins, Willie Nell Owen, Gertie Mae Wilkins, Myrtice Mullins, O. C. Billingsley, and Woodrow Deason. The pianist was Gladys Popwell.

We are expecting to have a real good singing the second Sunday in September. Watch the papers for later announcements.

CHILTON GIRL HONORED

Miss Kate Kelly, daughter of Mr. J. A. Kelly of Jemison, and the late Mrs. Jennie Kelly, was honored Friday afternoon, August 19, with a surprise tea and shower given her by Miss Mary Alice Thornton of Birmingham.

This affair was held in the home of Mrs. Guy A. Matlock at East Lake. The living room was beautifully decorated with summer flowers of various colors.

After the many beautiful presents were opened, refreshments were served to the following guests: Miss Dorothy Davidson, Miss Sara Frances Davidson, Miss Anne Maryana, Mrs. Annie Davidson, Mrs. W. C. Gattis, Miss Rosalie Thornton, Mrs. Roy Davidson, Mrs. Guy Matlock, Mrs. Frank Livsey, Mrs. Charley Miller, Mrs. Susie Moody, and Miss Mary Alice Thornton.

Miss Kelly, who has spent the past summer ni Birmingham, was an honor graduate of Jemison High School this past year, and will enter the training school at South Highland Infirmary August 30th.

DIED IN SCOTTSBORO

Miss Thelma Holley, age 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holley, died at a hospital in Scottsboro last Wednesday, August 17th, at 11:45 a.m., following an operation. The body was prepared by Wood Funeral Home, Scottsboro, and shipped here, where it was taken in charge by Martin. Burial was at Chestnut Creek Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, services conducted by Rev. D. S. Burson, of Scottsboro, assisted by Rev. M. I. McLeod. Martin directed.

Pallbearers were: L. F. Cleckler, R. E. Wallace, R. E. Elrod, L. W. Griffith, E. C. Roberson, and L. M. Turner, all of Scottsboro. Flower girls were: Ludelia Cleckler, Blanche Jones, Frances Bean, Mrs. L. M. Turner, Anna Ruth Discus, and Ruby Elrod.

Surviving are the father and mother; two sisters — Mrs. Eunice Withrow, and Miss Myrtle Holley.

The Holley family is well known in Chilton County, they having lived here most of the time up to four years ago. Mr. Holley is now connected with TVA at Scottsboro.

SHAW-WATSON REUNION

All relatives of the Shaw and Watson families are urged to attend the annual reunion on Sunday, September 4, 1938, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cobb. Bring your basket lunch and help us enjoy another day. Relatives from various places are expected to be there. Speaking and singing will be a part of the program for the day. — Mrs. Ira Stevens.

The boy had to go to summer school because he hadn't passed out of the fourth grade. He brught home his report card and handed it to his father.

"D in work, D in effort, D in conduct", read his father angrily. "That settles it. From now on you and I are through".

"Stop deluding yourself, pop", the youngster replied. "Just remember that I'm still an exemption on your income tax".

Chestnut Grove

We had a good revival here last week. Rev. Horace Nabors did some good work, nine having professed Christ as their personal Savior. They will be baptized at Mahan Creek bridge or near it, on the S. A. Curry place, next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. We would be glad to have you attend. Bro. Nabors will preach at the schoolhouse at 11 a.m., and be at the creek at 2:30. The candidates for baptism are: Miss Margaret Nabors, Miss Betty Denson, Mr. Evander Lucas, Miss Nannie George Hall, Mrs. Gladys Wood, Miss Claris Lucas, and Miss Wilmer Lucas.

Misses Lillian and Hazel Aldridge of Spring Creek spent the week end with Miss Edna Lucas.

T. L. Lucas, F. Nabors, and Miss Wilmer Lucas were in Birmingham Saturday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nabors spent the week end with his father, H. B. Nabors, of Dargin.

GAVE BIRTHDAY PARTY

On last Saturday afternoon, the members of Mrs. Freeman's Sunday school class of Clanton Baptist church gathered at the home of a member, Mrs. Laura White, and gave her a surprise birthday party. Mrs. White was 83 years old the following day, Sunday. All reported a most enjoyable hour, especially the hostess.

1939 FARM PROGRAM IS EXPLAINED BY JONES

Auburn, Aug. 22. — Outline of the 1939 farm program, a program similar in most respects to that of 1938, has been announced by A. W. Jones, Alabama AAA administrative officer.

Essential points of the new program include:

1. Establishment of national allotments for soil depleting crops, and a national objective for soil building crops and practices.

2. Establishment of individual soil depleting crop allotments for the following crops: wheat, corn, cotton, rice, potatoes; flue cured, Burley, fire cured and dark air cured cigar filler and binder, and Georgia-Florida cigar wrapper tobaccos. (The AAA has taken under advisement proposals that the special allotments established in 1938 for peanuts be discontinued and that special provisions be included for commercial vegetable crops.)

3. A maximum payment to be calculated for each farm participating in the program. Payment will be made for keeping within soil depleting crop allotments and for attaining soil building goals, by the carrying out of practices.

4. Crop classifications and soil building practices similar to those approved in 1938.

5. The provision that land used for home gardens may be excluded in calculating soil depleting crops for the farm. This is a new provision, suggested as a means of increasing the living standards of many farm families.

6. The continuation of efforts to restore to grass land unsuited for crops in the Great Plains area.

One of the most important changes from the Southern viewpoint is that which provides that, with the exception of Texas and Oklahoma in the Southern region, general soil depleting crop allotments will be determined only for those farms on which either feed crops or livestock products are grown for sale. In 1938 general soil depleting crop allotments were established for farms in the Southern region, but these allotments made allowance for all food and feed crops needed for home use.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—When Sir Walter Runciman was here in 1937, it was reported that he was trying to persuade Washington to lend money to Germany, to soothe Hitler and make him stop frightening England. That may or may not have been his mission, but, as a master of the old credit-and-raw-materials squeeze-play, he works that way, and, now, as Viscount Runciman, he is deep in the Downing Street strategy which swings these two cudgels of empire. Prime Minister Chamberlain appointed him as mediator in the Czechoslovak-Sudeten German negotiations, but the Czechs toned that down to adviser.

Runciman Master of Squeeze Play

Viscount Runciman has been a silent ally of Viscount Halifax in the quiet, glacial-pressure advance of the four-power bloc scheme for a European coalition and the final and complete isolation of Russia.

It was reported from London, unverified so far as this writer knows, that it was he who put over a fast credit double-play with France and Italy, the moment the Daladier government came in, and he has been tagged as the man who deploys the empire's financial resources in the diplomatic chess game.

Makes Moves In World's Chess Game

His father was a ruddy old sea dog who sang chanteys, a cabin boy who became a shipping czar and a baronet. Viscount Runciman is a pallid, tight-lipped little man, a total abstainer, a former Sunday School teacher, and a faithful chapelgoer.

As president of the British board of trade, he made concessions in empire free trade, but he is a protectionist of the Chamberlain tradition. Like many men of small stature, he has the Napoleonic psychosis, writing books about Napoleon and hoarding memorabilia.

* * *

THIS writer has heard from several assured but not necessarily authoritative sources that Tullio Serafin would succeed Edward Johnson as manager of the Metropolitan Opera. Signor Serafin has been highly esteemed here for his musicianship, but all was not well between him and the Metropolitan management when he returned to Rome in 1935, after a number of years as Italian conductor here.

Serafin To Boss The Met?

"The Metropolitan has not kept pace with the artistic progress of the modern stage," he said, on his arrival in Rome. "The way opera is put on at the Metropolitan is ridiculous . . . The great fault with the Metropolitan is the little encouragement it is giving to its latent talent."

The Metropolitan reply hinted that Signor Serafin was really thinking about money rather than art. In the season '32-'33, he had a fair subsistence wage of $58,200 for the season. This had been worked down to $34,000 the year he left.

He did indicate that he thought that was pretty shabby pay for an ace conductor, but insisted his criticism was directed solely at artistic shortcomings.

Several years ago, the Metropolitan was intent on national self-sufficiency in music. It was going to discover and nurture native talent. That hasn't quite come off, and there have been the usual number of importations. It will be interesting if it brings in not only a European manager, but one who is its sharpest critic.

Home Talent For Opera No Bargain

Among music lovers of this writer's acquaintance, there seems to be great indifference about where the singers come from as long as they are good. They insist that music, above all, must be free from the sharply nationalistic trends of the day.

As a lad, Tullio Serafin laid down a shepherd's crook for a baton. Tending the sheep near Cavarzere on the Venetian mainland, he used to walk several miles to town on Saturday night, at the age of ten, to conduct the village band. He attended the conservatory at Milan and was a full-fledged conductor in his early youth.

At La Scala, in Milan, he was assistant conductor under Gatti-Casazza. He became one of the most widely known and popular conductors in Europe.

A stanch supporter of the Fascist regime from its outset, he has been conductor of the Royal Opera at Rome since his departure from New York. He was replaced here by Ettore Panizza.

MY TRIP TO THE STATE SHORT COURSE AT AUBURN

When the clock struck 10 on Sunday, July 10, Mr. B. N. Ivey, myself and seven other 4-H Club boys pulled out of Clanton, bound for Auburn and the short course.

After we arrived, we were shown over town and the campus, and assigned to our cabins. In the evening we attended a fine lecture, given by a preacher.

Beginning Monday and continuing through Wednesday, we listened to several educational lectures and saw moving pictures of the white fringed beetle. We studied both dairy and beef type of cattle, and meat and lard type of hogs. The value of doves, quail and other birds was taught. The study of the forest was most interesting, also the study of soil erosion, crop control, and fertilization. Then there were the experiment pits with soil from different parts of the state, growing different plants. Then the year around garden was discussed. A visit to the kennels showed us some fine fox dogs; the dogs and food best suited were discussed.

For sport we played baseball and pitched horse shoes.

We were served balanced meals throughout our 5-day stay.

It was the most educational and pleasureable five days I ever spent. It is fine to meet college professors and fellow 4-H Clubbers.

On our return we went through Kilby prison and saw the boys behind the bars, and the electric chair. If every boy will live up to the four H's and the club motto, he will never have to look from behind the bars. — Glenn Latham.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Montgomery, Aug. 20. — A program of expansion of the state's public health activities, particularly in the fields of venereal disease and tuberculosis control, was outlined in a statement sent by the State Committee of Public Health of the Medical Association of the State of Alabama to the members of the state legislautre for the law makers' information and guidance in the framing of legislation affecting public health.

After calling attention to the seriousness of the venereal disease and tuberculosis problems in Alabama and pointing out that approximately one-half of the current appropriation for general health work immediately goes into budgets for local health work in the state's 67 counties, the committee's statement continued:

"A careful study on the board's part of the present and future needs of the health department, if the programs for reasonable and wholesome expansion are to go forward, reveals that the present nanual appropriation of $400,000 for general health work should be increased to $500,000 annually during the next quadrennium".

HOLLYWOOD EXTRA GIRL BLASTS FILM ILLUSIONS

NEW YORK—London—Paris—the Riviera—Bang—Clash—Crash.

The face of the earth turned over in those mad days of 1929, and her own world with it, for the internationally known woman of forty who bares the secrets of the movie extras of Hollywood.

The writer, who has chosen to remain anonymous, has told her startling tale to Paula Wayne for publication in the August issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

The unknown writer, once a rich woman, tells of her desperate struggle to enter motion pictures and of her first visit to the gigantic agency called "Central Casting." This huge bureau is the clearing house for the Association of Motion Picture Producers and it was to this bureau three years ago that she went, armed with a letter of introduction from a large motion picture stock holder to an executive of the casting bureau.

"Audiences who witnessed 'A Star Is Born' with Janet Gaynor were introduced to an exact counterpart of a Casting Bureau telephone exchange. There are seventy-six trunk lines with hundreds of operators, each controlling a key cabinet. The calls come in with a racing velocity at the rate of 1,000 calls an hour to each girl. The incessant repetitive cry of "Try-later-try-later-try-later" to the extras' calls for work churns through the room like a loud motif in a Wagner score," the writer reveals.

The most important possession of an "Extra" is her wardrobe. Her clothes often determine whether or not she gets a job. With color movies gaining in popularity, according to the writer, even this will become hopelessly complicated, because "in Technicolor you are prohibited from wearing black or white or red.

"An entire reversal of make-up is employed in this medium and is far from flattering. A grey liquid grease paint is used in the shape of a powder foundation and that is all. No lipstick is permitted and a picture with the Great Garbo.

"I have never known any personality that has aroused so avid, so hungry a public curiosity as this woman. It extends to her coworkers, it innoculates her extras, it pervades the front office of her own studio.

Despite what people think and the many rumors that revolve around here — it has nothing to do with her self-imposed exile from her fellow man. Whatever element she possesses that divides her from the crowd emanates from the girl herself. She resembles

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice of an election for the issuance of "Municipal Improvement Bonds" of the City of Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

In pursuance of an ordinance duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Clanton, Alabama, on the 22nd day of August, 1938, due and legal notice is hereby given that an election will be held in the City of Clanton, in the State of Alabama, at the City Hall Building on the 27th day of September, 1938, for the purpose of enabling the qualified electors of the said Municipality to vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the bonds of said Municipality in the sum of $39,000.00 to be designated "Municipal Improvement Bonds" shall be issued; $16,000.00 of such issue shall be deemed to be for the purpose of financing the work of extending and enlarging the City's water distribution system, including the installation of appurtenances and fire hydrants and for improving, repairing, and enlarging the water filtering plant and for building and constructing a water tank; and of which issue $23,000.00 will be used for the construction and erection of a sewerage disposal plant and for the construction, extension, enlargement, and improvement of the City's Sanitary Sewerage System.

All of said bonds shall be dated October 1, 1938, and shall bear interest at a rate of interest not in excess of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of October and April in each year and said bonds to be general obligation bonds of the City of Clanton, Alabama.

The principal of the issue of said bonds shall mature and be payable in twenty-five annual installments and said bonds shall be numbered from one to thirty-nine, both inclusive, and $1,000 shall be payable on October 1, in each of the years 1939 to 1949, both inclusive, and $2,000 on October 1, in each of the years 1950 to 1963, both inclusive, and said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1,000. Said bonds shall be payable in any coin or currency, which on the respective dates of payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds is legal tender for the payment of public and private debts, at the Peoples Savings Bank, in the City of Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Said election will be held at the City Hall Building in the City of Clanton, Alabama, and for said election the following managers or inspectors, clerks and returning officer have been duly appointed:

Managers or Inspectors:
M. D. Foshee
Elwyn Gore
W. W. Wingard

Clerks:
Miss Lona Thompson
Mrs. Hattie Allred

Returning officer:
H. L. Davis

The managers, clerks, and returning officers will meet at the City Hall Building on the day of election for the purpose of conducting said election and performing such other duties in respect thereto, as required by law.

Dated this the 22nd day of August, 1938.

C. FENN JONES,
Mayor.

Attest:
C. H. PIPES,
City Clerk.

STOCK SHOW BIG PART OF CHILTON COUNTY FAIR

According to Dr. W. L. Parrish, in charge of the stock department of Chilton County Fair, this will be made one of the leading attractions at the county exposition this fall. Chilton County has as fine stock as can be found in any ordinary place, and they will be shown off at the Fair. Fine cattle, fine horses and mules, hogs, sheep, goats, and what have you, will be well represented. There will even likely be some horse races arranged this time, says Dr. Parrish.

Those farmers and live stock specialists of the county wishing to place exhibits should contact Dr. Parrish or some other of the Fair committee at an early date, and get everything lined up for instructions and the best possible showing.

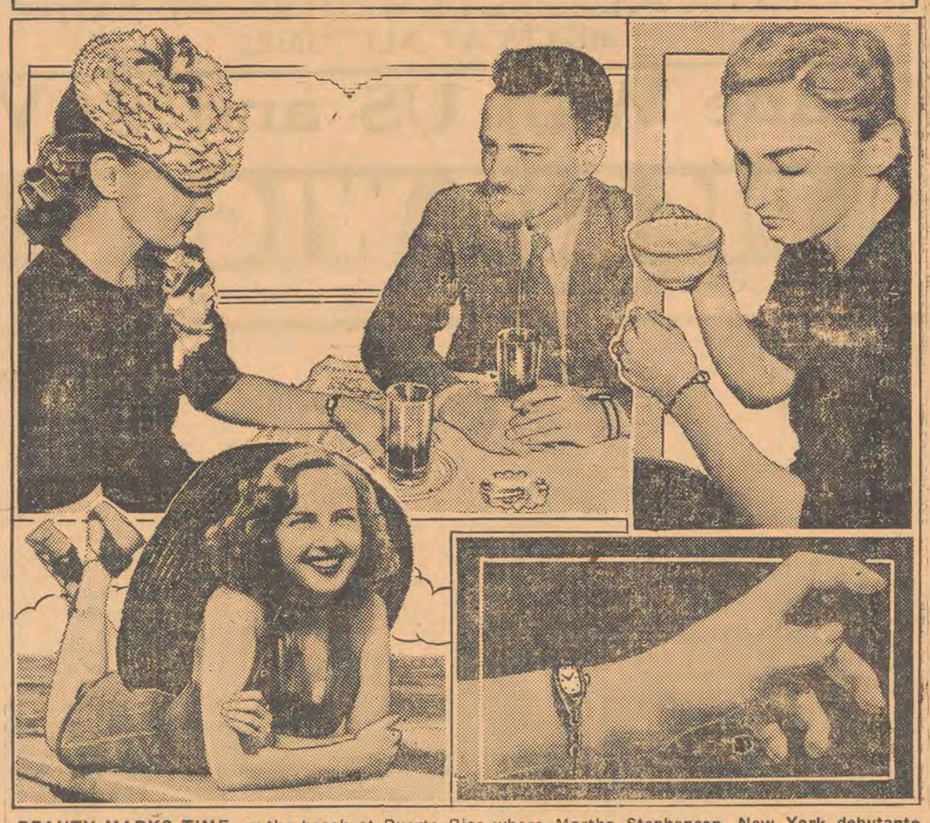
NEW YORK. — When Charles Maurras came out of the Sante prison last year, he was met by a committee of distinguished Frenchmen, who nominated him for the Nobel peace prize and said they would make him a member of the Academy. They have just fulfilled the latter promise, and M. Maurras becomes an immortal by a majority of one vote.

Leaves Jail To Get Bid To Academy

He had spent 250 days in jail on a charge of having urged the assassination of 140 members of the chamber of deputies who had voted for sanctions against Italy; also on a charge of inciting the French people to "sharpen up their kitchen knives" for use against certain proscribed politicians.



In the 250 days he had written five books, swelling his vast collection of books on biography, politics, economics, literary criticism, history and what not to probably well over 100. I talked to him once in the Cafe des Lilas, a fragile, deaf, bearded old man with a contentious, blazing mind which makes one think of a sizzling battery running an automobile without any engine.

In 1923, he was in jail for four months in a somewhat anti-climatic adventure for one who was to be garlanded as an immortal. Three members of the chamber of deputies were kidnaped and fed castor oil—Mussolini is said to have got his broad prospectus of Fascism from Maurras—and the bald head of one of them was painted with violet ink and glue.

Vincente Lombardo Toledano, Sec'y. of the all-powerful C.T.M., a labor organization, leading 60,000 workers in the Aug. 1st demonstration against a free press of Mexico City which has dared question the wisdom of some of his actions. While in the U. S. recently, Toledano in public speeches fervently appealed to the people of the two great democracies of the United States and Mexico to join a solid front against the fascist nations. After frequent visits to Russia, Toledano has returned to his native land and from recent successes, soon will have established a communistic nation on his continent.

When You Want to Stop, Atlas Stops You

●When you jam on the brakes, do your tires HOLD? When life is at stake, can you depend on a sure, sudden, straight-line stop?

●The contact between tire and road is the big thing. If a worn rubber surface meets the road, the result is—slip, slide, skid—danger, accident, injury.

●Put those deep lugs of ATLAS live rubber beneath your car on the road—and STOP short when you have to.

●There is no argument in favor of smooth, dead rubber on tires. It is poor gasoline economy, because spinning tires use gasoline needlessly. You want good traction, avoiding strains, spins, and lost gasoline.

●And ATLAS tires are so easy to buy. The price is not high—the payments are small.

●Guaranteed in writing by Standard Oil Company (Ky.).

●Won't you come in—just to look at this beautiful, safe, silent tire—just to learn how economical it is to be safe?

Atlas batteries, too, have every desirable quality built in—at reasonable price. Life-tested. High-rating. Super-power.

HOW CAN THEY REMAIN SILENT?

It is a pertinent question which The Baltimore Sun asks Senators Norris and La Follette. During the Coolidge administration both these men professed to see a great threat to American morality. The former looked with horror upon "the vsat horde of federal appointees and agents who are holding their jobs by the goodness of the administration. They form a formidable political machine." The latter, in 1927, introduced a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the senate that a departure from the two-term tradition would be "unwise, unpatriotic, and graught with peril to our free institutions".

Where, asks The Sun, are these getnlemen standing today? Are they opposed in principle to the third term and to the use of patronage in politics, or do they merely object to such things when "somebody like Calvin Coolidge is the beneficiary"?

There are, of course, many others in public life who would be embarrassed if they were forced to answer either or both of these questions. Certainly the number of htose who have protested audibly against the scandalous practices of federal officials, from Harry L. Hopkins down, in the current primary campaigns is infinitely smaller than the number of those who tried to become indignant over the much less harmful offenses of Republican administrations. But Senators La Follette and Norris have so often posed as virtuous warriors against chicanery that it is difficult to see how they can keep silent in the face of what is going on today. Unless they speak pretty soon, all of their enemies and perhaps some of their friends will reach the conclusion that they, too, are followers of the great god expediency, and that, in reality, they are no better than the rest of the politicians. — Boston Transcript.

WHO OWNS AMERICA?

Barron's endeavors to answer the question of ownership of leading business corporations in the United States. It arrives at conclusions which are as surprising as they are significant. Among them are the following:

1. More than 12,000,000 people own common stock of 1,000 leading corporations.
2. There are more stockholders of American corporations than ever before.
3. The increase in common stock investment has been more rapid in the 1939's than in the 1920's.
4. Investors have been turning since the big crash from the railroads to industrial corporations.

Very possibly the wide ownership of common stocks does not refute effectively the charge that American business and industry is dominated by powerful banking and financial interests. It hardly disproves that concentration of financial authority which at intervals since the turn of the present century has been the subject of public concern.

But the fact remains that the power and prestige of certain of the large investment banking houses of the nation has diminished markedly in the last decade, a period also in which stock ownership in business enterprise was widely extended. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

If this year's wheat price is the result of the government's efforts to help the farmer, perhaps the government had better lay off for a while and give the farmer an opportunity to try his hand at helping himself. — Downs (Kan.) News.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

The much advertised "good neighbor" policy which Secretary of State Hull and the national administration have been adopting toward Mexico seems to have run cn a side track. Most of us will hope that it turns out to be a temporary siding, but the present muddled state calls for a great deal of diplomatic manipulation.

We have often heard that a "new" policy toward Latin America was going to change our international relations completely. No longer would there be any friction or discord on either side of the Rio Grande. We had become, under the New Deal, the good neighbor or all Latin America. Unfortunately the good neighbor policy, to be successful, requires good neighbors on both sides of the street. While Uncle Sam was quite willing to be neighborly, and still is — in fact, he has been a sort of Santa Claus to the rest of the world for a generation — Mexico, through its radical minded president, has sought to take advatnage of the situation.

His boldest move has been the expropriation of the property of citizens of the United States in Mexico without giving compensation. Such a procedure is something more than expropriation. The Mexican oil concessions to Americans went first, and now Mexican land held by Americans is apparently being expropriated. If this act succeeds and Mexico gets away with it — and doubtless she will — then no foreign property in Mexico will be safe.

To the Mexican government our state department properly made a protest. It admitted the right of expropriation, but held that the Mexican government ought to pay the damages. The Mexican government in reply denies htat it is in honor bound to do so, and hides behind the excuse that its seizure of American property is not personal but general and impersonal.

Just what will happen next remains to be seen. Mexico is undoubtedly banking that the soft words and honeyed phrases she has heard from Washington mean that she will do nothing about it. But she is treading on dangerous ground, especially if she seeks to expropriate the property of other nations, like France and Great Britain. These countries are not bound by a neighbor policy to permit their nationals to be despoiled, and it is barely possible that, if sufficiently irritated, they will do something about it.

In fact, it would seem that something already is being done about it. Mexico is in the throes of a serious economic depression. This may be due to the ambitious "new deal" program adopted some time ago, but it may be due in port to the way Mexico is treating the property of other nationals. The depression set in about the time Mexico seized the American and British oil concessions. Thousands of oil labcrers were thrown out of work. The seizure of other foreign owned property has so lowered confidence in Mexico that its peso is jittery in the financial markets of the world. The situation seems decidedly gloomy from the Mexican standpoint. The radical Mexican government may yet find out that it doesn't pay to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

In the meantime, the lesson for us is that a good neighbor policy won't work unless all neighbors decide to be good. Otherwise the bad neighbor will simply be taking the good neighbor for a ride.

STILL BEHIND RECORD

It appears now that Mr. James Roosevelt is slightly miffed because it was charged in a recent article appearing in The Saturday Evening Post that he sold something like two million dollars worth of insurance a year, although we still don't know why a report on his ability as a super salesman should stir his rancour. He's still far behind on his quota, if he compares it to the bill of goods his Old Man sold us. — Concordia (Kan.) Blade-Empire.

THE GREAT MATHEMATICIAN

In January, President Roosevelt in his budget message estimated the deficit for the fiscal year 1939 at $949,000,000, the smallest since 1931. Recently he estimated the deficit at $3,984,000,000. In six months the master of economics and finance was "off" a little more than three billion dollars. Anyone guessing within a billion of the deficit figures of next January may claim a prize of one set of wax fireside equipment, autographed but not insured. — New York Sun.

"As long as we can spend a big deficit every year we can keep the old donkey doped up to make whoopee", says Mr. Lamb. "But when the dope plays out and the old long-eared bird wakes up, I dread the braying we're gonna have to listen to". — Exchange.

This administration has overlooked the axiom "live on less than you earn". If the practice was good enough for one illustrious Franklin it ought to be good enough for another. — Carrollton (O.) Journal.

"The Republican party is all disrupted", says Gov. Cross. "The Democratic party will carry on". But what the voters want assurance about is that conniving politicians will stop "carrying off". — Waterbury Republican.

The schools at West Hartlepool, England, have abolished home work for children. This was undoubtedly done on the plea of the parents who don't like to stay at home in the evening and bother with arithmetic.

Two and a half million dollars worth of Irsh sweepstakes tickets were seized at Philadelphia the other day by customs men. But probably there wasn't a winning ticket among them.

Primary fights in Democratic ranks this year are as bitter as any on record. But the New Dealers still think they can win in November. Four and a half billion dollars make a powerful issue.

Some business forecasters are predicting that 1939 will see the sale of 4,000,000 automobiles in the United States. Which indicates the belief that the rain of relief chicks will keep on pouring.

A PIECE OF FOLLY

A Presbyterian minister writes: "My host here in California has been feeding me with large and luscious cantaloupes for breakfast. But yesterday he stated that he could get no more like them, for orders have come from Washington that 'all the rest of the crop must be destroyed in order to keep the price of small melons up'." It is hard to conceive of such folly in high places. Wanton destruction of God's good gifts in order that inferior products may be foisted upon a people. Is it possible for anyone to imagine our Maker smiling upon such a program? — The Index.

It is reported that President Roosevelt called Sen. Hattie Caraway "my old friend". We don't believe it. No politician would make a mistake like that. In referring to a woman he would say, "my young friend".

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

In Death Valley there is a little rat called the Trade Rat. He is a small thing, and works in the dark. He is called a Trade Rat because when people are camping in the valley he trades sticks and stones for food. Sin is a trade rat. It trades a trembling hand for a steady hand. It trades the blister of shame for the roses of modesty. It trades a bloody, bloated eye for an eye that is clear and bright. It trades wrinkles of shame for smiles of purity. It trades homes of misery for homes of happiness. It trades debauchery for honor, and discord for peace. What fools people are to play with sin! — who permit it to come into their homes or into their lives. Sin has never brought happiness to any human heart. The devil is a cruel master. He uses people and then crushes them. Sin is always destructive. It does not create. It destroys. It does not build. It wrecks. Yet, people play with sin. Sin defames the name of a pure girl. It digs the grave of a suicide. It puts stripes on convicts. It puts men in electric chairs. If there had been no sin there would have been no dying. God wants men to be happy. He sent His Son to die on the cross to save people from sin. Yet, millions who hear the Gospel reject it. They have the false idea that sin can bring happiness to their hearts. Somehow they seem to have the impression that God has it in for men and that He wants them to be miserable and wretched. God is no enemy to happiness. To you unhappy ones, let me recommend Jesus Christ. He can bring peace to your troubled heart.

Men may come to Jesus as a teacher. That is the way Nicodemus came. Men may come to Him to have some need supplied. The crowds followed Him because He could multiply loaves and fishes. It is possible to come to Jesus for ethics, for "never man spake as He spake". It is possible to come to Him out of curiosity. Zaccheous saw a crowd going down the street. He knew the people were following someone. He ran before and climbed up into a tree to see whom they were following. Men may come to Jesus fascinated by His personality. There never has been but one Jesus Christ. He stands out in a class by Himself. Someone has said that you can compare one general with another general, one statesman with another statesman, one artist with another artist, but there is no one with whom you can compare Jesus. Men may come to Jesus for a number of reasons. He was a teacher. He was an example. He wrought miracles. Here is something significant in the light of the Bible: No man can come to God except by way of the cross of Jesus. Our only approach to God is through the atoning merits of His Son Jesus Christ, our Lord. We have salvation in His name. We talk to God in His name. We ask the forgiveness for sin for His name's sake. We close our prayers with this statement, "We ask this for Jesus' sake". Through Jesus Christ and His atoning blood, the vilest, most wretched and hopeless sinner in all the world may approach God. According to the Bible, no one can stand in the presence of God justified unless he has trusted Jesus Christ as a personal Savior.

THE STATE BUREAU OF PUBLICITY

The State Bureau of Publicity, in connection with the State Highway Department, was organized primarily for the purpose of coordinating the efforts of organizations throughout the State of Alabama in an advertising campaign to bring more tourists and settlers into the state.

This department was established March 1, 1937. The early work of the program consisted of accumulating and compiling information on the attractions in Alabama. Because of the scarcity of information, much research work had to be done. The Bureau is now in position to furnish information about road conditions to civic organizations, hotels, and filling stations through the state. This information goes to those interested in travel in every state in the Union. The early program of the Bureau also consisted in contacting individuals as much as possible. While this policy has not been abandoned, the Bureau today places emphasis on contacts that will reach groups in order to bring hte name of Alabama and some item of interest about the state before as many readers in the United States and Canada as possible without the use of paid advertising. In this work, stories and pictures have been furnished to such nationally circulated magazines as Holland's, Manufacturers' Record, Dixie Construction, nad Sports Afield, also to trade publications such as Tours and Detours of the Standard Oil Company, and National Hardware Magazine, and numerous others. The Bureau is engaged in furnishing pictures of Alabama to map makers and to gasoline industries publications, that Alabama may be better represented in their publications.

Invitations are being prepared, together with road condition information and maps, to be sent delegates to the American Legion Convention, to be in Los Angeles in September. Every effort is being made to attract these travelers through Alabama either on their outward trip or as they return home.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness shown during the sickness and death of our loving mother, Mrs. Adpha Hayes. Also, we are grateful for the thoughts which were expressed in the beautiful floral offering. — The family.

Mrs. Jeanette Jenks of Key West, Fla., is spending some time in Clanton with friends and relatives.

IN MEMORY

On the morning of August 13, at 11:25, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Lake and bore away the soul of our darling father, Mr. T. G. Lake.

All that loving hearts and willing hands could do was done, but God saw fit to call hm from earth to heaven.

We wish to thank each and every one for their kindness and sympathy shown during the sickness and death of our father.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, six children, and a host of relatives and friends. Let us all strive hard to meet him in that glory land where there will come no more parting. — A daughter, Ada Lake.

WALNUT CREEK

Sunday school last Sunday was good, and well attended. Let's all come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

Mr. Governor Hilyer from Coosa County was a visiotr here a few days last week.

Mrs. Willie Glenn and sons spent several days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Lera Jones, at Jonestown.

Several people from here attended at Chestnut Creek last Sunday. Some attended the meeting at Walnut Creek last week, also. They reported huge crowds, there with Rev. J. W. Enfinger in charge, assisted by Rev. Willcutt and Rev. Thomas of Birmingham.

Mrs. Elsie Mae Jones and little daughter, also Mrs. Jones's sister, Miss Willie Delene Glenn, visited their brother, Mr. G. A. Glenn, and family, near Mt. Pisgah last Sunday.

Messrs. J. L. Lansford, Joe Lansford, Newt Driver and Jeff Price went on a fishing trip on Coosa River last Saturday, reporting good luck.

Mrs. Alton Harris and son from near Clanton visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lansford from near Montgomery spent last week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lansford, returning home Sunday afternoon. Melvin is working for the state at Kilby Prison.

Dr. O. E. Wilson from Birmingham was in this community last week on business.

Messrs. L. O. Glenn and R. K. Sandlin made a business trip to Montgomery last week.

SHOULTS

I am longing to see Jack Frost and the November election. Oh, my! The boys are coming back home again. Well, the old woman says "turn about is fair play". The other party has played the devil — we are going to play it in November. Yessum. — Uncle Remus.

Paroles are not granted to all who ask for them. After reading the files in 121 cases recently, Gov. Graves turned down 82 of the applications.

FAIRVIEW NEWS

The revivals of this community have just closed, with the greatest success we have had in years.

The Sunday school class No. 2 of Pleasant Grove gave a social at the church Saturday night. Games were played until a late hour, when sandwiches and cake with lemonade were served to a large crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keen and children, Carlos and Willie Nell Owen, and J. N. McKee attended the reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seals at Maplesville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. V. C. McKee and children spent the week end in Birmingham with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cox were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones of Montgomery Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jackson spent the week end with friends and relatives in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Delos Culp visited their friends at Verbena Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Culp motored to Greenville Monday to get their house furniture. We welcome them back to our community.

Pleasant Grove

Our Sunday school was very good Sunday, with 58 members present. Let's make it 100 per cent next Sunday and keep it that way.

Our revival closed Saturday night, with 18 members, 6 by letter and 12 by baptism. We had the best revival we have had in a long time. Bro. Robinson and Bro. Lovelady did the preaching.

Our B. Y. P. U. was very good Sunday night, with two new members added.

Mrs. J. W. Williams from Clanton and her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Williams from Seattle, Wash., visited relatives at this place recently.

Mr. Lumon Hicks from the CC camp in Clanton came home to see his mother, Mrs. Willie Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Smitherman, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Charlie Lawrence, and Mrs. Ellen Shoults from Plantersville enjoyed one day of the revival here.

A crowd from this place enjoyed hearing Bro. Willcutt from Birmingham at the tabernacle Saturday afternoon.

A truck load from here attended the revival at Alpine Tuesday night of this week.

Macedonia — Beat 11

Next Sunday is our regular preaching Sunday, so everybody is invited to come out to the service. The writer will preach at 11 o'clock, and the pastor will preach at 7:30 p.m. We have changed the Saturday night service to Sunday night. — V. G. Smith.

County Farm Agent's Notes

TO LIVESTOCK EXHIBITORS

Attention, all producers of livestock for the county fair, which will be held the week before the state fair. The county fair begins Tuesday, September 20, and the state fair begins Monday, September 26.

I, B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent in 4-H Club Work, have been appointed by the fair committee to be in charge of the dairy, cattle, beef cattle, and hogs.

The dairy cattle will be restricted to purebreds only. The beef cattle and hogs will be open for purebreds and grades.

If anyone has any livestock as mentioned above, please get in touch with me as soon as possible so that I can determine the number and kind of livestock you wish to enter in the county fair.

Some prizes are being arranged for, but at the present time I am unable to give you the exact amount of these prizes.

I hope that you will respond to this matter and turn in your application for exhibit at an early date so that we will have a representative showing of the livestock of this county. — B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent in 4-H Club Work.

MY TRIP TO 4-H CLUB CAMP

I had one of the greatest times of my life on the 4-H Club camp in Florida last week. I still regret that we did not go prepared to stay longer than we did.

Mr. Hanks, the director of the camp grounds, was a good sport in helping us make the camp a success all the way through, and I think we owe Mr. Ivey and Miss Barber more than we can ever repay for planning the trip and for trying to make everyone enjoy themselves. I don't think that we could have gone to a better camp in the United States to have a good time and have the success that we did than Camp Timpoochee, near Villa Tassa, Fla.

I think that when we start back down there to camp next year a great many more club members will go with us, because they will have heard what a great time we had down there this year. I am looking forward to having a bigger and better camp next year. — Norman Thomas.

MY 4-H CLUB TRIP TO FLORIDA

On August 11 the 4-H Club boys and girls had a trip planned to take. It was to last until August 13.

Everything was packed and ready to ride by 8 o'clock. Everyone was leaguhing on the way, although the seats got hard. We arrived at Camp Timpoochee, at Villa Tassa, Fla., about 3 p.m., unpacked and went swimming. Everyone had a jolly time after supper.

Next morning we went swimming, had breakfast, and cleaned up the camp. That afternoon we went down the scenic highway to Tower Beach, on the Gulf of Mexico. Everyone had a good time swimming in the gulf. That night each cottage put on a stunt in the recreational hall. Saturday we went swimming and cleaned up camp.

We all came home hoping to go again some time. — Calvin Headley.

SHERIFF'S FORCE HAD ANOTHER QUIET WEEK END

Sheriff J. R. Hardy reports this week that he and his deputies had a very quiet week end last week, following much commotion earlier in the week. There were only ten arrests since we got the report from the jail register last week. They were: Public drunkenness, one white; possessing pistol without permit, one colored; petit larceny, one colored; attempt to murder, one colored; murder, one white; assault, one colored; grand larceny, three colored; no driver's license, one colored.

The above arrest for murder was Ben Wallace, charged with the knife murder and otherwise bruising the body of Mrs. Pearl Scott, in Beat 14, last Monday afternoon. Wallace was placed in Chilton County jail last Wednesday afternoon about 2 o'clock, after he had been picked up near Freemont, in Autauga County, earlier in the day by Deputy White of that county. The 19-year-old boy was said to have made a complete confession of the murder before officials shortly after he was placed in jail here. He denied the charge of ravish, however.

This is a grand jury case, and will be considered by that body when it meets August 30th.

EXPERIMENT SHOWS VALUE OF LEGUMES

Auburn, Aug. 22. — Results of field tests by the Alabama Experiment Staton show that yields of cotton and corn made outstanding gains when these two major crops followed vetch or Austrian winter peas.

Summary of results from tests conducted to determine the value of the two winter cover crops as a means of increasing cotton and corn yields reveal that where cotton and corn followed vetch or Austrian winter peas, turned under, yield of cotton was increased by 628 pounds while corn yield climbed 15.6 bushels per acre.

Increase in cotton yield due to planting and turning of vetch or Austrian winter peas was worth $3.78 per acre more than the increase from 225 pounds of nitrate of soda or its equivalent after considering cost of the legume seed and cost of the soda.

Where corn was grown without rotation and preceded by vetch or Austrian winter peas, cost of the increased yield was 16 cents per bushel.

Vetch or Austrian winter peas grown in a two-year rotation (cotton - winter legumes - corn) increased the corn yield 18 bushels per acre at a cost of 14 cents per bushel. In addition to the influence of legumes on the corn crop, the residue the second year from these legumes increased the cotton yield by 213 pounds of seed cotton per acre.

Vetch or Austrian winter peas, when not fertilized with a sufficient amount of phosphate, usually failed to make enough growth to economically increase cotton and corn yields; whereas, with a sufficient application of phosphate they made enough growth to greatly increase the yield of subsequent crops.

FARMERS WARNED TO COMBAT LEAF WORM

Auburn, Aug. 22. — A warning to North Alabama farmers to be on the close lookout for the cotton leaf worm and be prepared to combat it with calcium arsenate was issued here today by W. A. Ruffin, entomology-horticulture specalist of the Alabama Extension Service. His warning also included boll weevils in the late cotton.

Already quite prevalent in many of the northern counties, including Lawrence, Blount, Franklin, Morgan, Cullman and Walker, the leaf worms are just now beginning to pupate, and chances are that they will be numerous and will be attacking cotton by the last week of August or first of September, the entomologist said.

While most of the early cotton will not show so much damage from the worm, Mr. Ruffin said late cotton would be seriously handicapped if the worm is allowed to go unmolested with the poison dust gun.

He advised farmers to apply calcium arsenate with a dust gun at the rate of 8 to 10 pounds per acre instead of Paris green or arsenate of lead. However, if some farmers to use these latter poisons they shoult use them as a spray instead of dusting to prevent injury to the cotton plants.

The specialist said, after a tour of the upstate counties, he believed the boll weevil menace is more serious than people realize. With the wet weather farmers in this section have had all during the season, and with large cotton stalks, weevils have had every opportunity to increase.

FARMERS ADVISED PLANT HAY CROPS

Auburn, Aug. 22. — Plant hay crops in fall as well as winter to make doubly sure that a supply of hay will be provided, is the advice to Alabama farmers, by W. H. Gregory, associate agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service.

Mr. Gregory said now is the time farmers should start making plans for September and Ocotber plantings of good hay crops for the livestock on the farm.

By planting two bushels of oats, or one bushel of wheat and either 20 pounds of vetch or 40 pounds of Austrian winter peas, during September or early October, after applying 400 to 600 pounds of basic slag, a nice crop of hay for next summer's feeding can be obtained.

About 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate should be added to these hay crops in February and March and the mixture cut for hay when the oats reach the dough stage, advises the agronomist.

To obtain lint of the best quality care in harvesting and handling seed cotton is just as important as care in ginning. The ginner can render his best service only if and when the farmer uses precaution in gathering his cotton, says J. B. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer.

Further interest in improving the quality of Alabama's sorghum and sugar cane syrup is evidenced by the construction of two up-to-date syrup making plants to use the new process developed by the U. S. Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, says M. D. Harman, specialist in syrup making, of the Alabama Extension Service. The two new plants are in Conecuh and Shelby Counties.

University News

Contrasting the educational system of the "Old South" with the new, Dr. Lee Bidgood, Dean of the School of Commerce and Business Administration, University of Alabama, in an address before the summer school graduating classes Saturday morning, declared that the old education required that its votaries possess landed property in order that they might fully enjoy the cultured tastes and appreciations which it imparted.

Said Dr. Bidgood: "The new education inculcates an equally fine culture and a broader appreciation of the higher things of life, and in addition imparts some particular skill useful in the modern world, which should enable the graduate to win fairly for himself a standard of living that makes possible at least some enjoyment of the tastes and appreciations acquired in college".

In connection with the final exercises for the 1938 summer session, Dr. John R. McLure, director of the summe rschool, announced an enrollment of 2,517 individual students for the session, of which 1,831 were from Alabama, an increase of 149 in Alabama students over last year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Harris of Clanton and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Cobern of Thorsby spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Gibbons at Falkville, Ala.

THREE VITAMINS URGED FOR SOIL

Auburn, Aug. 22. — J. P. Walton, young Dale County farmer who has just completed a course in applied agriculture here, says he has found the trouble with Alabama soil — it needs vitamins T, R, and CC. The alert ruralist told a group of farmers at a banquet that animals and people may need several vitamins for best health, but that in his estimation farm lands need just three — T, terracing; R, rotation of crops for best land results; and CC, cover crops, to reduce the fertilizer bills and build up land for future crops.

CANE CREEK

Our Sunday school was well attended Sunday. The lessons and interest were both good in both the Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. We have good crowds, but there are still others who need to come. We invite all who are not attending Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. at any place to come and be with us.

There will be a call conference next Sunday, August 28, after Sunday school at 11 o'clock for the purpose of calling a pastor for next year. We ask all members to be present and help make choice for a pastor, as this is an important matter.

Sunday afternoon is our regular singing date. We believe that most of the all day singings are over, so come to our singing, bring new books, and help us sing. We welcome visitors at all times.

From 250 to 300 pounds of peanuts in the field are required to produce 100 pounds of pork when hogs are allwed to hog-off peanuts. On fairly thin land from four to four and one-half acres per litter of solid runner peanuts will be required to finish the litter that has been carried on pasture and soy beans, F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service, advises.

PLANNING OF SCHOOL LUNCHES

More attention on the part of parents to the importance of making the school lunch a well balanced meal of tasty food was urged by local health workers this week. Many mothers, it was pointed out, will send little John or Mary off to school to spend seven hours away from home with only an egg fried to an indigestible hardness between the halves of a cold, soggy biscuit, and perhaps one other equally unpalatable biscuit smeared with jam. This is being done by mothers, according to a local health official, without their realization that the school lunch bears the burden of satisfying one-third of the child's food needs for the day.

A good school lunch, according to Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer, should be built around the essentials of a well balanced meal, that is, milk, eggs, bread, and vegetables.

The greatest apparent need in the rural schools of Chilton County, he pointed out, is some arrangement by which the children in every school, including the one-teacher schools, can have at lunch one hot dish, preferably soup. He believes that this could be accomplished if parents and teachers would interest themselves jointly in the proble of improving the school lunch.

For the sandwich in the school lunch, light bread is to be preferred, and the filling can be of egg, cheese, meat, baked beans, or raw vegetables. A crisp, juicy apple, a tangerine or orange when in season should never be omitted. For a change one may use dried fruits or include a stewed fruit, contained in a small glass jar with a screw cap. Many inexpensive lunch boxes are sold, equipped with a vaccuum bottle, so that milk or hot soup or cocoa may be brought from home. Paper spoons, napkins, straws, etc., will serve to increase the child's satisfaction.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Crawford, of North Branch, N. J., visited his sister, Mrs. Bessie Griffin, the past week end.

Clamps Lost To ACME Sunday

The Clamps lost a 4 to 3 game to the Acme Lunch aggregation of Bessemer last Sunday at Lay Dam. The Muscoda team had been scheduled, but were tied up in the Birmingham tournament, and sent the Lunchers in their place.

The Auburn battery, Swindell and Kirk, were working for the Clamps after the third inning, but were not good enough to stave off defeat by the scrapping Lunchers.

"Killer" Ellison started the game for the Clamps. He got through the first inning smoothly, but a home run, a triple, and a long sacrifice fly put two scores across in the second. No damage was done in the third, although Ellison was nicked for two hits, a fast double play pulling him out of a hole. Swindell took up in the fourth and got through two innings. He ran into trouble, however, in the sixth when Alex Hayes let a grounder scoot between his feet, and another man walked; they both moved up a notch when Kirk let a fast pitch get through him, and one score came in a moment later on a short single. The last run for the visitors came in the eighth on two singles and a double.

The Clamps counted first in the fourth inning when Baker tripled over the left field dump, and scored on Tiffin's out. Another came in the fifth on Kirk's double and Hayes' triple. The third and last came in the eighth on Baker's single, an error, and Tiffin's single.

Ellison gave up four hits and two runs in his three innings, while Swindell gave five hits and two runs in his six innings, and was charged with the loss. The Clamps also got to King, a curve ball pitcher, for nine hits, but lacked the punch in the pinches.

King walked two and struck out three. Ellison did not walk or strike out a man; Swindell walked three and struck out five. The Clamps bobbled Atkins, Fitzpatrick and Knight had a pair each for the Lunchers.

three times and the visitors one. Baker and Tiffin led the attack for the locals with a pair of hits each, while

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On last Sunday, August 21, a large crowd of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hand at Highland to celebrate the 69th birthday of Mr. S. L. Hawk. All his seven children were present, together with 35 grandchildren, and lots of other relatives and friends.

Dinner was spread in the beautiful oak grove. All spent the afternoon in pleasant conversation, and enjoyed some good music by Claude Little, Jack Coker, Audie, Grady, and Arnold Brown.

MT CARMEL

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Vines and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Reid of Selma spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Scott are visiting relatives in South Alabama this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Edwards spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Buck Shaw near Wetumpka.

Mrs. Watley visited relatives at Pates Chapel Sunday.

Several members of the W. M. S. met with Mrs. Grant last Friday for a study course, with Misses Ruth Gardner and Laura Herring as teachers. The book studies, "Missionaries Who Have Gone Out From Alabama", was very much enjoyed.

Please don't forget the all day singing here the fourth Sunday in September. Plan now to come and enjoy the day in singing praises to Him from Whom all blessings flow. The new song books will be used.

Several from here attended revival services at Macedonia last weeek.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION TO SELL LAND TO PAY DEBTS

The State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court, August 15, 1938.

In the matter of the estate of P. D. Wilson, deceased.

This day came Evie Crumpton, Administratrix of the estate of P. D. Wilson, deceased, and filed her petition in writing under oath in this Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts.

It is therefore ordered that the 16th day of September, 1938, be appointed a day for the hearing of said petition, when any persons interested may appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

J. LEE SMITH,
Judge of Probate.

COLLINS CHAPEL CALL MEETING

All members of the Collins Chapel church are requested to meet the first Sunday in September (the 4th) for the purpose of electing a pastor for the coming year. Be sure and come. Remember the date, September 4, at 11 o'clock. — Mrs. G. W. Murrah. 8-25-2t

Misses Mary Jane Mullen and Betty Jean Dillon returned to their homes in Birmingham this week, after spending several days as guests of Misses Martha Jean and Willodean Stewart.

By clipping off the tops of Dallis grass, now beginning to head, and scattering these heads over the pasture, the Alabama farmer can greatly increase th grazing capacity of his pastures, says J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn.

Mr. Charlie O. Bell brought in a funny pod of okra; it looks like a snake. We have heard of okra crossing with cotton and getting more puffy than slick, but we have never heard of it mixing with snakes before.

Watch next week's paper for special prices on "Big Buck" Overalls. — Clanton Building Supply Co., and Rockett Dry Goods Co., Clanton.

NEW DEALER IS ELIMINATED IN TEXAS RUN-OFF

President's "My Friend" Bows In Race With Ex-Oil Worker

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 28. — Ed Gossett, 35-year-old attorney and former oil field "roughneck", defeated presidentially favored W. D. McFarlane in the Texas Democratic run-off primary.

Returns from Saturday's voting also sent to Congress one of the youngest candidates ever to seek a seat in the national House, 26-year-old Lindley Beckworth; he defeated Brady Gentry to succeed Representative Morgan Sanders, eliminated in the first primary.

G.O.P. LEADER TO SPEAK IN B'HAM

Rep. Dewey Short, of Missouri, Will Address Republican State Rally Sept. 17

Rep. Dewey Short, youthful Missouri congressman, and bitter New Deal critic, has accepted an invitation to be speaker at a Republican Constitutional Day rally at Birmingham September 17, according to W. L. Longshore, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

The only Republican member of the House from Missouri, Rep. Short is one of the most highly educated men in congress. He studied at Harvard, Oxford, Heidelberg, University of Berlin, Marion College, and for a time was professor of philosophy and psychology at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kan.

Termed "the hardest and probably most effective hitter against the New Deal", Congressman Short once served as minister of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, of Springfield, Ill. He has been making Republican speeches since the age of 16, and is only 36 now.

Probably the shortest sketch in the directory of the 74th Congress, and, of course, written by himself, is that of Congressman Short. It is, "Dewey Short, Republican, of Galena, Mo."

A fiery orator, Rep. Short delivered the most caustic attack against the Roosevelt administration during the 74th Congress. In part, Short told members "there is no longer any reason to have a Congress, as the House is nothing except a hollow chamber full of hollow heads."

Later Short asserted: "I charge that this administration has deliberately prolonged this depression, increasing the misery of the masses, while it seeks to fasten upon the American people a type of government foreign to the fundamental principles of Americanism."

More than 10,000 Republicans from over the state are expected to converge on Birmingham during Congressman Short's visit, Judge Longshore said.

Absentee Vote Law May Die

Montgomery, Aug. 27. — Repeal of Alabama's absentee ballot law "to prevent fraud", and a general registration every four years were recommended Saturday by S. Hugh Dent, state code commissioner.

Den said his recommendations would be placed before the next legislature, along with a new code which he has filed with the Supreme Court after two years' work.

"I am convinced our election laws should be changed", the commissioner said. "We should have a general registration in 1940 and every four years thereafter. . . .

"Every voter, upon registration, should be compelled to signify his party allegiance, or that he has none, and no one should participate in any party primary unless he has declared his allegiance to such party. . . . "

He suggested changing the date of primaries from May and June to August and September, to shorten the time between nomination and election.

Other recommendations included the abolishment of statutes requiring the numbering of ballots in all elections, to "safeguard the secrecy of the ballot."

Prominent Thorsby Citizen Passed Away

Lafayette Vines Will Be Buried At New Salem Today

James Lafayette Vines, age 75, prominent citizen of Thorsby, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, Birmingham, Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Vines had been ill for several months.

Funeral services will be held at New Salem Thursday morning at 11 o'clock; services to be conducted by Rev. M. I. McLeod and Rev. W. P. Lowery. Burial will be in the adjoining cemetery, Spigener directing.

Mr. Vines, once member of the County Board of Education, was an active and outstanding citizen of his community and county for a number of years. He lived at the same place, his old home south of Thorsby, for 51 years; was a member of New Salem Baptist church since he was a young man. His wife died about ten years ago.

Surviving are three sons and three daughters — David Vines of Thorsby, Aaron of Knoxville, Tenn., and Luther of Montgomery; Mrs. Agnes Mims of Thorsby, Mrs. Eula Mae Parrish of Mitchell Dam, and Mrs. Clara Massey of Waynesville, N. C. There is one brother and one sister — George A. Vines of Henrietta, Okla., and Mrs. Mae Willis of Sylacauga. There are nine grandchildren.

Fate Vines and his fine family have long enjoyed the highest respect and esteem of not only Thorsby and Chilton County, but of all peoples with whom their active lives have brought them. Chilton County has lost a good citizen.

Slight Wind Storm Here Last Saturday Night

A slight wind storm visited Clanton and vicinity last Saturday night about 8 o'clock. Right in the city it was not noticed much, but in Walnut Creek community a few trees were uprooted and small buildings demolished. The car house of Rev. J. W. Enfinger was flattened out and leveled on the ground. The car house of Ed Minor was blown down on his car, causing only slight damage. Some little tin roof was blown off the barn of John D. Wyatt, and a prong of a big oak blown down near the home of Ben Wyatt.

Mr. Jim Short was in Clanton Monday, and reported quite a bit of hail at his pleace near Sardis late Saturday afternoon.

CHURCH OF CHRIST REVIVAL

The Church of Christ in Clanton is conducting a revival this week. Gus Nichols, of Jasper, Ala., is doing the preaching, and large crowds are in attendance. Services at 3:00 and 7:30 p.m.

Thursday evening the subject will be "Repent or Perish, Turn or Burn".

Friday evening the meeting will close with a discussion of the subject, "The New Testament Church".

Come and bring your family and friends.

STATE REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE MET AND ARRANGED CAMPAIGN

The Republican State Executive Committee met in Birmingham last Thursday, August 25th, and made definite arrangements for waging the Republican campaign in the state for this fall's election. Hon. T. J. Kennamer was selected as campaign chairman.

There were a few vacancies on the Republican ticket for state offices, and these were supplied while the committee was in session.

P. M. CLECKLER ENJOYED HIS TRIP TO FLORIDA

My trip to Florida with the 4-H Club boys and girls was a fine one. I had the best time of all my days gone by.

We went to Camp Timpoochee, at Villa Tassa, Fla. Mr. Hanks, the manager of the camp, was a real sport, and made our stay there a pleasant one.

On Friday we went to the Gulf at Camp Walton, went swimming and had a good time there. Then back to camp, where we enjoyed stunts until bedtime.

We left for Clanton Saturday morning. I thank Mr. B. N. Ivey and Miss Barber for planning the trip and making such a success of it. I hope to go again next year and have more boys and girls go with us. — Virgil Cleckler and father, P. M. Cleckler.

Warning Is Issued About Wet Cotton

To all warehousemen:

In the past we have had numerous complaints from cotton buyers that some of the state warehouses are issuing clear receipts for cotton that was evidently green, wet, or gin-cut when received by them. We, therefore, think it advisable that we call your particular attention to Section 5 of Regulation No. 2,which requires a warehouseman to state in the face of the receipt any conditions of cotton when received, that is subject to comment.

To avoid liability, we suggest that all warehouses be very careful about violating this regulation. — H. S. Holloway, Chief, Division of Gins and Warehouses.

In the interest of "Better Farming Conditions" there will be a meeting of farmers at Mt. Pleasant schoolhouse tonight, Thursday, September 1st, at 7:30 o'clock. Farmers from all communities have a cordial invitation to attend and take part in the meeting.

There will be good speakers to address the gathering.

TWO STATES TURN BACK ON NEW DEAL

California and South Carolina Snow Under Roosevelt's "Pets"; Kill Purge

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 30. — Returns from 683 precincts out of 12,438 in the Democratic primary for Senator gave:

Sheridan Downey, 22,056; Senator William G. McAdoo, 8,583; James W. Mellen, 565; John W. Preston, 2,637; Ray L. Riley, 2,193.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 30. — Senator Ellison D. Smith, the first member of the Senate to face the test of the New Deal party purge, piled up a slowly mounting lead over his Roosevelt-endorsed opponent, Gov. Olin D. Johnston, as returns were tabulated from today's Democratic primary.

With 1,146 of the state's 1,509 precincts reported, Smith, a veteran of 30 years service, who voted against several administration measures, had 108,799 votes. Johnston, a strapping 41-year-old attorney, World War veteran, and former textile worker, who promised 100 per cent cooperation with President Roosevelt, had 86,131.

MAYOR JONES MADE FIRST CALL OVER NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM

The honor of making the first call over the new Clanton telephone system of Southern Bell was accorded Clanton's Mayor, Mr. C. Fenn Jones, when the new system was cut in last Thursday night, August 25th. Mr. J. Mell Martin, of Clanton Kiwanis Club, was permitted to make the first long distance call, when he wired Mr. C. E. Satpp, of Selma.

Mr. T. E. Harris, district manager of Southern Bell, attended a meeting of Clanton Kiwanis Club, which later went to the new telephone company building and saw the new system come into use.

HARP AND HARMONY SINGING CONVENTION

The Harp and Harmony Singing Convention will convene at New Harmony church, ½-mile east of Lomax, the first Sunday in September. All singers and lovers of the old music are urged to be there and help make the convention a success.

The committee has arranged for one day only. Remember the place and date. Singing will begin at 9 a.m., Sunday, September 4. — J. R. Scott, Ellie Shirley, committee.

PLAY TO BE GIVEN AT CO. HIGH SCHOOL

Prominent Clanton People To Appear In Kiwanis Club Play Sept. 8 & 9

The cast for "Mystery At Midnight", the thrilling new mystery drama sponsored by the Clanton Kiwanis Club, which is to be presented at the Chilton County High School auditorium on Thursday and Friday, Septmeber 8 and 9, for the benefit of the crippled children's clinic, has been definitely chosen.

Many prominent town people are in the cast selected by Miss Betty Copmann, the director, and a casting committee from the organization. Raymond Mims deserts his hotel to act the part of the absent minded professor. Mrs. J. L. Hollis takes the place of a society matron, Mrs. Holloway. The role of Tom Foster is played by Chester Wingard, and Bonnie and Ralph, the honeymooners, are played by Nell Jones and Guy McKee. Sally, who is "silly", is portrayed by Mrs. B. N. Ivey. Billie Jean Johnson plays Sarah, the spiritualist. Mrs. Hance Alred is Elvira, an old maid who wishes she weren't. Paul Locklear acts the part of the judge, J. E. Easterling is the detective, Buel Locklear is the bus driver who wrecks the bus, and James Jones is the stranger.

The cast and director are working every evening at the high school in order to make "Mystery At Midnight" a first rate production. The play also includes three dance choruses and specialty numbers. Members of the choruses are: Frances Smith, Mary Ellen Higgins, Pearl Henley, Ann Ross, Lump Pitts, Nell Rockett, Lillian Smith, Elaine Burdette, Annie Cordelia Smith, Betty Hollis, Hazel Nivens, Doris Newell, Eugenia Newton, Sarah Nell Sessions, Jerry Alred, Lois Rockett, Ann Callen, Billie Ruth Fant, and as pianist, Grace Ezell.

WITH THE HONOLULU SERENADERS

The Union-Banner has a picture of the Honolulu Serenaders, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and on the group appears the likeness of a former Chilton County boy, Walter Peterson, of Thorsby. The Serenaders play over Westinghouse Station WOWO, under sponsorship of the Honolulu Conservatory of Music.

Mr. Peterson visits back home about once a year, and always calls on The Union-Banner. He was in to see us about a month ago. His many friends back home are always glad to see him.

ALF MIMS HAS A PLAN TO CONQUER THE DEPRESSION

Our good friend, Alfred F. Mims, of Thorsby, was in Clanton last Saturday, and in his usual hurried style, related to The Union-Banner his plan for conquering the depression — or at least a plan which he believes would have worked better than the one Mr. Roostvelt has planned and followed.

Mr. Mims would institute a huge army and navy building enterprise; enlistments would be swollen to capacity, thus lessening the unemployment problem to a great extent. A huge shipbuilding program would employ thousands, and use thousands of tons of steel and millions of feet of lumber. This would open steel mills and mines, and entail a use for our latent coal supply. The employment of miners, steel workers, lumber workers and shipbuilders and those building the enlarged army camps would create a market for our surplus cotton and all other farm products.

Mr. Mims pointed out that all this would cost money, but we would be spending for something constructive and something that we could show for the money spent. A nation with a strong defense would be our best insurance against war, Mr. Mims points out.

SHERIFF BREAKS INTO BEER RING

J. R. Hardy Says He Will Go After Others Having Beer In Dry Chilton County

Judge Arthur Glover, in Circuit Court here last Friday, sentenced one party for possessing twenty odd cans of beer, the charge being violation of the prohibition law, placing the fine at $50 and cost.

There has been some uncertainty about the outcome of such cases, inasmuch as the state permits the sale and dry counties do not. But that is settled now. Possessors of beer and whiskey in Chilton County will have to pay for it and suffer the humiliation of being charged with violating the prohibition law.

Sheriff J. R. Hardy also instructs The Union-Banner to warn the people against the practice of keeping beer or whiskey in their possession. The force will put on a streneous drive against such violators, according to Mr. Hardy.

PREACHED AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Upon the urgent request of the pastor, Rev. Gilbert Guffin, young preacher and pastor of Philadelphia, Pa., and New Jersey, filled the Clanton Baptist pulpit last Sunday at 11 o'clock. This is the second time that Rev. Guffin has preached at this church, and the congregation was highly pleased with the fine message that he delivered. He is a young man, husband of the former Loraine Parrish of Clanton, and is a preacher of great sincerity and power.

The many friends of these fine young people are always glad for them to visit our city and spend as much time with us as they can.

New Road To The Airport Completed

The new road from Gragg Field to Crew's Store in Reynolds Addition was completed the first of this week. It is now open for traffic, with the probable exception of a wire fence being across it. So, if you decide to drive out through there for the next few days, it might be well for you to look for a wire fence. If this is the case, however, same will be eliminated in a short while.

DIEFENDERFER BACK HOME

L. E. Diefenderfer, prominent business man of Clanton, returned Friday from Excelsior Springs, Mo., at the McCleary Sanitarium. Mr. Diefenderfer is getting along fine, after spending nearly a month at the springs.

Clanton Family Is Moving To Speigner

Will Be Succeeded In Depot Here By Mr. R. N. Griffin

Effective on September 1st, Mr. Dan Hogan, L. & N. depot agent here for the past four years, has turned in his resignation and will retire from the railroad service on his pension. Mr. Hogan will move to Speigner, where it is reported, he will build a fine new home. Spigener is the old home place of the Hogans.

Mr. Hogan will be succeeded by Mr. R. N. Griffin, of Birmingham, as agent here. Mr. Grffin comes here from Calera, where he has been agent for the past several years. He and his family, consisting of, besides himself, of a wife and one son, will make their home in Clanton, where the son will be in high school, it is said. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin have another son who is married.

Clanton is losing a fine family of people in the Hogans, and their many friends will regret their leaving. At the same time, Mr. Griffin and his wife and sons will be welcomed into our midst to become citizens of our city.

BIGGER & BETTER COUNTY FAIR HERE

Forty-Page Catalog, Premium List To Be Distributed At Early Date

Plans and arrangements for the second annual Chilton County Fair are fast taking on concrete form, and indications are that by the opening date — September 20th — there will be on the fair grounds the most and best exhibits, the finest livestock, and the most entertaining and interesting free attractions ever shown in central Alabama.

There is being printed this week a large forty-page catalog and list of premiums, together with other interesting information about the fair and the things it will have in store for those who attend. Mr. J. Mell Martin, the secretary, and Dr. V. J. Gragg, president of the association, have been busy compiling the material, arranging the advertising, Etc. These catalogs will be finished and ready for distribution within a week or ten days.

Mr. Thomas P. Littlejohn, of Troy, Ala., is again manager of the fair, and will furnish the tents, and generally oversee the actual putting on of the fair and the shows proper.

On an inside page of this issue of The Union-Banner will be found a picture of one of the free attractions — the human bridge. Mr. Littlejohn gives the assurance this year that the free shows will be the best, cleanest, and most interesting ever shown in a county fair. Other free acts besides the human bridge, will be buck dancing on a 20-foot-high pedestal, barrel jumping, Etc. The Morrell Brothers and Sister will do interesting stunts, and clowns will play funny pranks. Music for all the fair will be furnished by Prof. George Staltz and his circus band. Wilke's side shows will be on the grounds for furnishing entertainment to the visitors.

Especial emphasis this year will be placed on livestock. Every effort is being put forth by the committee in charge to have the very best the county affords in horses, mules, cattle, hogs, and other livestock. If you have any such which you wish to place on exhibition, you should get in touch with some one of the committee at once.

Airplane Here All Week

Mr. Glenn E. Messer, flying ace of Birmingham, has promised the fair officials that he will have an airplane at Gragg Field here all the week of the fair. On Aviation Day, Friday, September 23rd, there will be several planes on the scene to do stunts, including a parachute jump. Those people interested in aeronautics will be able to get their longings administered to during fair week.

Woman Shocked By Lightning Saturday

Lightning struck a large oak in the yard at the home of A. N. Mims, in Refuge community last Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clck, stunning Mrs. Mims for some time. Several others were in the porch with Mrs. Mims, but none were hurt except a slight injury sustained by Mrs. R. N. Connell, from a piece of flying tree bark, from the stricken tree.

Young Republicans To Vie For Prizes

G. O. P. Youngsters, 16 To 24, Over The State Will Enter Speaking Contest For $15,000 Prizes

Over 100 young Republicans over the state of Alabama are expected to vie for prizes totaling $15,000 in the Young Republican National Federation's nationwide oratorical contest, according to C. O. Vardaman, chairman.

Held to "inspire enthusiasm for, and greater understanding of fundamental American principles under the guidance of the Republican party", Chairman Vardaman said county elimination contests will be held October 3-6. Congressional district eliminations are to be held October 10-13; state eliminations October 17-20.

The state winner will enter competition in the regional contest, and the winners there will enter the national finals in Washington November 1.

Prizes will be awarded winners in each contest, with a grand prize of $1,000 going to the winner of the national contest.

Contestants between the ages of 16 and 24 may obtain entry blanks from Republican headquarters in the Comer Building, Birmingham, or from county Republican committeemen, Vardaman added.

Ozark Firm Is To Pave City Streets

The Southeastern Construction Company, of Ozark, has been awarded the contract for the paving of the streets of Clanton. Bids were opened at the office of the City Clerk, C. H. Pipes, last Thursday morning, and the Southeastern Construction Company was low with a bid of $44,642.50. The work will begin in about 10 days. Streets to be paved will be "black topped".

The individual property owners of the city are bearing the cost of the paving. Just what streets will be paved first has been left to the option of the contractor.

WHAT PRICE FISH?

Now, nobody can object to a fellow having a vacation and going fishing. Lots of presidents have done it before. But tastes are changing. The modern angler is doing things on a scale that would make Izaak Walton's eyes pop out like a pair of salmon eggs.

The fishing barge on the latest presidential expedition is a 10,000-ton cruiser that cost $20,000,000. The "attendants" are 700 officers and men. Going along as tender is a $5,000,000 destroyer with 200 more officers and men.

The $20,000,000 barge was in the navy yard for weeks before the trip, being fixed up to suit a fisherman's taste. Rooms were rearranged, new carpets were laid, baths were put in, special compartments were built for fishing tackle. It was a job that, from a cost standpoint, would have given the richest king or maharajah a sinking spell. But it was all a part of the grand scale of living — and fishing — in America.

Maybe the Forgotten Man, wading out in some creek with a six-bit fish pole and a balky second hand reel, trying to snag an 8-inch trout that probably isn't there, can get some comfort out of thinking of the $20,000,000 fishing expedition. After all, he's paying for it.

But, as he might ponder, what price fish? — Los Angeles Times.

The New Dealers were determined to nominate Senator Barkley in Kentucky if it took the taxpayers' last dollar. They did, and it probably will.

We understand it has been made a rule up in Sing Sing that when the chief executioner steps up to turn the juice into the electric chair he says to the condemned man, "God bless you, Walter, let's be friends."

The National Emergency Council says the South is by far the poorest part of the country. Well, that is what they get for going Democratic constantly for 75 or 80 years.

A Los Angeles couple recently returned from a 4,600 mile transcontinental trip in a 1904 model horseless carriage. Corrigan isn't the nation's only hero.

In writing political history, the historians of the future will probably refer to 1938 as the year of the big purge.

Both the Russians and the Japanese claim to be acting on the defensive in Siberia. When most wars start both of the combatting parties can prove that they are fighting a war of defense. That's what makes an agreement to band together to "punish the aggressor" look so foolish.

A sound like the voice of Andy is heard in Washington. It counts five billion, seven billion, ten billion. Pump priming is in progress again. PWA and WPA are blue-printing improvements we cannot afford, and boondoggle plans we could do better without. It is growing weather. If you watch the national debt, you cannot doubt it. — Chicago Daily News.

One candidate for office in Wyandotte County isn't in the reace because of the solicitation of his many friends, according to the Tonganoxie Mirror. The candidate says he was urged into the race by his many creditors. — Exchange.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Following are two paragraphs from The Baltimore Sun, one of the soundest and best edited newspapers in America. Some New Deal enthusiasts would doubtless refer to it as a member of the Tory press, although it has always been regarded as a constructively liberal newspaper. At any rate, The Sun says:

"In a single year — that which ended a short time ago — the taxpayers of the United States paid into the federal treasury a total of $5,658,385,125, the greatest sum, we are told, ever collected by the government in time of peace or in time of war. It is, perhaps, the greatest sum ever levied upon any people in a 12 month period.

"This is not money which came out of the air. It is money which came straight from the earnings of men and women who enjoy the rare and glorious privilege of being American citizens. It is money which came from the pocketbooks of rich and poor alike — the millionaire and the charwoman, the man with a salary of $1,000 a day, and the other with a wage of $10 a week."

Here are some facts worth noting. Despite what any theorist or demagogue may tell us, the greater part of the tax bill of the United States must be paid by the ultimate consumer. He pays either in income taxes, through sales taxes, or indirectly in a higher cost of living which includes higher rent, dearer food and clothing. Unfortunately, however, the $5,658,385,125 collected in taxes last year doesn't tell all the story. We are steadily spending more than our income. In eight years our national debt has increased 20 billions, and the end is not yet, because there are nearly as many unemployed now as there were in 1933.

So, in addition to the more than five and a half billions collected in taxes, there is a steadily mounting national debt which will have to be liquidated by the taxpayers, with interest — and let us not forget that the debt is constantly drawing interest which must be paid regularly if we are to preserve the credit of the nation.

Here are some late figures. According to a treasury report during the first six weeks of this new fiscal year, the national budget deficit was nearly a half billion dollars. The report was issued as of August 11, and it shows that expenditures this year for the period from July 1 were so increased that the budget deficit for the approximate six weeks was $150,635,039 greater than for the comparative period last year. On the other hand, due to declining business, treasury receipts were approximately $34,000,000 less this year than last.

With declining receipts and increased expenditures, due to greater relief and pump priming burdens, it is estimated that the budget deficit for the whole year will be considerably greater than the four billion dollar deficit estimate given out by President Roosevelt, July 12. This need not furnish any great disappointment, as deficits each year during the past few years have been consistently greater than the predictions previously made by the treasury department. A great many people believe that the deficit this year will be the largest on record, exceeding that of 1936. Deficits for the past four years have been: 1935 — $3,001,800,000; 1936 — $4,360,600,000; 1937 — $2,707,000,000; 1938 — $1,459,248,000. It will be noted that after 1936 the deficits took an encouraging drop, so that the estimated all time record breaking deficit of this fiscal year is particularly discouraging. Certainly this part of it was not planned that way.

Isn't it about time for the American people to become tax conscious? The time has passed when we can bask in the fond illusion that the millionaires can be made to pay the taxes. With more than five and a half billions collected in taxes last year, and deficits continuing to mount, it is evident that the American taxpayer, big and little, has a thorny path ahead of him. He ought to begin to insist on some different economic planning.

LACK OF INTEGRITY

Lack of integrity is sometimes successfully concealed by invisible government for long periods of time. But today, little by little, the American people are coming to know that lack of integrity is the true conqueror of the New Tory regime. It is rapidly spreading its germs of self destruction in the ranks of the Democratic party itself.

But lest we make the mistake of sweeping condemnation of a party which has served the American people well, let us quickly point out that the decent people of the United States, irrespective of political affiliation, are coming to the fore, and a vast number of them are making the fight against corruption within the Democratic party itself.

Thus, in the last few weeks, we have seen large groups of Democratic voters standing up in rebellion against dictation from the political monopolists in Washington, who brazenly use WPA workers and public funds to gain their ends. Fortunately, this no longer is a charge made by mere opponents of the Roosevelt policies, but by high minded Democrats who sit on a committee appointed by authority of the majority party itself in the United States Senate.

The reports of corruption and scandal the Senate committee investigators have been making give the lie to the professions of virtue which the heads of agencies in Washington, such as the WPA, have been trying to exhibit by their own whitewashing investgations. Harry Hopkins — to use one of his own phrases — may think the "people are too damned dumb" to understand the technique of present day politics as practiced by his so-called humanitarian agency. But the Democratic senators who sit on the Campaign Expenditures Committee are far from dumb. What has been officially reported from the state where majority leader of the Senate himself, Senator Barkley, was a candidate for renomination, is enough to condemn the new political managers in the New Tory Administration as without scruple when the object is to gain or retain public office. — United States News.

YEA, VERILY!

And it came to pass that two Kansas farmers stood gazing at their prostrate grain. One spoke to the other and said: "This ill favored wheat exceeds in badness any wheat I have ever seen, and I have raised wheat in central Kansas for 50 years."

"Yea, verily," answered the other. "This must be a new variety that the magicians at Washington have discovered. It should be called New Deal wheat, for it made great promoise and has big heads with nothing in them." — Lyons (Kan.) News.

NO FAITH

More than five years ago the United States made a law that converted the possessing of gold money into a crime. For that law was an excuse. Why does the law remain? Things have changed since March, 1933. Why is a "free" American citizen subject to fine or imprisonment for having gold in his possession?

The simple answer is that the average citizen no longer trusts his government. If he could get gold we would put savings in vaults could get gld we would put savings in the vault of a bank or bury them in a napkin). They talk about abolishing the "gold standard". It cannot be abolished without abolishing human nature. The kind of money the people have is good, as long as it will buy gasoline. Or land. Or lumber. There is only one kind of real money in the world — world money. It is gold money. The United States does not trust its citizens with it because its citizens no longer trust their government. — Charleston News and Courier.

Messrs. L. R. Hall, T. L. Lucas and Aaron Nabors were in Birmnigham one day last week on business.

Rev. Horace Nabors will preach for us the second Sunday in September, the 11th, at 11 a.m. Be sure to come.

OLD TIME SINGING CHANGED

Due to the fact that the news was circulated that the Harp and Harmony Singing Convention would be held this year at Pleasant Grove, this notice is given that the place of meeting has been changed to New Harmony, near Lomax. This change was made in view of the vote taken at the Pleasant Grove church; inasmuch as members did not vote in favor of holding the convention there, the committee has obligingly changed it. — John W. Officers are: Mrs. Horton Walker, President; Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Vice President; Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Secretary; Mrs. Grady Heflin, Treasurer; Mrs. Hugh Jones, Parliamentarian.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for their kind deeds and sympathy shown us during the shocking death of our dear father, A. L. Collins, which occurred August 21st. We want to especially thank Mr. Crit Ray for his kindness. May God's richest blessings be with you, is our prayer. — The Family.

Little Mr. John Paul Bishop, of Chattanooga, Tenn., is spending this week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cagle. His mother, Mrs. Ethel Cagle Bishop, was here for a few days last week end.

THORSBY BOY SCOUTS VISITED CHATTAHOOCHEE FOREST

The Thorsby Boy Scouts spent last week in the Chattahoochee National Forest, in North Georgia. Leaving Thorsby at 2 o'clock Monday morning, August 15, we went through Montgomery to Lanett, where we picked up Mr. Lawrence L. Stanley, former Scoutmaster of Troop 1, Thorsby, and his son, Sherwood.

In Atlanta, Ga., we visited Grant's Park. Here we saw the cyclorama of the Battle of Atlanta. That is the most wonderful work of art any of us has ever seen. Then we went to the zoo and saw the elephant, bison, deer, llama, moose, ostrich, lion, lioness, tiger, leopard, puma, bear, hyena, mandrill, monkey, baboon, coyote, zebra, eagle, parrot, jaguar, ape, alligator, and other animals and birds.

From Atlanta we motored to Stone Mountain, 16 miles from Atlanta. As one of the boys remarked, Stone Mountain is really a good sized pebble. We arrived in the Chattahoochee National Forest at 6 o'clock Monday evening. We camped that night beside a small creek, which had a 5-foot bank. About 10 o'clock one of the boys started walking in his sleep and walked into the creek; he must have been dreaming he was going bathing. Fortunately, the water wasn't over 12 inches deep at the place he walked in. He must have had a strange feeling when he awoke and found he was in water. Mr. Jim Collins pulled him out, and each night afterward Mr. Collins tied one end of a rope to his own leg and the other to the sleep walker's leg. We didn't want Calvin Pate to be jumping in the river, climbing mountains, or sliding down waterfalls while sleeping.

Tuesday morning we went to Lake Trahlyta, 3½ miles north of Neel's Gap. This lake was once a farm, and covers several acres. Boating and swimming are fine at the lake, but the water is very cold. We camped at Nahtalee Falls Tuesday night. These falls drop 150 feet.

Wednesday morning we hiked to the top of Blood Mountain, which has an altitude of 4,463 feet. From atop Blood Mountain, Trahlyta Lake looks like a small pond. We had a wonderful view of the surrounding mountains, with farms and settlements in the valleys.

That afternoon we went to Cane Creek Falls, near Dahlonega, Ga. Here we had a fine place to swim and camp; 18 other Boy Scouts were camped at Cane Creek Falls while we were there.

The next morning we started for home, stopping at Lanett, the home of Mr. Stanley and Sherwood. We got back to Thorsby at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, having had a great time, and bringing back many snapshots of the beautiful scenery of North Georgia.

Those who made the trip were: Mr. Newt Minor, Mr. Jim Collins, Howard Minor, Wellington Collins, J. W. Sorrell, Leonard Bosworth, Carric Berry, Calvin Pate, Lawrence L. Stanley, Sherwood Stanley, and Phares Raybon, Scoutmaster.

RAY FAMILY REUNION

The annual Ray family reunion was held at the home of J. E. Ray on Sunday, August 28. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Ray and children, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Ray, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dobbs and children, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Culpepper and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ray and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ray, Mrs. Thurman Hamby and children, Mrs. Curtis Wyatt and children, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Townsend and children, Mrs. Maggie Woodham of Berry, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Eddie Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Clements Smoke, Mrs. L. D. Mims and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fennie Johnson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Ray and children, Mr. and Mrs. DawsonTucker and children, Mrs. Owen Berry and children, Mrs. T. J. Spraggins and children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ray and children, Mr. and Mrs. Cary Mullins and children, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal Silas and children, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson and children, Nora, Leedie, Jack, James and Madison Coggins, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Ray and children.

Visitors during the day included Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Smoke and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mullins and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harmon and son, Gregory Crook, Sam Easterling, Wesley Kizziah, Myrtle Easterling, and Carrol Brown.

TYPHOID VACCINE FURNISHED

Montgomery, Aug. 29. — A quantity of typhoid vaccine sufficient to protect nearly five per cent of the estimated total population of the state against the disease was furnished to health officers, private physicians and others during the first six months of this year by the Bureau of Laboratories of the State Department of Health, the state health department revealed today.

This vaccine, which is manufactured in the laboratory's vaccine division and furnished without charge by the State Department of Health as a part of its campaign against preventable disease, was distributed in sufficient quantities to inoculate 129,264 persons between January and June, inclusive, as compared with only 120,000 persons who were inoculated with vaccine furnished by the health department laboratory during the same period last year.

IMPROVED FARMING IS A SUCCESS IN CLAY

Lineville, Aug. 29. — Adjusting the cropping system on the Lineville demonstration farm to include the maximum amount of cover crops has halted erosion on this farm, composed of steep hills and changed low yields to high yields, according to F. M. White, Clay County agent.

On this farm, 95 acres are planted to crops. Every acre of crop land was planted to winter legumes in 1937-38, and 65 to 80 per cent of the land was in cover crops the six preceding years. Results of this practice show that 13 bales of cotton, averaging 523 pounds per bale, were grown on 14 acres, and 30 bushels of corn per acre were produced. Before the cover crop program was started it took five acres to produce one bale of cotton, and corn averaged eight bushels per acre.

When the project was begun, all cropland on the demonstration farm was properly terraced. Oats and vetch for hay and vetch alone have been planted for the winter each year. An abundanceabundance of hay is produced for farm needs and a considerable quantity is sold each year.

A total of 1,500 pounds of crimson clover seed was saved this year, reported Mr. White. In addition, the cover crop has halted erosion and ugly gullies have disappeared. To help stop erosion, kudzu is planted on 10 acres.

Necessary feed for four mules, two mares, 15 to 20 hogs, and 15 head of cattle is produced on the farm. Also a flock of 500 hens is being raised.

CANNING BUDGET FOR BABY

Auburn, Aug. 29. — A plan to feed baby out of a can instead of a bottle — or rather supplement the bottle with the can — has been launched in Alabama.

Lavada Curtis, food preservation specialist of the state extension service, announced a canning budget that will reduce some of the farm family's expense for baby food.

Miss Curtis said the baby, during the first year, would need a budget that contained 50 half pints tomato juice, 20 half pints carrots, 10 half pints spinach, 5 half pints English peas, 5 half pints asparagus.

"The baby needs additional minerals and vitamins to supplement those in milk, and it is economy on the part of the farm mother to conserve a well chosen variety of these elements when fresh vegetables are available."

Miss Curtis says to cook the vegetables until soft, and rub through a coarse sieve. Use equal parts of vegetable pulp and water, add to containers, and process the same as in canning food for adults.

There is a law on the statute books of Alabama which prohibits printing names on the official ballot for a general election of independent candidates who fail to qualify as such before the first Tuesday in May. This is an amendment to Sectoin 426 of the code, and was passed by the legislature in 1935.

County Farm Agent's Notes

PEANUT DEDUCTION IS LOWERED UNDER AAA

Auburn, Aug. 29. — An adjustment lowering the rate of deduction from farm payments for the overplanting of peanut acreage allotments has been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, announces A. W. Jones, AAA administrator.

The new deduction rate is $1.20 per 100 pounds on the normal production of each acre in excess of the peanut allotment. This is six times the payment rate of 20 cents per 100 pounds which will be made on the normal production of each acre planted within the allotment. The deduction rate originally established under the 1938 farm program was 10 times the payment rate.

The adjustment was the result of unavoidable delays in establishnig allotments in commercial peanut areas. Many farmers planted their 1938 crop before the county committees were able to notify them of their allotments, and in many cases the acreages planted were considerably in excess of allotments. In such cases, deductions at the original rate would have cancelled all or most of the farm payment. At average yields under normal conditions, the new deduction rate amounts to about $9 per acre for overplanting the peanut allotment, compared with the riginal deduction rate of about $15 per acre.

ETOWAH FARMER IS BELIEVER IN LEGUMES

Gadsden, Aug. 29. — Two enemies to successful farming — low per acre yields and soil erosion — have been driven fro mthe farm of R. S. Golightly, of Etowah County, by the proper use of cover crops.

In 1925, the land farmed by Mr. Golightly produced only 11 bales of cotton on 25 acres, while average per acre yield of corn was about 15 bushels. During that year none of the land was planted to cover crops. Most of the lnad was vulnerable to erosion, and a large part of the rich top soil was washed off by water.

Realizing that a real problem faced him the Etowah Cunty farmer set about the task of doing something to improve the situation. He first terraced the farm. Then he began following the advice of his county agent, who at that time was L. L. Self, now district extension supervisor, and planted vetch.

For the first eight years all of the 60-acre farm, with the possible exception of an occasional small area, has grown winter cover crops. Result is that in 1937 Mr. Golightly harvested 31 bales of cotton from 24 acres, and an average of 40 bushels of corn per acre was produced. One block of his farm has made more than 1,000 pounds of lint cotton per acre in five crops out of nine.

Mr. Golightly is also improving his pasture lands to supply more feed for his livestock without having to harvest the crops.

The experience of this successful farmer has been that with winter legumes and pasture crops it is necessary to apply phosphate liberally. Without phosphate legume crops are nearly failures, he states.

ALABAMA'S ELECTRIC POWER DEVELOPMENT

Alabama has more water power development than any other state in the Union except Washington, New York and California.

It ranks second among the Southeastern states in total capacity of public utility electric power generated.

There are 12 operating companies producing leectricity in Alabama. These companies operate 38 plants, and produced in 1936 a total of 2,602,566 kilowatt hours. Of this amount 2,393,014 kilowatt hours were produced by water power and 209,552 by fuel.

Water power available 90 per cent of the time in this state is computed by the U. S. Geological Survey at 820,000 horsepower, and the amount available 50 per cent of the time at 1,140,000 horsepower.

The Alabama Power Company operates six hydroelectric plants on the Coosa and Tallapoosa Rivers. These are known as Lay Dam, Micthell Dam, Jordan Dam, Martin Dam, Upper Tallassee, and Thurlow Dam. These six plants have a total capacity of 414,500 kilowatts.

In addition to this, six large fuel plants and several small ones are operated by this company with a total capacity of 157,140 kilowatts. The largest of these fuel plants is located at Gorgas No. 1, with a capacity of 70,000 kilowatts. Other plants are located at Gorgas No. 1, Gadsden, Montgomery, Mobile, and Magazine.

The Alabama Water Service Company has hydroelectric plants at River Falls, Gantt, and Elba, with a generating capacity of 11,249 horsepower, and fuel plants at Frisco City, River Falls, Brundidge, Troy, and Samson, with a capacity of 4,006 horsepower.

In Alabama, under the TVA, power is now being generated and distributed from two dams on the Tennessee River, Wilson Dam with a capacity of 610,000 horsepower, and Wheeler Dam with a capacity of 360,000 horsepower. On completion of the Guntersville Dam, 68,000 additional horsepower will be available from the Tennessee River.

Under the Rural Electrification Authority act passed by the Alabama legislature in 1935, electric membership corporations have been organized in many sections of the state, which is helping to bring electric power within reach of rural residents in many sections.

Through these various agencies electric lines now penetrate every county in the state.

WINTER COVER CROPS

Farmers who make plans for planting their winter crops early, like merchants who display their fall goods well in advance of the season, are likely to get best results, according to James H. Wood, Superintendent of the Soil Consrevation Service area near Clanton.

Winter legumes planted early and properly inoculated will make good growth before cold weather comes and will provide better protection for the land against erosion, he pointed out. Late planted legumes will not make sufficient growth to provide protection during the winter months when the protection is needed most.

Farmers who have their seed and inoculant on hand, and their planting plans made well in advance, will be in position to plant their crops at the first possible moment when moisture and other conditions provide the right "season". If they are not ready, they may have to wait a long time to get the right season again.

Another advantage of early planting is that the crop will have made sufficient growth to provide temporary pasture during the early spring, and more green matter will be available for turning under in advance of plant? ing spring orops.

Proper inoculation is just as important as early planting, Mr. Wood added. He suggests that farmers see their county agent for methods of inoculation recommended.

$30-A-WEEK PENSION SYSTEM

A statewide campaign for a $30-a-week pnesion system in Alabama similar to that on which California voters will ballot on November 8 was launched from Birmingham this week.

The drive is to be conducted by an organization known as the Committee for $30-a-Week Pension in Alabama, with state headquarters at 2024 Fifth Avenue, North, Birmingham. The committee is headed by John L. Brown, retired business executive, with Mrs. Lucy Wideman, widely known Birmingham clubwoman, and Michael D. Trippi, Birmingham attorney, as associates.

The committee will attempt to enroll 100,000 voters for the plan before the legislature convenes in January An effort will then be made to induce the legislature to submit the plan to the voters as a constitutional amendment.

Under terms of the plan the state would issue $30 in warrants of $1 denomination each Tuesday to every man or woman over 50 who is not gainfully employed. The warrants would be redeemable in exactly one year after issue, and would be backed by the state's credit.

Before the warrants could be spent, a two-cent state redemption stamp would have to be affixed to each one, and each Thursday thereafter another stamp would have to be affixed. Thus at the end of one year, the state would have collected $1.04 for each warrant, out of which it would redeem the warrant and use the remained for administration costs.

Sponsors of the plan in California would solve the unemployment problem by causing old persons to retire and give their jobs to the young. They also claim that no taxes would be necessary, and that a tremendous block of new purchasing power would be created.

The committee will attempt to organize voters in every precinct in the state, and will seek to finance its drive through 50-cent enrollment charges and dues of 30 cents a month. The drive will be carried on through newspaper advertising, radio, direct mail, and personal contact.

Sponsors of the plan in Califrnia claim that more than 1,000,000 voters have sgined their petitions and they predict a landslide endorsement of the plan in the November 8th referendum.

All persons interested in aiding the drive are invited to contact the committee at the Birmingham headquarters.

LIVESTOCK MARKET NEWS

It has been arranged by the cooperation of the Federal Department of Agriculture, the State Department of Agriculture, and the State Extension Service, to give market reports upon the hog and cattle markets of Southeast Alabama and Montgomery. These daily reports will show the prevailing market conditions, prices and movements.

This covers the largest markets of the state, and forms a beginning of a needed service. It is hoped that it can be extended to cover all markets in the state.

It is anticipated at this time that these reports will begin in the early fall of this year. This progrma will form a part of the livestock market news service of the Bureau of Africultural Economics for Southeast Alabama, South Georgia, and North Florida, in cooperation with the respective states.

In line with the call for action of January 21, 1938, and looking to a solution of the needs fro a marketing system for farm commodities, it has been found that the production and income from the growing of livestock in Alabama can be greatly aided by a market news service upon these products. We already have a number of markets established in the state for the sale of hogs and cattle. There has been no market news srevice so that growers might keepe themselves informed as to market conditions, movements, and prices. Since this is necessarily an official function and is provided for by the Agricultural Code, the State Department of Agriculture has worked in cooperation with the Market News Service of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in working out the beginning of such a service to the growers.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION TO SELL LAND TO PAY DEBTS

The State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court, August 15, 1938.

In the matter of the estate of P. D. Wilson, deceased.

This day came Evie Crumpton, Administratrix of the estate of P. D. Wilson, deceased, and filed her petition in writing under oath in this Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts.

It is therefore ordered that the 16th day of September, 1938, be appointed a day for the hearing of said petition, when any persons interested may appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

FIVE MINUTES WITH YOUR BIBLE
"Prophecies Relating To Christ"

1. What was predicted of Christ's preaching?

"The Spirit of the Lord God is upon Me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; He hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound." — Isa. 61:1.

2. What application did Jesus make of this prophecy?

"And He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up; as His custom was, He went into the synagogue no the Sabbath day, and stood up for to read. And there was delivered unto Him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when He had opened the book, He found the place where it was written, the Spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because He hath anointed Me to preach the gospel to the poor; He hath sent Me to heal the broken-hearted; to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind; to set at liberty them that are bruised . . . . and He began to say unto them, this day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears." — Luke 4:16-21; see Luke 7:19-22.

3. How, according to prophecy, was Christto conduct Himself when on trial?

"He was oppressed, and He was afflicted, yet He opened not His mouth; He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before his shearers is dumb, so He opened not His mouth." — Isa. 53:7.

4. What prophecy foretold of the disposal of Christ's garments at the crucifixion?

"They part My garments among them, and cast lots upon My vesture." — Ps. 22:18.

5. What record answered to this prophecy?

"And they crucified Him, and parted His garments, casting lots; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, They parted My garments among them and upon My vesture did they cast lots." — Matt. 27:35.

6. What was foretold of His treatment while on the cross?

"They also gave me gall for meat; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink." — Ps. 69:21.

7. What was offered to Christ at His crucifixion to fulfill this prophecy?

"They gave me vinegar to drink, mingled with gall; and when He had tasted thereof, He would not drink." — Matt. 27:34.

8. With whom did the prophet Isaiah say Christ would make His grave?

"And He made His grave with the wicked, and with the rich in His death." — Isa. 53:9.

9. With whom was Christ crucified, thereby fulfilling prophecy?

"There were two thieves crucified with Him, one on the right hand and another on the left." — Matt. 27:38.

10. Who took charge of Christ's body after it was taken down from the cross?

"A rich man of Arimathea, named Joseph . . . . went to Pilate and begged the body of Jesus . . . . He wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, and laid it in his own new tomb, which he had hewn out in the rock." — Matt. 27:57-60.

11. What experience in the life of a noted prophet indicated the length of Christ's stay in the grave?

"But He answered and said unto them, an evil and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign be given to it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas; for as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly, so shall the Son of Man be three day sand three nights in the heart of the earth." — Matt. 12:39,40.

12. What prophecy foretold Christ's trial over death?

"For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption." — Ps. 16:10; see Acts 2:24-27. — (Arranged by Rev. W. H. Westermeyer, pastor of the Clanton Seventh-Day Adventist church).

IN MEMORY

On the evening of August 24, at 5:15 the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Oates and bore away the soul of our loving father, Mr. H. S. Oates

All that loving hearts and willing hands could do was done, but God saw fit to call him from earth to heaven.

We wish to thank each and every one for their kindness and sympathy shown during the sickness and death of our dear father. We especially thank Rev. Wallie Nix and Rev. Jenkins for their comfroting words.

He leaves to mourn his loss: two sons, one daughter, one sister, and a host of relatives and friends.

Let us all strive hard to meet him in that glory land where there will come no more parting. — M. R. Oates and family.

PREACHING AT TEMPLE CHURCH SEPTEMBER 3rd AND 4th

Rev. Rev. O. C. Hickmon, Kinston, Ala., will preach at Temple church on Saturday night, September 3, at 7:30 o'clock, and on Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Rev. O. C. Hickmon is a brother of Rev. A. T. Hickmon, the pastor.

The public is invited.

We always called a spade a spade until we hit our foot with one the other day.

EILAND REUNION

On Sunday, August 28, the annual reunion of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Eiland was held at the home in Mt. Creek, also celebrating the 81st birthday of Mr. Eiland.

Dinner was carried to Gulledge Camp, and the following enjoyed it:

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lake and children and Mrs. Katie Hyde of Troy, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Eiland and children of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Vinson and children of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Recently, Bob Jones College offered a large advertisement to a denominational paper in the South. The advertisement said, in substance, "You fathers and mothers should direct your children to orthodox, Christian colleges, especially for the first year or two." Of course, the advertisement said that Bob Jones College was orthodox and safe, and had high ideals and high educational standards. The college was paying for the advertisement, and, naturally, the institution was speaking for itself. The substance of the editor's refusal to carry the advertisement was that "it would create controversy and raise questions about other institutions, especially church schools". I wrote the editor that the college does not need the advertisement, that we are filled to overflowing, but that the purpose of the advertisement was to testify for orthodoxy. This little detail does not concern the public except in this particular. First, it is the straw that shows which way the wind blows. Is it possible that some of our church supported schools have reached the point where they are hurt by the advertising of an orthodox, Christian institution? Second, it shows that the mdernistic crowd in the churches are on the alert. This paper carried one advertisement of Bob Jones College and the editor was severely criticized by ministers of his church. The lawmen should know the facts. I am in a position to give them. I am not an old man, but I have been out a long time, and I have had a wide experience. I put you laymen on notice. The modernists are endeavoring to capture the leadership of every denomination in this country. Just as the Reds are trying to distribute themselves among all groups in order to capture this government if a crisis ever comes, so the modernists are distributing themselves among all groups in order to capture every strategic point in the churches. Modernism in religion is a satanic conspiracy. It was born in the satanic domain and hatched out in the mind of the devil, who is an enemy to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

I recently read this statement: "Satan is to be dreaded as a lion, more to be dreaded as a serpent, and most to be dreaded as an angel of light." We know a lion when we see him. He never disguises himself. He is dangerous, but we know it. We, therefore, can defend ourselves against a lion. A serpent has charm. He casts a spell over his prey. He usually hides in a secret place. We do not always know where to find him. But a serpent will usually get out of our way or will let us know by his hiss that he is there. You have to "crowd" the serpent before he does you injury. The devil transforms himself into an angel of light. That is when he is most dangerous. When you meet him you are not quite sure whether he is good or bad. You are rather inclined to think he is good. Certain questions can be asked and the true character of "the angel" manifests itself. What do you think of Jesus Christ? Was He virgin born? Was He God incarnate? Did He die a vicarious, substitutional death on the cross? Did He rise again from the dead? Is it necessary to be born again in order to be saved? Is the Bible the inspired Word of God? Ask these questions and it is easy to find out whether "the angel" is "a good angel" or whether it is the devil dressed up like "a good angel". The modernistic conspirators in our churches use very pious language, but they words they use do not have the same meaning as when they are used by orthodox people. Remember, the devil is no enemy to religion. He knows man is a religious animal. The devil is an enemy to Christianity. He is an enemy to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. The devil tried to usurp the throne of God. He was cast out. He lost what he undertook to gain. Jesus is God's appointed Heir. When Jesus was a baby the devil tried to destroy Him. He is against everybody that is for Jesus Christ as a Savior. He does not object to our believing in Him as a teacher, or even as a good man. He does object to our trusting Him as a personal Savior. Remember, the devil is a deceiver. Don't let him "fool" you.

Hay can be no better than the meadow from which it is harvested. Good seed of the right crop, if seeded at the proper time in a well prepared seed bed, will usually result in a good stand. Good stands tend to retard weed growth and give relatively high yields of hay of desirable texture.

By the end of 1937, a total of 2,080 pasture demonstrations had been established in Alabama; 354 of these reported that application of lime and phosphate and use of proper seeding mixtures increased the grazing by 68 per cent and cut down feed bills by 28 per cent.

Through the Public Welfare Department 23,389 families were given relief during the month of June. The amount expended was $249,369, contributeed by the federal, state, and county governments on a three-way basis.

The new wage-hour law becomes operative October 24. The minimum wage is 25 cents an hour, and the maximum hours is fixed at 44. The wage-hour bill applies only to those engaged in industry.

1,000,000 BALES 1938 COTTON TO BE WRAPPED IN COTTON BAGGING

The program recently approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for the use of cotton fabric coverings on 1,000,000 bales of this year's cotton crop, in place of the type of babbing made from imported jute that has been in general use for many years, is to go into effect immediately.

A few days ago R. J. Goode, commissioner of agriculture, received a letter from Lawrence Myers, chief of the marketing section of the AAA, advising him of the approval of the cotton bagging cotton program, calling for the making available of cotton bagging sufficient to cover 1,000,000 bales. The bagging to be supplied, he said, would be the same kind supplied to experiment stations and prison farms for trial usage last year; weighing 12 ounces to the linear yard, or 4½ pounds for a 6-yard bale covering pattern. He said the program provides this bagging must be sold by manufacturers at 45 cents a pattern, f. o. b. shipping point.

Replying to this letter, Mr. Goode pointed out to Mr. Myers the necessity of making the cotton bagging available as early as possible, if used to advantage i nconnection with the baling of this season's crop, and stating its availability should not be delayed.

Before he had time to hear further from the director of the AAA's marketing section, Mr. Goode received a telegram from the Lane Cotton Mills in New Orleans, La., announcing that the U. S. Department of Agriculture har just awarded that concern a contract for cotton bagging for 1,000,000 bales of cotton, the price to be charged being 45 cents a pattern. The company is ready to book orders and can make shipments at once, it was stated.

WPA FURNISHING TEMPORARY EMPLOWMENT TO FARMERS

The Works Progress Administration has recently instituted a program under which farmers can be assigned to works projects for temporary employment during the seasons in which they are not actively engaged in farming activities. To be eligible for this employment, a farmer must present evidence that his total gross cash income for the year has not exceeded or will not exceed $312, which is the amount of a regular WPA worker's income for one year. If a man is a tenant, sharecropper or farm laborer, his landlord must verify the farmer's statements and agree that he is willing to have his tenant employed by WPA so long as this employment does not interfere with the operation of his farm. No tenant, share-cropper, or farm laborer can be assigned unless hsi landlord is willing to cooperate.

The primary aim of the Works Progress Administration in instituting this program is to encourage farmers to remain on the farm by supplying work which will supplement their cash income. No farmer can be given permanent employment on WPA until he ha sestablished proof that he has tried unsuccessfully to make farming arranyements. No farmer will be assifned to WPA if his sole reason for leaving the farm is in anticipation of regular employment on WPA works projects.

Farmers who are farming with the Federal Farm Security Administration are ineligible for WPA employment, except in cases of extreme need, attested to by the farm foreman.

As the gathering season is now at hand, no more farmers will be assigned to WPA for the present. However, the Department of Public Welfare will continue taking applications on Tuesday and Friday of each week. Farmers who wish to apply for assignment after hte gathering season is over may file applications now if they wish. All farmers will be removed again when the spring planting season opens after Christmas. Because of the large number of applications coming in, may we urge all prospective applicants not only for WPA, but for any type of assistance, to come to the office on Tuesday or Friday only. This is absolutely necessary in order that proper investigation may be made of applications filed with the department. — Nolan Meroney, Director.

Miss Mayo Foshee, daughter of W. H. Foshee, of Clanton, has returned to Lakeland, Fla., after visiting her sister, Mrs. L. A. Schloemer, and Mr. Sihloemer, in Louisville, Ky. She also visited her niece and her husband, Mrs. G. G. Flynn, and Dr. Flynn. Mrs. Flynn is the daughter of Mrs. Schoemer. Miss Foshee took an extended trip through Tampa, Fla., and Greenwood, Miss., before going to Louisville. On her return home, she stopped at Birmingham, Anniston, and Clanton.

MT CARMEL

Our all day singing will be on the third Sunday in September, due to the singing convention at Jemison on the fourth Sunday. Several quartets have promised to be here, and we hope you will remember the date, September 18, and attend, bringing someone with you.

Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. were well attended last Sunday.

Next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching dates, also the time to call our pastor for the ensuing year. All members should be there. Several from here attended the revivals at Pates Chapel and Cedar Grove last week.

The G. A.'s are to meet with Mrs. Nix next Sunday afternoon.

Bro. B. Lawrence will preach here Wednesday night of this week.

In thinking of the ever important item of increased farm income, farmers should give serious consideration to home gardens, states W. A. Ruffin, extension horticulturist. Statistics on the production of vegetables for home consumption show that these crops can be more than doubled and the minimum requirements will not be met. This year Alabama farmers should produce a $20,000,000 crop of vegetables in addition to what they are already growing in order to feed themselves.

CANCER TOPIC DISCUSSED

Twelve deaths were attributed to cancer in Chilton County during 1937, according to the County Health Officer, Dr. S. D. Sturkie. The average death rate per 100,000 for the four-year period 1932-1935 was 75.3 for the county, compared with 56.8 for the state, and 102.0 for the United States. It is probable, he pointed out, that there occur cases of cancer which are not being recognized as such due to the fact that the X-ray and surgical methods of diagnosis are not being widely employed.

"The exact cause of cancer," he continued, "is still unknown, although there is a vast store of knowledge about how the disease acts within the body. Chronic irritation and inflammation may lead to the formation of a cancer. Epithelumas of the lip and mouth have been observed to occur frequently in pipe smokers. After the appearance of the primary growth, cells may break away from the widely growing mass and travel either by the lymph channels or the blood stream itself to internal organs, and there set up a secondary growth. This process is known as metastasis, and when it has taken place, it is practically impossible to cure the patient.

"Cancer may attack any tissue or organ in the body. A mass or lump in the breast of a woman may develop into a carcinoma of the breast. Symptoms of chronic indigestion, pain in the pit of the stomach, loss of weigh, may point to the presence of cancer of the stomach. Frequent urination and inability to void urine in normal quantities may denote the presence of an enlarged prostate in a man; too often this develops into a cancer of the prostate. Not all tumors, however, are cancerous; some are benign, and are made up of normal cells which do not grow widely and invade the surrounding tissues.

"The American Medical Association has on record thousands of authentic cases in which cancer has been cured. Modern surgery, radium implantations, and deep X-ray therapy are weapons used by modern medical science in achieving cancer cure. The public needs to heed the warning of the medical profession to avoid the cancer quack. These charlatans, by high pressure advertising over the radio, etc., usually promise to cure any type of tumor. They have never contributed any valuable knowledge to the solution of the problem. If we could make use of all the known methods of treating cancer and bring them within reach of every victim of cancer, then many lives would be saved."

Hairy vetch is the outstanding winter legume for Alabama. It is adapted to practically every soil type, and withstands our winters. It is not difficult to succeed with this crop. Purple vetch, Tangier peas, and Canadian field peas should not be used because they are not sufficiently cold resistant.

SMITH REUNION SEPTEMBER 25

There will be a Smith reunion at Mineral Springs on Sunday, September 25. Everybody is invited to come and bring a well filled basket and spend the day. We are expecting a large crowd and a joyful time. — J. T. Smith. 9-1-4t

Mr. Jim Short, of Sardis, was in Clanton Monday, trying to get his cotton business straight with the county farm agent's office. This cotton acreage business seems to be proving quite a puzzle to lots of farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Crit Jones have returned from an extended vacation, spending several days in Daytona, a week in Scottsboro and on Lookout Mountain.

"Grits, Greens and Gravy" and Something Else

Editor Union-Banner:

The recent "editorial" in The Union-Banner, entitled "Grits, Greens and Gravy", deserves a reply from a 100 per cent Southerner, which I am, and a native of Chilton County, Ala.

What this fellow calls "Yankee meddling and fault-finding" is the action of the United States government, through Mr. Harry L. Hopkins, is checking the high rate of sickness and death of hundreds of thousands of Southern people resulting from a starvation diet, which consists mostly of just grits, greens and gravy.

Anyone who objects to raising the wages and thereby raising the living standards of Southern people who work for the magnificent wage of 4c per hour and $7.50 a month is an enemy of progress, an enemy of the people, and an enemy of the South.

The Works Progress Administration is perhaps revolutionary to The Union-Banner editorial writer, in that it brings the wage level to 19c per hour, the hours per day to 8, and the work week to 40 hours.

We admit this is quite a change from the feudalistic Southern practice of $7.50 per month, can to can't daily hours, and Monday morning to Saturday night weeks, and with no limit to the month. Yes, there is considerable difference in the Hopkins wage of $26 per month and the ordinary wage of the agricultural South of $7.50.

The Hopkins wage will put money to flowing in the South, will get decent food, or at least more than just grits, greens and gravy for us. We can buy more overalls and dresses made from Southern cotton and clothing industries, and we can get some of the Birmingham stoves to cook on instead of cooking on the fireplaces. Oh yes, $26 per month is miserable enough, but it is prosperity compared to $7.50 per month; $26 is $26, in clean, cold cash to the small farmer, sharecropper, tenant, and starved farm wage workers. We of this class sink yearly deeper into sickness, desperation and death, under the semi-feudalistic system of the old South. Mr. Harry L. Hopkins and his fellow Rooseveltians are helping to bring about a NEW South, a South in which life can be developed more fully.

The big trouble with Mr. Hopkins' Works Progress Administration here in the South is that it is left up to local Bourbons, employers, and bosses, as to whether a man gets on WPA. The federal government, through Mr. Hopkins, should take charge of WPA certification, Uncle Sam decide whether a man deserves WPA employment, and not a local set of politicians who are interested in working us for 4c an hour.

When this guy, the editorial writer of The Union-Banner, ends with "We hereby serve notice that we are going to unlimber the old musket and start something that will make Bull Run and Gettysburg seem like a flash in the pan" . . . . he is clearly threatening fascist rebellion against the United States government. But in such an unholy and barbaric effort he and his fellow feudalists will not have the support of the common people of the South.

Sure the Southerners were not found lacking in the Spanish-American War nor in the World War, and to be doubly sure, we will not be found lacking when the Bourbon fascists attempt to overthrow the United States government. If the Southern fascists get anyone to fight a war for them against the United States they will have to do what Franco is doing in Spain — sell their Southland to foreign mercenaries for foreign troops to war on the people.

The common people of the South are not rebels. We do not believe in slavery. We do not believe in feudalism. We do not believe in fascism. We believe that government should exist as an instrument of the majority of the people; should be of, for, and by the people, and should serve the people's interests.

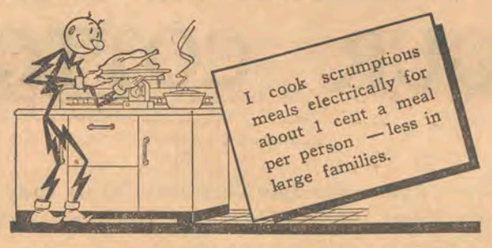
Furthermore, we believe in peace, not war. The Northern people, whom you, Mr. editorial writer of The Union-Banner, accuse of subsisting on hamburgers and hot-dogs, are our friends, our brothers. They get decent wages for their work, and they want the workers of the South to get a little slice of economic justice, too. Even if what you say of the Northern worker's diet were true, I would gladly swap my grub for theirs.

This guy says he subsists on grits, greens and gravy, but I fully doubt the factual basis of such a statement. He gives me evidence to believe he has bacon, sausage, steak and eggs. We farm workers don't have that. We don't even have enough grits, greens and gravy. Once every two weeks we can have one meal of these good things while we are working on Mr. Hopkins' WPA.

Perhaps if Mr. Hopkins would cut WPA wages to $7.50 per month, with daylight and dark as the limit to the hours, this editorial writer would have no objections to WPA. But of course another thing would have to be cut out, that is the right to ORGANIZE.

Mr. Hopkins' orders to put 200,000 farm workers on WPA in the South will, no doubt, if it is carried out, cause us to get "uppity" and get us to thinking we are as good as the editorial writer of The Union-Banner. Perhaps he will put us on his list for execution when he starts his fascist rebellion agains tthe people and against the United States government.

Judas Iscariot, Benedict Arnold, and Francisco Franco are not the world's only traitors; they were not the only ones who would sell their country and their souls for gold. The Southern fascists — Bourbons and their special scouts — Heflin, George, Harrison, Glass, Tydings, and Byrd — would sell the Southern people into slavery, the slavery of reaction and fascism.



Roosevelt and Hopkins would allow us a little taste of freedom, would give us $26 for 140 hours of work for the federal government, and in some cases even $30 to $40 for 100 hours of work. This we will defend against our enemies. And what is more, WE DEMAND MORE.

Yours for more organizations of unionism and cooperatives. — John W. Collum, R 1, Jemison, Ala.

The Squirrel
--A thrifty animal, storing food when it is plentiful, so he can eat when it's scarce.

The Electric Range
--A thrifty electrical appliance, which stores heat when the current is on, so food will continue to cook when the current is off.

USUALLY the amount of the electric bill is a pleasant surprise after an automatic electric range is installed in a home. It's so much less than the purchaser expects it to be! True the salesman or dealer tells her that electricity costs 32% less in Alabama than the national average; that the rate for cooking electrically steps down; that the electric range oven stores heat and cooks a large part of the time with the current off. Still there is a bit of doubt in her mind—she thinks all those facts are just "sales talk." So she buys the range—with her fingers crossed. But after her range is installed and she gets the first bill, she becomes an electric cookery enthusiast—her electric range has done all that was claimed for it, and she becomes convinced that electric cookery is thrifty cookery.

Lesson for September 4

SAMUEL: SPIRITUAL REVIVAL

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 7:3-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him only. I Samuel 7:3.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When Samuel Was Old
JUNIOR TOPIC—When Samuel Grew Old.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Putting God First.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Price Spiritual Revival?

"Revivals are costly. The spiritual awakening which our country so much needs must begin with a spiritual deepening which the church so much needs. There is a price to be paid . . . Strange gods must be put away, gods of worldly pleasure, worldly ambition, love of ease and self-gratification. It is the unwillingness to pay the price that keeps us from the richness and power of the full spiritual life" (Prof. L. M. Lowell).

Israel had come to the place where the people recognized that they were on the brink of national disaster. They knew they had come to the end of the trail, and were ready to do something about it.

I. Return Unto the Lord (v 3.).

Samuel appears in his first public ministry to call on his people to return to the Lord. Back of that public act is the history of a godly life and devoted service to the Lord and to His nation. Such a man can consistently urge others to turn to God.

The response of the people was wholehearted. They were thoroughly sick of their sin and separation from the favor of God. The earnest of their sincerity was their obedience to the admonition of Samuel that they turn from idolatry.

II. Put Away False Gods (vv. 3, 4).

Israel had learned from their heathen neighbors to worship their false gods. These they must put away if God was to be able to bless them. The same prerequisite to spiritual revival exists today. But some may say, we do not worship heathen gods. Perhaps not, and yet one is astonished at the close similarity between the ritual and worship of some secret cults and orders and the ancient religions of heathendom.

The fact is that we have set up many new gods—money, fashion, social position, and what not. The command needs to go out again through God's messengers, "Put away the foreign gods."

III. Gather Together and Pray (vv. 5, 6).

Spiritual life thrives on the gathering together of God's people. The crisis in Israel was met by a great convocation of the people. We need to revive the great soul-stirring religious gatherings of a generation ago.

"I will pray," said Samuel. He was a great intercessor. (See I Sam. 15:11; Ps. 99:6; Jer. 15:1.) Revival never comes without a history of faithful intercession on the part of those whose hearts are really burdened. Ask yourself, How much have I really prayed for a revival in my church, my community, and my nation? If I should begin to pray in earnest, would not God hear me and answer?

IV. God Will Save Us (v. 8).

"Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened that it cannot save, neither his ear heavy that it cannot hear" (Isa. 59:1). "Thus saith the Lord . . . have I no power to deliver?" (Isa. 50:1, 2). God saved Israel and delivered them out of the hands of their enemies. The Philistines, seeing them gathered together to pray, assumed that they were preparing to fight and attacked. In the previous battle at that very spot (I Sam. 4:1-10) Israel had fought with the weapons of men and been disgracefully defeated. Now they fought with the weapon of prayer and faith in God, and great was the victory.

America is valiantly battling against the social and economic problems of these distressing days, but one fears that all too often the weapons are those of the arm of flesh which will fail us. Let us look up instead of to one another. "God will save us" (v. 8).

V. Ebenezer (v. 12).

Our forefathers, familiar with the truth of Scripture, used biblical words in naming their children. The present generation all too often know the names simply as the strange signatures on old letters.

The word "Ebenezer" might well merit a bit of a revival itself. Here Israel had met a disastrous defeat. They were broken by it and had become an almost hopeless people. Now God had given them victory in the very same spot and they raised a stone of remembrance of God's help. The word "Ebenezer" means "stone of help," but also carries with it the meaning of Samuel's word, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us" (v. 12).

There is an inspiring word of hope here for every troubled soul. You may, like Israel, have fallen into sin. Your life may be defeated. You may be utterly discouraged. Return to the Lord, put away sin, gather with God's people, pray, and God will give you victory, even at the very point of former defeat.

CROTELARIA FIVE FEET HIGH

GRANT APPROVED FROM WPA FOR WATER WORKS EXTENSION

The federal government has definitely approved the application of Mayor C. Fenn Jones for a grant on improving the water works system of the City of Clanton. Telegrams from Senator J. H. Bankhead at Jasper and Senator Lister Hill at Montgomery, dated August 30th, stated:

"Public Works Administration has approved grant of $34,772 for water works improvement at Clanton."

A telegram from Mr. H. T. Cole, regional director ,of Atlanta, said: "Public Works Administration Ickes announces allotment water works grant $34,772. Complete plans and specifications of grant to get under way soon as possible."

Mayor Jones is very much pleased with the progress that is being made toward improvements in the city. He made application for a number of projects in the city while such applications were in order. Now more grants from the government are available than the city is able to put up money to make available.

In this regard, it will be noted that those property owners in the city who have paid their street paving assessments have made it possible for the city to use the balance of its credit to greater advantage in obtaining the grants from the government. If the city had been forced to issue bonds for all of the paving, there would have been no credit left for the water works imprvements, Etc. Therefore, those who paid into the paving fund may rest with the assurance that they have helped the city obtain more government money than it would have otherwise been able to get.

Dr. Gragg Writes About Fair

Just a word to my farmer friends about the cooperation they are getting in our county fair proposition. The other day, I said, in the presence of two or three of these people, that I could not refrain from saying something about this wonderful cooperative spirit so lavishly shown by our business men and officials. They said: "No, no, don't mention us". But when I see others helping my friends, why sit idly by and say nothing?

There are many things I could mention, showing the intense interest in the fair, too numerous in the little space available. But one of the foremost is the response of the business men in buying dvertising space. We had figured that if we could sell $75 or $80 advertising space, we could finance the printing of our catalogue. When we put it before our business men, we sold more than $250 worth and could have sold more. So we have the finances to print and mail our catalogue and some left for other expenses.

Another thing that I cannot let go unmentioned is the new road to the airport. We had hoped for this road for two years, but as long as it was to be used only for an airport, our county officials were just a little slow to begin it, but when it was learned that we were going to have almost a week of first class county fair this fall at which our farmers were to strut their best, then uor county officials went after it whole-heartedly, and are building a very creditable road; much better than the flying fraternity had.

I am going to drop a word of prophecy. Before long — I may not see it, but most of you will — there will be ample buildings on the airport grounds to take care of fairs, farmers' meetings, and other such county-wide gahterings as our farmer friends may feel necessary.

Maybe I should not have written this, but when I see something done for the farmer, it does me good. He is my friend and I am his. I was reared on the farm, and I still love it. Nobody more fully realizes that the farmer feeds us all, no matter whether we are a millionaire, mechanic, capitalist, laborer, professional man, or hobo. Every step that lifts the farmer helps the entire world.

When you get your fair catalogue, look through it carefully, both the program and advertisements. Preserve it from year to year; help the fair to be a success and watch it grow, and see how the prizes grow in size and number. — V. J. Gragg.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works; not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is, but exhorting one another; and so much the more as ye see the day approaching.

That's Bible.

Our presiding elder, Dr. H. M. Andrews, will be with us at the 11 a.m. preaching hour next Sunday. Be sure to hear his sermon, after having attended Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. We have a Junior League now, and with our Sunday school, both preaching services, the Senior League, and the Junior League going full blast, we ought to have a lively church, don't you think? Will you do your part to see that true?

BURTON MULINS IS IN INSURANCE BUSINESS

Announcement was made this week by the State Farm Insurance Companies, of Bloomington, Ill., of the selection of Burton S. Mullins of Clanton as a local representative of the companies.

The State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company entered 1938 with $13,463,187.83 in assets, completing the greatest year since the inception of the company.

The State Farm Life has approximately $50,000,000 of insurance in force, and the State Farm Fire Company entered 1938 with more than $1000,000,000 of fire insurance and allied risks in force.

"KID" PARTY HELD

The members of Senior B. Y. P. U. of Clanton's First Baptist church met at the home of the pastor Wednesday night, August 24, at 7:30. Childhood memories were relived as all assembled for the "kid" party bedecked in ribbons and short dresses. One game informed the "children" what career they should follow when grown up. Lively outdoor games were played on the lawn, with croquet allowing the youngsters a rest at the close.

Expressions of a delightful evening were showered on Rev. and Mrs. Davis at 9:30, after delicious sandwiches and refreshing drinks were served to the following "kiddies": Grace Hicks Ezell, Annie Cordelia Smith, Tina Hyman, Billie Johnson, Adelle Scott, Frances Inez Smith, Janie Beth Johnson, Guy Alred, Nell Rockett, Richard Luckie, Sam Johnson, Kermit Jones, and Mary Ruth Goodman.

TEN ARRESTED PAST WEEK

There appears on the jail register of Chilton County a total of ten violations since the report was gathered last week. They include: Transporting whiskey, one white and one negro; driving while intoxicated, two whites; assault, one white and one negro; violating prohibition law, one negro; public drunkenness, two whites and one negro.

Mayor C. Fenn Jones had one violator in Mayor's court Monday morning — a white man for the second offense of public drunkenness. He was put to work on the streets for 30 days.

City officials arrested two white men Monday night for public drunkenness. One was fined $8.25. The other was given a 10-day jail sentence.

CLAMPS TIED 5-5 IN 12-INNING BATTLE AT LAY DAM SUNDAY

The Clamps locked up with the East Lake club at Lay Dam Sunday afternoon, and the final result was a 5-5 deadlock, as night ended hostilities after 12 innings.

The Clamps scored one in the first on Clint Jones' single, a stolen base, and two infield outs. In the fourth, Buddy Teague slapped a fast one into the juniper bushes and sawbriars beyond the flagpole that went for a round trip. In the sixth, Tiffin went to second on a wild throw to first, and scored on Guy McKee's sizzling single.

The visitors came back with a rush in their half of the eighth to score three runs and tie the count at three-all.

In their half of the eighth, the Clamps took another 2-run lead, when Littlejohn doubled, Tiffin singled, and McKee came through again in the pinch with a timely single.

East Lake tied it again in the ninth with a triple and two singles; the Clamps failed to score in the ninth, and the scrap went into extra innings.

During the last three innings, East Lake got three men on base, two by walks and one by an error, but couldn't push nay of them across. The Clamps got Tatum aboard in the 11th by a walk, but he died on base. Neither pitcher gave up anything that looked like a hit in the last three innings.

Sims led the visitors with a triple and two singles, while B. McDermott and Potter had a pair of singles each.

Jones and McKee led the locals with a pair each, and Teague smashed a home run.

Teague gave up nine hits in the 12 innigs, hit three batters, walked four, and struck out nine. Thompson, a young southpaw, gave up 10 hits, hit two batters, walked two, and struck out four.

The Clamps bobbled three times and the visitors once.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of somewhat expressing our thanks and appreciation to the neighbors and friends for their kindness toward us during our recent sad bereavement. Words fail us to express our real feelings of heartfelt gratitude. Our friends really did all that was possible to lighten our burdens and to help us over this sad portion of our lives. May the Lord bless you all, is our ardent prayer. — Ed Wagoner and Family.

ONEAL GLASS DIED

Oneal (Pete) Glass, age 25, died at the home of his father-in-law, Tom Glass, at Jemison Thursday night of last week. Burial was at Oak Grove Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, services conducted by Rev. Homer Carroll; Spigener directing.

Surviving are a wife, one brother and two sisters; father and mother.

Whiskey And Youth's Highway

"Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel; therefore, hear the words of my mouth, and give them warning from me." — Ezekiel 3:17.

Today we have received anew the call to be a watchman, to assist our fellow travelers along life's highway. Let us look about us for a few minutes and see where the need is, where watchmen should be stationed.

At the present time there are twice as many bar-maids as co-eds. It does not take much imagination to see where that ratio will lead. But there are some who are saying: "Well, just what difference does it make? A job is a job."

Let us stop to look at that landslide of greed and see why a watchman is needed there. Drink is causing more divorces, more child delinquency, more suffering, more heartaches, more accidents, more people living in dirty hovels, than any other thing. Drink is depriving good business of money for its goods. Science has not been able to discover or invent a way for the same dollar to be spent more than once. Therefore, the dime spent for beer cannot buy milk.

How can anyone have a part in selling anything to anybody that eats the heart out of the people; that puts drivers to sleep at the wheel, thus causing untold suffering and grief; that is depriving young people and the children of their birthright?

Young people, you are the bait the liquor people want. Youth is attractive, and will attract other young people, and older people as well. Be on your guard. Show your associates that joy and beauty cannot be found at the bottom of the cocktail glass. This is one problem that is in your hands to clean up; and you can do it by organizing all your efforts, thus making a force that will be felt.

The first watchman is needed to wave a flag of consideration for others, those who are having a continued struggle for right. We never know who is following close behind us in our footsteps. It is necessary that our tracks be clean and straight.

The second watchman is needed to plead with the passers-by to voice their protest against the rising tide of liquor stores. We can keep most of the new places from opening by united effort. A very large number of those already in the trade can be gotten out if we just put forth the effort. Won't you join us? Or the road we all must travel will be washed out.

The saddest warning of all must come from a third watchman, warning us against ignorance. We adults, who should think through the situation to the cause, stand idly by doing nothing because we do not think. Adults are showing too much indifference to the facts for the safety of the country.

Young people are ignorant because of lack of trained adults to guide them. We must begin at once on an intensive campaign to train the youth so they will become inteligent adults. Young people can and will change the situation if the adults in power will listen and cooperate.

Children are suffering from the results of indifference and ignorance. The work of the society for the prevention of cuelty to children is growing in unbelievable strides. We must give them the chance to develop the conditions in this country for tomorrow.

Space does not permit checking all the danger points on life's highway. As you travel along, place warnings for those following you. Careful fatchers will see that dangers are removed.

God has called us all to be watchmen. We must be awake and alert to keep our fellow travelers from being caught at the danger points. True, loyal watchen, Watch, Pray, Act! — Rev. M. Lockhart, R 5, Clanton.

NOTE—Next week we will tell of a family that has recently been saved and baptized, who have been reading our articles and began thinking on the way. Should we retreat? A thousand times NO!

Southernaires Here On Night Of September 2

W. A. REYNOLDS BACK HOME

Mell Martin's ambulance carried Mr. Will Reynolds home from the hospital Wednesday morning, where he has been for three weeks following an automobile accident. Mr. Reynolds is improving satisfactorily. Mrs. Reynolds has been released from the hospital for two weeks or more.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cleckler of Route 5 was buried Tuesday.

Mrs. J. R. Mullins is nursing a broken wrist, sustained last week.

DENNIS BRIDGE NOW CAN BE CROSSED

Mr. J. N. Dennis reports that the bridge across the creek on the old road south of his gin is now ready for use and in service. Although the city will repair the old bridge, due to circumstances beyond their control, it cannot be done now, so the city loaned Mr. Dennis lumber with which to build the new bridge to accommodate his customers and others who wish to use it. Mr. Dennis furnished the labor to build it, so that his customers might come straight through to his gin, rather than go out of their way to get to him.

GRAND JURY ASKED TO BE CALLED TOGETHER LATER

Express Feeling There Are Matters That Should Be Investigated

The Union-Banner is publishing the full report of the Grand Jury, which was in session here last week. It will be noted in the report that the body asked to be called together at some later date, as there are matters which they deem should be investigated. An excerpt from the report reads:

"The Grand Jury feels that there are some matters that should be investigated which we did not take up at this session; but it is our desire that at a later date this Grand Jury be called into session for the purpose of investigating certain matters which we did not feel we could thoroughly go into at this session. We therefore request your Honor to call us in session at some time that is convenient and before our time as Grand Jurors expires."

GRAND JURY HELD HERE LAST WEEK

Usual Inspections of County Jail and Offices Made; 47 Bills Returned

The Grand Jury empanneled last week, with W. H. Rasco as foreman, reported as follows to Judge Arthur Glover:

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Circuit Court of said County and State.

To Hon. Arthur Glover, as Judge of said Court:

We, the Grand Jury, empanneled for the July Term of the Circuit Court, after receiving your Honor's most able charge, entered upon our investigations of the matters that came before us as Grand Jurors, and herewith submit the following report:

During our investigation we have considered 60 cases and have examined 100 witnesses and are returning herewith 47 true bills.

We have made a personal inspection of the county jail, and believe it to be sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisoners, and find that the prisoners confined therein are being well fed and cared for with reasonable comfort.

We have examined the fee book of the Probate Judge, and find it neatly kept and correct, insofar as we were able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various county officials and find that they are ample for the protection of the public, and in our examination of the Sheriff's account with the state for feeding prisoners we find that it is being kept in accordance with the law. On our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education we find that his books, records and papers are neatly kept, and insofar as we ascertained, were being kept fully in accordance with the law.
